WEELMEN DELIGHTED

WITH OUR WELL-PAVED STREETS,

And With Everything Else in Washington—The Best Place in the Country to Hold Bleyele Conventions and Meets—The Meeting at Ford's Opera House and Election of Officers To-Day—The Parades To-Night and To-Morrow.

The large number of bleyelers in the city on Baturday was multiplied by pestorday's arrivals and by evening the hotel lobbles were filled with the silvery machines, the streets were througed with groups of wheelmen on their silent steeds, and handsome men in the neat bleyele uniform were everywhere to be seen.

The Arlington Hotel was the headquarters of the visitors, and the broad streets in that vicinity presented an interesting sight ati day. Large numbers of the bicyclers made tours of the city or trips to attractive points In the vicinity.

The visitors were enthusiastic in their praises of the city from a wheelman's standpoint and were well pleased with their reception.

Members of the Washington Cycle Club re-ceived the visitors at the depot and escorted them to their hetels.

This Morning's Exercises

them to their hetels.

This Morning's Exercises begans 7 o'clock by large parties of bierclers etarting for the Soldiers' Home and Cabin John Bridge, returning for the business mosting at Ford's Opera-House at 16 o'clock, after which visits to the public buildings and other places of interest are contemplated.

Among the bicyclers to whom attention is shown are Misseers. E. G. Barnett, S. L. Myers and C. E. Maxwell, who traveled from Spring-field, Ohio, on their bicycles. They let's Spring-field on the Sth instant and arrived in this city on the 15th. The distance traveled on their wheels was 342 miles. They averaged seven hours per day and ten miles an hour. They experienced no inconvenience or hard-ships along the road, and were received and treated very kindly all along the route.

This evening a novelty will be introduced in the form of a parade on the Avenue, in which each bicycle will carry a Chinese lantern, and the effect produced will be a very weird and striking one.

The following clubs are registered at the various hotels: At the Arlington: The Pequon-nock, of Bridgeport, Conn.; the Long Island; Massachusetts, of Boston; Buffalo; Buckeys, Ohio: Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Marietta, Pennsylvania; Brunswick, New Jersey; Bridgeport, Connecticut, and the Connecticut, of Hartford. At the Riggs House, the New York Club and Germantown, Pa. At the Eblit House, the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Club. At the St. James Hotel, the New Haven, Conn.; Marietta, O.; Williamsport, Pa., and Smithville, N. J. At the St. Mare Hotel, the Alpha, of Bethelehm, Pa.; Platifield, N. J., and Bpringfield, Mass. The Annual Meeting To-day. The vicinity of Ford's Opera-House present-ed an attactive appearance this morning. The building was festoned with bunting, while hundreds of bicycles were stacked in Louis-iana avenue, Ninth and B streets and crowds of wheelmen in uniform assembled around the entrances.

of wheelmen in uniform assembled around the entrances.

In the auditorium of the opera-house every—arrangement had been made for a large meeting. The walls and galleries were tastefully decorated with flags of all nations, shields, bunting, etc., and the stage was set with a woods scene and decorated with large starspangled banners.

An executive session of the board of officers was in progress in the gallery, and the body of the house was well filled with wheelmen in uniform.

of the house was well filled with wheelmen in uniform.

When the meeting of the board of governors concluded its business, the members proceeded to the auge, where they were greeted with deafening applause.

Mr. N. Malon Beckwith, the newty-elected president, called the meeting to order, and said that he deemed it a subject of congratulation that there was so large an attendance. The board of officers, he said, had just had a very harmonious meeting, and accomplished the business that awaited their action.

Mr. Miller then came forward and presented the chairman with a gavel.

The chair then appointed Messrs. Stephen Terry, W. H. Miller and E. F. Hill as a committee on credentials.

A recess was taken to allow delegates to present their credentials.

The Lantern Parade To-night.
The convention reconvened at noon and Mr.
Pelouze, of the Washington Cycle Club, annonneed that a grand lantern-light procession will be given this evening. The affair would be informal, the wheelmen assembling at the Cycle Club-rooms, on Eleventh street, above the Avenue, where Chinese lanterns will be provided, and the parade will arm and start at about 9 o'clock.
Mr. Pelouze said that he had been requested to announce that complaint had been made that a number of visiting wheelmen carried and used.

A Signal Whistle

which was identical with the police distress whistle used in this city. The use of these whistle used in this city. The use of these whistles since the arrival of the visitors had kept the policemen running throughout the night and had seriously interfored with their slumbers. He urged the wheelmen to refrain from using their whistles.

The reading of records was dispensed with. The report of the proceedings of the meeting of the board of officers was read by Mr. Knight L. Glapp.

At that meeting the rule excluding all but league clubs from the procession was repealed, and all cycle clubs were invited to attend and participate in to-morrow's parade. All unsattached riders were also invited to participate, but under the rule future processions will be for league members and clubs exclusively.

Election of Officers.
The following election of officers was unantmously and enthusiastically adopted:
President, Dr. N. M. Beckwith, of New York,
Vice-president, W. H. Miller, of Ohio.
Corresponding secretary, C. K. Alley, of Buffalo. Recording secretary, Eugene M. Alley, of Recording secretary, Eugene M. Alley, of Pennsylvania.
Treasurer, Stephen Terry, of Hartford.
The election of F. H. Pelouze, of this city; F. B. Graves, of Rochester; K. L. Clapp, of New York, and F. A. Fielding, of Montans, as additional representatives, was approved.
Under the rules of the league an additional member of the board of representatives is allowed for every fifty wheelmen added to a club, and these four appointments represent an "increase of fifty during the past year in the membership of each of the clubs to which they belong."

Dr. Beckwith, the president of the league, submitted a report of its progress during the past year, showing that it had doubled in membership and was in a thriving condition in every respect.

Dr. Beckwith, the president of the league, submitted a report of its progress during the past year, showing that it had doubled in membership and was in a thriving condition in every respect.

Three rousing cheers were given for the retiring officers.

A motion was made to have the reading of the recording secretary and treasurer's reports dispensed with, and after discussion the motion was carried.

A Reform the Bicycle Men May Make.

"The appearance of the wheelmen now in the city," said a progressive citizen to a Chiric reporter, "ought to give a great impotus to the dormant feeling in favor of masculine dress reform. A man in knee broeches would have been hooted at a few years ago, but the ladies at the music at the White House grounds on Saturday confessed that the fellows in the approved bloyde garb were the best dressed men in the crowd. It is a general subject of remark that the bloyders are all remarkably well-formed men, but they really owe this favorable impression to the suddition which their uniforms make to their appearance. Many of the wheelmen wear their uniforms when they promenade without their wheels, and as they extend this practice the comfortable common-sense uniform will come into general use, and we will owe the accomplishment of a great dress reform to our young bicyclers."

which a majority of the Democratic voters can sland, and—"
"Put in it a plank favoring a reform in the tariff," interrupted the reporter.
"I didn't say that," said Colonel Wilson; "for any attempt to indoze the Morrison bill would be simply suicidal."
"Whom do you favor for President?"
"Thiden is the strongest man, and he can win. But I never in my life know so much fudifference to be shown by my party friends right on the eve of the nominating convention as to who will be selected as the standard-bearer. If Mr. Thiden will accept the nomination his election will be certain. The next strongest team would be Cleveland and Payne, or Cleveland and Hoadly."
The Colonel, expressed himself pretty strongly against the convention doing anything toward indozsing the Morrison bill.

A Prediction of a Row at the July

Convention.

"There's going to be music of the liveliest kind in the next Democratic National Convention," said a gentleman to a Chritic reporter to-day,

"Tell me all about it," said the reporter,
"An attempt will be made by the free-traders to capture the organization of the convention. A committee on resolutions will, in the event of success, be appointed, with Henry Watterson as chairman, and a lot of free-trader resolutions will be brought in. This would raise a row with the traiters (the protectionists) in the party." party."
"What if the Morrison men fall to get the organization?"

"A row will result just the same. They will attempt to have their own way about running the convention and will necessarily clash with the pretectionist element in the convention, and then the band will begin to play." What a Gentleman of Veracity Said. A gentleman of veracity, who was at the Capitol to-day, said he heard a correspondent for a Western Democratic paper that has been becoming Judge Field for the Democratic nomination for the last two months declare that two million dollars could be raised to secure his (Field's) nomination.

THE INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

Its Broad Scope and Great Inter-national Importance.

The broad scope and great national and in-ternational importance of the World's Indus-trial Exposition at New Orleans is evinced by the recent tendering of the following appointments by the management: Captain James B. Eads to be special commis-sioner to Great Britain and the London Expe-sition. stoner to Great Britain and the London Exposition.

Hon, John Eaton to be chief of the Department of Education.

Hon, George B. Loring to be chief of the Department of Agriculture.

The American Exchange in Europe (limited) has been tendered and has accepted the foreign agency of the exposition and has established a bureau of information where blanks and documents of every description relating to the exposition will be widely circulated.

The exchange has contral offices in all the great capitals of the globe and hundreds of subordinate offices in the principal towns of all countries. Through this great system the dissemination of information regarding the exposition will be complete throughout the world. No man will escape a knowledge of the event. So comprehensive a system of reaching every civilized nation was nover adopted before, and it indicates somewhat the broad policy of the management in the important matter of inducing every section of the universe to send representatives to New Orleans.

THE REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

A Letter to the Commissioners and Their Reply.

Thomas E. Waggaman has written the Com-missioners in relation to taxing real estate agents. He says they do not object to paying a license, but do object to the one per cent on the gross amount of their income and a bond the gross amount of their income and a bond for the collection of the same.

The Commissioners reply that they complied a license law with great care, at which they fixed the tax on real estate agents at $50 per annum and required no bond nor percentage on the amount of business transacted. But when the real estate dealers sought complete exemption, the Commissioners could not see the propriety of assenting to special legislation relieving a particular class without reference to the District revenues.

The Mecklenburg Declaration.

The celebration which takes place at Charlotte, N. C., to-morrow in honor of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence promises to be a great success. North Carolinians cherish with peculiar pride the memory of that important event which gave to the world on independence from the British Crown, and on each returning anniversary it is their custom to meet at the sacred spot in old Mecklenburg and commemorate that important event in the history of the country.

Senator Pendioton, of Ohio, is the orator on this occasion. He left last night in company with the following distinguished gaulioman, who will honor the occasion with their presence, viz., benators Hampton, Butter, Hambon and Vance, and Representatives Evans, of South Carolina.

Something About Them and Their Business Ways—His Resolution Discussed—A Question of Business Precedence in the House—A Lively Tilt Between Mr. Scales, of North Carolina, and Mr. Cox, of New York.

Mr. Morgan's resolution directing the Committee on Finance to investigate the causes of the recent bank failures in New York came up in the Senate to-day.

Mr. Morgan said the motion to refer was simply an effort to smother the resolution and to avoid any vote on the subject by the Senate. He criticised at some length the speculative action of National Banks, and contended that further Congressional action was necessary to prevent future financial disasters.

He said that bank officials had been guilty of numerous violations of the criminal laws, and we are now face to face with an event which would have destroyed thousands of millions of values but for the fact that the people had accommodated themselves for the last four of five years to the general shrinkage of values, and so arranged their business that a jar of this kind could not shake them down. The failure of the Marine Bank was due to the fact that it loaned its credit to any extent to a firm of brokers without any deposits to meet the checks drawn against it.

"This bank," he exclaimed, "supported the firm of forant & ward in its wideest apeculation. These transactions conveyed to the commercial honor and integrity of the great city of New York, At one time a commercial honor, but in the presence of record facts commercial from of the metropolis were a by-word and reproach and a case of auspiction."

After criticising Ward's actions he said they argued a collapse of commercial and took in the presence of recent facts commercial forms of the metropolis were a by-word and reproach and a case of auspiction."

After criticising Ward's actions he said they argued a collapse of commercial actions that he feeled of the speculators by opening the doors of the Federal Treasury. The Government of the united States in its financial disturbance in New York. Whether it areas from the over-certification of checks, he did not know; but almostly of covering up those things instead of exposing them. It was time to call a balt and investigate.

Mr. Bayard favored the r melals.

The resolution was referred to the Finance About the Order of Business in the

In the House this morning Mr. Collins (Mass.) insisted upon consideration of the Bankruptcy bill, which had been fixed for today a month or more ago.

Mr. Randall said the chairman of the Comnittee on Elections had given notice that the Wallace-McKinley contested election case from Onio would be heard to-day and that every-thing else would have to give way to that. Mr. Turner (Ga.), chairman of the Committee on Elections, said he would let the Wallace. McEning case go over until to-morrow for the purpose of considering the Bankrupney bill.

This brought Mr. McEning to be lankrupney bill.

This brought Mr. McEning to be leed. Ho said that he had had very important business engagements, and had gone, several days ago. to the chairman of the committee and requested him to postpone the consideration of the Wallace-McEning vase one week, but that the chairman had insisted upon considering the case to day, and he (McEning) had, after traveling two nights and making great sacrifices and suffering many inconveniences, arrived here this morning, and fully expected to hear the case to-day. If it was postponed, he submitted that, under the circumstances, it should be for a week.

"I submit this to all the gentlemen about me," said he, standing over on the Democratic side.

Nearly everybody agreed with him, and then Mr. Turner (Ga.), chairman of the Committe

Nearly everybody agreed with him, and then the chairman said the case would be heard to the chairman said the case would be heard to-dag.

To this Mr. Collins protested vigorously, hanging out for his bankrupt bill.

Mr. Cox (N. Y.) demanded the regular or-der, and the States were called for bills while he candidon cooled off.

A Tilt Between Scales and Cox.

Mr. Scales, of North Carolina, is the chairman of the House Committee on Printing. A bill authorizing the printing of 25,000 additional copies of the Census report was referred to his committee, but the committee has been tardy about reporting it. In fact the Printing Committee is opposed to the measure, and, it is eaid, meant to emother it. About a week ago Mr. Cox (N. Y.) introduced another similar bill, which was referred to his (the Census) committee. This morning Mr. Cox arose and moved to suspend the rules and pass his bill. Mr. Scales was allowed fifteen minutes, and devoted that time in wiping up the floor with Mr. Cox, whom he charged with practicing a system of Jegerdemain in offering another bill. Mr. Scales intimated that Mr. Cox sneaked his bill in during his (Scales) absence from the House, or else he would have objected to it. A Tilt Between Scales and Cox.

from the House, or else he would have objected to it.

Dancing With His Head and Thinking With His Heels.

Mr. Cox said to reply that Mr. Scales seemed to be dancing with his head and thinking with his heels. The gentlemen, he said, had charged him with legerdemain, and whatever that was he didn't know nor care. He then want into the details of the matter under discussion to show that the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. Scales] did not know what he was talking about. He said the Tenth Census cost less than the Ninth Census, although it was much more cumbersome and complete.

The bill was finally passed by a large majority. As passed, it provides for the printing of 25,000 copies of the Compendium of the Tenth Census.

The House spont a good deal of time this atternoon on the bill to admit free of duty works of art from foreign countries. Several of the usually protective Members lent their votes to the measure, but it was defeated by a large majority.

JOHN D. SHEA'S CASE.

Can a Man be Compelled to Accept a Pardon He Has Not Asked for? Harriseuro, Pa., May 19.—An application for the release of John D. Suca, alias Sullivan, will be made by the authorities of Missouri to the pardon board to-morrow. The prisoner was tried and convicted of the murder of Officer Riyan at St. Louis, but before sentenced he skipped and was arrested for burglary at Pittsburgh and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. About one year of that sentence has been served.

It is understood that this is the stand taken by the prisoner.

In this event, it is expected that the board will commute the sentence, ending his term of confinement with Saturday next, when the prisoner will be taken to St. Louis, and langed.

The stock market continues weak and since last report prices have declined to about the owest point reached thus far to-day.

The weakness is due chiefly to the remora concerning trouble in the Louisville & Nashville Company and selling is said to be for the account of an insider.

The bears are hammering the list on numerous unfavorable reports concerning the standing of large helders in certain of the cading speculations.

THE TIGHTS CAPTURED HIM.

THE TIGHTS CAPTURED HIM,
But the Love Very Soon Died Out.
CINGENEARI, O., May 19.—Wm. Danford, son of a well-to-do St. Louis hatter, was arrested yesterday for disorderly conduct in raising a disturbance at Frank Wright's house by attempting to kill his deserted wife who was an inmate of the place. The woman Lottle L.
James was formerly a member of the Hess Opera Company. Her picture in tights fell into the hands of Danford last summer while she was in San Francisco. Taking a fancy to the picture he opened a correspondence with the original which resulted in their marriage at St. Louis last September. Their union did not result happilly. Both got to deinking and he took to opium eating. When arrested he was crazy from rum and opium.
