GRAVSEND BAGGERS WITNESS EXCITING FINISHES.

After Lithos, the favorite in the Hudson stakes, comes to a dead halt, George Kessler and Arbuckle make a dead heat of it—Head-and-Head Finish in the Second—Fatal Accident in the Last Race at Kansas City—Maceo Does Some Grand Work in the Oakley—Other Races—General Sporting News.

New York, June 9.—There was plenty of excitement at Gravesend today, for the Hudson stakes furnished a dead heat and the second race was won by a nose. In the Hudson stakes Lithos was a strong favorite, with George Kessler second choice. They got off to a very bad start, with the favorites trailing. Around the turn they moved up, and as they straightened for home, Lithos took the lead. A little more than a furlong from the finish Lithos looked like a sure winner, but his bridle slipped and he stopped as if he had been shot. Then Kessler got a long head, but McCafferty on his own colt, Arbuckle, through almost superhuman efforts, managed to get Arbuckle up to make it a dead heat. The stake was divided.

Patrick was a favorite for the second, but was stiff and sore, and in the stretch, while Emma C. and Fitzour raced head-and-head to the wire, the former winning by a nose in a furious drive. There was a head-and-head finish in the last race, in which the favorite, Buckrene, was beaten by Premier. Summary: First race—Five and a half furlongs; Cassett won; Graciosa, second; Juno, third. GETS NO PRISON

CONSUL GENERAL LEE ON THE INSIDE OF A CUBAN DUNGEON.

He is Not There as a Culprit, However, But as a Visitor Who Wants to Find Out Things and Not Much Red Tape About It, Neither—He Reserves the Red Tape Part Until He has Found Out What He Wants to Know—He Asks Weyler for What He Wants and Gets the Promise of It—Cuban News.

Havana, June 9.—On Sunday evening United States Consul General Lee visited the Cabanas fortress and saw Julio Sangullu and the prisoners taken on board the schooner Competitor. General Lee found them shut up in a dungeon with negro prisoners. Alfredo la Borde, who is said to have been the leader of the Competitor expedition, and who is an American citizen, was found to be very sick. He said he was suffering from grip and that the doctor had said he would get better care while confined in the fortress than in the hospital. La Borde did not complain of bad treatment, though the air of the dungeon where he was confined was damp and the walls moist. General Weyler, after the visit, visited Consul General Lee, having learned that the officer of the guard was reprimanded by the governor of the fortress for allowing the visit, visited Consul General Lee to offer his excuses. Captain Garcia Weyler, however, apparently did not think badly of General Lee's visit to the prisoners, although it contravened the rules and laws of the fortress. General Lee informed Weyler of the sickness of the prisoner and of the condition of the dungeon. General Weyler promised that they should be placed in a better situation and should be changed immediately to a room separated from other prisoners.

BE LASCO GETS BACKING

Brother Stage Managers Testify That It is Worth What He Asks.

New York, June 9.—Mrs. Dudley, mother of Mrs. Leslie Carter, was a witness today in the suit brought by David Belasco to recover from N. K. Fairbank $5,000 for his services in training Mrs. Carter for the stage. Mrs. Dudley testified to hearing Fairbank engage Belasco's services for Mrs. Carter, no price being fixed, although Belasco told the Chicagoan it would be high. She had been present during her daughter's dramatic lessons.

H. Sargent, an education and dramatic instructor, told the jury of Belasco's high standing as a trainer for the stage. The services of the latter, Sargent said, would be worth $20,000 a year while for retraining such a play as "The Ugly Duckling," $10,000 would be a moderate compensation. For such services as Belasco rendered while on a tour with the Ugly Duckling combination, Sargent said $200 to $250 a week would be reasonable pay. He testified that the charge of $50,000 for eighteen months services in coaching Mrs. Carter was not too exorbitant, nor, he said, would the fact that other duties, such as writing a play and acting as the manager of the Lyceum theater, during a part of the time, be regarded as detracting from the value of Belasco's services in Mrs. Carter's behalf.

A. M. Palmer testified that from $400 to $600 a week would be reasonable compensation for the services of a stage manager. He (Palmer) did not receive as stage manager as much as that, but he was not at the head of the profession.

Chas. M. Green and Nelson Wheatcroft were also witnesses for Belasco. The defense will call witnesses tomorrow.
