THE SITUATION.

The Claims of the Two Parties.
Charles Kingsbury, editor of the Philadelphia Press, telegraphs his paper from New York the following concerning the situation:
"New York, Nov. 10.--The central facts of the situation are as follows: The Democratic managers have dropped their claim of plurality for Cleveland on the face of the returns to appear even. They are not giving out these figures; on the contrary they are studiously withholding them, but they leak out none the less. The highest figure I have heard named as their responsible claim is 100,000, but that was before some errors were discovered.

There are reasons for believing that the plurality which they now stand in not more than 250, but let them have the benefit of the doubt.
In the second place, the number of ballots in New York City alone returned as 'defective' is from 10,000 to 15,000. It is not clear how many of these are really defective. Who are they for? Can they be counted? Suppose they were really intended for Bryan and suppose they could be added to his column? These are questions yet to be decided.

It is known that a considerable number of Illinois ballots were thrown aside because the long name of one elector was clipped. It is also known that a considerable number of ballots actually appear in the returns from Illinois for whom no name is given. It is a plurality of only 450 in 1,100,000 votes. There is room for doubts as to whether it would entirely change the result. It means a margin of only one in every 2,500 votes.

It would seem a singular one of a vote of 2,500 for Alderman or Representative as conducted without waiting for the official count of the returns. The National Committee would have been cowardly and recreant if they had not followed the returns to the other extreme. They have shown themselves, their party, their candidate and their country that they should take all proper precautions to secure a honest and fair count.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.
How the Department People Contributed for the Campaign.
There has been good deal of talk during the campaign about the local finance committee receiving but scant recognition from the Department people, and less money in the shape of contributions. One Democratic newspaper says that the scarcity of Republican money during the November campaign was due to the fact that the clerks had contributed but little.

CLOSE CONTENTS.
Facts for Candid Democrat to Remember.
It is remembered that Washington Grant, in 1850, was elected Governor over Horatio Seymour by nearly 200,000 votes, and that Seymour was afterwards elected for Governor by Myron Clark by only 500 votes. It is also remembered that the victory was claimed by the partisans on both sides until the official count was made.--N. Y. Mail and Express.

SPARKS FROM THE ELECTION.
Local Comments and Observations by the Delighted and Disappointed.
The election is in progress and the excitement is increasing. The Democratic party is leading, and the Republican party is following. The result will be decided in a few days.
