We must treat every organ in the system, for the Lungs are not the only organ affected. It affects the Liver, the Heart, the Kidneys, Bladder, and Pancreas; and, in fact, every organ in the body is more or less tainted with decomposition and decay.

THE LUNGS

THE GLANDS
become swollen from the irritation and inflammation of the lungs.

ULCERS AND LUMPS IN THE THROAT

DR. JOHNSTON'S PROGRAM TO THE APPLICANT
That he has discovered the most certain, speedy and efficacious plan of treating

SECRET DISEASES
has been presented to the world. By his plan, founded on observation made in the Hospitals of Europe and America, he will insure

A CURE IN TWO DAYS,
OR NO CHARGE.

No Mercury or Arsenious Drugs used.

Weakness, Loss of Organic Powers, Pains in the Lungs, Disease of the Kidneys, Affections of the Head, Throat, Nose and Skin, Constitutional Debility, and all those horrid affections arising from a certain and destructive habit which annually sweeps to a untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entered listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

A CURE WARRANTED, OR NO CHARGE.
Young men especially, who have become the victims of this horrid and dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to a untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entered listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health.

Office, No. 7 South Frederick street, Baltimore, Maryland, on the left hand side, going from Baltimore street, seven doors from the corner. Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will be misled.

DR. JOHNSTON,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most successful cures that ever were known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, at once sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.
Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgence, that secret and solitary habit, which ruins both body and mind, uniting them for cure in one system.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c., &c.

Medical—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion of Society, Self Distrust, and of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.
Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arise from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become victims of it, from their ignorance of the nature of the habit, and the subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and daughters. Also how often they are misled by the subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and daughters. Also how often they are misled by the subject themselves.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
This grand and important remedy, restored strength and vigor to thousands of the most debilitated individuals, many who had lost all hopes, and been abandoned to the mercies of the gods, and the most inveterate system, the whole faculties became restored to their proper power and functions, and the fallen fabric of life is raised up to beauty, consistency and duration, upon the ruins of an emaciated and premature decay, to sound and pristine health. Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly restored to health from the deplorable state of utter prostration, and almost total insensibility! Such persons, before contemplating should reflect that the health of the body are the most necessary requisites to promote conjugal happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the present hours are rendered dreary, and the mind is clouded with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston may rely upon the honor of a Gentleman, and a confidence which will never be shaken.

TO STRANGERS.
The many thousands cured at this institution within the last year, and the numerous important surgical operations performed by Dr. J., witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the affairs of this office are conducted with the most scrupulous care and honor.

TAKE NOTICE.
It is with the greatest reluctance that Dr. Johnston permits his card to appear before the public, deeming it unprofessional for a physician to advertise; but unless he did so, the afflicted, especially the strangers, could not fall into the hands of those unprincipled, boasting impostors—individuals destitute of knowledge, name, and character—peddlars, schemers, mechanics, &c., advertising themselves as physicians, and offering to cure, for a trifling sum, the most inveterate and long standing diseases, and in despair leave you with ruined health to sigh over your galling disappointment. It is this medicine, especially Myer's Dry Cure, which results from our cure. To those unacquainted with his reputation he deems it necessary to say, that his credentials are diplomatic and always hanging in his office.

Weakness of the Organs immediately cured, and full vigor restored.

AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.

(For the Daily American Telegraph.)
Charlotte Cushman,
In the Drama of "Guy Rimering,"
By THOMAS S. DONOHUE.

I.
A vision, wild, majestic,
Hath visited my soul:
It came—I felt the sovereignty,
I owned the strange control!
Dark caverns, rocks, and waterfalls,
And forest gloom, were round—
When suddenly the form appeared—
And stood! No motion—sound—
An awful stillness—yet her eyes,
Her hold, terrific eyes,
Were blazing with unearthly light
Of passion, love, surprise!

II.
The Gypsy Queen!—the startling page,
So late at midnight read,
Romantic tale of long ago,
Whose memory still is dread—
Despite all power of daylight thought,
All reason's power despite—
I saw the story live—I heard
The wondrous voice to-night!

The wondrous voice, the voice of age,
That trembled, yet was bold:
That now in chilling whispers breathed,
And now in thunders rolled!

III.
I watched her love's devotedness
For him, the long-lost heir;
I saw, wherever he roamed,
Her wild protection there:
Till joyous triumph came, at last,
To him, but death to her—
And felt, with agonizing pang,
What truth can art conceal!

Nay, 'twas not art—'twas Nature all!
She acted not a part:
That hour the scene of long ago
Possessed and ruled her heart!

MARY COTTAGE, Washington.

Good as Wheat!
Perhaps you would like to know the origin of this phrase:

In Tennessee, there is a certain village, boasting its tavern, three stores, and four groceries, where from morning till night, and from night till dawn, a person entering the town may find, in the tavern, groceries, or stores aforesaid, one or more groups of persons playing cards. Gambling there is reduced to a science; the history of the four kings is thoroughly studied; and from the school-boy to the gray-haired veteran—from the high in her teens to the mother of a large family—they are all initiated into the mysteries of the low, jack, game—and left bowlers—the honors of the odd trick. One of the best players in the village was Major Smith, the tavern-keeper—or, as he expressed it, the proprietor of the hotel—a widower, who, like

"Dephila, judge in Israel,
Had a daughter passing fair,"
Fanny, the daughter, was one of the prettiest girls in Tennessee, and therefore one of the prettiest in the world. The sweetheart of Miss Fanny was a young farmer, residing in the neighborhood, whom we shall designate by the name of Bob.

It happened that one day before harvest, the young man was detained in the village, and night found him as usual at the hotel, seated between the Major and his charming daughter. After a desultory conversation between the two gentlemen on the state of the weather, the prospects of the approaching harvest, and such important staples of conversation, the Major asked Robert how his wheat crop promised to yield. In reply, he was told that the young farmer expected to make at least a hundred bushels. The Major appeared to study for a moment, and then abruptly proposed a game of old sledge or "seven up," the stakes to be his daughter Fanny against the crop of wheat. This of course the young man indignantly refused, because he could not bear the idea that the hand of her he loved should be made the subject of a bet, or that he should win a wife by gambling for her, and, perhaps, because he knew the old man was "hard to beat," and that there was a very strong probability of his losing both wheat and wife.

It was not until the Major, with his usual obstinacy, had sworn that unless he won her he should never have her, that the young man was forced reluctantly to consent to play.

The table was placed, the candles lit, the cards produced, and the players took their seats, with Miss Fanny between them to watch the progress of the game. The cards were regularly shuffled and cut, and it fell to the Major's lot to deal. The first hand was played, and Robert made gift to his opponent's high, low, game. Bob then dealt, the Major begged, it was given, and the Major again made three to his opponent's one.

"Six to two," said Miss Fanny with a sigh. The Major, as he again dealt the cards, winked knowingly, and said, "I'm good for that wheat."

The old man turned up a trump—
"It was a spade," Fanny glanced at her father's hand—her heart sank—he held the three and eight spots and the king! She then looked at Robert's hand, and, lo! he held the ace, queen, knave, and jack, or knave. She whispered Robert to beg—he did so. "Take it," said the Major. "Three to six," said Miss Fanny, aloud. Robert played his deuce, which the Major took with his three spot, and followed by playing the king. Robert put his queen on it. The Major, supposing it was the young man's last trump, leaned over the table, and tapping the last trick with his finger, said, "That's good as wheat."

"Is it?" asked Robert, as he displayed to the eyes of the astonished Major, the ace and jack yet in his hand—High, low, jack, gift, and the game," shouted Robert. "Out!" sentimentally ejaculated Miss Fanny. "Good as wheat," added Robert, as he flung his arms around her neck and kissed her.

In due time they were married; and ever after that, when anything of a pleasant nature occurred to the happy couple, they would express their emphatic approbation of it by the phrase, "Good as wheat."

ANECDOTE.—A baronet of the last century, whose mansion was in Yorkshire, was supposed to be dead; when the following conversation took place between his jester, or fool, and one of his servants:

Serv. Our master is gone!
Fool. Ah! whither has he gone?
Serv. To Heaven, I hope.
Fool. To Heaven! No, that he is not, I am sure.
Serv. Why so?
Fool.
