

Wichita Daily Eagle

A. M. MURDOCK, Editor. P. P. MURDOCK, Manager. M. M. MURDOCK & BRO. Publishers and Proprietors.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—DAILY EAGLE. In Advance, Postage Prepaid. Daily, one copy, six months, $3.00. Daily, one copy, three months, $1.50. Daily, one copy, one month, $0.50.

ADVERTISERS. Our rates of advertising shall be as low as those of any other paper of equal value in an advertising medium.

STAMPS FOR SALE AT THE COUNTING ROOM.

LOOK AT THIS. Sun. Mon. Tues. Wed. Thurs. Fri. Sat.

THAT IS THE WAY a man's energy runs down if he works during the week. His force is very low at Saturday.

THE VERY BEST of current, fresh newspaper matter has been selected. There will be matter to brighten your mind; matter to make you reflect; matter to lighten your sorrows, and matter to make you laugh.

JUST FOR INSTANCE, take Edgar Fawcett's article on "Whither are they cross?" Why do they snarl? Fawcett tells you in a way you do not expect. If you read his article, his answer will come up in your mind for many a day. It is splendidly illustrated. Don't miss it.

OUR GIRLS TOO FREE? Are they allowed too much liberty? Is it right for them to be with young men alone? Should they have chaperones? Ella Wheeler Wilcox discusses this matter in full in Sunday's EAGLE. The illustrations accompanying the article are excellent.

BED-HEADED GHOSTS are debated by Howard Fielding, pro and con. If you have configuration hair and want to blame somebody, do not fail to read this sprightly fusillade of wit.

THE OCEAN'S BOTTOM. What is there? The deepest place in the ocean is as deep as the highest mountain is high. The vasty deep has secrets and man is finding them out. E. I. Sabin, a clever writer, tells of scientific researches in Sunday's EAGLE.

EVER SINCE BILL NYE began writing, the literary peacocks have said that he was dry and uninteresting. But the people who are not literary like him. He is droll in his expressions and ideas. Thousands read his articles every Sunday. McDougall, who illustrates Bill Nye in next Sunday's EAGLE, stands at the head of newspaper illustrators.

NANCY YANK! Will pour hot-shot into another Wichita fable in Sunday's EAGLE. Who is Nancy? She is a society leader in Wichita, who attends all the pink teas and afternoon receptions, and hears herself abused on all sides. Read her article.

LOCAL NEWS: is the EAGLE's strong point. It devotes more space to local news than any paper in Cleveland, Ohio, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, or Memphis, Tennessee. The local features are always fresh, breezy and complete.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES in the EAGLE have become famous in Southern Kansas and Oklahoma for their comprehensive condensation, accuracy and thoroughness. Remember that everything is given briefly and to the point. Nothing is missed.

READ SUNDAY'S EAGLE and prepare to start in next Monday, re-warded in energy and refreshed in spirits.

Lena O. Rosenthal and Mary E. Smith were married yesterday by Judge Stratton in the parlors of the probate court.

George Ross who has been quite sick at his home, is reported much improved.

J. R. Letts, one of the leading business men of Wellington, was buried yesterday, having died unexpectedly two days before. Mr. Letts was contemplating making Wichita his home and would eventually have done so had he lived. Mr. Letts was a very fine gentleman and is a loss to the business interests of Wellington.

KILLED ED FULLER

FOUR STRANGE MEN TAKE THE REMAINS TO PURELL

One of the Men Said to be a Territorial Outlaw Who is Accused of Many Crimes—Very Suspicious Circumstances Surrounding the Case.

Last night information of a peculiar case, probably a murder, came from Purcell. Yesterday four men arrived at that town with the body of a young man apparently twenty years of age. They proceeded to the undertaker's, paid cash down for a decent burial, and were quite liberal with the amount. They stated to the undertaker that the young man's name was Ed Fuller, that his home was at Pond Creek, where his father resides, and that he was accidentally killed by his uncle at Wagona Springs, twenty-five miles east of Purcell. They stated that the uncle was fooling with a gun and that it accidentally went off and killed the nephew.

While the four men were talking to the undertaker a citizen of Purcell recognized and spoke to one of them. A suspicious glance was exchanged, and immediately the four men left the undertaker and rode hurriedly out of town. The matter was reported to the officers and three deputy marshals rode after them. The man whom the citizen of Purcell recognized was the man who was arrested near Ponca two years ago for complicity in the murder of the telegraph operator at Wagona and the conspiracy to rob the Santa Fe train, and who afterwards broke jail and escaped. The report from Purcell is that there is no doubt about the identity of this man. This fact, with the queer actions of the four men who accompanied the remains of the alleged Fuller, created a suspicion in quite a number of prominent citizens. The excitement was intensified when it was learned from Pond Creek that no such man was known there. It became evident at once that there was something mysterious in the case.

The theory is that the four men who accompanied the body to Purcell are the Maupin gang, and that the dead man was either one of their number who was killed while in a raid or was murdered or accidentally killed by themselves. The Maupin gang has consisted of five men and it is quite a coincidence that one of them answered the description of the deceased and was seen in the vicinity of Wagona around along the Santa Fe for the past three or four weeks, since they were practically driven out of the Rock Island territory.

When the above facts and suspicions became known at Purcell yesterday, not only the officers of Oklahoma were notified, but also the officers of the Santa Fe road.

WORK WHILE YOU WAIT.

The Town of Better Days for Wichita and the West. According to reports from eastern cities we have no reason to be discouraged in Wichita. The business outlook for merchants and manufacturers, and the prospect for wage-earners could not well be more encouraging, even at points where there are large accumulations of wealth and a surplus of idle money. Funds locked up in deposit vaults are of no use to any one, but on the contrary, give evidence of a want of confidence which must prevail to insure a healthy state of trade. In our western cities there is little or none of our capital tied up in this way. The greater opportunity for investment keeps every dollar in active use, and in this there are no hardships peculiar to the times here, while the reverse is true in all eastern cities. Evidence of this is not wanting even to a blind man. The street walking brigade tells the story in the most emphatic terms. Thousands of people who would gladly accept any honorable employment, even at half wages, are dependent upon charity for bread. Trades people are between the upper and nether millstones of dull trade and clamorous creditors. All are simply waiting for the better day which may come soon or it may not.

The conditions are certainly not so bad here. The proportion of dependent poor is so small that it is not regarded a burden to provide for them. Provisions are abundant and cheap, and almost every one has some visible means of support. Not only this, but with many there is a surplus for saving. This is proven by the unprecedented sale of stock in our building and loan association since the first of the year.

There are reasons for this state of things, neither superficial nor temporary, the chief of which is that the country tributary to Wichita is but partially developed. There are opportunities coming with a growing population which cannot exist where every acre is in cultivation, and every branch of trade worked to its greatest possibilities.

"Go west for opportunity," is the old-time motto which has peopled the west. Its import is even more pertinent today than ever before. The depression east will bring many a good citizen to consider and apply the principle, and the result will be a change of residence to the west. Every family and every dollar added to the already favorable conditions will bring so much improvement to Wichita. It often occurs that we can wait as profitably as we can in any other part of the country, and while we wait it will greatly facilitate the return of permanent, healthy growth.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

Wichita Boy Escapes From the Reform School at Topeka.

Chief Cone received a note on Wednesday from the superintendent of the reform school at Topeka, asking him to look out for a boy 17 years old, named Louis Phillips, who was at 117 North Market street, this city, and who had escaped from the school the day before. The note stated that he had on his reform school uniform when last seen. The force was notified, and last night he was discovered in a restaurant on East Douglas avenue, eating his supper as unconcernedly as though he was at home, surrounded by friends. He was locked up in the city prison and the authorities notified.

Phillips had but one month more of his sentence to serve when he ran away. Now he must serve the whole over again. He had a scrap with some of the kids, got mad and skipped. He will be returned today.

TWO APPOINTMENTS.

Only two appointments have been made so far by the county commissioners, and they are W. E. Apping as assessor of the county building and L. S. Freeland as watchman. Both are good Republicans and first-class men.

J. H. McCall was appointed administrator for the McCall estate and not vice versa as published.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

Caroline Harrison Lodge Officers Installed in Due Form.

The A. O. U. W. hall was a scene of delight and interest last night. The decorations were well arranged. Across the center hung in profusion the folds of the flag which all patriots love. The hall was comfortably filled, and the program was exceptionally interesting and impressive. It was the public installation of the officers of Caroline Harrison Circle, No. 5, Ladies of the G. A. R.

The exercises commenced with an instrumental solo by Miss Mabel Herdine, very finely executed. Next followed a recitation by Miss Jessie Tucker—"Custer's Last Ride," and it was beautifully rendered. Then followed a duet by Benny and Faith Warren—"The Little Major," and this was very beautiful and sweet. Little Miss Pearl Reed then executed an instrumental solo in a style which elicited vociferous applause. Little Hazel Dutton recited "Only the Veterans Daughters" in the cutest, sweetest style possible. She was complimented by the entire audience with an encore.

Emma Hornaday then recited the "Ride of Jennie McNeal" and showed herself an excellent artist of fine culture.

Mrs. Fairchild sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the audience joining in the chorus.

Captain Burgess then made an address the "Object and Aim of the Circle," dwelt upon the power of patriotism, and in a beautiful peroration congratulated the members upon the growth of their order.

After this came the installation of the officers of the society by Captain J. A. Wallace, which was exceptionally interesting, and most admirably performed by the captain, though he was detailed to do the work after the assembling of the organization.

The following were installed as officers for the ensuing year: President—Mrs. DeRoss. Senior vice president—Mrs. Dr. Stitzel. Junior vice president—Mrs. Maggie Campbell.

Treasurer—Mrs. Millie Woodcock. Chaplain—Mrs. Mary Beckwell. Secretary—Mrs. Gertrude Wallace. Conductress—Mrs. Nellie Warren.

The newly installed president, Mrs. De Ross, then made a short and beautiful inaugural address.

At this point Mrs. Mary Lane stepped forward and in complimentary words presented the retiring president, Mrs. Mary Snyder, with a fine gold pin as an expression of honor from the society, which that lady acknowledged in fitting and expressive language. This was followed by a solo "We Are the Boys," which was received with repeated applause.

Mr. Henry Huttman was accompanied, Judge W. P. Campbell then followed with an address of earnest, eloquent words showing the work of the past by the soldiers of the great rebellion and the grand achievements resulting from their sacrifice, valor and heroism. The judge's speech, full of happy reminiscences and an occasional tender allusion stirred the hearts and awakened memories both sad and sorrowful. Mrs. President De Ross introduced Post Commander Schaub, who made the following brief address:

"It gives me great pleasure to meet with you this evening. I feel that we are workers in a noble work, in that we extend a helping hand to worthy comrades and their families who are in need of our help. Who is it that can do the work of love and charity half so well as the noble ladies of Caroline Harrison circle? How well do we remember the work that was rendered by the ladies during the darkest days of the rebellion. Many a soldier owed his life to the good and kind nursing that was done by the ladies in the hospitals.

"You have named your circle for a true and noble woman, one who was beloved and in truth a helpmate to our beloved comrades. For who does not love the name of Deborah? Her name stands stoutly shoulder to shoulder with us on the field of battle! Had the soldiers done their duty we would have a friend in the White House. I am pleased to know that your organization has prospered so greatly in such a short time. I hope it may continue to do so in the future, and I wish you a God's blessing in your noble work."

This concluded the program and the company were invited to partake of a light lunch, after which an hour was spent in social intercourse, music and attempts at dancing by the young folks.

Comrade W. H. Scott was 50 years old yesterday, and he was half inclined to believe the great time was in honor of his birthday.

The members of the circle were congratulated by all present on the success of their first installation after organization. Judge Williams of the United States court, who was a Union soldier, could not be present, but sent a message of regret that he could not be with them, and wished them abundant success in their great work.

The festivities closed at midnight.

HELLO CENTRAL.

Some Telephone Networks That Are Quite Interesting.

The business of a central telephone station is by no means a bad index to the business of a city.

To ascertain what Wichita is doing compared with other cities of its size a reporter for the EAGLE called on Manager C. H. Chase yesterday and found that during the first three days of the week the central station had received 3,429 calls. Monday the calls were 3,429; Tuesday they were 3,371 and on Wednesday they were 3,702. This makes an average of 3,533 calls per day, or a call and a half for every man, woman and child in the city.

There are five operators and 400 instruments. The operators answer over 700 calls a day, or more than a call a minute during the ten business hours, so it can be seen that they have not such a picnic as people suppose they have. Each telephone in the city is used over eight times a day on the average.

Wichita, in the use of the telephone, stands foremost for its size. In Springfield, Mo., the average number of daily calls is only 2,300. In Topeka the average is only 2,800, and in population it is larger than Wichita. In Cedar Rapids, Ia., the average is only 1,900, while in Bloomington, Illinois, the average is only 2,600. In the south the telephone is not used very much. In the eastern cities, however, it is larger than Wichita, but it has no more telephone instruments in operation and it is doubtful whether more calls are made daily. Galveston has only about 300 telephone instruments and the calls per day do not far exceed 1,000. Fort Worth is perhaps the liveliest Texas city, and while it is larger than Wichita its telephone system is not near so extensive and perfect.

At Valley Center, Wednesday evening, the officers of the G. A. R. veteran post, No. 835, and of the Woman's Relief corps were publicly installed. The most interesting event in the history of the town, was the verdict of the "boys," and their judgment on ceremonial occasions of this kind is conclusive. The gentlemen who attended from this city speak in the highest praise of the delightful hours spent.

SELECTED A JURY

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE WITH THE CLYDE MATTOX CASE

Judge Williams Ordered a Night Session to Save Expenses—The Case Will be Hotly Contested on Both Sides—A List of the Jurors Drawn.

The trial of Clyde Mattox has commenced. The fact is Clyde has cost this government something in the neighborhood of $25,000. At least this is what the court officers estimate it at. He has been four times on trial for his life, three times for the murder of Mullen and once for the murder of another man.

His fate hangs on this trial and, as stated before, it will be conducted along the most serious lines.

The following is the jury that was sworn in at 4 o'clock yesterday: Robert Campbell, George A. Collett, J. M. Essleb, H. A. Barbee, Richard Richardson, John E. Todd, S. M. Jackson, W. C. Campbell, E. L. Lambert, G. Rodgers, L. G. McCauley and Amos B. Nolder.

The attorneys for the government and the defendant stated their respective sides of the case to the jury previous to putting witnesses on the stand.

On the 11th day of December, 1889, John Mullen, a colored man of medium age was killed while standing in the door of his own house in Oklahoma City between 9 and 10 o'clock at night. On that night two women were going home from a colored church, and they were accosted by two men. One of the women screamed and it was this noise that brought Mullen to his door. He called to the white man to leave the women alone, and this made the two men hot and they approached him. Hot words followed, and one of the men fired two shots into the body of Mullen, while the second man shot from behind the first man into Mullen's body also. He dropped where he was lying in the door of his house. Only two persons were present who saw the shooting, and they were Tom Whitman and Charity Whitman, his wife. They were present, being attracted by the disturbance. Charity Whitman did not know the two men who did the shooting at that time, but she knew Tom. Tom is not present at the trial and his lips will never tell who killed Mullen, for before the trial a year ago two bullets were sent through Tom's head one night, and next morning he was found dead in one of the side streets of Oklahoma. The man who killed him thinks he is safe, but murder will out, and the white man will stretch some day if some well known government officers mean what they say. Clyde Mattox was in jail in this city at the time of the murder of Tom Whitman and, therefore, he cannot be accused of doing that which sent the principal witness against him out of the world.

At the time of the murder Mattox was a town marshal in Oklahoma City. He was soon afterwards arrested and brought to the Wichita jail. He was tried for the murder of Mullen twice, convicted once and sentenced to be hung. His attorneys secured for him a new trial and he was admitted to bail. When the September term of the court came on he did not present himself and his bond was forfeited. He was arrested on the 9th of December last at Enid and that is a brief history of his case up to date.

At 6 o'clock yesterday evening the court announced an extra session for the purpose of trying the case, and thus saving the government the cost of keeping a large number of witnesses here any longer than could possibly be helped.

From the time the case was stated to the jury till 10:30 p. m., fully a dozen witnesses were examined by the government, including Charity Whitman, the wife of the murdered man who was the principal witness in the case.

GERMAN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. It is the First Society of that Kind Organized in the State.

The Christian Endeavor society organized at the German Evangelical church at a recent meeting is the first German society of the kind organized in the state. The North American synod of the German Evangelical church have taken an advance step in organizing societies composed of young people and up to this time 100 societies have been organized, although most of these are in the eastern cities. It was highly gratifying to Pastor Silberman to note the very large number of children of the leading Germans of this city participate in the first meeting. Twenty persons signed the membership roll and six were elected honorary members. Constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected. The next meeting promises a vastly increased membership. A German Christian Endeavor society is something new, and will, no doubt, receive the encouragement it deserves.

DOUBLE BALLETT WEDDING. There will be a double ballerett wedding at the Salvation Army barracks next Monday evening. Lark Madison and Mrs. Cole, and George Cooper and Miss Lydia Martin will be married. Two roost pigs, whole, will be served.

Robert McCane, ex-deputy revenue collector, was down from his present home at Kinsley, yesterday. Robert looks well, his health having improved a good deal since he went out of office.

The revival meetings that have been in progress at the West Side Baptist church during the past ten days still continue, with growing interest. Ayres has been active in the work by Rev. Fattor, and Wilbur.

SOL IN A SWAMP.

Verdict Agreed Up in the Arkansas Criminal L. B. Case.

Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock when Judge Reed took his seat he was confronted by twelve lawyers, each one of whom held in his envelope containing the papers in a case in hand, or a law book, or both. Three of them were interested in having a sheriff's deed to some property tid in by the State National bank set aside; another wanted a sale confirmed; one wanted a divorce for his client; it would only take five minutes; still another wanted to file a motion; four wanted to call his honor's attention to some references, and the other three were waiting to engage in a criminal case that would be called as soon as the other lawyers would release the judge's attention.

At ten minutes past 11 o'clock the jury was called and the criminal business for the term was formally begun.

The first case on the docket was that of the State vs. Edward Clark, charged with criminal libel. The defendant in this case is a railroad ticket scalper. He has been engaged in the business for several years at 315 East Douglas. On the 22nd day of last June, Sol, Arkansas rented space enough in the office of the coal company at No. 416, to start an opposition broker's shop. There was nothing to Sol's action to indicate a lack of modesty. He painted the front of his house in glowing colors, red, white and blue. He announced to the public, in a far more attractive form than his next-door neighbor, that he would sell tickets around the world and return cheaper than anybody, especially the defendant. He had loads of printing done, setting forth the fact that there was but one place on the round earth to buy tickets, and that was at 315 East Douglas. He performed other feats that were incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, but they excited the wrath of the defendant and caused him to wish he had never been born. His became a real burden to the object of Sol's glowing colors, red, white and blue. Mr. Clark issued a little doggerel that set forth in poetic language the virtues of the complaining witness, as viewed from the defendant's standpoint. One night, a beautiful summer night, a lovely June night, when all nature was wrapped in the most charming and blissful repose; when everybody, printers and policemen were asleep, this brief, but pointed, address to the public was strewn over the principal streets, and people were led to believe that something wonderful had happened during the night. That day witnessed the most violent commotion among the ticket brokers ever witnessed anywhere, and that was what led to the legal dust yesterday in the district court.

But it is over. Senator Bentley made a hot fight for his client, and Joe Henley assisted Mr. Boone in his efforts to convict the defendant. Mr. Bentley in his masterly effort spoke of Sol's charming social life and of his after going in a way that left not a moist eye in the court room, and said that for five years he had lived in the very white of the public eye, socially.

The case was given to the jury at 5:45 and at 6 o'clock they had agreed on a verdict.

NEW RULES.

Two Days Only Allowed For Visitors To the Jail.

The new sheriff has made new rules for the government of the jail. All district court visitors were admitted to the cells of prisoners every day in the week, but for the future Tuesdays and Saturdays only will be visiting days. Another rule regarding visitors is that no children under 15 years of age will be permitted, unless they are accompanied by an over parent or guardian. Under the old rule one man's time was occupied altogether nearly in attending to the jail door in order to admit visitors who came at all hours of the day. It is not necessary to admit visitors every day. Nine out of every ten of them have no business to the jail anyway.

The new order will not go into effect till next Sunday. It might be proper to re-understand, that at the proper hours on Sundays religious people who desire to hold services will be admitted.

AM I INSANE. An Old Citizen Afflicted With a Wheel in His Head.

"Is William Baker insane?" That is a question that is open for discussion in the probate court and around the county jail.

Mr. Baker is an old bachelor and lives between Valley Center and Sedgewick. He has a fine farm and is well known to nearly every citizen in the county. Having lived here for nearly twenty-one years.

"Judge, am I insane?" said he a few mornings ago as he dropped into the probate court and encountered Judge Stratton. "I understand that I am," said he continuing "and that my neighbors have been down here and asking me to come a-plaint before your honor. If I am crazy, judge, I want to know it, and if I am not I want to know it too. If I am not insane, judge, my neighbors are after me to kill me and I don't know what to do."

The judge saw at once that he had a peculiar case on hand and he sought to do the best he could under the circumstances. "Your neighbors," said he "have made no complaint against you, and if you are afraid of them I will place you under the protection of the sheriff."

In response to this notification Baker jumped with joy and the matter was settled by all kinds of donations.

Judge Stratton sent him to the county jail and he is still there.

Yesterday morning Mr. McCullister went towards the probate court bright and early to prepare charges against Baker but Judge Stratton declined to do any more work here and the case was postponed before your honor. If I am crazy, judge, I want to know it, and if I am not I want to know it too. If I am not insane, judge, my neighbors are after me to kill me and I don't know what to do."

The judge saw at once that he had a peculiar case on hand and he sought to do the best he could under the circumstances. "Your neighbors," said he "have made no complaint against you, and if you are afraid of them I will place you under the protection of the sheriff."

In response to this notification Baker jumped with joy and the matter was settled by all kinds of donations.

Judge Stratton sent him to the county jail and he is still there.

Yesterday morning Mr. McCullister went towards the probate court bright and early to prepare charges against Baker but Judge Stratton declined to do any more work here and the case was postponed before your honor. If I am crazy, judge, I want to know it, and if I am not I want to know it too. If I am not insane, judge, my neighbors are after me to kill me and I don't know what to do."

The judge saw at once that he had a peculiar case on hand and he sought to do the best he could under the circumstances. "Your neighbors," said he "have made no complaint against you, and if you are afraid of them I will place you under the protection of the sheriff."

In response to this notification Baker jumped with joy and the matter was settled by all kinds of donations.

Judge Stratton sent him to the county jail and he is still there.

Yesterday morning Mr. McCullister went towards the probate court bright and early to prepare charges against Baker but Judge Stratton declined to do any more work here and the case was postponed before your honor. If I am crazy, judge, I want to know it, and if I am not I want to know it too. If I am not insane, judge, my neighbors are after me to kill me and I don't know what to do."

The judge saw at once that he had a peculiar case on hand and he sought to do the best he could under the circumstances. "Your neighbors," said he "have made no complaint against you, and if you are afraid of them I will place you under the protection of the sheriff."

In response to this notification Baker jumped with joy and the matter was settled by all kinds of donations.

Judge Stratton sent him to the county jail and he is still there.

Yesterday morning Mr. McCullister went towards the probate court bright and early to prepare charges against Baker but Judge Stratton declined to do any more work here and the case was postponed before your honor. If I am crazy, judge, I want to know it, and if I am not I want to know it too. If I am not insane, judge, my neighbors are after me to kill me and I don't know what to do."

The judge saw at once that he had a peculiar case on hand and he sought to do the best he could under the circumstances. "Your neighbors," said he "have made no complaint against you, and if you are afraid of them I will place you under the protection of the sheriff."

NEW YORK STORE

At Cash Henderson's Mammoth Popular Price Store, measuring goods and preparing for inventory. Yet not so busy but that we will take time to wait upon you, and make lower prices than any house in the city. CASH HENDERSON. 130 and 123 North Main St.

Great Slaughter Sale! We know it is dangerous work to cut prices so far below the profit line, but we choose to lose a dollar to save the loss of two, and have marked down our stock to turn it into money quick. Here are a few samples of the way we are slaughtering it.

- Some $22 Suits for $10.00
Some $20 Suits for $ 8.00
Some 18 Suits for 9.00
Some 12 Suits for 5.00
Some young men's $3.50 Suits for $3.00
Some young men's 8.00 Suits for 5.00
Some young men's 12.00 Suits for 6.00
Some young men's 7.00 Suits for 4.50
3.50 and 3.00 Overcoats marked down to 2.00.
$ 5.00 Overcoats for $ 3.00.
$ 8.50 Overcoats for $ 6.00
10.00 Overcoats for 7.00.
12.00 Overcoats for $ 8.00
25.00 Overcoats for 18.00.
2.00 Underwear for 1.50
1.50 Underwear for 1.00
1.25 Underwear for 75c.
75c Underwear for 50c.
50c Underwear for 35c.
Boys' 25c Winter Caps for 15 cents.

And many other things in the same proportion. Every table is a mass of Golden Opportunities and your fifty cents is our dollar during this sale. Ask for a ticket with every dollar purchase and when you get fifty tickets, return them to us and get a Gold Watch. C. M. JONES, 208-210-212 E. Douglas.

The Western Wheeled Scraper Co., of Aurora, Ills. With the view of meeting the demands for the most reliable tools have established an agency with the Wichita Implement Co., 12 West Douglas street, where a line of their celebrated goods can be seen. Parties interested please call and examine. Correspondence solicited.

DR. C. G. ADAMS Has opened Dental Parlors at 106 East Douglas avenue. All anaesthetics administered. Gold work a specialty. All work warranted. Prices reasonable.

WHAT THEY THINK. Samples of Opinions from the Leading American Papers.

Troy Daily News, Troy, N. Y.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." The whole work is a masterpiece of the photographic art, and will add to the fame of the Shepps as leaders in this class of publications.

Wilkes-Barre Record, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." The publishers are to be congratulated upon issuing so valuable a work. It is the whitest and most serviceable kind and the binding most pleasing and durable.

Newark Evening News, Newark, N. J.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." As its name implies, it is a collection of photographs. Those who did not enjoy the pleasure of attending the fair will find in this pictured counterpane the best substitute for a personal view.

Saginaw Evening News, Saginaw, Mich.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." This is by far the finest book pertaining to the Columbian exposition.

Free Press, Detroit, Mich.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." In a volume where everything is to the best of its kind, it may seem invidious to select any illustrations for special notice, but we think the photographs of the fireworks are entitled to that distinction. They are something new in photography.

Equipterian, Columbus, Ind.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." It is a work that we can conscientiously commend to the readers of the Equipterian as a valuable addition to any one's library.

Traverse City, Mich.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." The most valuable of the world's fair memorabilia.

Journal, Minneapolis, Minn.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." It is a work of elegant illustration, taking one through all the marvels of the World's City, and perpetuating the memories of its beauties.

Equipterian, Columbus, Ind.—"Shepp's World's Fair Photographs." It is a work that we can conscientiously commend to the readers of the Equipterian as a valuable addition to any one's library.

Payne & Andrews POPULAR GROCERS Have in stock the best line of Choice Groceries, Canned Goods, Confections, Fruits and Nuts. Prices to Please. Orders delivered to all parts of the city with promptness. Business 227 E. Douglas. Telephone No. 90.

The Special Suit Sale Will surprise you at the Golden Eagle. Messrs. William and Peter Galbreath of Kentucky, enroute to Oklahoma, stopped in the city yesterday afternoon and spent the night with their old friend and neighbor, Captain J. H. Shields. They go south today.

The Turn-Verein Vorwarts will give a grand masquerade ball on "Strove" Tuesday, Feb. 6. Prizes will be awarded to the finest costumes worn that evening. The committee of arrangements are John Weger, William Nollmeyer and William Hoelzel.

Frank D. Austin, St. Joe, died at the Manhattan yesterday.