SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

ENTERTAINING CHEMICAL EXPERIMENTS EASILY PERFORMED.

Simple Combinations by Which Are Produced Beautiful Transparent Crystals. A Remarkable Substance—Pharaoh's Serpent.

We often see in chemists' shops large glass jars, the insides of which are covered with beautiful transparent white crystals, which are formed over a red powder placed at the bottom of the vase. These crystals are the result of a combination of cyanogen and Iodine. Nothing is easier than the preparation of iodide of cyanogen, a very volatile body, which possesses a strong tendency to assume a definite crystalline form. We found in a mortar a mixture of fifty grams of cyanide of mercury and 100 grams of iodine, under the action of the pestle the powder, which was at first a brownish color, assumes a shade of bright vermilion red. The cyanogen combines with the iodine, and transforms itself into fumes with great rapidity. If the powder is placed at the bottom of a stoppered glass jar the fumes of the iodide of cyanogen immediately condense, thereby producing beautiful crystals, which often attain considerable size.

IODIDE OF CYANOGEN.

Cyanogen forms with sulphur a remarkable substance—sulpho-cyanogen. One of its combinations, well known owing to its singular properties, is sulpho-cyanide of mercury, with which small combustible cones are made and generally designated by the title of Pharaoh's serpents. For making these sulpho-cyanide of potassium is poured into a solution of nitrate of mercury, which forms a precipitate of sulpho-cyanide of mercury. This is a white, combustible powder, which, after passing through a filter, should be transferred into a stiff pulp by means of water containing a solution of gum. The pulp is afterward mixed with a small quantity of nitrate of potash and fashioned into cones or cylinders of about an inch and a quarter in length, which should be thoroughly dried.

The egg thus obtained can be hatched by the simple application of a match and gives rise to the phenomenon. The sulpho-cyanide slowly expands, the cylinder increases in length, and changes to a yellowish substance, which dilates and extends to a length of some twenty inches. It has the appearance of a genuine serpent, which has just started into existence and stretches out in coils, endeavoring to escape from its prison. During the decomposition of the sulpho-cyanide of mercury quantities of sulphurous acid are thrown off, and it is to be regretted that Pharaoh's serpent should prove its appearance by such a disagreeable suffocating odor.

Fast Telegrams.

The fastest telegram record, according to an authority, was sent by the late Marquis de Nemassy to the queen in 1880, announcing the opening of the Queensland exhibition. That message, which contained seventy-eight words, occupied twenty-three minutes in transit, including repetitions.

The cable message which conveyed the result of the last English Derby to the Antipodes occupied the shortest space, one hour and thirty-three seconds in transmission, which gives it a prominent place in the records of rapid transmission between England and Australia.

Interesting Statistics.

According to The New York Sun, at the beginning of this century 21,000,000 persons spoke English, 31,500,000 French, 30,000,000 German, 31,000,000 Russian, 25,000,000 Spanish and 16,000,000 Italian. Now, 125,000,000 persons talk English, 30,000,000 French, 40,000,000 Spanish, 70,000,000 Russian and 50,000,000 Italian.

Scientific News and Notes.

Compressed air, supplied from a central station to different houses, has lately been applied in Paris as a rival to hydraulic power for the working of elevators and lifts.

According to the government statisticians of New South Wales diamonds are found in that colony, as well as Victoria and Queensland. The principal fields in the former are situated at Bingera, near Inverell, and the mining has been fairly successful. These diamonds are on a par with those found in Brazil.

It is believed that the holyheek was brought to Europe from China as early as the year 1523.

There is a waterfall of 240 feet in the Alps in Switzerland, said to be the highest in the world.

An interesting discovery made in Palestine during the present year is that of the ancient pool of Bethesda, which has hitherto been confounded with the Birket Israel. Recent excavations of the Algerine monks under the ruins of the Crusader Church of St. Anne at Jerusalem have laid bare two rock basins containing water, which have been repeatedly built over. These correspond with the descriptions of Bethesda as given by the 4th of the church and the pilgrims of the Fourth century.

She Got a Servant.

Husband (married one year)—Why, Etta, what has become of your wedding ring?
Wife—I wore it out.
Husband—How could you wear it out?
Wife—Doing the housework—Epoch.

Generous Fellow.

Goelin—I just gave him a piece of my mind, don't you know?
Dolly (caustically)—How could you spare it?—Minnor's Weekly.

Another Way of Calling a Man an Ass.

"That fellow Bouslini, the portrait painter, is a brute."
"What has he done?"
"I wanted him to make a portrait of me, and he said he wasn't an animal painter."
—New York Sun.

Stocking Should Fit Perfectly.

The stocking is entitled to more than a passing notice, since its relation to the foot and the shoe is so intimate, and so much of the comfort of the former and the satisfaction of the latter depend upon it. The fit of the stocking must be perfect, if that of the shoe is to be tolerable, while nothing is more disconcerting to a person of sensitive nerves than a feeling of wrinkled slouchiness about the toes, under the heel or in the hollow of the foot. A great deal depends upon properly changing the stockings, both as to their comfort, and the wear which may be expected from them. No stocking should be worn for more than a day or two without washing, even on the best of feet, while in all other cases a daily change should be insisted upon.—Good Housekeeping.

St. Louis to Colorado via Wichita.

Commencing Sunday, July 13, 1890, the Missouri Pacific railway will run through sleeping cars from St. Louis via Pleasant Hill, Rich Hill, Fort Scott and Wichita to Colorado and from thence to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver. This change was made on account of a great many people from the east going to Colorado being especially desirous of going to Wichita. The train will stop here two hours, giving all a chance to view the "Peerless Princess" and still land passengers in Colorado same time as if they had gone via Kansas City. It also gives the citizens of Wichita sleeping car service from here to Colorado. Returning, it gives us through sleeping car service from Wichita to St. Louis, and Colorado people a chance to go east via Wichita. This change will undoubtedly be appreciated by the traveling public, and especially by the citizens of Wichita. If you are going east or west, go via the popular new through route. Through chair and sleeping car service. New routes just completed between Fort Scott and Rich Hill goes through the finest mineral and agricultural country in the west.
