

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The "Century" for April is remarkable for the variety of its contents and illustrations. Two of Mr. Cole's artistic engravings accompany a paper on Giovanni Bellini, by W. J. Stillman. Mr. Jefferson's autobiography reaches the Rip Van Winkle stage of his career, and tells the reader exactly what he wishes to know. Three timely articles are: "The Latest Siberian Tragedy," by George Kennan, in which is given a new account of the outrage at Yakutsk; "Suggestions for a New World's Fair," by George Berger, Director of the French Exposition, and "The Slave Trade in the Congo Basin," by E. J. Glave, one of Stanley's pioneer officers. Three studies of special interest are: "An Artist's Letters From Japan," by John La Farge; "The Serpent Mound of Ohio," by Professor F. W. Putnam of the Peabody Museum; "The Old Poetic Guild in Ireland," a special study by Charles de Kay. There are three short stories: "The Herr Maestro," by Elizabeth Bohlen; "The Artist's Letters From New York," a story of Mexico, by John Heard, Jr., and "A Dusky Genius," by Maurice Thompson. Mrs. Bart's novel, "Friend Olivia," is a story of the life of a young woman who comes in for attention in "The Non-Irrigable Lands of the Arid Region," by Major Powell; "The Shoshone Falls," by Captain John Goddard, is a literary essay by Colonel T. W. Higginson, and a special account from Captain Charles Bryant of his experience "In the Fur-Sea Islands." An account of the series of present-day papers is contributed by Professor Richard T. Ely, under the title of "A Programme for Labor Reform." In topics of the times are "Longer Terms and Less Rotations," "The Duties and Loyalty in Employment." Open letters are contributed on "Judge Holt and the Lincoln Conspirators," by Horatio King on "The New League of New Zealand," by F. R. Southmayd, and George W. Cable. The poetry is furnished by Ellis Thaxter, Frank Dempster Sherman, Charles G. D. Roberts, Margaret Crossen, Ellen Barrington, Helen Gray Cone, James Whitcomb Riley, Lisette Woodworth Reese, Aubrey de Vere (on Robert Browning), Katherine Brewster, William Brewster, and De Witt C. Lockwood, William Page Carter, Orelia Key Bell and Brainerd Prescott Emery.

Hudson: "Why the Farmer is Not Prosperous," C. Wood Davis. The "Magazine of American History" for April (Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, 745 Broadway, New York), opens with a very useful paper on "Our South American Neighbors," by Mrs. Lamb. H. G. Ouler tells how California was named. Dr. Pittier writes of the "Columbus Exposition." D. Turner relates an anecdote of Lord Chief Justice Holt, and ex-Minister Curry writes of the diplomatic services of George William Erving. There are many handsome illustrations, several minor papers, and the usual reviews and editorial notes. "The English-American" is a story by Emma Homan Beyer, from the press of Donahue, Henneberry & Co., Chicago. It is rich in its humor and altogether an interesting volume. It is dedicated to American artists, English and young Englishmen visiting America. It is of "The Dearborn Series," and is a double number of that weekly issue. The "Illustrated American," the new weekly magazine (Chicago and New York), continues to surprise us by the brilliancy and multitude of its illustrations, its art supplement and its fine typography. It is "Friend Olivia," the first of a series of specimen success in illustrating by photo-engraving and similar "process" methods. The April number of the "Occidental Medical Times" (Dr. J. H. Parkinson, Sacramento), is well filled with matter of immediate interest to physicians and sanitarians. A notable article illustrated is on leprosy in the Hawaiian Islands, and is by the recent physician of the leper settlement at Moloai.

"Ocean," John H. Gould Company, New York, continues to be as handsomely, even richly, illustrated as ever, and in not a few respects is constantly improving—notably the late General Vallejo. It publishes also occasionally valuable ocean charts. "Trollope's Dilemma" is a novel by St. Aubyn. It is a story of a Cambridge "quandary" and is from the press of Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago and New York, and is No. 117 of the first volume of the Globe Library, issued weekly. "California," the new monthly (San Francisco), rural industry illustrates the late citrus fairs and many of the orchards, vineyards and farms of the State. A recent number presented a good portrait of the late General Vallejo. "The New Prodigal" is No. 20 of the Rialto Series (monthly) issued by Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago and New York, and is by Stephen S. Sheffield, author of "The Burman Treasure."

"The Wave," published in San Francisco for Hotel Del Monte and Pacific Grove summer resorts at Monterey, is at hand for April, and proves to be an attractive volume. "Moonshine" is a new novel from the pen of the poet and romancer, John Boyle O'Reilly. It is from the press of "The Pilot" Publishing Company, Boston. From John F. Cooper, Sacramento, music dealer, we have a copy of George Cooper's new song, "When the Pretty Bluebirds Sing." Music by J. P. Skelly. "The Song Friend" (S. W. Straub & Co., Chicago) has for April its usual complement of good music, and music news and comment.

The "Overland Monthly" for April (420 Montgomery street, San Francisco), presents these papers, in addition to the editorials, reviews and notes: "Drifting on the Bay," by H. Elton Smith; "Records of a Family in Spanish," by August E. Towner; "In a Dim Religious Light," by Julie M. Lippman; "Prohibition in Southern California," by P. Clarke; "One of the Army of Lost Ones," by Willis I. Cottle; "The Revenge of a Heathen," by Charles Robert Harker; "The Decadence of Fraternities," by John L. Conte; "Study of Skilled Labor Organizations," by A. S. Halliday; "The Daisies," by Wilbur Larremore; "Adventures in Mexico," by S. S. Boynton; "Mr. Stephenson's Singing Party," by John Murray; "Dawn on Pigeon Sound," by Ella Higginson; "An Experiment in Housekeeping," by Franklin Gray Bartlett; "A Queer Story," by Philip Van Colraer.

The "Popular Science Monthly" for April (D. Appleton & Co., New York), has papers on "Science in the High School," by Professor David Starr Jordan; "Ethics and Religion," by Professor Crawford Howell Toy; "Darwin on the Eugenic and Patagonians," "Is Education Opposed to Motherhood," by Alice B. Tweedy; "On the Natural Inequality of Man," by Professor T. H. Huxley; "Sloyd," by Frimman B. Argunson; "The Mysterious Music of Passagony," by Charles E. Hildrey; "The Indwelling Spirits of Men," by Hon. Major A. B. Ellis; "Northern Lights," by Wilhelm Sios; "Dragons, Fabled and Real," by M. Maurice Mairion; "Alchemists' Gold," by M. A. De Roshas; "A Lesson in Co-operation," by Clarence N. Ousley; "Intelligence of Squirrels," by Dr. T. W. M. Miles; "Sketch of David Rittenhouse," and the usual interesting correspondence, notes and miscellany.

The "Arena" for April has these contents: Rev. M. J. Savage writes of "Religion, Morals and the Public Schools"; Bishop J. L. Spalding, "God in the Constitution"—a reply to Colonel Ingersoll; Stephen M. Allen, A. M., of "A Newly Discovered Law in Physics"; W. E. Maule, D. D., of "Emmal Punishment"; "The Moral Education of the Mask of Tyranny," by Elizabeth Cary Stanton; "Divorce versus Domestic Slavery," by the No-Name; "The No-Name Name," by Charles E. Hildrey; "Why at the House of Representatives," by Realf, Jr.; "Of David's House," "The White Child Slavery" is treated by Helen Cattapell, Jennie June, C. O. Richardson, Robert Solomon, and A. A. Chaffin; "The Hon. Major A. B. Ellis," by F. H. Murray presents new chapters of "Ungava."

The Easter number of "Harper's Bazar," published April 4th, contains exactly double the usual number of pages, in addition to a special cover. Among the special literary attractions are a story entitled "An Easter Bride," by Harriet Prescott Spofford, illustrated from three drawings by Albert E. Sterner, and a humorous fiction entitled "Daffodils: a Story of an Easter Sunday," by Kate Upson Clark. The fine list of illustrations includes a reproduction of "Tolstoy Pioneering," the famous picture by the Russian artist, Repine; a series of three illustrations entitled "The Career of a Belle," and "The Morning Stars Sang Together," an unconventional picture specially drawn for this number by Mrs. Jessie Curtis Shepherd.

The double Easter number of "The Youth's Companion" is profusely illustrated, and the stories are by favorite writers. Some of the titles are: "Numbered With Thy Saints," by Mrs. Mary Tappan Wright; "Gabrielle's Easter Hat," by Mrs. Marie B. Williams; "One of the Squid Mornings," by Sarah E. Cushman; "Bim Hazlett's Luck," by Miss Sophie Swett; a humorous story called "A Botanist's Predicaments," by "The Week in Paris," by Maria Louisa Wetmore; "Miss Bent's Easter Eggs," by J. L. Harbour; with timely editorials, poems, and a special page for the little ones. The number sent us in "advance," and it promises great pleasure and profit to its readers. (Perry, Mason & Co., Boston.)

John Boyle O'Reilly, the Irish poet and well-known versatile writer, has done no better—that is to say, no more interesting literary work than in his "Athletics and Manly Sport." It is a handsome and richly illustrated volume of nearly 500 pages. It is a historical review of many sports, a treatise on ancient weapons, and a guide to proper manly exercise for the purposes of gaining physical strength and in general health. In addition it has a full list devoted to canoeing in the Dismal Swamp, the Connecticut, the Susquehanna and the Delaware. It is a charming book, at once instructive and entertaining. It is from the press of the Pilot Publishing Company, Boston; $1.50.

The "Forum," edited by Lorretus S. Metcalf (Forum Company, New York), for April has these papers: "The Degradation of our Politics," A. P. French; "Education in Boyhood," President Timothy Dwight; "Woman's Political Status," Francis Minor; "Hypnotism and Crime," Dr. J. M. Charcot; "Secular Changes in Human Nature," Frances P. Cobbe; "No Theology and New Theology," Rev. Lyman Abbott; "Newspapers and the Public," Charles D. Warren; "The United States of America Property," Rev. William Barry; "Truth and Fraud in Spiritualism," Richard Herreschoff, the blind inventor, receives pay for his "Torpedo Boat." Washington, April 4th.—The inventor Herreschoff, the blind boat-builder, was at the Navy Department to day making final arrangements for the last payments of money due him for the construction of the torpedo-boat, Cushing. The report of the trial board was quite satisfactory, and her acceptance is a matter of course. The contract price was $82,000, and the amount to be paid Mr. Herreschoff is about $32,000, leaving quite a sum in the hands of the Government in the form of retained percentages, which will be paid in a few months. The performance of the Cushing on her trial trip was completely successful, with the exception of the working of Herreschoff's improvised distilling apparatus, which was found to work rather badly. It may be changed for another type.

Universities of the World. Norway has one university, 46 professors and 880 students. France has one university, 180 professors and 9,300 students. Great Britain has 11 universities, 33 professors and 13,400 students. The United States of America has 60 universities, 4,240 professors and 99,400 students.

Condensed Telegraphic Dispatches from All Parts of the World. The report that Jay Gould is ill has been denied. The czar of Russia is said to be suffering much from nervous prostration. The President has approved the joint resolution for the relief of the sufferers of the Mississippi valley and the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. It is said that the House Judiciary Committee has voted to report an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators directly by the people.

Charged with Embezzlement. Sims Emory, who was recently Captain of the colored military company, was arrested last night on complaint of G. Booth, who charges him with embezzlement. Emory says he simply borrowed $10 from Booth last summer, and because he has not been able to pay it has been arrested on a serious charge.

Arbor Day at Richland. Arbor Day was observed by the pupils of Richland school, of which Miss Bertie Groth is teacher. A number of the parents and friends of the pupils were present. The following programme was rendered: Salutatory, Charles Baines; "Under the Leaves," Isaac Bryan; "Woodman Spare That Tree," Blanche Hollister; "A Wedding in the Orchard," Edna Williams; "Birds in the Forest," May Bryan; "The Tree Stripped of its Leaves," Mabel Raiston; "Things That Are Beautiful," Della Lockhart; Dialogue, Edna Williams and Edna Williams; "What a Little Girl Can Do," Minnie Bryan; "Mysteries of Vegetation," Mabel Raiston; "Planting the Apple Tree," Blanche Hollister; "Voice of the Grass," Nellie Hughes; "Majorie's Almanac," Charles Raiston; "The Flowers," Bessie Adams; Vaudeville, Edna Williams. At the conclusion, the pupils, aided by their friends, proceeded to plant their trees.

THE BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure. THIS POWDER never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low-test, short-weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold in bulk by ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall st., New York. THE JOHN S. LOCKE MERCANTILE CO., Agents, San Francisco, Cal.

If you are run down, or have that tired feeling as a result of overwork or the effect of the changing season, you should take that best of all tonics and blood purifiers, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones the stomach, cures the torpid liver and kidneys, creates an appetite and builds up the system. Thousands who have taken it with benefit testify that Hood's Sarsaparilla "makes the weak strong."

Hood's Sarsaparilla For That Tired Feeling

A fair trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla will convince any reasonable person that it possesses great medicinal merit. We do not claim that every bottle will accomplish a miracle, but we do know that nearly every bottle, taken according to directions, does produce positive benefit. Its peculiar curative power is shown by many remarkable cures. "I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women, or anyone who has had blood." Mrs. J. E. SMITH, E. Broad Top, Pa. "I have been troubled a great deal with headache, had no appetite, no strength, and felt as mean as any one could, and he about my work. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have not had the headache, my food has relished, and seemed to do me good, and I have found myself growing stronger every day. I thoroughly believe in Hood's Sarsaparilla." M. A. STEINMAN, 19 Grand Avenue, Grand Rapids, Mich. N. B. Be sure to get
