Christened in Court.

In the Police Court today a colored man was charged with peddling brooms in the Centre Market without a license. He refused to give any name, but Mr. Padgett, the prosecuting attorney, christened him Thos. Broom. He was arraigned by the clerk under his new name and pleaded not guilty.

The Court, after hearing all the testimony, probably came to the conclusion that defendant's stock in trade was gathered along the route of the democratic procession when it broke up Thursday night. As his stock was about run out, and as there is no immediate prospect of his having another similar chance to replenish it, the Court dismissed the case.

Not Much of a Shooting Affair.

A rumor was in circulation yesterday afternoon that a shooting affair had occurred between two colored men in Judiciary Square, just back of the City Hall. The facts in the case are that two well known colored men, employed at the City Hall, repaired to the spot indicated for a friendly spar, and one of them losing his temper, made a remark about shooting, whereupon one of his friends, who had been looking on, took his pistol away from him and discharged its contents into the ground. Only this and nothing more.

Alleged Fenian Plot.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—The Cork Constitution says the government has received trustworthy information of a projected Fenian raid on the Ballin Collig Powder Mills. The men in the mills are alleged to be implicated in the plot to blow up the mills. The most extreme precaution is taken at the mills to prevent the success of the scheme, and the adjoining barracks are carefully guarded. The Ballin Collig is situated on the Lee river, about five miles from Cork, and the barracks, which it is a part of the object of the conspirators to destroy, are occupied by artillery regiments. The powder mills are extensive and an explosion would inevitably result in a great havoc in the entire vicinity.

The Passion Play.

MEXICO, Aug. 28.—The Passion Play is now drawing towards its last scene, and not till another ten years have rolled around will this region witness its impressive tableaux again. Notwithstanding the numerous storms at all times the guests of this mountain home of the Ober Ammergau pronounced the past six weeks or more as of the most thrillingly interesting. This Bavarian height and country has had at least 200,000 visitors from all parts of Christendom.

Another Brush with Indians.

THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL, Department of Dakota, forwards to the War Office the following:

FORT KNOX, MONTANA T., August 24, 1880.

To Assistant Adjutant General: Three Cheyenne Sioux came in and reported that eight days ago they, with Sergeant Dawlin, Seventh Cavalry, and eight soldiers followed a war party of Sioux and struck them near forks of Box Rider; killed two, wounded one and recaptured seven head of stock. Five days ago a detachment of Sioux and Cheyennes struck a war party north of the mouth of O'Fallon Creek, recaptured eleven head of stock. Many of the war parties come and go through Yankton's camp.

Gladstone Going to Dublin.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Mr. Gladstone left Plymouth on board the steamer Granville Castle today and will arrive in Dublin on Sunday morning. Although no announcement to that effect has been authorized, there is no doubt that his visit to Ireland at this present time has quite as much to do with the state of the country as with the state of his health.

Miraculous Escape.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 28.—C. P. Birch and two companions, while crossing the railroad track on Light street in a carriage drawn by two horses, were run into by an engine. Both horses were killed and the carriage was completely demolished. Mr. Birch and his companions escaped without injury.

The Reprieve at the Jail.

The fact of their reprieve was telephoned to Bedford, Pinn and Queenan at the jail as soon as received by Mr. Randolph Cayle, of their counsel. As may be imagined there was great joy over the good news. It seemed to have been expected by all three. None of them had yet abandoned hope entirely and the result shows that their confidence was not misplaced.

The thief was discovered by Mr. McCloskey, who fired three shots at him, but to no effect, except to bring Sergeant Amis to the scene, but he arrived too late to capture him.

THE RESPIRED MURDERERS

How the Matter was Brought About. As stated in an earlier edition a respite has been granted Bedford, Pinn and Queenan, convicted and sentenced to be hanged September 10th next for the murder of George P. Hirth. Since applications from their counsel for executive clemency has been under consideration, THE CRITIC has followed its progress closely and reported correctly, and all that now remains to be said is to briefly state how the respite was secured. New evidence was the principal basis of the applications and the President and Attorney General were forcibly impressed with the nature of the arguments by which counsel supported their claims. The President after deciding to refer the matter to Judge Hagner for his consideration, (as stated in THE CRITIC at the time) let a final disposal of the affair in the hands of the Attorney General. It was arranged that if Judge Hagner refused to approve the applications the execution should take place on the date originally fixed, or if he approved, a respite should be granted to allow counsel a chance to secure their evidence and arrange to move for a new trial. Late yesterday afternoon, before Judge Hagner left for Annapolis, he held a consultation with the Attorney General and waiving all objections, which it was alleged he entertained, he expressed a willingness that an opportunity should be given the lawyers. The result was the Attorney General prepared a respite to-day until Friday, November 10th, and after being officially indorsed at the Department of State, was forwarded to the City Hall to the Marshal. The news of their good fortune was read to the condemned at the jail this afternoon from the first edition of THE CRITIC, and they were overjoyed. Queenan, it is said, being moved to tears.

Speech of General Grant Last Night. By National Associated Press. GALENA, Ill., Aug. 28.—Gen. Grant was present at the meeting of the Garfield and Arthur Club last night, and being repeatedly called for a speech spoke as follows: Ladies and gentlemen, I did not intend to speak when I came here to-night. I am very much like Judge Orton; I have never made a reputation for myself in my life, or any kind of political speech. I am sure it would require some time and much preparation to make one of any length. I can of course go a little further than Judge Orton and say that I never voted a republican presidential ticket in my life and but one democratic ticket, and that was many years ago when I was quite a young man, but I will pledge my word here to-night that if I am spared, although I shall be at some distance from you on the 24 of November, I shall return to Galena to cast one republican vote for President of the United States and I hope the city of Galena will cast a round republican vote such as it never cast before. [great applause.] Hon. Philo A. Orton, who spoke before Grant, is a recent convert from Democracy to republicanism. He gave a history of the two parties. Their record for the past 25 years, he believed, was a sufficient reason for leaving the democracy for republicanism, but if further excuse were needed he favored it in the present affiliation of the democrats with the Southern Brigadiers, which the speaker considered dangerous to the country's future.

Army Officials Sent Away. The most important army orders this afternoon were the following: Major H. C. Corbin, Assistant Adjutant General, ordered to Cleveland, Ohio, on public business. Col. A. McD. McCook, aide-camp, ordered to accompany the General of the Army, in his journey with the President of the United States, to California, Oregon, Washington Territory, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas, and return to this city. Surgeon David L. Huntington, ordered to accompany the President and General of the Army on the same trip.
