

IT IS FOR FARMERS

STATE FAIR THIS YEAR TO BE OF SPECIAL INTEREST.

Board Asks the Co-operation of All Sedgewick County Farmers, as Well as Other Counties to Send in Suggestions for the Coming Meeting Can be Made of Special Interest to Them—The Fine Stock and Improved Farming Implements Will be Very Large—Directors Greatly Encouraged on the Outlook.

The management of the State Fair want the farmers to understand that the fair this year is to be one where they will feel at home, and that their interests are being looked after in every instance. So far as the management know them and if any suggestions occur to any one Secretary Smith will be glad to receive them and present them to the board, when they will be duly considered.

Never in the history of fairs in southwestern Kansas has there been so much interest shown by all kinds of business men and farmers; and, in fact, everybody, as is shown this year. They all seem to have realized the fact that the State Fair at Wichita is of great importance to the entire state and will do more to attract attention and bring the city and county than almost any other one enterprise.

The premium lists are in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution about July 1, which is about a month earlier than usual. It has been revised and features added which go to make it one of the nearest and most complete of any one issued by any state or other fair association in America. Any one desiring one, can get it by addressing a postal card to C. S. Smith, secretary, and saying so.

The various townships in Sedgewick and other counties are preparing for that premium of $100 for the best farm and garden products raised in one township and a lively competition is being worked up, and it is well worth working for, as the fact that a township has taken the first premium for these products will maintain the value of any acre of property in that township. Let everybody feel that he or she is directly interested in making this fair the greatest and best ever held in Kansas. Talk for it, work for it, exhibit and organize parties to attend and you will always find the management will meet you cordially.

SET FOR JULY FIRST

All the Plans Made for the Great Demonstration in Favor of Taxes.

Denver, Col., June 25.—The reception of the people of Colorado to Senator Teller will take place on July 1.

A telegram was received from him yesterday stating that if it was desired he would come to Denver on that date and the mayor notified him that the exercises would be set for that time. Immediately on the date being definitely arranged the railroad companies set to work to prepare to carry the immense crowds of people that will come to the city to take part in the demonstration. They have had inquires from every quarter regarding transportation and the principal night camps will be depleted on that day. They are growing very enthusiastic over the matter and should a parade be decided on they will help very materially in adding to its proportions and its attractiveness.

Denver will do everything in its power to make the occasion the greatest in its history. The business men are subscribing liberally to the fund required for music and decorations and besides they will have their buildings profusely decorated on that day. Senator Teller will arrive in the city at 8 o'clock on the night of July 1. A special train will go from here with a reception committee and will meet him at the leading citizens of the state and meet him, probably at or near the boundary line.

DETAILS TO BE FILLED.

A monster demonstration will be made as close to the Union block as possible and will escort him to the vacant block bounded by Sixteenth and Colfax avenues and Broadway and Lincoln avenue, where the procession will be reviewed from a date and from which Senator Teller will address the demonstrators.

This was arranged at a meeting of the sub-committee appointed from the general committee of 100 to make all the arrangements. They met at the Broadway Palace last night and almost every member of each committee was present and every one showed the greatest enthusiasm. All were united in a determination to make the reception the biggest and best that ever took place here. And undoubtedly it will be done because the men and women who are at the work make success of everything they undertake.

The sub-committee on plans and programs had the most work to do last night and the other committees could only discuss generally their plans until such time as the other committee decided on something definite.

There was a concurrence of opinion in the other committees regarding the place and time of day of holding the demonstration. Some favored a parade in the afternoon and a reception at night, one division of the committee thought the City Park would be the best place, another thought it might be too far away and some of the members thought the Capitol grounds would be the most suitable.

THE REVIEWING STAND.

There was objection that the new lawn on these grounds would be spoiled beyond repair this season, while it was held that a week's care would put it all right again. It was finally decided that the Cheesman block near the Capitol

FREE LECTURE TO WOMEN.

Dr. R. C. FLOWER OF BOSTON Will Deliver His New Lecture Entitled

"Health, Happiness and Beauty of Women."

At the Auditorium, Sunday Afternoon, June 28, at 3 o'clock.

This lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the "Woman's Health Association" of New England, which has arranged with Dr. Flower to deliver this lecture (free) to the men and women of twenty cities.

If you would know how to regain lost health and preserve your health if you have it; if you would know how to get the greatest amount of happiness out of both single and married life; if you would know how to preserve your beauty and youthful looks far into the evening of life, then go and hear Dr. Flower. Dr. Flower's friends claim that as a lecturer he has no superior, if equal upon the American platform, and for wit, sarcasm, pathos and beauty of speech he has no equal.

What the press says: "Dr. R. C. Flower lectured yesterday afternoon in Assembly Hall to over 1,200 women, representing largely the wealth, culture and brains of the city. Never was an audience more enthusiastic in its praise and applause than this vast assembly of women. They laughed and cried at the same time.—Philadelphia Times.

"Dr. R. C. Flower's lecture to women, at Assembly Hall, yesterday afternoon, was attended by nearly 1,200 ladies. The doctor had the sympathy of his large audience from the opening to the close of his lecture. The enthusiasm of his audience at times knew no bounds. No other concert would give paid the doctor than the remarks of the president of the Chester club: 'A finer lecture was never delivered by man.'—Philadelphia Press.

"Dr. R. C. Flower lectured last night to nearly 2,000 people in Tremont temple. His audience went wild over his eloquence, keen thrusts, pathetic appeals and quick sallies."—Boston Globe.

"Never was lecture better received nor an audience more highly entertained than at Tremont temple last night. The lecturer was Dr. R. C. Flower."—Boston Journal.

"Dr. R. C. Flower's lecture to ladies in Columbia Hall yesterday afternoon was the finest entertainment ever given to women of this city. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance, while those who did, enjoyed for an hour and forty minutes between laughter, applause and tears, the richest treat of the season."—Philadelphia Press.

"The doctor's tribute to the married life and home, and his closing tribute to women, for eloquence, pathos and beauty of speech can never be outdone."—Lafayette (Ind.) Courier.

grounds would be the most central place to review the parade and to hold the great throng that will desire to hear Senator Teller speak.

The line of march caused considerable discussion and it was not agreed on last night. The question of whether the procession should march from the Union depot to the reviewing stand direct or through the principal parts of the city should be paraded was in dispute. A committee consisting of Messrs. Stevens and Edbrooks and Mrs. Frank Hall was appointed to form a plan. This committee will meet at the headquarters at Brown Palace hotel at 4 o'clock this afternoon and the whole committee will meet half an hour later and settle the line of march definitely so that the other committees can get to work.

The committee on parades will meet tomorrow night at the headquarters to take up the details. It met last night but could do nothing until such time as the route was laid out. Chairman Webb of this committee requests that the representatives of the fraternal and benevolent orders, and all military organizations to communicate with the committee at once so that the procession can be made up. The representatives of the labor organizations, of the fraternal and benevolent orders, and all military organizations to communicate with the committee at once so that the procession can be made up.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

The committee on decorations had a short meeting last night and discussed generally the outlines. It is particularly requested that those having designs for badges and the like send them in at once to room 86 Brown Palace hotel. The committee will meet there tonight and tomorrow night. One or two designs of an original nature have already been received.

The committee on music will meet this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the work if possible. City bands are outside will be largely quitted, as the parade will be large and music is one of the greatest essentials.

The transportation committee reported progress last night and stated that telegrams and notices will be sent to reception and the rates that would prevail had been sent to all parts of the state. Teller clubs are being formed everywhere and the whole state seems to be aroused. A one-rate fare for the round trip from all points within 250 miles of Denver and three-fourths of one rate for the round trip from points further than that. For the better accommodation of the excursionists, tickets will be sold on July 29 and 30 and the tickets will be good to return until July 2.

PIONEERS ON DECK.

The Pioneers are in the front, as the following resolutions were adopted: "Members of the Society of Colorado Pioneers are requested to meet at room 309 Charles block, Thursday evening, June 25, at 7:30 o'clock, to arrange details for the reception to be given to our honored Pioneer, Henry M. Teller, on his return to Colorado.

"JOHN D. HOWLAND, President. "E. A. WILLOUGHBY, Secretary."

The silver club in District J. North Denver, was organized last night by the election of W. H. Macomber, chairman, and J. D. Vaughn, secretary. After stating the object of the meeting and reading of the call, a resolution prevailed to take part as a club in the reception to be tendered Senator Teller, and a committee of twenty-seven was appointed to perfect arrangements in the different precincts of the district.

The chairman was authorized to call the postponed meeting through the daily press to receive reports of the committee on reception.

District J. has an enrolled membership of 142, with lives still in the hands of members who were not present.

CROCKER ON TRIAL

OPENING STATEMENT TO JURY BY THE PROSECUTOR.

What It Is Expected to Prove—The Defense Secures an Order From the Court Excluding All Witnesses Save the One on the Stand From the Room During the Trial—County Attorney Hamm Details at Length the Evidence He Expects to Present Connecting Crocker With the Booth Murder in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 25.—In the Crocker murder trial in the district court this morning the prosecution and defense both announced that they were ready to proceed with the trial. Clerk of the Court Swan administered the oath to the jury to "well and truly try and true deliverance make between the state of Wyoming and the prisoner at the bar," and E. S. Crocker was once more on trial for his life.

The defense immediately asked for an order excluding all witnesses save the one on the stand from court room during the trial, and Judge Scott directed that all witnesses should remain outside.

Mr. Hamm, county and prosecuting attorney for the county of Uinta, made the opening statement to the jury. He began by reading the indictment charging Crocker with murder, an instrument which, in this case, was extremely brief and simple. He then described to the jury the location of the town of Evanston, in which the crime was committed.

By little town, he said, was situated in the southern part of Wyoming, near the Utah line. The Bear river runs through it in a northerly direction a river which meanders back and forth in the two states of Wyoming and Utah. The river is a great source of ranches, and along its banks are a great number of them. At a distance of 20 miles from Evanston is one of these ranches, which was owned jointly by Harvey Booth the deceased and E. S. Crocker, the accused. The ranch has been engaged in the business of stock raising and in growing hay, used for feeding stock. Their homes were in Evanston.

There they lived, and had lived for a number of years, and had there with his family up to the time of his death, and Mr. Crocker and his family still live there. In the town, and owned jointly by Booth and Crocker, was a large barn, known as the Booth and Crocker barn, and situated about 120 feet from the main street of the town. Mr. Hamm then described at length the exact location of the barn, and the manner in which he building is constructed inside.

Crocker lived about two blocks distant from the barn. About one block distant from the barn is an office which was used by Booth and Crocker.

EVENING OF THE MURDER.

On the evening of the 26th of January A. D. 1886, the weather was cold. On that day there came to Evanston an amateur theatrical troupe, which had arranged to give an exhibition in the evening. Up to the time set for the exhibition nothing had occurred to disturb or excite anyone in the town. However, there was in the town one Crocker, a young man, Harvey Booth usually came home at 5:30 or 6 o'clock in the evening, but up to 8 o'clock on this particular day he had not put in an appearance, and Mrs. Booth came to the door to see if he was home. It was not likely that her husband had gone out of town on a train, as he no doubt would have first informed her of the fact. When 9 o'clock had struck, Mrs. Booth went to the door to see if he was home. She had not come home. Mrs. Booth went to the office house to inquire whether he was there. On finding that he had not come, she continued the search and later in the evening, probably about 10:30, she secured the help of a young man who was an employee of the firm they started for the barn, taking a lantern with them. When they arrived at the barn, the young man looked around and finally turned on a light that the light would shine through a window in the barn known as the bunk room. Here he saw a prostrate form lying on the floor. He became frightened, and immediately suggested that they go for help. They then went straight to Crocker's house. Crocker came to the door, and on being told they desired him to go down to the barn with them, he called for a gun, which he had in his pocket, and they proceeded to the barn. The defendant led the way, by himself, he having a lantern in his hand. Crocker stated that he walked to the barn arm in arm with Mrs. Booth.

THE DEFENDANT'S CONDUCT. The evidence would show that as they came to the barn door, the defendant, evincing knowledge, kept Mrs. Booth back. He went in towards the part of the barn where the body lay, and then returned to some one, and then came through the window where death was. Immediately upon getting through a little window, he took the lantern, and almost at once said, "He has been murdered and robbed." Then they went to a door of this room and without a moment's hesitation he increased a bolt which fastened the door, without a monkey wrench or anything but his fingers, a bolt which had not been screwed for months, and which the evidence will show must early in the day have been in such state that it could not have been loosened without the aid of a wrench. When the door was opened the other came in, and then Crocker and they then started out to look for the sheriff. Here again the defendant made one of those statements which a man makes without reason when he has committed a crime. He stated afterwards that they went to the city marshal's office first, when the evidence will disclose that they never went near the city marshal's office, but went direct to the sheriff's office. He stated afterwards that the defendant in response to what the matter was, were, "Harvey has been murdered and robbed." They then returned to the barn, and on the way the defendant insists that Booth had been robbed.

EXAMINED THE BODY. They finally came to where the body was and made an examination. Harvey Booth had been dressed warmly; he had on his coat and his mittens were on his hands. His overcoat was out and his vest was unbuttoned, and the pockets were all partly turned out.

AS EVIDENCE TESTIMONIAL.—First Applicant for Fame—"We've got a best that's laid an Easter egg!" Second Ditto—"Pooh, that's nothing; my father's had a foundation stone!"—Fun.

NO SHOW ILL FEELING. The prosecution further expected to show that ill-feeling existed between the two men, and that quarrels between them were frequent. Robbery could not have been the motive, since while Harvey Booth's body was in the hands of the police, a five-dollar gold piece and some small change were still there. Harvey Booth was an impetuous man, not given to concealing his opinions of people, but prone to say what he thought of them. Crocker, on the contrary, was always quiet, cool and collected.

The evidence would further show several facts deemed of great importance to influence the testimony of witnesses so that it would be in favor of his case, attempts to elicit from witnesses what they were going to testify to in the case, and to show these things made, but still the compartment could not be opened. The next morning a third attempt was made, in the presence of the defendant. When he was asked to open the door, he took down the bunch of keys and a third key opened the lock. The evidence will show that this key must have been made from a pattern.

CONTRADICTORY STATEMENTS. The evidence would further show that the defendant's statements on the part of the defendant as to his whereabouts immediately after the commission of the crime, as soon as Harvey Booth was discovered dead, citizens began to gather around and make some attempts and inquiries as to the perpetrator of the crime. The defendant told many of them, reputable citizens, whose testimony cannot be impeached, that he had been in the barn at 6 o'clock in the evening. Later on he commenced to discover that his statement would not agree with other facts discovered, and then stated he had not been there later than 4:30 o'clock. The evidence would further show that the defendant was in the barn after 4:30. It would show that he was there at the time Harvey Booth was there. It would show that Booth went to the barn a few minutes after 4 o'clock, and that as he went into the barn he was struck with a club. The prosecution would show just before this time Crocker went from his house to the barn. It would further be shown that at about 5:40 he was seen on the road dragging a sled after him with some canvass on it, and that when some one saw him he stopped and waited until he went by.

These were the salient features of the case. The facts in detail will be given to the witness stand and when the jury are in possession of all of them the prosecution believed that it would be proven beyond a reasonable doubt that Harvey Booth was murdered by Edwin S. Crocker.
