BASE BALL.

The Vulcans have arranged a game of ball with the Sedgwick City team, on Thursday, May 26, at Riverside ball park.

A good game is expected.

Miss Gertrude Moore left night before last for Hot Springs, Ark., where she will join her mother. Miss Moore was accompanied to the depot by a number of her friends and relatives, who wished her Godspeed.

BURGLARS PHOTOGRAPHED. Ralph Niederlander, who has become quite an expert in amateur photography, yesterday photographed the burglars who broke into Mr. Daisy's home on Saturday.

The prisoners are confined in the city jail, and Ralph says he obtained a good negative.

IN THE SWIM. J. D. Hall, foreman of the composing room of this paper, received a letter yesterday from his father, who resides at Gallatin, Mo., which was enclosed a telegram from his brother, M. A. Hall of Sioux City, Ia., stating that he had been caught in the big flood there and had lost considerable property.

Mr. Howard Hettlinger returned yesterday morning from Kansas City, where he spent the past week in attendance upon a meeting of State Pharmaceutical Association. The Kansas City people provided for plenty of amusements for his visitors.

At a foot race Mr. Hettlinger carried off the honors and a new silk tie. He reports a delightful trip.

MEMORIAL DAY. A committee of the W. R. C. are soliciting flowers for Memorial Day. Citizens who desire to encourage and assist these patriotic women will please report to either Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Conklin or Mrs. Simmons, or bring their flowers to Garfield hall early Monday morning, May 30.

MURRAY MYERS, P. C. J. D. CALDWELL, Adm.

NORMAL EXHIBITION. The Normal school's work will be exhibited at Y. M. C. A. building from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. today. In the evening the regular commencement exercises will occur.

For the benefit of those who do not know, we will say that no admission tickets are required. The work will speak for itself. No one should miss seeing it.

FLOWERS FOR GRADUATES. All who wish to present flowers to the members of the graduating class of the High school should have them at the opera house not later than 9:30 for the morning division and 2 o'clock for the afternoon division. This is in order that they may be arranged upon the stage before the opening of the program.

B. R. SIMON, Ch'n Com.

WILL BE A MAID OF HONOR. Mrs. G. F. Richards, and little daughter Louise left yesterday for Hot Springs, Pa., to attend the wedding of Mr. Richards' sister. Miss Louise will be a maid of honor on the occasion.

After remaining there for some weeks visiting Mrs. Richards relatives they will go to Wisconsin on a visit with Mr. Richards parents. They will be absent all summer.

MRS. SULLIVAN'S DEATH. Mrs. W. R. Sullivan died very suddenly yesterday at the residence of G. W. Sullivan. She had been calling and seemed unusually well when taken with a paralytic stroke. The cause of this city and Dr. Burns of Valley Center were called, but to late. Mrs. Sullivan is old and had many friends who mourn her sudden death. She leaves a husband and child 13 years of age.

CHAUTAUQUA SOCIAL. The Epworth C. L. S. C. will close its year's work with a social on Friday evening next, at the residence of C. F. Coffin on North Emporia avenue. There will be a special program of music, addresses, etc.

WALT WHITMAN EVENING. The Unity club meets this evening at Council hall, 213 South Water street. A Whitman program has been arranged, with short essays on his life, his poetry, his philosophy, including selections to be read from his works.

COIN PLOWING ALL THE GO. Mr. J. H. Ritter of northeast of this city was in town yesterday for a short time transacting some urgent business. Mr. Ritter says that the farmers are all exceedingly busy. Corn plowing has begun in earnest and the weeds which had gotten quite a start during the long rainy spell, are now fast falling before the shears of the cultivators. The corn is growing fine for this kind of weather. All hands are at work in the fields. The wheat is rapidly heading and beginning to mature.

FINE SAMPLE OF RYE. Mr. D. E. Kaler yesterday left in the Eagle office a hand of rye taken from a crop of ten acres he has growing near the packing house. The sample measures more than five feet in height, is headed out and in bloom. Mr. K. says he gave the ground a dressing of packing-house fertilizer which stimulated the growth of the crop not a little, and thinks that it had seven feet in height. The crop is certainly a fine one as it is.

INVITATION. A cordial invitation is hereby extended to all civic societies to join with Garfield Post in Memorial Day exercises. The oration will be delivered in Garfield hall at 1:30 p. m., after which the procession will form and proceed to the cemeteries to decorate the graves.

All societies intending to join with us will please notify the post commander, Murray Myers, by Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m., of the 28th inst., so that the program may be arranged.

PASTOR NUSBAUM LEAVING. At a meeting of the executive committee of the State Sunday School association held at Topeka Monday evening Rev. C. S. Nusbaum, pastor of the South Emporia avenue M. E. church, was unanimously elected general secretary of the state Sunday School work. Rev. Nusbaum has consented to accept the important position and will enter upon the duties of the office July 1.

George S. Bourne of Hutchinson was continued as corresponding secretary. It is needless to add that in calling Mr. Nusbaum from denominational work in Wichita, the members of the church lose a most efficient minister and pastor. He has greatly endeared himself to his people by his ministerial brethren and to the general public by his excellent Christian spirit and successful labor in this portion of the state. He will have equal success in his new field and will not disappoint any reasonable expectations of the friends of the Sunday School cause.

AT THE END OF HIS ROPE.

A Notorious Southern Kansas Outlaw to be Hanged in New Mexico Next Week.

Fred Faulkner, who was sentenced by the judge of San Miguel county New Mexico, on May 4, to be hung on June 3, is an old citizen and offender in Southern Kansas and will be remembered by hundreds of the readers of the Eagle. It was long since predicted that Fred would dangle at the end of a rope some day and the prediction has at last the appearance of being a good one.

Faulkner will be remembered, especially in Southern Kansas, as the man who nearly two years ago kidnaped a young lady near Oxford. It was the boldest piece of crime of the kind attempted in this section of the country. On Monday, August 4, 1890, Faulkner, who for some months previous, had been hanging around Oxford and that vicinity went to a livery barn in that town and hired a horse and buggy. He said he desired to drive to Cicero and would be back that evening.

Instead of driving there, Faulkner drove to the farm of M. McDaniel, three and one-half miles north of Oxford which was rented to a man named Baxton. Mr. Faulkner told a very plausible story. He said that his wife was sick and that he wanted to secure some one to keep in the house and wait on his wife. Maggie, a young girl of the family, agreed to go, and got in the buggy with Faulkner to accompany him home. On Wednesday morning the girl's parents drove to Oxford to take her some clothing and were dumbfounded to find that neither Faulkner nor their daughter had been there. Mrs. Faulkner was there and was really very sick. The parents of the girl were, of course, greatly worked up over the matter, and hastened to Cicero, where they called on the county attorney and Sheriff Morse.

When Maggie Buxton got in the buggy with Faulkner she supposed that he was taking her to his home as he represented he would. Instead of that he took a westward course, avoiding all towns, and drove all night, stopping only long enough to feed the team. Any attempt on the part of Maggie to cry out was hushed, Faulkner threatening to kill her instantly if she made any outcry. On Saturday morning they arrived in Grant county. The little gray team was almost worn out with hard driving, and seeing a house, near by which was a cluster of poplar trees, Maggie decided to feed the team. Any attempt on the part of Maggie to cry out was hushed, Faulkner threatening to kill her instantly if she made any outcry. On Saturday morning they arrived in Grant county. The little gray team was almost worn out with hard driving, and seeing a house, near by which was a cluster of poplar trees, Maggie decided to feed the team.

As soon as Faulkner was out of sight Maggie told her story. How she had been stolen from her home and was now a prisoner, and asked for protection. The people were greatly surprised, and supposing that Faulkner would return for the girl they made no attempt to capture him. But the way villain was not to be taken that way. When he left Maggie at that farmhouse he had had formed a plan to desert as soon as he could. The place where he left her was fifteen miles south of Ulysses in Grant county. The sheriff was notified and he instantly telegraphed Sheriff Morse, who at once went out, taking charge of the girl, returning Tuesday evening, August 15th, nearly two weeks after their departure from Oxford. While away from home he had done far west as La Junta, Col., and at every station on the road found officers on the lookout for Faulkner. The entire country was flooded with a description of the villain, Sheriff Morse having sent out notices offering a reward of $200 for his arrest, but they were of no avail.

His record of crime after leaving his victim in Grant county continued to parallel his Standstill by the officers of San Miguel county, New Mexico. He drifted to Ouray, Colo., where he was mixed into a horse stealing scrape and held by the sheriff as a witness, but being taken to Pueblo on the inmate racket, managed to get away. Here he went by the name of Frank Decker.

At Denver he went by the name of Frank Woods, and was watched very closely by the police as a dangerous character, though as far as known he had no trouble while there. In Colorado he passed off as a lawyer sometimes and at others as a member of the Salvation Army. His parents are said to be respectable people in Rochester, N. Y.

The crime for which he was convicted was the murder of a man named Lannon, an ex-union soldier, who came from Bradford, Illinois. They had started from Trinidad, Colorado, together, with Lannon's team and outfit, to go to Oklahoma. They stopped and made camp near Fort N. M. At a certain point the murdered remains of Lannon were discovered at the camping place, having been murdered while peacefully sleeping, while Faulkner had disappeared with the outfit. The tracks were still visible however, and parties started in pursuit, following the track until night when at a distance of forty miles from the scene of murder, Faulkner was overtaken and made prisoner near Springfield, Colo.

Faulkner is about 32 years of age and is a villain from the soles of his head. He is well educated and is naturally smart besides. He would have made a success in life at any legitimate business if he would only give as much thought to study and education as he went to give his criminal plans and schemes. Next week he will reach the goal of all men who prefer walking in the paths of vice and crime and enjoying their transient pleasures, to walking in the paths of righteousness and honor.

PERLESS CYCLE CLUB. Last night was a regular meeting of the Perless Cycle Club. There was much interest and enthusiasm regarding the coming great event of July 4th. The track committee will have a force at work on the new track at the fair grounds today, and everything is progressing finely for the greatest Fourth of July celebration ever held in Kansas. There is already a good sized membership of the Cycle club, but an effort will be made this week to double its membership.

It is estimated that there are about fifty persons in this city who are riding wheels and if for no other reason than the feeling of patriotism which they have and owe to our perless city they should be members of this club, at least until after the Fourth and help, by swelling the membership of the club, to further the interest and help make the coming a glorious Fourth indeed, and courteously receive the coming wheelmen, and crowds of people who will be here. That this may be so, the club have declared next Tuesday night open free to all the wheelmen of the city. And it is hoped that every wheelman in the city will be present at Shaw's music store next Tuesday night and become a charter or free member of the local club.

Professor Sienker will give a public recital at Barnes & Newcomb's store on Friday evening. At this recital nothing but popular music will be played. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. A fine program has been arranged and a good large seating capacity has been provided.

AT THE EMERSON SCHOOL.

Normal commencement exercises were held yesterday at this school. This department is under Miss Louise Rowe, one of the training teachers. The program was as follows: Numbers by Miss Lane and Miss Kelly. The manner of imparting these lessons was highly interesting and practical. One plan is to have two pupils as salesmen or clerks at a table of merchandise. The teacher then sends a pupil with a dollar to purchase one yard of ribbon, a bunch of pens, and some other article. The purchaser inquires the price of each article, buys them and returns with the change. This was done in every instance correctly, and the little folks were learning numbers and addition while playing "keeping store."

Conversational lessons and reading were conducted by Miss Barwise and Miss Jackson. These ladies showed thoroughness in their mode of instruction, and the plan could not well be improved upon. Music lessons were given by Miss Faulkner and Miss Kinkel, and the reading of the notes, and the time measure were well expressed. This exercise is conducted by alternate reading and singing the exercises. These were so good that the pupils could give correctly the scale names and the pitch names of the lessons. Here is a Gymnastics were performed under the direction of Miss Lane and Miss Kinkel, and were very good as to time, drill and position. One interesting test by Miss Keller, was to take a dish full of colored papers and containing slips with a verse of poetry or prose or poetry and it passed to the pupils, each drawing a slip and reading the same, thus showing their readiness to read by supplementary examples.

The lesson on form by Miss Nafziger was pleasing and instructive. This was given by blocks and models in clay and paper, and the pupils really described each shape—faces and peculiarities of construction. It is to be noted that words and manners are inculcated in all the lessons, and care is exercised by the teachers to present the good in sentiment, the correct in language and the attractive and beautiful in presentation. The poetry that every sentiment of right, every well impressed truth, every idea of justice and honesty stamped upon these young minds will be weapons of warfare with which to do battle in after life against injustice, dishonesty and ignorance. "The way the twig is bent the tree will grow." "When the hour of death comes, it is not what we have done for ourselves, but what we have done for others, that we think on most pleasantly." There were present at these exercises Dr. Stevenson, G. E. Campbell, Professor Young, Major Powell, Mrs. Mary E. Rowe, principal of Normal school, Misses Eberlein and Skinner, special teachers, and many other lady visitors.

A PRACTICAL JOKE. The Kansas City Journal of yesterday has the follow to say concerning the perpetration of a practical joke on a Wichita citizen:

The passengers who were waiting in the Union depot last evening were likely amused at seeing what we have done for others, that we think on most pleasantly." There were present at these exercises Dr. Stevenson, G. E. Campbell, Professor Young, Major Powell, Mrs. Mary E. Rowe, principal of Normal school, Misses Eberlein and Skinner, special teachers, and many other lady visitors.

CHOICE, CHEERFUL CHURCH CONCERT. Mrs. A. G. Walden, Mrs. S. W. Norris, Mr. Harry Dunbar, Mr. E. B. Walden and Mr. Shippen are among those who will contribute to the musical program at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. A charming feature will be the fancy dances given by pupils of Miss Lucy Ford. The entertainment is in charge of the Societies' Faculty. It is announced that the dress rehearsal last night those who were privileged to be present witnessed a little play that reflects credit upon Mrs. F. W. Waller, who has not only drilled all the performers but written much of the text. No seats are reserved. Tickets on sale at the door.

MEMORIAL DAY AT DERBY. Baldwin post No. 592 of Derby will observe Decoration Day at that place next Monday. The post will be assisted by the post at Mulvane, the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans camp also of Mulvane. J. D. Caldwell of this city will deliver the memorial address. Addresses will also be made by Messrs. Phillips, Silverwood, Milton Meyers and James Stewart. Recitations by Miss Larimer and Miss Phillips will also be features of the occasion. The music will be furnished by the Derby brass band and the Mulvane drum corps. Many other interesting items are on the program of the day.

A WORD ABOUT TICKETS. There being two sessions on commencement day, the committee on High school ordered two series of tickets issued, one for the forenoon and one for the afternoon. In the forenoon series $5 will be taken up at the door; in the afternoon series $4. These tickets can not be used interchangeably. Last mistakes should be made by members of the senior class, who hold 270 of the tickets issued, in giving the same to their friends this expansion is made, in addition to the directions given with the ticket.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reeves have gone to housekeeping and are now comfortably situated at 12th West avenue.

Mr. Harry Solomon has returned to Wichita and will remain here for a few weeks, at least. He has been in Chicago the past winter engaged in the real estate business, and still has an office there. He was down in Okla. O. T. for several days looking around, but he asserts that there is no rush, whatever, in the report that he intended starting a bank there. Mr. Solomon states that business in real estate is not very brisk in Chicago. The boom that raged there two years ago brought real estate to a standstill, and prices of real estate are now high now for speculation. Mr. Solomon much prefers Wichita to live in, and says that if he can make satisfactory arrangements here, that he will go into business in Wichita.
