

TO THE PUBLIC.—After the 1st of July, 1851, the postage on the Daily American Telegraph (and as yet we issue no other) will be, per quarter in advance, as follows: Fifty miles or under, 25 cents; over fifty and not over three hundred miles, 50 cents; over three hundred and not over one thousand, 75 cents, &c. Any person wishing to be served for three months after the above date need only pay his quarter's postage, and send us a gold dollar and a silver quarter in a small letter—postage paid, of course.

A DELICATE MATTER.—We learn from the Ledger that the Protestant Episcopal Convention assembled at Philadelphia on Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, and was engaged the greater portion of the session in the debate upon the motion of Judge Conyngham, of Luzerne county, to instruct the secretary to enter upon the minutes the names of the clergy and vestrymen from the Church of the Crucifixion. This church, which is located in the vicinity of Eighth and Bedford streets, has a congregation of colored persons, but has sent to the convention its pastor, Rev. Mr. Shannon, (white,) and Messrs. Charles E. Lex and Alfred Potter as delegates. When the roll was called, the above names were omitted by the secretary, and this omission gave rise to the motion made by Judge Conyngham. The chief objection urged to the admission of the clergy and vestrymen of the Church of the Crucifixion was, that notwithstanding the representatives were white citizens, the congregation sending them was colored; and that if they were admitted, it would open the way for the other colored church in the city (which has heretofore agreed to stay out) to make application for seats to this or some future meeting of the convention. The motion gave rise to a long and animated debate, and the question being finally taken, it was decided in the negative, that the names of the delegates should not be received as proposed.

The President of the United States and the Secretary of the Navy arrived in this city in the eight o'clock train this morning, apparently in excellent health and spirits.

NAVAL.—We understand that the United States steamer frigate Susquehanna is at Norfolk, ready for sea, and only waiting for sailing orders to proceed to the East Indies as the flagship of Com. John H. Atulick, who goes out in her.

On her outward passage she will touch at Rio, to land his excellency Mr. Macedo, the Brazilian minister, to whom a passage to his native country has been tendered by the United States Government, as a token of their respect and friendly feelings to his government. To the Hon. Messrs. Schenck and Pendleton, a passage is also to be afforded by direction of the Department.

The U. S. steamer Legare, which was to have sailed from the Washington navy yard, on Friday last, was detained, and will not go before Tuesday or Wednesday. She will lay at Alexandria a day or two to take in coal, and then proceed to her station in the Coast Survey.

Her officers are: J. J. Almy, Lieutenant-Commanding; Thos. M. Crassan, 1st Lieutenant; N. B. Harrison, Master; Wm. W. Low, Jas. E. Joubert, Horace N. Crabb, Passed Midshipmen; James S. Gilliam, Surgeon; James M. Adams, Senior Engineer; Wm. H. King, —Lamdin, Assistant Engineer; S. D. Hoffman, Captain's Clerk; W. E. Harvey, Draughtsman; and James Worthington, Pilot.

NEW YORK EDITORS.—"One who doth tread upon another's heels." N. B. Stimpson and G. G. Foster, editors and proprietors of the Evening Day-Book, were on Wednesday arrested by officers S. J. Smith and Elder, of the Lower Police Court, on complaint of Joseph T. Gilbert, jr., one of the editors of the Evening Post, residing at No. 20 Cortland street, who charges the accused with having, on the 19th instant, published in the Day-Book a wilful and malicious libel on his reputation. The libel in question is in a lengthy editorial article relative to the difficulty between Mr. James Watson Webb, of the Courier and Enquirer, and N. P. Willis, of the Home Journal. The bail under which the accused are held to answer the charge is fixed at $500 each.

"South Carolina has declared for secession. Now what will the Administration do?" We learn that the quota of arms and equipments to which South Carolina is entitled for the use of her militia, has been recently ordered by the General Government to be delivered to her authorities. We think there is no safer depository for them than with the PEOPLE of that State.

MILTON.—Mr. Macaulay, in his History of England, in relating the condition of literature and the prostitution of genius, during the reign of Charles the Second, thus eloquently notices the immortal author of "Paradise Lost."

"A mightier spirit, unsubdued by pain, danger, poverty, obloquy, and blindness, meditated, undisturbed by the obscene tumult which raged all around, a song so sublime and so holy, that it would have misbecome the lips of those ethereal virtues whom he saw, with that inner eye which no calamity could darken, flinging down on the Jasper pavement their crowns of amaranth and gold."

"A man bet a box of cigars in New Orleans last week, that Senator Douglas, of Illinois, would be the next President, 'pre-haps."

Perhaps he will be a President, but not a President perhaps. His qualities are all positive, and they who call him the "young lion of the West" will hardly venture on leading him by the mane, for he is a carnivorous animal, even in his juvenility. We suppose Walter Scott had a prophetic glimpse at him and the White House when he talked about

"The lion in his den, The Douglas in his den."

FINANCIAL.—It is openly insinuated in the best informed circles that the proposed change in ladies' dresses will require no little change in the pockets of husbands and fathers.

The editor who wrote that, beyond a doubt, boys' quarter's worth of cigars day—$91.25 per year. Were it not too good for him, we could wish that he may have a wife and half a dozen grown daughters of dressy propensities. What matter about the coat, when a graceful, modest, and rational style of dress can be attained. But the expense story is all a hogswallow.

MAY PARTY.—We last evening attended a party of little Houries, at the Temperance Hall—the children of Miss M. A. Hughes's school. It was a most beautiful sight—the little ones ranged in their appropriate robes, emblematical of the purity of early childhood, looking like so many fairies from the spirit-land, surrounding the throne of their most gracious sovereign, the May queen of their own happy choice—Miss Rose Cliver; and never was fealty more willingly rendered, nor homage more delightedly paid. The marching commenced at half-past eight, and the ceremony of crowning the queen took place at nine o'clock. The maids of honor, Misses S. Sengstack and J. Powell, acquitted themselves very handsomely. The marching round and the forming into lines were conducted in perfect order; and then the passage of the crown-bearer—a noble-looking little fellow of five summers—Master H. F. King, who performed his part to the admiration of all.

The spectators were numerous, and one almost fancied himself a child again, so much did all seem to enter into the spirit of the occasion. But one sentiment seemed to pervade the minds of all, and that was, that the lady who could train these children so well for this occasion must be well qualified for the important vocation she has chosen; and it is with pleasure we have been assured that this conclusion is entirely correct.

STEAMER LEGARE.—The Savannah News of the 19th, in speaking of the chase and capture of divers piratical-looking craft in the Gulf, says: "The U. S. steamer Legare was still cruising off the coast, and searching every vessel that passed."

The Legare has been lying at the Washington Navy Yard ever since the 28th day of last November.

Richard W. Clarke was sentenced on the 20th inst. to eighteen years in the Maryland penitentiary, by the Alleghany county court of Maryland, for the murder of his wife, by choking her. The Civilian says:

"We never saw a more hardened wretch. If ever a man deserved the gallows, he does. We should like to hear something of his previous history. Cannot some of our contemporaries recognise him from our description? It may assist to mention that he is a shoemaker by trade. There are various rumors of his former deeds, but none sufficiently authenticated to warrant their publication."

LETTERS DO NOT BLUSH.—Phila. Sun. Neither do certain editors, who ought to.

We do whenever we "ought to."—Phila. Sun. Yes, but you hadn't ought to "ought to."

A new gas-house is to be erected in Washington. They have already a pretty big one there, made of Potomac marble.—Phila. Ledger.

We suppose the Capitol is meant. Its gas is inflammable, to be sure, but affords but little light.

THE YOUNG LADIES' ACADEMY, conducted by Miss M. A. Tyson & Sisters, on F street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, enjoyed a delightful season of music, dancing, and merrier last evening. These most amiable and estimable ladies conduct a good school, and are highly commended by their many patrons.

NOCTURNAL VISITER.—Mr. Clarke, who resides near the Capitol, on Pennsylvania avenue, was last night visited by some gentleman, who neither rang nor knocked, but quietly entered at the window, and, after rummaging pretty extensively, departed in a disappointed mood. Mr. Clarke expresses his contempt for the robber in an indictment of two counts: firstly, that he possessed no literary taste, and refused to carry off his books; and, secondly, that, in heartless disregard of the health of all the household, he left the window open on departing. For this cool conduct Mr. C. promises the uninvited guest a warm reception on any future occasion. But robbers are not partial to authors or editors, and

"He'll never come again—never, oh, never!"

AN OMNIBUS SCENE.—Yesterday was a very warm day, yet we witnessed the occurrence of quite a cool incident. An omnibus, filled with ladies and gentlemen, was making excellent headway along the Avenue, towards Georgetown, when a personage of rather independent and swaggerish mien raised his arm and beckoned the driver to stop, which signal the driver at once communicated to his horses. In due time he arrived by the side of the "bus, and said to the one on the box,

"Jim, got any 'backer?"

"Jim made no reply, but quietly drew from the pocket of his pants something that looked like a plug of tobacco or piece of sole-leather, which he handed to the gentleman below, who made a fair division of it, and, stuffing his right cheek with the one half, handed the other back to the Jehu. His important object having been thus satisfactorily consummated, the man departed, and the 'bus moved on, to the no small gratification of the interested spectators within it. We have only to add, that 'bus-drivers should keep their "backer" ready cut in pieces of proper size for ordinary "chawers."

E. S. CONNER.—Much to the regret of the playgoers of Philadelphia, this gentleman has ceased to manage the Arch Street Theatre. He and his lady have great popularity there, as elsewhere.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.—The credit of discovering this continent of right belongs to him; but still he is not the only creditable Columbus in the world. The ice creams that are served up a few doors north of our office are calculated to brighten the halo around the name, and preserve it on the historic page.

MR. J. E. POWELL, though but a few doors from the Bank of Washington, has no direct connection with that institution, except that its officers are exceedingly fond of his choice cigars and tobacco. Some persons appear to think that the exact and precise manner of conducting business in that institution is in part owing to the sedative influence of his aromatic productions. It is a quiet and pleasant walk around from the Avenue to his store, and especially in the evening hour.

CITY WATCH-HOUSE.—Tom Bell got drunk, got noisy, and got into the watch-house, whence he got leave to depart this morning, after paying costs and giving bail for further good behavior.

STILL ANOTHER CORONATION.—We understand that the coronation of a Queen of May, Miss Sarah J. Davison, of Primary School No. 3, 2d district, (Miss E. A. King, principal) will take place at the handsome saloon of Temperance Hall, E. street, on Wednesday morning next, at half-past eight o'clock; and we have no doubt the exhibition will awaken much interest in all who may have the privilege of witnessing the scene; for independent of the usual decorations for such occasions of flowers, festoons, &c., the assemblage of one hundred and fifty children, in the spring-time of life, their bright eyes and lovely faces reflecting the promptings of their innocent hearts, and the hopes of days yet to come, is no common sight.

We understand further, that Primary School No. 1, Miss Helen Stanford principal, will be present at these ceremonies; and that after the coronation the two schools will proceed to Arlington to spend the festive day.

The music at the President's Gardens this afternoon will attract a goodly company of ladies, and gentlemen, and little children, and also a great deal of admiration.

NAVY-YARD.—We notice a new brick building going up. It is to be used for smelting and rolling copper. The walls are two hundred feet long by sixty-five feet wide. It is to be one and a half stories in height. The smelting furnaces are to be so constructed that the fumes of all will lead to the principal stack, the chimney of which is to be one hundred and sixty feet high. It is contemplated to have the building dome, and machinery in operation, before the next winter.

CLAY ON PROTECTION.—In a recent letter to Messrs. D. Simmons & Co., of New York, who had presented to him some beautiful axes and hatchets, Mr. Clay remarks:

"England, by her great advancement in the arts and civilization, and from the fact of our having originated from her, and from the very great extent of our commercial intercourse with her, exercises a large, perhaps too large, an influence upon our councils by her example. Hence her doctrines of free trade have been imported as extensively as her merchandise, and are prevailing to a degree which those who have adopted them will I think find it necessary to limit or modify. The condition of England is widely different from that of the United States, in respect to industrial pursuits. There the perfection to which manufactures have been carried by great skill, abundant capital, cheap labor, and long experience, renders protection unnecessary. They can safely encounter any competition at home or abroad. It is different with the English agriculturist, and a struggle is now in progress in England upon that question, between the population of the cities and that of the country. The reverse is our condition in the United States. Here our agriculture needs no protection, but a few branches of our manufactures require, for a limited period, a reasonable and moderate degree of it; with such encouragement they will, at no distant day, attain a maturity and perfection which would enable them to vie with those of any other country; and in the meantime, we should avoid those regulations in commerce and monetary affairs, which there is too much reason to apprehend may result from too free and unrestricted importation of foreign merchandise."

WHY NOT?—The present British ministry have been beaten again and again in the House of Commons. According to all the precedents they ought to resign, but still they hold office. Under these circumstances it is not the ministers who govern the empire, but the House of Commons. The former no longer introduce and carry through their own measures, but simply execute the measures of the latter. They are thus put substantially in the position occupied by the ministry in the United States. It is an executive, an administrative, but not a governing position. This is a change from the old English system; but as parties are now divided it is inevitable, and possibly may be permanent from the same cause. Its result is to render the government essentially more democratic in its nature. But we are by no means sure that it would be a worse government for that. All things in this world suffer change, and why not the British government?—N. Y. Tribune.

FROM SANTA FE.—Cincinnati, May 22.—Santa Fe dates to the 23d of April have been received, by which we learn that the Boundary Commissioners on the Rio Grande, below Sonora, had decided to place a corner-stone six miles below that place. The El Paso mail brought news, as usual, of Indian depredations. Tula and Ferguson's train was attacked in Gornada del Miesto, and some men were killed. The horses and train were captured near El Paso. The troops in New Mexico are dying of scurvy and for want of exercise. The young officers and soldiers are permitted to lead a life ruinous to health. The Apaches have violated the treaty which they made only a month or two ago. Col. Calhoun gives entire satisfaction as Governor to the people of New Mexico. Separate meetings had nominated Capt. Reynolds and Major Weightman as candidates for Congress. There is a good deal of excitement and log-rolling on the subject throughout the territory.

The priests in the country were candidates for the Legislature, and it was said that they were sure of being elected. Five tribes of Indians, viz: the Cheyennes, Camanches, Arapahoes, Kiowas, and Apaches, of the plains, were at Fort Mackay to make peace. The principal chiefs were sitting in council in Col. Hoffman's tent, and the ceremony of smoking pipes of peace had taken place. It is probable the Cheyennes and Arapahoes will reject the treaty; but the others will not.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.—Boston, May 23.—Gen. Caleb Cushing introduced to-day in the Legislature a bill to aid in the construction of a railroad from Portland to Halifax, by issuing State scrip to the amount of $500,000, bearing five per cent. interest, and redeemable in twenty years. The State of Maine has made a similar grant of $500,000 in money or its equivalent.

MR. WEBSTER AT ROCHESTER.—Rochester, May 23.—Mr. Webster left Buffalo this morning, and has been enthusiastically received all along the road. He made brief speeches at Batavia and in this city, and leaves to-night for Canandaigua, stopping with Hon. Francis Granger for a few days.

STEAMER ARCTIC.—CHURCH CONTROVERSY.—New York, May 23.—The steamship Arctic sails to-morrow, and will take out about 140 passengers, among them Tupper the poet. The Methodist Church controversy stands adjourned until Monday; Mr. Choate, counsel for the defence, being unwell.

PLEASING SPECTACLES IN PROSPECT.—There are at present in the city of New York six men under sentence of death for the crime of murder.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Expressly for this paper.

NEW YORK, May 24—2 p. m. Nothing doing. The cotton market is unsettled; breadstuffs are steady; Government securities have advanced—sixty-sevens held at one hundred and eighteen and one-eighth.

CHARLESTON, May 23. Cotton is depressed; five hundred bales sold at six to nine and a half.

BALTIMORE, May 24—2 p. m. A fire this morning destroyed Hirsch's cotton and wadding factory, on Federal Hill. Markets as yesterday.

GEORGETOWN AND ITS AFFAIRS. GEORGETOWN, May 24—12 m. The Boards of Aldermen and Common Council passed several bills last night of minor importance; among them one in favor of Mrs. Garrey, one in relation to public pumps, and one authorizing several flag footways. And the Board of Common Council passed (and I have no doubt that it will pass the Board of Aldermen) a resolution appropriating seventy dollars for the purchase of premiums for the pupils of the Town school, to be distributed at the examination which is expected to take place some time in July.

As a proof that the business of our town is increasing, our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Grimes, has in course of erection a splendid new wharf, which will give him some 150 feet or more water front. Mr. R. Ballenger, one of our most industrious mechanics, has in course of erection, on Congress street, a beautiful two-story frame dwelling. At the Institute, which is situated on the north side of our town, the foundation walls for a new church (Episcopalian) are already up, and the house will be completed in the course of the summer.

DRIVERS' REST.—The supply of beef, muttons, and lambs, this week, has been good: 118 beef cattle; 68 head sold to Washington and Georgetown butchers, at prices ranging from $3.75 to $4.50, gross; lambs, from $1.50 to $2.75 per head. Our market this morning was well supplied with edibles of every kind. Beef, best cuts, 12 1/2 cents per lb.; lamb, 50¢/75¢ cents per quarter; butter, 25 cents per lb.; eggs, 12 1/2 cents per doz.; peas, 20 cents per pk.; strawberries, 12 1/2 cents per qt.; potatoes, 25 cents per pk.

The flour and grain market remains without any material change. We note on yesterday a sale of 1,700 bushels of wheat to Wm. H. Edes, at 90 cents, and one of 200 bushels to the same, at the same price; 500 bushels to V. Taylor & Co. at 90 cents; also a sale of 300 bushels flour to John Davidson, at $4.25. The above appear to be the ruling prices for both articles. Corn is selling at from 57 to 60 cents, white and yellow. Oats 42¢/44, struck measure.

The inspections of flour for the week reach a little over 7,000 bbls. Our town continues very healthy, and, after making a thorough search, I have found no nuisances calculated to endanger the health of its citizens.

Canal Trade.—Arrived two gondolas, four; W. H. Harrison, two miles, wood; Wm. Fowl, Cumb. coal; Frances, 23 miles, flour, oil, &c.; Gondola, 61 miles, flour; Rambler, 42 miles, wheat and corn; Saloma Clark, Cumb. coal; Mary R. Hall, Cumb. coal; Emily Hoffman, Cumb. coal. Southampton, the steamer Virginia, with the Montour, American Eagle and Ariel, from Cumberland, with coal, in tow, will be in this evening; also three boats from Edwards' Ferry, with flour and lumber.

Departed.—Rough and Ready, E. Payson, Francis, Charlotte Frances, and Gov. Sprigg. Arrived.—Schr. Mobile, Lewis master, Port Deposit, lumber to Jos. Libbey & Son.

MASSACHUSETTS.—In the Senate, on Tuesday, the bill to remove the seat of government from Boston was carried through by a party vote, as was the bill to make single representative districts out of large towns and cities. The House voted down the project for breaking up separate schools for colored children.

RESOLUTION OF ANTI-SLAVERY RESOLUTIONS.—Albany, May 23.—The House to-day rejected, by three majorities, the anti-slavery resolutions which passed the Senate. The Senate laid on the table the stringing bill against selling liquor, which passed the House.

MARRIAGE. At Elmwood, near Princeton, on Wednesday, the 30th ultimo, by the Rev. JOHN CHANDLER, MR. GEORGE S. ATKINSON, to MISS ELIZABETH JACKSON, of Somerset county, Maryland. Also, at the residence of his father, on the 22d instant, at the Foundry M. E. Church, by the Rev. L. F. MORAN, Rev. ROBERT KELLEN, of Concord Biblical Institute, to Miss EUGENIA JANE, eldest daughter of ANSEL H. YOUNG, esq., of this city.

DEATHS. In this city, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, (23d May,) LETITIA MCKERRILL WALKER, daughter of the late SAMUEL FETTERSON WALKER, of EDWARD and MARY A. GALLANT, aged five years. The friends and acquaintances of the family are requested to attend the funeral to-morrow (Sunday) at the residence of his father, on Sixth street west, between O and P streets north, at 1 o'clock in the evening.

TO THE PUBLIC. Fellow-Citizens of Washington, D. C. HAVING been repeatedly urged by my friends to allow myself to be announced as a Candidate for the office of REGISTER, I very reluctantly yielded to their solicitations, and am now fully before the people for their selection, and am responsible position. I deem it material and essential to my friends and the community in which I live, that they should know my character and abilities before acting unadvisedly or blindly in the present issue; and hope it may not prove egotistical or vain, under my own signature, to state my own qualifications, (for seldom, if ever, when an honest and sober man is before the people as a candidate for office, but his character is maligned,) and leave the result in the hands of the unprejudiced and unbiased.

I have lived among you, my fellow-citizens, for upwards of twenty years, and have had considerable intercourse during that time with the most prominent citizens of the city, as well as many others in more humble walks of life, and I humbly trust I may safely appeal to those acquainted with me to bear testimony to my character for honesty, sobriety, and integrity of purpose.

Trusting that this brief notice may place me in a favorable position before the public, I look forward with much solicitude to the approaching day, when I hope I shall be raised to a position above my mere competence, not constrained to tell in my present position.

I remain, fellow-citizens, your humble and obedient servant, May 24—11 MICHAEL CRIDER.
