

TORTURE THE BABY

Breezy Notes from the Metropolis of the East.

Some Cruel Devices for Infamous Mothers—A Wall Street Financial Flurry—An Ostrich as a Political Factor.

COPYRIGHT, 1894.

Much senseless prejudice has been aroused against certain New York society...

A CRUEL DEVICE.

It appears that when a poor mother is neglectful of her babe...

It is a cruel device, some babies. It appears that when a poor mother is neglectful of her babe...

A Financial Flurry.

Wall street is a little excited by evidence that the Chicago financiers are stealing a march on them.

CHICAGO MONEY ON TAP.

It would seem to be different in Chicago. Not only is the secretary alleged to be more amenable to Chicago influence...

As an Ostrich in Politics.

New York city is about the last place in which an ostrich would be expected to flourish...

A SOCIAL ATTRACTION.

The matter has become important because it is claimed that the ostrich is really public property...

A Forgotten Power.

William C. Whitney was in the Wall Street through the other day, but he passed along unrecognized because he had not his eyeglasses on...

REMEMBER there are hundreds of brands of White Lead (so called) on the market...

Strictly Pure White Lead is limited. The following brands are standard "Old Dutch" process...

"Southern," "Red Seal," "Collier."

Revolutionary. Spritz—Isn't Vonder's one of the revolutionary families?

Twig—I should say so; they're all wars in one sort of disturbance—Devoit Free Press

DECEITFUL AND DEADLY.

A Harmless Appearing But Fatal Weapon Used in Mexico.

Harry Armitage, an old Mexican traveler, was in St. Louis the other day on his way to New York...

THE BOX.

THE TUBE.

villainous weapon I have ever seen in all my travels.

"Now, notice that protrusion. That is the tusk of the great diamond-back rattlesnake...

"If you will glance at its point you will find that it is slit and that an amberlike matter exudes from it."

"That amber-colored matter is the venom of the reptile, taken from its venom sack, and the Mexicans set these tusks in those handsomely carved silver boxes...

"I was taken with the dropsy about one year ago in the feet and legs, and took several medicines, but without benefit until I tried Paine's celery compound."

"What's in a Name?"

Stranger—Who is that man roaring around there and cursing and swearing at everything and every one?

Foreman (in a sardonic whisper)—Sure, that's the civil engineer!—Puck.

Her Three Meals Made One.

Mrs. Boardman—Science tells us that a man would do very well on one meal a day instead of the three we all take.

A Lesson in Grammar.

Visitor—Tommy, I wish to ask you a few questions in grammar.

Tommy—Yes, sir.

"If I give you the sentence: 'The pupil loves his teacher,' what is that?"

"Sarcasm."—Texas Sittings.

Very Much in Earnest.

Aunt—Why, what are you doing? Little Johnny—Only prayin'.

"Praying?"

"Yes'm, I'm prayin' that I'll be a good boy this afternoon."

"That's noble."

"Yes'm, mamma said if I was a good boy this afternoon, she'd bring me some candy."—Good News.

A SOCIAL COMPLICATION.

"Now, Ethel dear, the doctor is downstairs. I want you to see him."

"Oh, mamma! I'm not well enough to see him."—Harper's Magazine.

A RUN ON THE BANK

How About the Daily Balance of Nervous Energy?

From January to May a Serious Period—The Necessity of a True Food for the Nerves and Blood—What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done—The Case of Mr. Glaze.

From January until May there is a fearful demand made on one's stock of health—fevers, pulmonary troubles, and the host of cold weather ills quickly bring down the vitality and expend the nervous force.

Those with an insufficient reserve of vigor and nervous energy fall winter victims to contagious diseases and to special diseases of liver, stomach, and kidneys.

These important organs, whose duty it is to feed the tissues and keep the blood pure, feel the lack of nervous energy quickest.

They require more nerve force than other parts of the body. The result is a breakdown in heart, lungs, kidneys, liver or brain.

The different organs of the body select from the food nourishment appropriate to them. Paine's celery compound is especially prepared to furnish at once abundant nutrition to badly fed nerves, and impoverished blood.

Every one should profit by the experience of Thomas Glaze of Pittsburg Pa., who says:

"I was taken with the dropsy about one year ago in the feet and legs, and took several medicines, but without benefit until I tried Paine's celery compound."

"I felt better soon after taking it, and do not have any trouble from the dropsy now."

Sometimes Happens.

"Will you love me forever and ever—And prize me always as a treasure?"

"Forever, my darling, is too transient. Too fleeting my great love to measure!"

In a week she slipped with a drummer. And he read the news item with pleasure.—Kansas City Journal.

How He Stood.

Mr. Good—I'm not up on horse racing, stock gambling and that sort of thing.

Miss Flye—No?

Mr. G.—No, I'm down on them.—Boston Common.

"What's in a Name?"

Stranger—Who is that man roaring around there and cursing and swearing at everything and every one?

Foreman (in a sardonic whisper)—Sure, that's the civil engineer!—Puck.
