Tom Watson Tells How He Was Kept Out of Congress—Capital Notes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—In the senate this morning, Mr. Dubois of Idaho presented a resolution by offering the following resolution: "Whereas, Several states are without the full representation in the senate they are entitled to; therefore, be it—

"Resolved, That the consideration of legislation relating to the federal election laws, the tariff and finance matters, being materially affected by partially unrepresented states in the senate, which are granted until Monday, Jan. 15, 1894, to enable the states of Washington, Montana and Wyoming to have the votes, influence and protection in the senate which are granted to each sovereign state by the constitution of the United States."

The resolution was laid on the table yesterday, 27 days.

The repeal bill was then, at 12:10 o'clock, taken up.

At the conclusion of a speech by Mr. Perkins on the repeal bill, Mr. Stewart again resumed the floor. He read from a paper an article on the president's alleged rebuke to the senate.

Mr. Palmer of Illinois asked whether it was consistent with the proper relations between the senate and the president to read in the senate grave charges against the executive of which the president would not be responsible.

Mr. Stewart said that it was consistent for him as a senator to defend the senate when the press said that the president was rebuking the senate and calling senators criminals.

"My friends deny that he has used patronage to control legislation," said Mr. Stewart; "let them make it clear how the sentiment of congress has been changed and how an overwhelming majority in favor of free business in congress has been changed to a gold monetaryist majority."

Mr. Palmer wanted Mr. Stewart to indicate a single instance in which the president had employed patronage to control a senator or a member of the house.

THE STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The stock market opened at a general decline, the heaviness being undoubtedly assisted by a weak London market. The decline brought out some of the shorts as buyers, and a slight rally ensued. But it was of brief duration, and not until long after noon did the downward movement of the market check. The announcement that the rates for sterling exchange had been marked down caused a revulsion of feeling, and there was an active recovery of the losses of the morning. The higher range of values, however, led to realizations, and the bears renewed their attacks, leading to another reaction. A goodly part of the losses of the morning were the most firmly held of the entire list.
