A POKER SUPERSTITION

Jack's Fall on Red Sevens a Hand That Makes People Shiver

The superstition of gamblers is well illustrated by the following story of the fatal hand. A stranger was watching a game of poker once at Helena, Mon. The players were a gambler (whom I knew slightly) and who bore the sobriquet of "Lucky Bill" and two miners...

"Look at that when you get home to-night!" His voice was steady and did not betray a particle of excitement. The play progressed. Lucky Bill's face was unyielding as a stone. He noticed everything, however, and his eagle eye did not miss the slightest move on the part of the other players...

His Friends Tell Him He's Looking Lots Better, but Where's the Ducks—Game Bag Not Exactly Bursting, but Enough Birds Brought Back for Samples—Lochen Muffs the Shakespeare Pension Case—Government Mine Inspector on White Oaks Disaster—Shepherd's Place to be Filled Soon—Washington News.

Washington, March 16.—The president and party reached the city on the Violet shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. There were with Mr. Cleveland, Dr. O'Reilly, his physician, Commander Lambertson, superintendent of the light house district, and Commander Wilde, secretary of the light house naval board...

During a comparatively short time the party were actually hunting for game they managed to conjure fifty fine specimens of brant, forty-one ducks and twelve snipe. Only two brants of the largest size were carried away from the vessel.

Captain Donnell says the trip of Mr. Cleveland appeared to him a very substantial improvement. Commissioner Lochen of the pension office has filed an answer in the mandamus case brought by William Shakespeare in which he states that the order reducing Shakespeare's pension from $72 to $30 per month has been vacated and no further action under this order will be taken.

A correspondent asks me why I have called Charlotte Brontë "a hysterical goddess." But when or where did I ever write such nonsense about "the vestal of Haworth"? If I erred, the accomplished Shirley brought this charge against me in Good Words. I read it with amazement at Dingwall and forgot about it. The only article that I ever wrote on Miss Brontë, I think, was in Good Words. Looking over it, I see that I did say she was a goddess and expressed the usual regret for the unhappy lives which are too often lived in that underpaid and difficult profession.

There is an echo of many laments in Miss Brontë's novels. Her materials are inevitably derived from her experience. But I find nothing about "hysterical goddess." People have called Jeanne d'Arc "hysterical." Genius and hysteria have points of contact. But I did not even say that as far as I am concerned, I am to be accused of doing so by Shirley or any one else I must ask for documentary evidence. "No other is genuine." If the thing can be proved, I shall recant and burn my fagot; if it cannot be proved, please do not mention my name.

WHEAT SERVES THE BULLS A DISAPPOINTMENT

Lower for May—Foreign Markets are Depressed at Both Ends of the Day and Export Clearances are Light—Western and Southwestern News Remains Bullish—Corn Passes Another Day of Dracyn Dullness and with Oats is an Eighth Cent Lower—Provisions Mixed.

Chicago, March 16.—Discouraged by disappointing cables, the small week's clearances and liberal realizing, wheat went back on the bulls today and began wearily retracing its steps, finishing 1/2 cent lower for May. Corn lost 1/4 cent and oats 1/2 cent. Provisions finished higher for pork, lower for lard and ribs unchanged.

The early cablegrams from Liverpool and Paris quoted rather easier wheat markets and the shipment of wheat and flour from both points of this country were about 500,000 bushels smaller than on the week before. Those were the most influential factors at the opening and consequently prices started at a decline of about 1/4 cent compared with yesterday's closing.

During the morning the market was in the exception of the cables and the week's clearances there was nothing else bearing on the wheat market. There were numerous dispatches from the southwest pointing to the probability of inquiry to the winter wheat and the security of the article in the country.

St. Louis, March 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,500; shipments, 800. Market strong for live stock. Good to choice shipping natives, $4.80 to $5.00; fair to medium, $4.70 to $4.85; light weights, $4.60 to $4.75; fed steers, $3.80 to $4.00; hogs, $3.50 to $3.75; sheep, $2.50 to $2.75.

Chicago Markets. The leading futures ranged as follows: Articles. Open's High's Low's Close's. Wheat No. 2... 52 1/2 53 1/2 52 1/2 53 1/2. Corn No. 2... 27 1/2 28 1/2 27 1/2 28 1/2. Oats No. 2... 17 1/2 18 1/2 17 1/2 18 1/2.

New York, March 16.—The share speculation was fairly active for a Saturday and generally strong tone, the improvement being mainly due to purchases for the short account, although there were some rumors that room traders were buying for a rise. London houses were active in the market as sellers, chiefly of the Pacific, but however received strong local support and gained 1/4 per cent on the day.

Print Cloth Market. Fall River, Mass., March 16.—The print cloth market began the week dull but buyers, ordering in small lots, and not very anxious to buy. Manufacturers declined to sell at that price. The cotton market advanced steadily and decidedly and immediately the effect was felt in the cloth market.

LIVE STOCK MARKET. Chicago, March 16.—The cattle market was without noteworthy change. It was quiet because there was little to attract the attention of buyers. All the offerings were taken on a basis of Friday's quotations. Steady week's receipts were expected to show an increase on this week's selling, but they are not likely to prove excessive.
