TWO VOTES TAKEN.

THE LAST STAGE REACHED IN THE CONTEST IN THE SENATE.

The Peffer Amendment Rejected and the Voorhees Substitute for the Wilson Bill Adopted.

Senator Teller of Colorado Becomes Both Lachrymose and Pessimistic in the Face of Inevitable Defeat.

Congressman Weadock of Michigan Attacks the American Protective Association. Representative Hudson of Kansas Disposes of the Charges of a Fake Correspondent—The State Bank Tax Repealed Given a Setback in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The consideration of the repeal bill was resumed in the senate this morning, and Mr. Stewart took up the thread of his argument where he stopped last evening when the senate took a recess.

Questioning Mr. Stewart as to his position, Mr. Carey of Wyoming said: "I say that you are a silver monetarist."

"I say that you are mistaken," replied Mr. Stewart hotly. "You do not know what bimetallicism is. [Laughter.] How many times must I tell you a thing before you understand it?" [Laughter.]

"I think I understand it," Mr. Carey said, "and if you understood it more and talked less we should get along better."

"I think you have talked to the full extent of your knowledge," replied Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart then drifted into a denunciation of the "gold ring" and into criticisms of the administration. At 1:30 he yielded to his colleague, Mr. Jones of Nevada.

Mr. Jones, after talking at some length against repeal, read the letter of the president to Governor Northern, and said that if he had been as explicit before the election as he was now, he would not have been elected.

Mr. Voorhees, after remarking that he understood that Mr. Jones desired to resume his speech at another time and that there was nobody else ready to go on now, asked for a vote on the pending amendment.

At an earlier argument, the vice president stated the question to be on the amendment of Mr. Peffer.

Mr. Peffer said that he was not ready to vote on the amendment and desired to submit some remarks in advocacy of it. He had discovered, he said, in the public prints that he had surrendered and recommended to his political associates to surrender.

"Mr. President," continued he, "we have not surrendered, nor do we intend to. We will stand by our position, but at every stage shall interpose determined resistance and determined opposition."

The amendment was then put on the amendment, and it was rejected—yeas, 28; nays, 38. The detailed vote was as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Coke, Daniel, Daboss, Gano, Harris, Irby, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, Kyle, Martin, Passco, Peffer, Power, Rauch, Simpson, Stewart, Teller, Vance, Vest, Waldrich and Wolcott—28.

Nays—Messrs. Aldrich, Coffey, Cameron, Chandler, Dyer, Dixon, Duffell, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Lindsay, Palmer, McMillan, McPherson, Pennington, Pettigrew, Perkins, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Stockbridge, Turpie, Vines, Voorhees, Washington and Wheeler—38.

The following pairs were announced, the first named being affirmative: Coakrell and Allison, Cameron and Bruce, White of California and Johnston and Wilson, Pettigrew and Gorman, Hansbrough and Mills, Morgan and Hawley, Hanton and Platt, Mitchell of Oregon and Squire, death body. He stepped under the nose dressed in a suit of pure white linen, and preached his own funeral sermon to the crowd of assembled witnesses of his death.

To die on the gallows was the only end fitted to the cruel and cowardly deed of a man like Marshall Taylor, who was known in the mountain regions of Virginia of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia as "Doc" Taylor, a dead shot, an inveterate hunter, and a man who had incurred the enmity of years before the desperado Tait Hall, whose red record furnished display head lines for every newspaper in the country, and who had been hanged on the gallows at Wise Court House, on Sept. 1, 1892.

He had a bitter feud between the followers of these two outlaws. The death of one or both of them was expected in the climax of this vendetta. A liberal reward was offered for the arrest of Hall for the murder of "Doc" Taylor, for which crime he was hanged, and he was arrested at Memphis, Tenn. "Doc" Taylor brought his man back, but to prevent rescue guarded him with a large posse in the jail, and to and from the court house making a trail that lasted over a week. All this time Wise Court House was in a state of siege by a band of Hall's followers and outlaws from Kentucky, who threatened to rescue Hall.

"Doc" Taylor's alliance with his enemy caused him to carry things with a high and bloody hand among the mountaineers. His last cruel and inhuman crime, of which he was found guilty by a jury, was the massacre of the Mullins family.

Taylor belonged to the Morgan guerrilla band commanded by John Morgan during the war of the rebellion, and was conspicuous for deeds of cruelty and blood.

PHENIX, Cal., Oct. 27.—Dr. F. C. Vincent, the wife murderer, was hanged here at noon today.

MADISON, Ga., Oct. 27.—Like Williams (colored) paid the penalty of death on the gallows today for the murder of a colored woman.

CORBETT AND MITCHELL.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 27.—Champion James J. Corbett has received a dispatch from the Olympic club of New Orleans, offering a purse of $20,000 for the Corbett-Mitchell glove contest to be decided at their club. Corbett immediately replied his acceptance of the offer, and stipulated that the club put up a deposit of $10,000 guarantee for the fight to come off in New Orleans. The champion also urged the club to make the date for the contest earlier than that set by the Coney Island Athletic club and suggested the latter part of November. Corbett said: "I am anxious to accommodate Mitchell, and now that I am relieved of the Coney Island club's agreement, I see my way clear to do so, although the purse is less than I intended for with Sullivan."

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—In the house today Mr. Weadock of Michigan made a sensational statement affecting the title of Representative Linton of Michigan to his seat. It was in the form of a petition against Mr. Linton. The petition asserts that Mr. Linton's election was neither legal nor valid. It is signed by Mr. Weadock, "for a committee of investigation," the whole question, which involves the determination of the existence and animus of an un-American, illegal and treasonous organization, which in Michigan has gone to the length of procuring arms."

"Name the organization," cried a dozen voices.

"Known as the American Protective Association," replied Mr. Weadock.

Mr. Hopkins of Illinois protested against the arraignment of the society as traitorous.

The speaker called the attention of Mr. Weadock to the fact that Mr. Linton was not present, and Mr. Weadock consented to defer the matter to go over till tomorrow.

Mr. Hudson of Kansas rose to a question of personal privilege, and had read a resolution and carried by Chairman Springer, purporting to have been made by the commissioner of the general land office (Mr. Lamoreux) relative to the investigation of the Cherokee lands. The resolution stated that Mr. Hudson's populistic note was simply a mask for anti-pure Democracy. The statement was followed by some lines and carried by Chairman Springer, calling for information as to the state banks. Some of the friends of the proposal to repeal the state bank tax took the floor, and Mr. Weadock of Michigan made a speech in support of the measure. The resolution was bitterly opposed by Messrs. Hall of Wisconsin, Bronson of Indiana and Turner of Georgia.

Mr. Springer denied that the resolution was offered with a desire to embarrass the proposition to repeal the state bank tax and Messrs. Dingley and Sperry spoke in the same strain.

At the conclusion of the latter's speech a vote on the adoption of the resolution was taken—yeas, 74; nays, 44.

Mr. Allen of Mississippi made the point of no quorum, and the yeas and nays were ordered, resulting 90 to 32. Again no quorum voted and the house adjourned until Monday.

The vote is considered a pretty good test as to the sentiment of the house on the repeal of the state bank tax.

THE REPEAL BILL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Senator Stewart came into the senate this morning and announced to his colleagues that if his throat held out, and he thought it would, he hoped to occupy the floor the greater part of the day. This announcement had the effect of changing to some extent the calculations of the repeal members, who were expecting to get a vote by 3 o'clock today upon the pending amendment to the repeal bill, which is the one offered by Mr. Peffer for the free coinage of silver at the rate of 16 to 1. It now looks as if the beginning of the voting might be postponed to another day.

Mr. Peffer, however, is confident that he will be able to consummate the entire day, for his colleague (Mr. Jones) will want two or three hours for the completion of his speech. There are several senators who desire to make short speeches. Mr. Voorhees said this morning that when the amendments are reached, he would probably ask the senate to continue in session until the bill should be disposed of, even if the work should go on till midnight.

The prediction is freely made that the final vote will not be taken until the close of next week.

WEARY OF THE WORLD.

Suicide of Ex-Archbishop General Garland's Favorite Daughter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Miss Daisy Garland, daughter of Archbishop General Garland, committed suicide at her home in this city today by shooting herself. She was 24 years old, and is thought to have been insane at the time.

Miss Garland had spent a very pleasant evening with her father and brothers last night at their home, and seemed to be in good spirits. After breakfast this morning she was seen to leave her home, where her brother William went shortly after to talk with her concerning a theater party. He knocked at the door, and not receiving any response, burst into the room and found his sister lying on the floor dead. The bullet had passed through her heart.

There was the odor of gas in the room, and it was thought that she had been asphyxiated, but upon examination a bullet hole was found in her left side, behind which lay a revolver. Miss Garland had taken the precaution of turning on all the gas jets in the room, so that in case the bullet failed to do its deadly work the gas would smother her.

Ex-Archbishop General Garland had left his home for his office, and it was an hour after his daughter was found before her death was known to him. He was completely overcome and could scarcely stand when the news was broken to him. The entire family was shocked and grieved by the shock that none could be denied.

The true cause of Miss Garland's self-inflicted death may never be known. She had a secret of some kind, and before her death was constantly on her mind, but it is said that none knew exactly what it was. She was a great favorite with her father, who supplied her with every comfort.

About two months ago Miss Garland suddenly left home and was found in Baltimore, but since that time nothing had been heard of her.

A PITTSBURG BLAZE.

THE SMOKY CITY VISITED BY A DISASTROUS FIRE.

Property Valued at Over Five Hundred Thousand Dollars Licked up by the Flames.

Eight Persons Seriously, Three Perhaps Fatally, Injured by Falling Timbers. A Score of Minor Mishaps.

A Row of Tenement Houses Crushed by a Falling Wall a Few Moments After the Police Had Compelled the Inmates to Vacate—The Configuration of a Barrel of Whisky in a Warehouse.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—The explosion of a barrel of whisky in the big warehouse of the Chattanooga Lake Ice company this afternoon caused the destruction of over $500,000 worth of property and the serious injury of eight persons. Several of the injured are feared to die. A score or more others sustained slight cuts and bruises or were trampled on by the mob surrounding the burning buildings. Those seriously hurt are the following:

J. T. Hillman, married, dropped from third floor to ground; injuries considered fatal.

Martin Griffith, married, dangerously burned.

Edward Speer, badly bruised and badly burned.

William Cox, single, dangerously burned.

William Smith, painfully but not fatally hurt.

William Wiseman, struck by falling timbers; skull fractured.

Leutenant Frank McCann, struck by falling bricks and badly hurt.

John Reische, badly hurt by falling timbers.

Just before 1 o'clock a number of employees of the third floor of the Chattanooga Ice company's building were startled by a loud report, and almost instantly the large room was ablaze. The men quickly gave the alarm, and then started for the stairs. The flames had already cut off escape by that route, and the only means of exit left to them were the windows, fifty feet from the ground and overhanging the street. The men were forced to creep out upon the window sills and hang by their hands until the fire department arrived. The flames bursting from the windows, burned their hands and faces, but they hung there till the men of the trucks got the ladders up and brought them down.

When the first detachment of the fire companies reached the fire the flames were rapidly eating their way through the great factory building, and by the time the second detachment arrived the fire had spread to the 7-story building of the Pittsburg Storage company, adjoining. An alarm was sounded at 1:15, and in twenty minutes after the first alarm was sounded twenty streams of water were pouring into the mammoth pile of iron.

At 2 o'clock it looked as if the whole block from Twelfth to Thirteenth, and from Pike to Pennsylvania avenues, was doomed, but the excitement was over, and it was discovered that a large tank of ammonia was located in the corner of the ice company's building. All the houses in the neighborhood were crowded by the time of the first alarm, and the men were ordered to move an inch or two from their places.
