SUPP. CHAMBERLAIN RESIGNS.

Yesterday morning Mr. J. T. Chamberlain, general superintendent of the Burton car works, informed his men that he had resigned his position some time ago and that he had received word of its acceptance. The news was very much unexpected to the employees, and in addition, the tactfulness to him was so strong that it was sad news indeed. It was at once decided to show some lasting evidence of the high esteem in which their superintendent was held, and one suggested that they present him with a diamond ring. All cheerfully clipped in and very soon $200 was raised, and a solitary diamond ring from Mosbacher's had been secured before noon.

The presentation was not made until the works closed in the evening. Mr. Chamberlain was in the office as usual when a delegation invaded the quarters, and the chief book keeper, Mr. Ed. Halliwell, in a short speech, conveyed to Mr. Chamberlain the wishes of the employees and presented him with the dazzling beauty.

Mr. Chamberlain was taken somewhat by surprise, and in reply said he regretted very much to leave the works, and especially to leave the men with whom he had always been on pleasant terms. His position had been a trying and responsible one and the success of the works had been largely due to the fact that the employees had in every way co-operated with him in looking to the best interests of the company. He thanked them most kindly for the unmistakable evidence of kind wishes.

Mr. Chamberlain will probably leave about the last of this month, returning to Boston. It is not known as yet who will take his place. He has held the position of superintendent for about eighteen months and, as is well known, the plant has been greatly improved since he took charge. The work has been systematized thoroughly, and in the making of a car, from the raw material to the finish, there is not a mistake.

Assistant Fire Marshal Al Brownwell was unfortunate enough to lose his watch chain at the fire of Water street the other day. It is gold links, each link encircled with a small diamond. A key is also attached suspended from one corner and the swivel will be missing. If any of his friends have found it they will know what to do with it.

Colonel J. V. Fairman, of Hartford, Conn., is in the city on a prospecting tour. He finds many people in the city who formerly belonged in Middletown and are numbered among his acquaintances. He says he is greatly pleased with Kansas and is inclined to think it a good state in which to make investments.

A young man giving the name of Lemings sold a pony to Mr. George Morgan last night for $25. His actions were so strange after the sale that Mr. Morgan thought best to look to the title of the horse and had the young man deposit the money with the police until he could satisfy himself on that point. At the station the young man told several stories about himself and his intentions although his ownership of the pony seemed to be all right.

The members of the Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, returned yesterday morning from a night's visit to Hatcher's. They assisted in the work of installing a Uniformed Rank division at Hatcher's, with thirty-five members. Everything moved along nicely and the boys report having been treated most royally. They are highly pleased with the visit and hope to be able to reciprocate in the near future.

Mr. George Kennan will lecture at the First M. E. church on Saturday evening, the 29th, on Siberia, giving a detailed account of the horrors of a Siberian exile. His personal acquaintance with the subject, and his eloquent delivery, has won him fame greater than his graphic descriptions in the Century.

The Philadelphia press gave a full report of a lecture, closing by saying that: "He held the audience's close attention for nearly two hours with a graphic description of the scenes in the penal colonies of Siberia, especially at the convict mines at Kam, 4,000 miles east of St. Petersburg and about 1,000 miles from the Pacific coast. At times the intensity of his recollections seemed almost to overcome him. His manner of dealing with the life of penal servitude at Kara was by a number of his stay there, where he was the guest of the governor of the mines and as closely watched as any of the convicts who had served their sentence and were allowed in the country."

AMUSEMENTS. CRAWFORD GRAND. The "Bunch of Keys" closed last night, having played to fair business. The amusing situations continued to elicit the same hearty applause, and none of the good things are damaged by being repeated. A strong specialty bill surrounded by just sufficient plot and nonsense to keep up the interest was the contract.

WE US & CO. We, Us & Co. will be given, for one night only, on Tuesday, the 26th. The sale of seats commenced yesterday morning and is indicative of good business. Last night at the Academy "We, Us & Co." was produced. The skill was well shown in its production as a gigantic success. Consequently a large audience greeted Mr. Sloum's company last evening. The play had been entirely rewritten since its last production, but it is very questionable whether it has been improved by its new arrangement. Last night the article kept the audience in a constant roar of laughter, and when the curtain went down every one had laughed until he was tired. The music is bright and catchy, the costumes novel, and the best of pretty girls who assist in the merry-making remarkably good. It is unnecessary to make special mention of any one member of the company.

TWELFTH NIGHT. "Twelfth Night" will be presented at the Crawford Grand on Thursday evening, March 29, by Marie Wainwright, supported by a strong cast. The seats will be on sale Monday morning at 9 o'clock at regular prices.

Blanche Walsh, Louise Muldener, Barton Hill, Frederick Ross, William P. Owen, Perry Brooks, Edward Elmer, E. Y. Backus, Wallace Bruce, Frank Kimble, Charles Gay, Nell Gray, John R. Sumner, George Stanton, T. J. Lawrence, Marie Wainwright. The comedy was magnificently costumed and beautifully mounted. The scenery by Crismon, Gostner, Schmeier and Maeder was superb. In fact, the production, as a whole, was fully up to the highest standard of dramatic art, and those Jerechids who are accustomed to "the downy side of the stage" ought to witness the production and be convinced that it is still

THE COURTS.

DISTRICT COURT. Charles F. Heilner vs. J. C. Eslich, dismissed at cost of plaintiff. City vs. Thomas Smith, bond forfeited. Several motions and demurrers were disposed of in Judge Reed's court.

State vs. LeBranch, charged with burglarizing the premises of R. P. Murdock, was on trial by jury and will be continued on Monday.

In Leach vs. Leach divorce granted to the husband, and also the custody of the children, and the wife is allowed $2,500 in cash for alimony.

Attorneys are notified that each case of the civil docket in the district court heretofore set will be called four days later than the present assignment. This has become necessary by an unforeseen delay of the criminal docket.

PROBATE COURT. Application for appointment of administrator of estate of Jane L. Maddux, deceased, filed.

Settlement of D. M. Kirkbride, trustee and administrator of estate of T. Cook, filed.

COMMON PLEAS COURT. A motion to dissolve a restraining order in Davidson Investment Company vs. Horace Keeler et al was argued before Judge Balderson yesterday. This is the case that involves the ownership of the Valley Center Motor railroad. Motions and demurrers occupied the balance of the day. The jury in the Fairmount college vs. A. I. Houck was still out when court adjourned.

JUSTICES COURTS. The justices' courts were occupied with the usual round of civil work. Several warrants were issued in petty cases, but no returns will be made before Monday.

POLICE COURT. Yesterday was a quiet day in police circles and a solitary plain drunk, too drunk to give his name, was the only arrest up to 8 o'clock last night.

The commissioners did not meet, having nothing of moment coming before them. The turkey's report shows the cash receipts for the week ending yesterday at $148.25. The arrests for the week were 9 drunks, 6 illegal callings, 1 vagrant, 3 disturbing the peace, 1 petty larceny, 4 gambling, 1 assault and battery and 3 miscellaneous, making 28 in all. Several case cases were also reported. There were 49 meals served and eight days worked.

ANNOUNCEMENTS. Special meeting of Wichita Lodge No. 189, Knights of Pythias, Monday evening at 7:30 sharp at Castle Hall of Warwick Lodge No. 44. Work in the third degree. A full attendance is requested. All brother Knights visiting in the city cordially invited.

G. C. EKSTEN, G. C. O. O. M. THE EMPORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH. A. H. Postee—Preaching morning and evening at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 9:45, N. M. Southwick, superintendent. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m. All cordially invited to each service.

There will be a special meeting of Wichita Division No. 105, O. R. T., for the purpose of electing officers, at 7:30 o'clock, on Monday evening March 24, at 7:30, for work in the third degree. Visiting brethren invited. By order, C. A. GATES, W. M. A. J. APPLEGATE, Secretary.

A SHOWY CENTER PIECE. [Copyright, 1890.] The cut represents a center piece of showy design. It is almost twice as long as it is broad and is made of bolting cloth with an edge of yellow satin ribbon two inches wide put on flatly, with mitered corners. The decoration, for which any distinct open pattern will be as suitable as the one given, should be drawn upon blotting paper and laid under the bolting cloth, which is as thin as lace.

There will be a special communication of Wichita Lodge No. 90, A. F. and A. M., on Monday evening March 24, at 7:30, for work in the third degree. Visiting brethren invited. By order, C. A. GATES, W. M. A. J. APPLEGATE, Secretary.

A SHOWY CENTER PIECE. [Copyright, 1890.] The figures are then painted while the cloth is held very close on the blotting paper, which will absorb the fluid and prevent its running. When the colors are dry an outline of embroidery stitches should be added. In the center now being considered the stems, tendrils and veins of the leaves are worked with split floss silk in single stitch. The flower and leaf edges are done with long and short stitch, taken very far apart.

A lining of yellow satin will add to the richness of the piece, or if preferred, the ribbon edge and the satin lining may be pink, red or any other color.

Mrs. McC. HUNGERFORD. "She Fed the Brute." A girl in town married a very peculiar and exacting young man six months ago. Her girl friends predicted at the time she would fail to satisfy him, and that consequently they would not live together six months. That period having elapsed, and there being no evident signs of any separation between the lumpy pair, the girl friends felt called upon to visit the young wife, and asked her how she had managed to please the young man who had never been known to be pleased before. Mustering all their impudence they called upon her in body and asked for her secret. "What is a recipe?" they asked. "We may need it."

"Well, I'll tell you," she replied, "if you'll never tell. Feed the brute." Philadelphia Ledger.

ALL HAVE THEIR FADS.

HOBBIES OF A NUMBER OF WASHINGTON WOMEN.

Think of a Maid Whose Duty It is to Take Half a Dozen Pugs Out for a Daily Airing—Most Washington Women's Fads Are More Sensible Than This.

[Copyright, 1890.] WASHINGTON, March 19.—Mrs. Leland Stanford, of California, has been quoted as having the diamond mania. She really cares little for her magnificent gems, and makes giving her fad. So great are her charities that they deserve a higher name than fad. They become a profession. In Washington she gives from $100 to $300 every Christmas to each charitable institution, which supports a number of poor families and gives largely to church. The university founded by herself and husband in memory of their dead child is now and will be for years her chief charity, but she has not yet shown any sign of forgetting the local charities here.

DRESS OF THE DUCHESSE D'UEZ.

to all but a very small and select circle of friends have been thrown open, and the always beautiful Duchesse d'Uze gave a grand reception, where no one whose rank was less than a baron or count or countess was seen. Mme. la Duchesse wore a superb robe en traine of electric blue plush, with a drapery of embroidered crepe de chine in pale blue. In her abundant hair she wore a crescent of diamonds.

THINK OF A DOG WITH A MAID! Mrs. George Hearst, of California, has the reputation of preferring young girls to anything under the sun. They are her fad, and she well deserves the name of bringer out of debutantes.

She says she likes to have them around her and acknowledges that her only sorrow is that she has no daughters. Many a girl from the Pacific slope owes a brilliant winter in Washington to Mrs. Hearst, and, of a truth, they tell it that many a girl owes a brilliant marriage to her, too.

Mrs. Spooner, of Wisconsin, is a bright, humor loving woman, with whom it is a pleasure to talk. She has the same fad as Mrs. Clarkson—that of doing a dozen things to keep up her husband. One thing she has never allowed to drop, and that is the practice of music. Her voice is a pure mezzo soprano, and she is the vocalist of the senatorial circle.

Countess women here make pugs, mastiffs and poodles their fad. There is no city where so many curbs need not go off. They are either stowed under their mistresses' arms or have a seat in their carriages. By all odds the wife of ex-Senator Palmer, of Michigan, had the most blooded dogs of any of the fanciers of Canine. She especially likes tiny French spaniels and terriers, and she had a pair, imported from France here last winter that could be squeezed into a finger bowl.

Think of a dog with a maid! But that is what her pet had; the prettiest blue-eyed lass in Washington used to walk out from 9 to 11 every bright morning with a retinue of yelping, frisking puppies.

Senator Palmer was just as fond of them as his wife, and he used to spend hours teaching them tricks. Many a registered practitioner here has been called upon to treat Mrs. Palmer's dogs for a wheeze or distemper. When her husband went to Spain last summer as United States minister, she took the dogs and their maid.

The Patten sisters are also famed for their love of dogs. Their taste runs to immense mastiffs, and they rarely walk the capital streets without these attendants. The married sister, Mrs. Glover, wife of the former congressman from St. Louis, has a liking for pugs as well as mastiffs. She tells the story on herself of how she and Mrs. Lloyd Brice, who is also a lover of dogs, were fondling perfectly ugly pugs on reception day when two women she had never known came in the room.

When they rose to go one of them said, curly: "I should think, ladies, you had better have your babies in your arms than those pugs."

One of Mrs. Glover's pug dogs is extremely valuable, and she takes it everywhere with her. This summer she had it at a high priced hotel, and Monsieur Pug's bill was $10 per week.

Miss Leiter, the heiress and beauty, is just the proper thing when she walks Connecticut avenue of a morning with a mastiff hound which is almost half her height.

It is a fine animal, and $1,000 would not be purchase money for it. A hound as large as the proverbial one assigned to a honeymoon was built a year ago for Miss Leiter's pet, and in it there are two compartments, and a balcony where the hound can go and bay at the moon during the long watches of the night.

Horses and dogs are the chosen pets of wealthy women, but there is one here who thinks more of her parrot than of all other animals. She is Mme. Horacio Guzman, who is accredited with being the prettiest woman in the diplomatic corps. Her husband is the Nicaraguan minister, and one of his presents when he was wooing the fair American girl was this lovely bird. It is a picture to see the choice woman hold her parrot in a la Leshia with her dove and discourse to it.

"Preferito" is the name given by M. Guzman to the pet, but it often gets the English equivalent, "Darling."

Mme. Romero, the wife of the Mexican minister, has no love for animals. Her fad is entertaining, and in a winter she receives one people in the big legation parlors that all the other foreigners go to.

THE GREAT FORTH BRIDGE. Some idea of the size of the great Forth bridge, in Scotland, recently opened to traffic, may be got from comparison. It is more than twice as long as the Brooklyn bridge, and if the Eiffel tower, which is 1,000 feet in height, was laid upon its side upon the narrower span of the Forth structure it would only reach one-fifth of the distance across them, while the tower itself extends over the span of the cantilever extended over top St. Peter's in Rome. The total length of the viaduct is one mile and five-fourths, and the bridge as a whole is a most magnificent engineering achievement.

The Latest Paris Fashions.

The past month has brought to sight in Paris an unusually large number of the old nobility of France. Hand-some salons that have been closed
