The New System.

Speaking of fashions it must be said that we owe to Prof. De Lamon of Paris, France, many thanks for his display of wisdom and the true merit that is both in him and his system. For we certainly look upon his system as a wonderful friend to dressmakers and ladies in general. Dressmakers say it is far superior to any other dress cutting system ever invented, and it is so simple. Every lady should look into it for her own benefit. The professor's academy is here to stay, as it will do the ladies of this vicinity a world of good, as it has already done. The professor's Seamstress Princess Dresses are decidedly the prettiest thing ever worn by ladies, they are admired by both ladies and gentlemen, and watched with wistful eye till out of sight.—Daily News, Birmingham, Ala.
The above system is now being taught at 128 North Main street, Wichita. All ladies should investigate it. 82-17

We Heartily Recommend
The new route to Utah and northern California, via A. T. and S. F. and Colorado Midland, because it is picturesque; it is quick; it is always on time. You see Colorado by daylight. The new fast schedule allows two hours for sight-seeing at Manitou. Two daily passenger trains each way. Palace sleepers to Ogden, connecting with Southern Pacific for San Francisco.

We also recommend the Santa Fe route through New Mexico and Arizona to Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, as a direct and pleasant line for winter travel.
Excursion tickets may be bought going lines and returning the other. 433-14

Hunt up half a hundred forceful and incisive adjectives suitable for description of sublime and inspiring scenery; then take a trip to the Grand Canon of the Colorado, and you will throw them aside as being inadequate.
The world's greatest wonder is the Grand Canon of the Colorado river, in Arizona. Yellowstone Park and Yosemite take second place; Niagara Falls is dwarfed; and the Grand Cañon seem like mere hills, compared with the stupendous chasms and heights of the Grand Canon.

This hitherto inaccessible region has just been opened to tourists by stage line from Elgin, A. T., on the transcontinental highway of the A. T. S. F. R. R. The round trip can be made comfortably, quickly, and at reasonable expense.

Nearest agent of Santa Fe route will quote excursion rates, on application. An illustrated pamphlet is in preparation, fully describing the route, its beauties and wonders of the Grand Canon. Write to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A. A. T. & S. F. R. R., Topeka, Kan., or J. J. Byron, Asst. Agent, Chicago, for free copy, which will be mailed when ready for distribution. 470-17

Through Chair Car to Omaha via the Santa Fe Route.

The Santa Fe route are now running a through chair car to Omaha via Superior Neb., in connection with the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley railroad leaving Wichita at 10 p. m. and arriving in Omaha the next evening at 5:30 p. m. This service will continue daily.

TRY IT YOURSELF.

The Check Rein as Bad for Horses as it Would Be for Men.

Over five hundred veterinary surgeons have signed a paper condemning tight check-reins, as painful to horses and productive of disease, causing distortion of the wind-pipe to such a degree as to impede respiration. They mention paralysis of the muscles of the face, megrims, apoplexy, coma and inflammation as some of the results of its use. The over-check rein will often cause a horse to become knee-sprung.

It destroys the delicate sensitiveness to the bit which is most desirable in guiding a horse. Dr. Kitching says: "If a horse pulling a load has his head held in by a check-rein, he cannot throw his weight into his collar, and is hindered from giving his body that position which is most natural and effective." He goes on to speak of the consequent strain of his limbs and muscles, and the injury caused by the constrained position of the head, whereby the breathing and circulation are affected, and the horse made restless, irritable and uncomfortable. He says: "The check-rein inflicts unceasing torture upon the animal in another way. By holding the head upwards, it puts the muscles of the neck on a constant strain. They become painfully uneasy and tired. If the horse cannot bear it, he rests the weight of his head upon the rein, and his mouth is violently stretched. Thus he only exchanges one torment for another. To sum up in a word, the check-rein lessens a horse's strength; brings on disease; keeps him in pain; frets and injures his mouth, and spoils his temper."

INTENSIVE FARMING.

The kind of Cultivation Which Assures Good Results.
As the agricultural areas gradually grow less in proportion to population, not only must better systems be applied, but more thoroughness in all departments of land culture to obtain the best results. This would imply smaller farms with a larger proportion of profit. A writer upon the subject, referring particularly to the south, says, all over the country we see farmers who are considering the advisability of riding themselves of the large farm and devoting their energies to the better cultivation of few acres.

This is a move in the right direction, especially in the older and more thickly settled regions of the country. In many places farm lands have reached a value where it is extremely difficult to make the staple crops pay a net return upon an acre that will equal the interest upon the investment. Such branches as will give a higher return on an acre are being looked to, such as gardening and fruit farming, high-class dairying, etc. The only trouble with this new movement is that some of the men who go into it think that these branches can be conducted on the same broad lines and principles that they have applied in the management of the general farm. This is a grave error, and almost always leads to disaster. If the farmer who is thus changing his plans cannot make up his mind to change his methods and practices also—in fact, to begin at the beginning and study the new agriculture which is comprehended in the phrase "intensive cultivation"—he had better turn the management of things over to one of the new generation. Send the oldest boy to the agricultural college, and when he comes home let him take the helm.—Western Rural.

LIGHT POULTRY HOUSE.

Very Cheerful to the Flock During the Cold Months.
The design of a poultry-house in this issue is for a flock of fifteen fowls, the house being ten feet wide and sixteen feet long. But little explanation is necessary, as the illustration explains itself. It is well known that the hens are very partial to plenty of light in the poultry-house, and the design is to

A LIGHT POULTRY-HOUSE show how easily a large portion of the house may be composed of windows. If such a house is used in the summer, the windows at the ends and the lower window in front may be removed and wire netting substituted. For winter the glass should be returned. This house is not as expensive as it appears, and is very cheerful to a flock during winter, when it may be necessary to confine the hens for months.—Farm and Fireside.

PEACH LEAF CURL.

A Disease Which Occurs Wherever Peaches are Grown.

This peculiar disease is widespread both in this country and Europe, occurring wherever the peach is grown. It often severely injures nursery stock; young, thrifty growing trees are more subject to its attacks than those more mature. The curl is limited to the period when the young shoots and leaves are most tender; after the tissues of these parts are fully formed or matured they are no longer affected. The disease shows itself as soon as the leaves are expanded. By the first or middle of June the only signs of the malady are the withered leaves on the ground and the shriveled shoots on the tree; new leaves have already developed on the lateral twigs. The illustration, Fig. 1, shows the characteristic appearance of a peach leaf affected with the curl and the same engraving illustrates a twig diseased from the same cause. Frequently the entire leaf is involved, the diseased part being somewhat thicker and of a more fleshy texture than that in health. The under surface is usually smooth but the upper has a more or less mealy appearance. When the leaf stock is affected it swells to several times its normal thickness and seldom attains its full length. These portions have a pale green color, the surface is swollen and uneven, and turns black and dies. The cause of peach-leaf curl is a minute fungus called Taphrina deformans. It is closely related to the fungus which causes "plum pockets." The mycelium or spore producing part of this fungus forms a net work of threads resembling a string of beads in the tissues of the peach leaf. This is illustrated in Fig. 2. From these threads the spores or seeds are produced by which the disease is spread from tree to tree. These falling on young tender shoots penetrate their substance and cause them to curl up and finally die. So little is really known of the life history of the curl that little can be said regarding preventive measures. Removing and destroying all the leaves and young shoots as soon as they show signs of the malady, and at the proper season, cutting well back the branches where the disease existed, is the best course, and ought to mitigate the evil. As an experiment it is suggested that the trees be sprayed in March or before the buds begin to swell, with a 30 or 40 percent solution of sulphate of iron.—Orange Judd Farmer.

NOTICE!!

To correct an error which is becoming quite prevalent in regard to our methods of treatment and our relation to the medical profession—permit us to announce that we are regularly educated physicians and surgeons. The senior member of the firm of a quarter of a century's experience. We are not electro-specialists to the exclusion of all other recognized methods both medical and surgical; but we use electric baths, etc., in conjunction with rational medicine wherever and whenever indicated.
We treat any and all cases, medical or surgical, attend all out patients at all times, and consult with any educated physician.
We make a specialty of chronic diseases, for the reason that we have had vast experience in such cases, and have unsurpassed facilities and appliances, and also because but few of the regular profession care to devote the requisite time and expense to these subjects to become experts.
