Congress To-day. Neither House is in session.

African Civilization. The establishment of Christian colonies on the coast of Africa—the combined, earnest, and in a good degree successful, efforts of civilized nations against the slave-trade—the recent discoveries in that country, and its manifestly great agricultural, mineral, and commercial resources, afford the clearest encouragements for hope that, by earnest and benevolent endeavors, her people may be brought under all the benign laws and influences of civilization.

When a Turk steals, he is taken before an ordinary magistrate, who causes him instantly to be beheaded in the street, whence his friends may not remove the body till sunset. We had rather have a bale or two of goods stolen occasionally. But renegade Christians are fond of making such comparisons as the above, and accrediting Mahomet, as a teacher of morals, superior to Christ.

THE "COTTON PLANT." We are requested to state that this new Southern paper will make its appearance on Saturday next. It will be a weekly, double sheet, (eight pages,) at $2 a year. The first number was to have been issued to-day, but some important arrangements had to be made, which necessarily postponed the first issue until next Saturday.

"Chug, chug, chug! ye may say that; but ye can't vote!" as Paddy said to the steam stevedore. But there is a machine in this city that can vote. It may be seen at the bookstore of Mr. Austin Gray, 7th street. It is patented by Messrs. S. B. Stout and J. S. Morell, of Keypport, New Jersey. It is, in our opinion, perfect. The number of votes on each side, and their names, are faithfully recorded, the former being indicated by a clock-like index. The curious should call to see this ingenious invention.

"This world was made for Caesar: I'm weary of conjectures," and so forth. But was this world made for Caesar? We believe the city of Washington was made for certain domestic animals, that are so called because they never stay at home. Dogs and hogs abound to a shameful degree, and are both equally deficient as respects any sort of teaching. The dogs, in general, appear to be somehow necessary to the younger ones who own them. The pigs are suffered to remain within city limits for the same reason that vermin abide on the persons of the unclean. It is shameful!

The China-ware at room No. 28, Gadsby's, is soon to go off to the holder of the lucky number. We believe there are still a few tickets unsold. The set is very extensive and very beautiful, and we believe could be advantageously divided among several families who do not require so extensive a display.

When you put a letter in an envelope it should be fully addressed inside; or, when the envelope is lost, there may be mistake or confusion. A stolen mail was recently recovered, but as the envelopes were torn off the letters, the postmaster does not know where to send many of them.

A newspaper that is easy to read always delights us. We receive a number of very excellent journals that are faulty in this particular. We have hitherto done pretty well in this matter, and with a little improvement in the article of paper we shall hereafter do still better.

Duels could be suppressed by the editors of the United States. They have but to pronounce against them, and refuse to record any deeds of the kind, except where a death occurs, and then to speak of "the murder."

All kinds of laborers can be procured, when needed, in Washington, except female house-servants. Every family experiences great inconvenience for the want of good "helps."

One of the most beneficial improvements of modern times will be the iron bridge to continue Pennsylvania avenue clear into Georgetown. The side hill is troublesome, costly in its destruction to running-gear, and dangerous.

Dr. Van Patten has an admirable position on the hill-side near Georgetown—a kind of a Gibraltar of a residence; and it is improving it well and tastefully.

Oak Hill Cemetery. We yesterday paid a visit to this exquisite place of repose, on the heights of Georgetown. There surely can be no more beautifully appropriate place in the world. The deep ravine—the dense, primitive forest—the terraced hillside—the exquisite, half-gorgeous, half-melancholy chapel—the tranquil little river in the valley beneath, and the impressive scenery around—all conspire to fill the mind with pleasurable emotions.

The handiwork of art should be sparingly applied to this place, for nature has been profuse in her adornments; yet what is done is well done. A new iron railing has just been erected (by Messrs. Smith & Felton, of Boston) on the south side. It is about ten feet high, and of singularly appropriate and admirable pattern and construction. We understand that this also is the free gift of Mr. Corcoran, to whose munificence the public are indebted for the ground and all its improvements. May the little stream of undignified appellation (undiminished by the diverting hand of aquatic engineers) continue for ages to meander past the graves of the friends now near us, throwing its spray as a tearful ovation upon the willow-shaded banks at their feet.

Washington National Monument. The proposition to complete this work by the Sons of Temperance of the United States, as revealed in our paper yesterday, finds favor in this city; and we learn that it was some time since proposed here by General George Savage, of the cold water army, who expressed his determination to bring it before the National Division at its next session.

The plan of the organization of this society admits of the easy and certain consummation of this great work, and the numbers are adequate. There are upwards of 5,000 subordinate divisions, who all contribute through their Grand Divisions to the National Division, and it will be easy for the monument fund to be sent up with their other offerings.

This Order can in five years complete the work by the payment of a cent a week each. The next meeting of the National Division will be held in the city of Richmond in June next.

New Comedy at the National Theatre. This is criticized by an intelligent writer in this morning's Republic. We are requested by a friend of the author to say that it was hurriedly got up, and hurriedly played, after a long opera, and that it will be reproduced, when the critic in the Republic will find that the skeleton he witnessed afforded but a poor specimen of the unmutated production.

Rev. Dr. Peck will preach in the Foundry Chapel to-morrow, April 18, at 11 o'clock a. m., and 7 1/2 p. m.

"The Sovereignty of God" will be the theme of the morning Discourse to-morrow in the 4th street Church, at 11 o'clock, by Mr. G. Gallaher. At 7 1/2 p. m., the subject will be, "The Call of the Gospel."

National Theatre. The beautiful opera of Cindrella, by Rosini, will be performed at the National Theatre by the Seguin Troupe, for the sixth time, this evening. The farce to-night is, "All the World's a Stage." As this is the last performance of Cindrella here by the Seguin Troupe an overflowing house is anticipated.

On Monday night Auber's celebrated piece of the Mondayer will be performed by the Seguin Troupe. A Corps du Ballet has been brought from Philadelphia, under the direction of Mr. Schmidt, and we learn upwards of thirty-five ladies appear on the stage at the same time. The dancing, and singing, and instrumental music in the piece, are represented to be very fine.

The Approaching Concert. This is to take place on Tuesday evening, at Carusi's, and will, we fondly hope, prove highly attractive. Miss JENNY BUSK will be assisted on the occasion by M. KLEY, one of the most beautiful pianists who have ever performed in this city, whom we are told Ole Bull has pronounced one of the first performers of the time.

The following notice of Mr. Kley is extracted from the Southern Press: "We would invite the attention of those desiring the assistance of a good music-master to the card of Mr. Kley, in another column. We can confidently recommend him, as all he has acquired he has acquired in a most judicious and experienced instructor. Having very recently settled in this city, his merits are as yet known to few, but they have only to be tested to be properly appreciated. Information as to his terms of tuition, &c., can be had on application to him at the music store of Mr. Davis, on the Avenue."

Some years ago a Philadelphia merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed he inquired where they should be stored. "Leave them here, in the rain to-night," was the reply; "But I dare not leave them thus exposed; some of the goods may be stolen," said the supercargo. The Mahomedan merchant burst into a loud laugh, and he replied, "Don't be alarmed, there ain't a Christian within fifty miles of here!"

When a Turk steals, he is taken before an ordinary magistrate, who causes him instantly to be beheaded in the street, whence his friends may not remove the body till sunset. We had rather have a bale or two of goods stolen occasionally. But renegade Christians are fond of making such comparisons as the above, and accrediting Mahomet, as a teacher of morals, superior to Christ.

Go to church to-morrow like good Christians. Listen well; contribute freely. Don't think of business or politics; but turn into both with a hearty good will on Monday morning.

It is certified that the SELF-GENERATING GAS, now exhibiting in this city by Mr. E. W. Hall, the holder of the patent, appears to be an article of great merit and surprising economy. It can be sold for forty cents per gallon. It will give eight jets of clear, pure, soft, brilliant light from a parlor lamp, (equal to eight sperm candles,) at a cost of one half cent per hour. It is only about one half the price of Etheric and Pine Oils, and is destitute of the dangerous and explosive qualities of those burning fluids. The right for the District is for sale.
