CHICAGO, III., Sept. 18 .- At the opening of this morning's session of the world's fair commissioners. at the opening of tomorrow's session. The motion was adopted.

From today's action of the world's fair commission and from a canvass of the rommission, it can be stated that a majority of that body is finally and 'irrevocably' opposed to the site for the world's and that on Saturday next a resolution will be offered and adopted requesting the Chicago directors to tender Washington park (or what is generally known as South park) as a site. In case this is refused, the commission will report to Washington that no adequate site has been offered. A resolution to this effect was adopted.

There are also indications of a change of sentiment in regard to the director generalship and, from indications tonight the local directory will select one man as director general, probably George R. Davis, while the outlonal commission will elect a man of their own with the title of "commissioner general," and place him in charge of all foreign and interstate exhibits in connection with the fair. This will, of course curtail the powers of the director general. The commissioners will make the commissioner general's salary $19,000 a year, the same that has been agreed upon for director general.

LOVERS COMMIT SUICIDE.

New York, Sept. 18.—Two strange shooting cases took place early this morning. The first was that of Emily Ross, an actress of 19. She committed suicide by shooting herself in the breast with a 22-calibre revolver, in her room at 140 Canal street. Immediately after the report of the girl's pistol was heard, Gustave G. Kock, an artist, age 20, who stood on the elevated railroad platform almost under her window, sent a bullet through his head. Both are Germans and they had undoubtedly agreed to die at or nearly the same time. The two were lovers and the cause of the double suicide is supposed to have resulted from the opposition of the girl's mother to her marriage with the young artist.

MARBLEIZING PAPER.

Dexterous Manipulation of Gum Senegal Does the Work.

One of the funniest things that anybody ever imagined in this world was the notion of marbling paper. That is the name applied to the sort of red and vari-colored ornamentation on the edges of nicely bound books, and on their bindings, too, sometimes. Every one has observed such markings, but it is safe to say that not one person out of 10,000 has ever taken the trouble to speculate as to how the effect is produced. There is nothing commonplace about the process. On the contrary it is a marvel worthy of contemplation by the esthete and the sage. You can see the thing done any time you please at the government printing office if you care to ask the privilege.

The natives of Senegal collect the gum from this peculiar tree and sell it to contractor, who send it all over the world in the shape of little hard lumps. It is commercially known as "gum Senegal." The most important use for it is this one of marbling paper.

For this purpose a solution is made of the gum in water. A tank, say four feet have stated that it is by no means an long and two feet wide, is filled with the solution, and then the operation is ready to be performed. At the government printing office you can see it done any day; the courteous attendant in charge will show you how he does it.

To begin with, you will see nothing but a tank of a foot or so in depth filled with a liquid not especially describable. On a shelf close by are half a dozen the Third Nebraska district at Columbus yesterday, There was little opposition.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 18.—The Republican convention of the First Ohio district to incorporate such a change in the constitution will undoubtedly be made. The appoint ionneal feature of the committee appoint ionneal feature of the committee report will come up for consideration to report will come up for consideration to Caldwell.

The Third Nebraska district at Columbus yesterday, There was little opposition.

Circinnation, O., Sept. 18.—The Republican convention of the First Ohio district nonmated for congress by exclamation where the liquid in the tank with drops of that color. Then he seizes the brush from the vermilion pot and sprinkles a spatter of bright red also. Next he reaches the colors. The operator takes the blue brush and sprinkles the surface of the liquid in the tank with drops of that color. Then he seizes the brush from the vermilion pot and sprinkles as spatter of bright red also. Next he reaches the colors are colors. Then he seizes the brush from and plenty of it. Over eight hundred for the green and distributes that. Finally a sprinkling of yellow is employed to wind up with.

Now the expert takes a long stick armed with fine teeth like a comb, and with it combs the surface of the liquid in the tank just once from one end to the other. Then he gives it a single comb crosswise. The result of this is a most curious mingling of the blue, vormilion, green and yellow. Next, on the surface of the fluid he carefully lays a sheet of white paper, and lifts it off again by one corner. Lo, the sheet has received a reproduction of the water color pattern from the liquid most elaborate and most beautiful. To reproduce it, even imperfectly, by hand would take months of labor. Each color in the pattern is as distinct and brilliant as water colors can possibly be.

This, however, is but a simple pattern. The expert takes a small comb with wire teeth and makes a wiggle waggle over the surface of the mixture. He lavs down another white sheet upon it, and behold, a levely design recembling a collection of conventionalized peacock's feathers appears. Another wiggle waggle of the wire comb and a sheet similarly treated exhibits a series of gorgeous arabesques altogether beyond description as to their brilliance and intricacy. But this is not all. The operator stirs up the liquid in the tank again, so that all the colors disap-Then he chooses other paints, making green the predominant one, and sprinkles them over the surface. As a magician might exercise his wand over a reflecting pool he disturbs the smooth solution with the wires, and weird and funtastic designs spring into view upon the white sheets that he fleats for an instant and then lifts from the fluid Giants, hobgoblins and monsters of all degrees pursue each other across the paper with glaring eyes and contorted attitudes.

When you were a little boy or girl perhaps you have rubbed with your elate pencil upon your school slate, and then with a moistened finger spread the whitev substance over the wooden bound stratum of plutonic mineral. You have wondered then to see what astonishing demons and creatures inconceivable started out upon the slate, caught by the eye of your imagination. It is the same way with the work of the artist in marbling for books, though he does not dare to produce such fantastic things to please the popular tasts. Only the com-monplace sort of marbling does one find on books and such things; whatever extraordinary the expert produces be keeps for himself, perhaps, to show what wonderful result the accidental mingling of random tints on a solution of gum Senegal will bring forth.-Washington

NURSE GIRLS AND FRESH AIR.

They Have Adopted an Economical Wrinkle for Getting Plenty of It. The nurse girls and babies of New York have a mode all their own of getting away from the scorching heat of the city. Other people may think there is no escape from the stifling air of their rooms and the blast furnace atmosphere of the streets except by more or less expensive excursions; but the nurse girls and some mothers who are not able to spend the summer in the country know better. They know how their pale faced children who are big enough to walk, and their babies, who ride in perambulators, may go for an outing, perambulators and all, at the cost of a few pennies only. But though women and children predominate, You ask the name of that pretty little the rate of fare limits the patrons to those more plentifully supplied with money, and, besides, the perambulators are not Senator Walthall, of Mississippi.
