THE RACING SEASON.

Entries for the Withers Stakes—Their Winnings for 1884—Books for the Suburban—Heavy Odds Laid—Other Notes.

The racing season for 1885 opened yesterday at New Orleans.

Gono is a great favorite for the Withers stake—one mile dash for 3-year-olds—at the spring meeting at Jerome.

Withers' second race, which was declared out last August, and it is not probable that more than ten or a dozen will face the starter.

The best known of these will be Gono, the Dwyers' Richmond, Kelso's Brookwood, Lordard's Hopeful and St. Augustine, Ed Snodden's Grandeur, and Withers' Julietta (cut).

Of these, last season Gono headed the list of winners with 21,588 first three times; second once; 35,615. Richmond, three times; second five times; 36,212. Hopeful, one win; once second; 34,370. St. Augustine, two wins; second four times; 22,473. Grandeur, one win; 22,475. Besides these, there may be Harfoot (who was a strong tip at Sheepshead, at the fall meeting), the Helioptere (colt of Kelly's), a green one of Powell's, Bowler's Cavalier, a light one of Becher—Thunderbolt—who never will run true. Gono has grown a good deal since last year, and is likely to catch the judge's eye first among the ones on the coming season.

THE DEATH OF MISS MADISON.

An Indictment Found Against Cluverius.

In Richmond yesterday the grand jury brought in an indictment against J. V. Cluverius, who is charged with the murder of Miss Fannie Lillian Madison.

The case was continued until the 10th of May. There were several new witnesses before the grand jury, but what is still wanting is evidence to connect Cluverius with the murdered girl while she was at the resort.

The latest evidence goes to show that he was walking on Belle Isle the day of the murder, and while many witnesses identify him, one of them remembers commenting upon the fact that his female companion was pregnant. This was the condition of Miss Madison. Belle Isle is fully a mile from the reservoir. The question arises, Was Cluverius there with the purpose of drowning her? Did he find the place so public for the purpose? This is a suspicious circumstance, but it alone cannot convict him. The sentiment is against the prisoner in Richmond and at his late home.

Dr. William Elder, whose death occurred in Washington on Sunday, had a most eventful political life, and it dates back beyond the memory of the present generation.

Four score years ago he was born among the "freest sons of thunder" in the mountains of Somerset, and he has been doctor, lawyer, editor, politician, author, statistician, office-holder and a brilliant conversationalist.

Dr. Elder was one of the earliest of the champions of the Abolition cause, and he did his best work when it was among the most odious of public tasks to advocate the overthrow of slavery, even in the no-man's-land of Republican cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg; but he loved unequal strife, and he performed most heroic service in the cause.

He edited the Republican in this city in 1848, the organ of the Free Soil Van Buren movement, and later he edited the Register as a more distinctive Abolition organ.

When Republicanism came to the fore he was one of its most enthusiastic, earnest and able advocates, and, like most of his peculiar type, he dwelled into subordinate position when the great battle was fought between the Union and the secession of the nation, the Phillipses, the Garretts, the Elders and their associates were seldom in accord with the political power they had done so much to create.

Dr. Elder's distinction did not rest solely upon his political efforts. He was a most accomplished writer, and some of his literary productions possessed peculiar merit.

His story of "Mary Barker" was one of the best of his kind, and more interesting as it simply idealized real characters then well known in the Juniata region.

His book, "Pericles," presented, with Mackintosh's aid, a most interesting and original General Ogle, many gems of literature. Few men have left so many pleasant memories among his friends as has Dr. Elder, and although his work was done, he will be widely lamented.—(Philadelphia Times.)

Corporation Elections.

The Columbia Fire Insurance Company re-elected the following officers yesterday: Henry A. Willard, president; Fred B. McGuire, vice-president; A. E. Willard, secretary; H. A. Johnson, S. G. Moran, G. C. Simms, W. S. Thompson and W. G. Duckett.

The following officers and trustees were elected at a meeting of the National Association of Public Association last night: E. S. Pratt, president; C. P. Culver, vice-president; Dr. George Lee, secretary; trustees, Louis Claiborne, Hoesa Cummings, E. S. Hutchison, H. A. Johnson, S. G. Moran, G. C. Culver, Mrs. Nordhoff, Mrs. Senator Palmer and Mrs. Dr. Pope.

General Barrios' Death Confirmed.

Senor Peralta, Minister to the United States from Costa Rica, received advices yesterday from Nicaragua and Salvador confirming the previous report that the late President Barrios of Guatemala.

He has information also that a telegram was received yesterday by a gentleman in New York who was a friend of President Barrios, informing him of the death of Barrios, and requesting him to transmit the information to Barrios' son, who is a cadet at West Point. Senor Peralta is also in receipt of information that the Republic of Honduras, which was contented as an ally of the Guatemalan president, now fraternizes with the allied republics of Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

Every Woman Knows Them.

The human body is much like a good clock or watch in its movements; it runs too fast or too slow so follow all the others, and bad time results; if one organ, or set of organs works imperfectly, perversion of functional effort of all the organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct result of the abnormal action of the uterine system. For all that numerous class of symptoms—every woman knows them—there is one unfailing remedy, Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," the favorite of the sex.

The Cafe and Restaurant heretofore conducted by Mr. Edward Pick, at 911 Pennsylvania Avenue southeast, is still open to the public. CHARLES S. MOORE, Assignee.

The Choral Society Concert.

The programme for the Choral Society concert at the Congregational Church tomorrow evening is an unusually attractive one. The main feature will be Rheinberger's cantata "Kleberkraut" with Miss Agnes Huntington and Mr. Whitney Mockridge in the solo parts, and accompaniment by piano and string orchestra. Mr. Harry C. Sherman is the director, and Mrs. O. A. Person the accompanist of the society. Solos by Miss Huntington and Mr. Mockridge, male and female choruses and madrigal by the society will comprise the rest of the programme.

A Postmaster Removed.

President Cleveland has suspended the postmaster at Home, N. Y., for neglect of duty, and appointed James B. Corcoran to attend to the duties of the office. Mr. Corcoran was nominated for the Rome post office before the Senate adjourned, but no action was taken upon it. The nomination appears to have been simply overlooked in the hurry of adjournment.
