For President, ZACHARY TAYLOR, OF LOUISIANA. Subject to the decision of the Whig National Convention.

TELEGRAPHIC. GEN. SCOTT AT MEXICO. TWO SEVERE BATTLES.

VICTORIOUS IN EACH. ENEMY RETREATED TO THE CITY. A TRUCE DEMANDED.

CONGRESS CALLED TOGETHER. MR. TRIST'S PROPOSITIONS TO BE CONSIDERED.

PROBABLE PEACE. BY TELEGRAPH. Exclusively for the National Whig.

FREDERICKSBURG, 9th Sept. I have just received a letter from New Orleans of the 3d inst.

The Fashion steamer arrived at New Orleans on the 2d inst. from Vera Cruz. Gen. Scott arrived at Mexico on the 20th of August.

He has had two severe battles with the enemy. It is victorious in both. Santa Ana and Valencia led the enemy.

The Mexicans retreated into the city. They demanded a truce, which was granted to consider Mr. Trist's propositions of peace.

Congress has been called together for that purpose. Scott has the city in his power.

He has not entered it, but waits the result of the action of Congress. The impression is that a treaty of peace will be made.

Yours, &c. "Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on!" NOMINATION

Of Gen. Taylor for the Presidency, BY MEMBERS OF THE ILLINOIS CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the Delegates to the Illinois State Constitutional Convention friendly to the election of Gen. Zachary Taylor to the Presidency in the United States, held in the State House in Springfield, on the evening of the 30th August, 1847, the meeting was organized, on motion of Colonel Richard B. Servant, by calling Hon. Cyrus Edwards, of Madison co., to the chair, and by appointing Benj. Bond, of Clinton county, Secretary.

Whereupon, Hon. Arch. Williams offered for the consideration of the meeting the following resolution, viz: Resolved, That we, the undersigned, members of the Illinois State Constitutional Convention do, as individuals, nominate General Zachary Taylor as a candidate for the next Presidency of the United States.

Which resolution, after discussion, was unanimously adopted by those participating in the meeting. Whereupon the following names were handed in, in support of the same, viz: Hon. Cyrus Edwards and Edward M. West, of Madison county; Archibald Williams, of Adams and Highland counties; A. R. Knapp, of Jersey county; Rich. B. Servant, of Randolph county; John Murre, of Lawrence co.; Daniel Hay, of White county; David Davis and Samuel Lander, of McLean county; W. A. Minshall, of Schuyler county; Benjamin Northcutt, of Menard county; L. B. Knowlton, of Peoria county; Daniel Dunmore and N. M. Knapp, of Scott county; S. Kinney, of Bureau county; Robert Miller and Thomas Geddes, of Hancock county; H. E. Dummer, of Cass county; A. C. Harding, of Warren county; Stephen T. Logan, N. W. Edwards, and John Dawson, of Sangamon county; H. R. Green and W. H. Holmes, of Tazewell county; James Graham, of Macoupin county; A. C. Jackson, of Whiteside county; Benjamin Bond, of Clinton county; James Knox, of Knox county; John W. Vance and John Canady, of Vermilion county; Wm. Thomas, of Morgan county; James M. Davis, of Bond and Montgomery counties; William Sim, of Pope county; Humphrey B. Jones, of Perry county; Andrew McCallen, of Hardin county; Justia Harlan, of Clark county; D. M. Woodson, of Greene county; J. T. Loudon, of Williamson county; James Tuttle, of Logan co.; T. A. Marshall, of Coles county; F. S. D. Marshall, of Mason county; J. Harper, of Henry county; W. B. Green, of Jo Daviess county; C. H. Constable, of Walsh county; W. A. Grimshaw, of Pike co.; E. O. Smith, of Macon county; Oaks Turner, of Putnam county; Anthony Thornton, of Shelby and Moultrie counties; G. B. Lemon, of DeWitt county; J. T. Escobar, of Fayette county; H. D. Palmer, of Marshall county; A. R. Kenner, of Edwards county; J. W. Spencer, of Rock Island co.; Gilbert Turnbull, of Henderson county; and W. W. Roman, of St. Clair county.

And thereupon, on motion of Hon. C. H. Constable, it was Resolved, That it be recommended to those at each Judicial Circuit, in this State, friendly to the election of Gen. Zachary Taylor to the Presidency, to nominate an elector in each circuit, to be run on the Taylor ticket.

On motion of Hon. David Davis, it was further Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the Chairman and Secretary, and that all the papers in this State friendly to the election of Gen. Taylor to the Presidency, be requested to publish the same.

On motion, the meeting adjourned. CYRUS EDWARDS, Chairman. BEN. BOND, Secretary.

It only costs us a quarter of a million of dollars a day to carry on the Mexican war. A truce for this vast country!

The Well's Expedition to the National Bridge lost 40 men out of 200 by death from exposure. It only lost three by the balls of the enemy.

We think John Bell will succeed Senator Jamigan from Tennessee.

OH, DEAR! WHAT CAN THE MATTER BE?

On the first inst., a Convention of the untried Democracy was held in Lancaster, Pa., Mr. Buchanan's former homestead. Jacob Backman, long known as the file leader of Buchananism officiated as President thereof.

The Vice Presidents were S. C. Stambaugh, S. Keller, A. Armstrong and George Duchman, all names unknown beyond the limits of Lancaster, except our old friend Stambaugh who is a citizen of this District. W. G. Evans and H. E. Atkins were Secretaries. To the diligence of the Lancaster Tribune are we indebted for the rich and airy account of the proceedings of this Convention.

Mr. S. E. Gundacker, who is the pillar of Buchananism in all Lancaster County, rose and offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the Democracy of Lancaster county have full and continued confidence in the Hon. James Buchanan, the favorite son of Pennsylvania, the talented and indefatigable Secretary of State, for his able administration of said Department.

The Convention refused to embody this resolution in the general resolutions by a decided vote and then the hall was opened by Mr. Frazier who is one of the true Apostles of the old fashioned Simon Snyder, Getman, Jacksonian Democracy in all Pennsylvania.

"Mr. Frazier declared his opposition to the passage of the resolution; he said I am sorry to see the resolution offered in this convention. Mr. Buchanan was no longer a citizen of this city, or of this State; and no resolution approving of his conduct and not that of Mr. Dallas shall meet with my approbation. Mr. Dallas is a citizen of Pennsylvania, whilst Mr. Buchanan has expatriated himself; he has sold all his personal property here, amounting to $55,000, and taken it with him to the District of Columbia, where he now resides, for the purpose of avoiding the payment of his taxes in this city, and he had written to the Assessor and Collector here refusing to pay them—and, therefore, he was unworthy of any complimentary resolution, and I am ready now to oppose it.

Mr. Gundacker replied: I cannot understand the motives that prompt my colleague to oppose this resolution. I am not in the habit of speaking or addressing a public assembly, but still I cannot keep silent now, and beg leave of this convention, this Democratic body, to permit me to tell them that for years heretofore, at each and every convention, my colleague, Col. Frazier, has invariably offered a resolution eulogizing the talents and statesmanlike conduct of our friend and fellow-citizen, now the Secretary of State; and that on his return to Lancaster from the Baltimore Convention, that nominated James K. Polk for the Presidency, he told many Democrats that he was sorry that James Buchanan had declined the nomination for the Presidency; that he voted for him in that convention, and would vote for him again; that if he had not declined he would have been nominated in place of James K. Polk; that he was "Pennsylvania's favorite son;"—and if I am right, my colleague Col. Frazier, was the first to christen him "Pennsylvania's favorite son;" and at all our public meetings and conventions, he styled him "Pennsylvania's favorite son," and was the first and afterwards the loudest in proclaiming this title! [Cheers, and several voices cried out: "Mr. President!" "Mr. President!" "Mr. President!"] I move the resolution be voted down! I move the resolution be adopted! "Cries, "go on! go on!" Mr. Gundacker continued: "I will not take up the time of this convention; I merely wish to know why my colleague opposes this resolution? I wish him to answer two questions—Has Mr. Buchanan done anything wrong during the past year? anything that did not meet a hearty response from the Democracy of his native county; anything contrary to the wishes or principles of the great Democratic party of the Union? I myself have been a Democrat since my childhood, and my father before me, but take no credit for that; never have I failed or faltered in the cause, but once, a year ago, I voted for my old friend and major, (Major Hambricht) under whom I served many years, and that was for the trifling office of Mayor of the city against the regular candidate; and for this I was denounced in every quarter, and particularly by my colleague, Col. Frazier! I feel excited: I do not wish to see the Hon. James Buchanan censured here by opposition to this resolution. I wish the Col. my colleague, to explain himself—(cheers.) I wish him to point to a single public act of James Buchanan's that merits censure from the Democracy here. I wish him to answer that, and to answer also, why he opposes him now, if it is not because he (the Colonel) has a personal feeling, having been disappointed? (Tremendous applause!)"

Mr. Frazier rose and said he would explain—"I am opposed to this resolution and to Jas. Buchanan—if I must give my reasons, I regret it exceedingly, as I see so many Whigs present who are much amused with these proceedings; but, Mr. President, when we pushed forward James Buchanan for the United States Senate, it was here the Democracy worked and labored hard; it was here that you and all of us battled for James Buchanan and Pennsylvania interest. We fought for him manfully, and we succeeded in having him sent to the U. S. Senate. Pennsylvania then began to expect the Presidency. Although I was not the first one to call him Pennsylvania's favorite son, yet we all sustained him. But when we had labored and spent our time and money for him, and the Democrats throughout Pennsylvania were looking forward with hope, at that very time he declined and left us in the dark, with our hope crushed, and efforts in vain. His conduct, too, relative to the Tariff of 1842 was weak and childish. How did the Hon. Robt. Walker sustain the interests of the Democracy whilst James Buchanan was afraid to come up to the work? How nobly did Geo. M. Dallas act in 1846, whilst James Buchanan looked after the $5,000 a year! And when Treason clashed with the spirit of Democracy, we were ready to denounce it. Yes, thank God! the Democracy are as free as the air we breathe, and the people of this Government are proud of their liberties, and proud of their independence; and thus free, shall we truckle to one man? Upon what merit doth our Cæsar feel, that he has grown so great? That we shall obey, and bow to his will, and worship him? No! I am no man's man; and I am not for James Buchanan now! He refused to give anything to the support of the party in 1845! He has refused to pay his taxes here! He has no right to vote here! He is no longer with us, or for us! And are we now compelled to obey his mandates, to establish his will? Are the Democracy ready to declare themselves his friends, when he is the friend of no man here? I know the vile slanders and reports throughout this city and country that my opposition to James Buchanan was because some friends of mine were disappointed. But we are freemen, and will not submit to the dictation of any; and if James Buchanan was here, I would tell him to his face—and that his cold presence should not now receive the mark of praise, by the adoption of that Resolution. I there move that it be indefinitely postponed! [Tremendous applause.]

Mr. HENRY E. LEAMAN said: That the course the Colonel was taking was a remarkable one. I admit my inability to address this convention as I would like to, being unaccustomed to public speaking; but the convention will bear with me, and pardon me for saying that Col. Frazier has slandered my friend James Buchanan; and I cannot sit still and permit it. I demand of the Colonel to show where in one instance, that Mr. Buchanan has acted contrary to his high station, or to the wishes of the Democracy? What change has come over the spirit of his dreams? What terrible events have so alarmed the Colonel! (cheers.) Ah! the true secret is as our German saying is, "Tu, tu, tu, tu, tu, tu!" (Great applause.) The whole opposition of the Colonel is the matter of dollars and cents, and he violently blusters and exclaims, "upon what merit doth this our Cæsar feel?" Mr. President, and gentlemen of this convention—I tell you that it is the merit upon which the WAR HORSE wants to feed, but cannot.—(Cries of good! good!! and tremendous applause!)

Col. FRAZER (with a violent gesture) Does the gentleman desire to be personal? He shall not apply such epithets to me! I hurl back the slander, and will demand satisfaction!

Mr. LEAMAN: I am personal, and I hold myself responsible here, or any where else for anything I say! (Cheers; a voice, "good looks!" [Tremendous applause!]) Another voice, "Frazier, how do you think you're making out?" "Many voices, Question! Question! Question!!!)

Mr. LEAMAN continued: Had I the authority to use the name of Mr. Buchanan, I could tell this Convention of that which would shock them, and place the Colonel in his proper position; but I have too much respect and friendship for Mr. Buchanan to use his name without his knowledge or consent. Yet this much I do know, and this much I will say, that the Colonel's animosity, so violently manifested here, proceeds solely from disappointment in not receiving some special appointment for a particular friend! And thus I leave the Colonel with this sorrow at his side! (Cheers.)

Mr. FAZZER: This, Mr. President, is sufficient to make every Democrat here grieve for the past, but glory in the present. Yes! the Federalists have called us Free Traders, and all who opposed the Tariff of 1842 as producing the ruin and destruction of the country.—Many of them are present, and I see their eyes sparkling with delight, in consequence of these extraordinary proceedings; but though I am exposed to insults and abuse, yet we are here as Democrats, and our harmony shall be preserved. We are marching under the broad banner of Democracy, the glorious stars and stripes are waving over us! We are ready to strike terror into the ranks of the Federalists, and show them that we can shoulder to shoulder, resent and oppose their corrupt principles, and that it is our highest glory to forgive, and bravely die in the glorious cause of Democracy! (Thunders of applause. A voice: Sensible to the last! Other voices: Question! Question! Question!)

The resolution was accordingly postponed.

Old Zach has been chosen as President by the people of Lycoming county, Penn., en masse. Hon. J. B. Anthony presided. So the ball rolls!

There are two millions of acres of swamp lands in Missouri and Arkansas which can be reclaimed by the expenditure of some two or three hundred thousand dollars, and yet the Democratic leaders of Missouri and Arkansas say it cannot be done by General Government because it is unconstitutional. What miserable pettifoggers of statesmen, half, say nine-tenths of the Democratic public men are!

Mr. Ellis, late Charge of this country to Caracas, is trying very hard to get up a joint stock company to enable him and them to enjoy the exclusive grant of the navigation of the Orinoco and Apure rivers for 8 years by steam. He does not appear to make much headway. He ought to go to London forthwith, and there he could get all the money he wants without difficulty.

What in the world is Col. S. C. Stambaugh of this city doing in Lancaster, Penn., presiding at a Democratic meeting? Can any one tell?

YUCATAN.—The account of the recent insurrection, or attempt at insurrection, of the Indians of Yucatan, says the Philadelphia North American, is a pretty significant commentary on the idea thrown out some weeks since in this paper, that the great future danger of Mexico, and of Spanish America generally, might be found in the secret hostility of the civilized Indians, who form the large mass of the citizens, and manifestly indulge dreams, if not actual designs, of liberation and revenge. The reader may glean some conception of the political position and moral and social state of the Indian Yucatecos, in the recent works of Stephens and Norman. They have always been civilized, and always in a peculiar condition of vassalage—first to their native princes, or caciques, and next to the Spanish conquerors, who assumed the place of their princes, dividing the lands of the latter and their subjects, over whom they still reign, not so much in the character of masters as of feudal lords.

Yucatan is a calcareous country, singularly destitute of streams and springs; and would be almost uninhabitable, except for the great reservoirs—some natural, some artificial—which exist on the great estates. The owners of these can command, and always have commanded, the services of the Indians, who purchase water-rights by their labor, and become necessarily dependent and vassals on the several estates. The labor imposed on them does not seem ever to have been very severe; and they have been supposed quite contented with their condition. But we are now informed that they have been for years silently engaged with plans of revolt, having for their objects the extermination of the Spanish race, and the recovery of their lands and freedom. They have not forgotten that the first Spanish discoverers found them civilized, clad in cotton garments of their own manufacture, inhabiting cities and villages of stone constructed by their own industry, and ruled by native chiefs of their own blood and lineage.

The insurrection was abortive; but it has removed a veil which concealed a deep purpose and a still profounder feeling, from the first workings of which we may calculate the prosperity of future storms, and bloody and perhaps successful revolutions.

Mr. Walker recently paid $5,000 for transporting two millions of specie from New York to New Orleans. This is the transfer about which so much fuss was made by the Union. The specie was absolutely carried to New Orleans.

COAL DEPOT, Lenox's Wharf, near the Long Bridge.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform his patrons and the public that he is receiving daily by the above article of his various kinds and qualities, (which will make his present stock equal to any in the District) consisting of Butler, Red Ash, Pine Knot, Broad Mountain, Clover Hill, suitable for Cooking ranges, radiators, grates, furnaces, etc.

I have had, at considerable expense, my yard planted, and have erected a commodious shed for the preservation of the coal from the dust and weather, and would state to those persons who may obtain their stock of me in the fall that, in case the quantity purchased should be found not sufficient for the season, (as is the case very frequently,) only a small advance will be made on the price to supply the deficiency.

I would request the citizens generally to call before making their purchases, as I am resolved to dispose of the article at reasonable rates. N. B. Each load accompanied by the certificate of a sworn weigher.

Orders will be received at the "Butler Coal Office" Mr. S. E. Mansfield's Drug Store, on Pennsylvania Avenue, opposite Coleman's Hotel; or they may be left with Mr. John F. Callan, Drug Store, corner of 7th and E streets; [either of whom will receipt for me:] through the post office; or at the Yard, on 13th street, near the Long Bridge, sep 9 3-t J. JOHN PETTIBONE.
