As it stands, the price of a ticket--continuous passage from New York to Chicago, for example--is now $11. From Washington to Chicago it is $17.50, and if one purchased a through ticket to Chicago and stopped over in Washington and sold his ticket at once he could pay the expenses of his trip to the national capital and clear a dollar besides.

THE CRITIC, and the information received, was to the effect that no change whatever would be made in the rates from this city. The Virginia Midland and Great Southern Railroads will make no reduction. The scalpers also say that they will not sell their tickets at lower rates, as they can't afford to do so.

A STEADY MARCH.

ON THE ROAD TO HEALTH.

To-day's Bulletin the Best Yet--The President's Recovery Almost Assured--His Cheerful Disposition and Good Appetite--Latest News From the White House.

The President slept well on Saturday night, and the bulletins of yesterday were quite as encouraging as any that have yet been issued.

There is now a free discharge of the bowels, and the President is able to sit up and eat his meals by next Sunday.

DISPATCH TO THE CONSULTING PHYSICIAN. The following dispatch was sent by the surgeons in charge to the consulting surgeons last night:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 17, 7 p. m.--Since our dispatch of yesterday the President has done as well as our hopes then indicated.

He has had a single hypodermic injection of one-eighth of a grain of sulphate of morphia at bedtime and slept well. Quinia in three-grain doses has been continued, as has also the plan of nourishment hitherto reported.

His bowels have been kept free by enemata. The wound is dressed with antiseptic preparations twice daily. There is now a free discharge of healthy pus. The afternoon fever, which yesterday and to-day, has been comparatively slight.

Yesterday at 1 p. m. his pulse was 94; temperature, 98.5°; respiration, 18; at 7 p. m., pulse, 98; temperature, 100.2°; respiration, 19. To-day at 8:30 a. m., pulse, 90; temperature, 98.4°; respiration, 18; at 1 p. m., pulse, 82; temperature, 98.5°; respiration, 15; at 7 p. m., pulse, 98; temperature, 100.2°; respiration, 20.

THE PRESIDENT ORDERS HIS OWN BREAKFAST. The President ordered his own breakfast for the first time yesterday morning. Hereafter he has had nothing to say in the matter of his food.

What Dr. Bliss Hopes. Dr. Bliss states that the President will be able to sit up as he pleases in a few days, as his improvement is not only continuing, but wonderful.

In speaking to Postmaster-General James and Col. Rockwell last evening, Dr. Bliss said nothing had as yet occurred which changed his previously expressed opinion that the bullet would not hit the abdominal cavity.

THE PRESIDENT REVERTS TO THE DAY OF THE SHOOTING. The President talked more than usual yesterday, and his mind reverted to the scene of the shooting.

He remembers every circumstance, and says he was engaged a great deal of the time he laid at the depot in watching the countenances of those of his friends around and the effects of the shock on them.

He looks forward with much interest to the time when he will be able to read the daily papers, and specially to glance over them of the day following the shooting.

The President has been nearly always right in talking about his case yesterday he asked Dr. Bliss which day, in his opinion, was the worst.

After the doctor was told that he thought the doctor would have said the day he got shot was the worst.

THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER. A copy of the following was sent to each of the Cabinet officials this morning:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 18, 8:00 a. m.--MY DEAR SIR: The President's progress toward convalescence, noted in the official bulletin of Saturday, steadily continues.

He feels greatly refreshed by the restful, unbroken sleep which he had last night and he feels constantly assured by the agreeable change in the weather.

His pulse is gradually lessening, it now being 88, with normal temperature and respiration. He will receive for breakfast: Beefsteak, toast and meat juice and poached egg; and later on a little oatmeal cooked to a jelly.

It is deemed best by the surgeons to give him solid substantial food in the morning, discontinuing it at one o'clock, after which time only liquid nourishment is administered.

Very Respectfully, J. STANLEY BROWN, Private Secretary.

THE BEST BULLETIN YET. The following was issued this morning: EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 18, 8:30 a. m.

The President has passed another comfortable night, and is doing well this morning. Pulse, 88; temperature, 98.4°; respiration, 18.

D. W. BLISS, J. K. BARNES, J. J. WOODWARD, ROBERT BEYRNEN.

TRAVELING EAST TOWARD HEALTH. Sixteen days have passed since President Garfield received a pistol-shot wound, which was at first supposed to be mortal.

Contrary to the expectations of his physicians he survived the shock, and although life hung apparently by a single thread, his admirable constitution and resolute will have carried him through the most dangerous stages, and he may now be regarded as fairly on his way to convalescence.

He sleeps well, eats with relish and would talk a great deal if his physicians had not prohibited all unnecessary conversation with the patient.

THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER. A dispatch from Cleveland announces the serious illness of the President's aged mother. It is to be hoped that she will live to see her son's perfect recovery.

A ROWDY SPIRIT.

SHOWING ITSELF AT ALBANY.

Disgraceful Scenes in the Conventions Today. Albany, July 18.--The joint convention resumed its session at noon. The first joint ballot for Conkling's successor resulted: Lapham, 54; Conkling, 27; Potter (Dem.), 34; Everts, 1. Total, 116.

The second ballot for Conkling's successor resulted: Lapham, 54; Potter (Dem.), 34; Conkling, 27; Everts, 1. Total, 116.

The scenes of disorder in the joint convention during the day were disgraceful in the extreme. Speaker Sharpe, who deserted the Conkling phalanx on Saturday, thus electing Warner Miller in place of Platt, was paired to-day with E. A. Carpenter, a stalwart. The second joint ballot was conducted amid scenes similar to those of the first, members shouting, hooting and using one or other of those names which were called, firing paper balls at each other, &c.

After the second joint ballot an attempt was made by some of the Half-breeds and a few Democrats to prevent adjournment, but the motion was carried over the objections of the other side, and adjournment to-day. The indications are that the matter will be settled to-morrow and a final adjournment is expected.

A bill providing for a special election to fill Congressional vacancies was made the special order of the Senate to-morrow, which is another indication of the speedy termination of the session.

THE TRAIN ROBBERS. Unsuccessful Search for Them--The James Boys Suspected. KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 18.--Sheriff Timberlake, who started out from Liberty, Saturday night, with a posse of thirty men in search of the Rock Island train robbers, has returned without any clew. A close watch was established in the neighborhood of Kearney, where the mother of Jesse and Frank James lives, but nothing was learned. The general belief is, that immediately after the murder and robbery, the gang separated and fled in different directions.

The regular feeling is to attribute these outrages to the James gang, but it is not definitely known that they had any hand in it.

WORK OF THE FLAMES. Destructive Fire at Red Bank, N. J. RED BANK, N. J., July 18.--A destructive fire here this morning destroyed nine buildings. The fire originated in GHI's bakery on Front street and spread with great rapidity. Police headquarters, the register's office, Hess' confectionery, the cigar store adjoining and Parker & Chadwick's grocery were the principal buildings destroyed. One life is reported lost.

SECOND DEBATE. RED BANK, N. J., July 18.--Twelve buildings were burned this morning. The flames were checked by tearing down the other houses. The total loss was $30,000, and upward, and the insurance $50,000. The man who was killed was the fireman, Wm. H. Conroy, of one of the fire companies, who dropped dead while directing the hose. His death was caused by asphyxiation, having stood over burning coal in the bake-shop.

TWO BRAVE LADIES. NEW YORK, July 18.--A man giving his name as John Kelly robbed a young lady, Miss Louise Ulmer, on Lexington avenue, last night of a gold watch and chain, valued at $125, and started to run away. Two ladies saw the robbery and captured the highwayman as he attempted to pass them. They held him tightly, and screamed loudly for help, and a policeman soon relieved them.

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVING. NEW YORK, July 18.--Thirteen hundred immigrants have landed at Castle Garden within the past 24 hours.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER. A dispatch from Cleveland says: "Mrs. Eliza Garfield, mother of President Garfield, had a severe attack of cholera morbus on Friday, from which she partially recovered, but she is now prostrated by fever. On account of her extreme age, she being eighty-one, her condition is regarded as very critical."

COL. DE ANNA'S CASE. Col. H. C. De Anna appeared before the grand jury to-day and was permitted to make a full statement of his case, including his experience as a Government officer in Alaska and the consequences arising from his full report concerning the state and condition of that territory.

The grand jury heard him for a full half hour, and our reporter was informed that it was resolved to take up the papers in the case for presentation at the grand jury's next meeting in September.

INDICTMENT OF A DEFULTER. The grand jury returned an indictment to-day in the case of George W. Ingalls, former Indian agent of the Plains Indian agency for presenting false vouchers, one for $2,218 and another for $184, in 1878. It is charged that Ingalls, who is now somewhere in the Western country, is a defaulter to the tune of over $100,000. The District Attorney after Mr. Ingalls, metaphorically speaking with a hot stick, and all the machinery of the law will be put in force to bring him to book.

THE PRIZE RIFLE MATCH. The prize rifle match for teams from the District of Columbia, Maryland and elsewhere, to take place next Thursday at the county fair at Westminster, Md., promises to be an interesting contest. The Columbia Rifle Association of this city will be represented by Col. J. O. P. Burnside, Dr. J. L. Scott, A. A. Albee and Walter Scott. The teams will shoot one and two hundred yards range, each rifleman to be entitled to ten shots. The prize is a massive silver cup. Col. Burnside believes that his team will return to Washington with the trophy.

DIVORCE GRANTED. To-day in the Equity Court, Judge Wylie granted a divorce to Sophia C. Hawes from the bond of matrimony with Wm. O. Hawes. The parties were married in November, 1872, in this city and have had one child, Minnie C. A. Hawes, born in 1874. The bill charges that defendant deserted petitioner in September, 1873, and has not since contributed to the support of herself and child. The petitioner was granted an absolute divorce, with right to resume her maiden name and the custody of her child.

MARY GRISON forfeited $20 collateral to-day. She was charged with stealing about $20 worth of dry-goods, lace and fancy hosiery from Woodward & Lothrop's store.

BILLY HELMUS will hereafter lock his staircase window when Sam Butler and Steve McBride are aboard. So much for his experience gained on his trip up the river from Fortress Monroe this morning.
