A NEW GAME. DENVER, Aug. 16.—P. Cashman of Pennsylvania, who registered at the Wellington hotel last night, fell ill during the night and died at the hotel. The clerk was asked the way to the nearest physician. The man replied that he was a doctor and was immediately taken to the sick man's room. The doctor sent the clerk after medicine, and then robbed the patient of everything he had on his person. When the clerk returned Cashman had died, presumably of fright. The robber was arrested an hour later. He gave his name as J. E. Stevens.

FINANCIAL SCHEMES.

GARDEN-SEED COCKRILL OFFERS ANOTHER IN THE SENATE.

A Proposal to Redeem Outstanding Bonds With a New Issue of Greenback Currency.

The Government Asked to Secure the Depositors as Well as the Bill Holders of the National Banks—The Anti-Silver Men Pull the House and Figure Out a Majority of the Wilson Bill—A Romer From India.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The morning hour, after the introduction of bills, was largely occupied by a discussion as to the overloading of government buildings in Washington with public books and documents. Mr. Vest of Missouri proposed as a remedy the passage of a bill appropriating $300,000 to be known as the "hall of records."

Notice was given by Mr. Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, that he would not ask action today on the bill to allow national banks to increase their circulation to the par value of the bonds deposited by them, but that he would do so tomorrow.

Mr. Sherman stated his objections to the bill, and that he would be presenting it to the government and payment in coin demanded. That would be an unbusiness-like proceeding, and would complicate the situation. The amendment was a dangerous financial operation.

Mr. Cockrell ridiculed the objections of Mr. Sherman, whom he spoke of as the great friend and patron of the national banks and as the great gold monopolist.

Mr. Berry addressed the senate on the double standard. President Cleveland, he said, had often declared in favor of bimetallicism, and he (Mr. Berry) was confident that the president's failure to discuss bimetallicism in his message, he would approve any bill repealing the Sherman law and providing for the circulation of both gold and silver on such terms as would make them equal.

Mr. Allen offered an amendment to the national bank circulation bill, to the effect that interest on the bonds in which the additional circulation shall be based.

The senate proceeded to executive session, and soon adjourned.
