HANNA FOOLS THEM

KEEPS PRESIDENT MCKINLEY ALL TO HIMSELF.

Sneaks the Presidential Party into Cleveland Almost Before the City has Taken its Morning Nap, and the Naval Reserves and the Tippecanoe Club Are Cheated Out of the Fun of a Parade in Honor of the Distinguished Presidential Guest—President's Program Up to His Return to Washington.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 27.—President McKinley surprised the people of Cleveland by his arrival from Buffalo this morning. He will remain until next Wednesday. The reception of the president was not as elaborate as had been planned. There was no presidential salute fired by the naval reserves from the old revenue cutter Andrew Johnson and the cannon of steam and sail craft did not bellow forth in welcome sounds.

It was because the presidential party arrived several hours ahead of scheduled time. The Comanche, which brought the presidential party from Buffalo, arrived inside of the Cleveland harbor at 2:30 o'clock. At 7 o'clock she steamed into the inner port and made fast at the dock of the Pennsylvania. Senator Hanna was somewhat surprised to know that elaborate preparations had been made for the reception of the president and said he had advised against it yesterday by telegraph, stating that there was no certainty of the hour of their arrival. He asked that the naval reserves and the Tippecanoe club be notified of the arrival of the Comanche, and invited the newspaper men aboard the yacht.

The presidential party was scattered about the boat in groups of two and three. President and Mrs. McKinley were amidships looking across the muddy Cuyahoga and conversing with Colonel M. E. Herrick. The president's appearance gave indication of perfect health.

The party repaired to Senator Hanna's residence, where breakfast was served. The most important appointment prevails over the surreptitious manner in which the president and Senator Hanna entered the city. The Tippecanoe club and the naval reserves had planned a most elaborate reception, which included a parade about the downtown streets.

The hour the Comanche was expected to arrive was 9 a. m., and the program had been prepared to conform to that time. At 8 o'clock Mayor McKisson placed his cap on his arm and sauntered to the boat landing. Meanwhile the Tippecanoe club and the Green Western band were marching and counter-marching about their headquarters to get into position. The people were gathering in numbers to go to the boat landing. It was a shock to all of them to learn that the president had arrived two hours earlier and was already at Windemere.

President McKinley was unusually pleasant in his demeanor. He talked of his trip from Buffalo, of the G. B. R. encampment, which he pronounced to be the greatest in history, and spoke in the highest terms of the manner in which the people of Buffalo had handled the encampment.

He was asked his impression concerning the prosperity of the city. "I had better ask business men about that. They can give you better information than I can." Of his plans for next week the president spoke freely. His stay in Cleveland, he said, would be a quiet one with rest as the principal thing to be considered. On Wednesday of next week, probably in the morning, the presidential party will leave for Fremont, Ohio, where they will attend the Hayes-Smith wedding in the evening. The following day the president will attend the reunion of his old regiment and on Friday will go to the state fair at Columbus.

The president's mother will not visit Cleveland during the stay of her son. The latter will make a short trip to Canton, however, after the trip to Columbus. The president will probably spend Saturday with his mother before returning to Washington.

At 7:30 the carriages arrived at the dock and the party left the Comanche. The crowd had increased but little in size. There were not more than 150 people in sight. Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, who went Friday to Syracuse, will come to Cleveland.

President McKinley decided to spend the afternoon at Mr. Hanna's home. The naval reserves, however, were determined not to be deprived of their presidential salute. The Andrew Johnson, accordingly steamed out in the lake off Hanna's residence and after firing twenty-one guns returned to the harbor.

HONORS TO MCKINLEY

Made an Honorary Member of the American Bar Association.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 27.—President McKinley was the guest of the American Bar association at its banquet tonight, though the fact that he was to be there was kept very quiet. The president entered the banquet hall after he speaking began. He was accompanied by Secretary Alger and Senator Hanna. A seat had been reserved for him between the new and retiring presidents of the association. After the applause which greeted the president had subsided the toastmaster announced that the executive committee had reported the election to honorary membership of William McKinley of Ohio. The announcement was greeted with cheers. In response the president said:

"I count it a great distinction to be chosen to be a member of the national bar. I did not suspect that such an honor awaited me. I could not deny myself the opportunity which the courtesy of your committee afforded me to pay my respects to this honorable body of gentlemen. I came to linger with you in fraternal relation, and to exalt the profession to which we belong. For I believe that is a part of the privilege of the association. I thank you for the distinction you have given me, and wish only to interrupt the program. I bid you all good night."

The president remained at the banquet. Toasts were responded to by Judge Woolworth of Omaha, Andrew Squire of this city, Judge U. L. Marvin of the Ohio circuit court, John Prentiss Poe of Maryland and others.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—At the trial of Luetgert, the alleged wife murderer, today Mr. De Lester, one of the first four jurors sworn in, was discharged by agreement of counsel. De Lester's wife is suffering from nervous prostration, induced principally, it was claimed, by worry over her husband's presence in the Luetgert jury, and for that reason he was excused. This left five jurors yet to be selected.

Luetgert is very angry over a newspaper picture showing his forehead and eyes and calling attention to his "evil eye." The big sausage maker swore eloquently as he gazed at the work of the artist. He persists in his demand to be permitted to address the jury during the trial. His obtuseness in this respect is troubling his counsel, who fear the prisoner will create a scene which will be prejudicial to his case.

Luetgert declares he can explain matters to the jury concerning his sausage factory better than his counsel or any other person. Luetgert has received a letter from D. J. Von Der Hove, who is searching in Germany for Mrs. Luetgert. What the contents of the letter was the prisoner refused to say, beyond the statement that it contained good news. He said it would be introduced as evidence during the trial.

After several veniremen were passed a juror was found acceptable to both sides. He is George M. Holbard, a machanic. The experts on anatomy are making for the prosecution a careful examination of bones found in Luetgert's sausage factory.

FILED TO THE KLONDIKE.

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 27.—The steamer Portland, due from St. Michaels, has on board a murderer who was chased by detectives half way around the world. He is in irons and under constant watch of two Pinkertons. The prisoner, William Smith, was pursued over the continent to Juneau, to Dyea and across Chilkoot Pass, over the lakes and down the rivers to the gold fields of Klondike, where he was taken into custody.

Smith was as forekeeper in a small town near Cedar Rapids, Iowa, up to several months ago. One night the store was fired and in the ruins was found the charred body of a man. Smith's relations claimed that he was burned to death in the fire. His life was insured for $5,000 and a demand was made for the money. An investigation led to the belief that the body was not that of Smith, but of a watchman. The theory was at once advanced that Smith had committed murder and burned his store in the hope that the body would be roasted beyond recognition and his relatives obtain the insurance money after he disappeared. Pinkerton men were put on the trail and after one of the longest chases on record arrested Smith at Dawson on July 12. He was taken to St. Michaels to await the sailing of the Portland.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 27.—Smith, the man on the steamer Portland, is apparently Frank Novak, a storekeeper at Waldorf. The man murdered by him and the body burned was Edward Murray. Novak's relatives claimed the body was Novak's. The insurance company, however, found the collection of the policy and placed a detective on the trail, with the above result.

CHASING AN EMBEZZLER.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Ferdinand May, who fled from Germany with nearly $1,000,000 entrusted to him by clients, is supposed to be in Australia. The steamer Matiposa, here from Australia, was carefully searched before her departure, the Australian authorities suspecting that the criminal attempt to escape from the United States. He is thought to have reached Sydney by the Arcadia or Australia, a man answering his description having boarded the latter vessel at Suez. It is also reported that he was traced to Brisbane, but there the detectives lost track of him. Substantial rewards are offered for his arrest. He is a man of culture and excellent presence.

ON THE DURRANT PLAN.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—The execution of Joseph L. Hill, killed his wife in Oakland, set for today, was postponed by an appeal to the United States supreme court. Late yesterday application was made to District Judge Haven for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that new and important evidence had been discovered. The judge refused to issue the writ and immediately following his refusal the attorneys for the petitioner moved for an appeal from the decision to the supreme court of the United States, and the judge gave an order allowing the appeal. This will act as a stay of execution, if the precedent set by the Durrant case is followed, as it doubtless will be.

CHANDLER CHIDES HIMSELF

For Letting the Tariff Conference Committee See a March. Boston, Aug. 27.—In a letter to the Herald, published this morning, Senator William E. Chandler explains the construction of the clause of the new tariff law imposing a 10 per cent extra duty on all foreign products coming through Canada into the United States. Mr. Chandler holds that the legislation was passed by writing it, as new matter, into a conference report, which was adopted by both houses of congress without being noticed by more than those persons engaged in the scheme. The senator points out that the conference committee went beyond their power when they inserted this important amendment into a clause of the law on about only five words of which the senate and house had disagreed.

CASE OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION

All Right Again. Chicago, Aug. 27.—John D. Tallant, the San Francisco banker who became violently insane last Saturday while journeying to New York and was removed to a sanitarium at Geneva, Wis., on his arrival in Chicago, is reported to be entirely recovered. Mr. E. L. Jayne, who was commissioned to care for the deranged man, was in the city today arranging for Tallant's transportation to New York. It is expected that on Sunday he will continue his journey. Saturday afternoon Mr. Tallant will arrive in Chicago and meet his son, Fred W. Tallant, who is expected to arrive from San Francisco on that day. A cablegram has been forwarded to Mrs. Tallant at Dresden, advising her of her husband's complete recovery and telling her to await his arrival at Dresden.

Physicians who have been in constant attendance on Mr. Tallant since his arrival in Chicago attribute the banker's temporary derangement to nervous prostration.

"Having had experience with conference reports, which should have warned me to read every word of this report, I have an excuse to offer for not doing so. I hope to be forgiven by my constituents. But I shall never forgive myself."

FOUR YEARS IN SLAVERY

Marsh Fate of a Little English Girl in California.

Madera, Cal., Aug. 27.—About four years ago there came to this country from Rock Ferry, England, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Tubbs. With them came a little girl, daughter of one of their English neighbors, named Emma Davis. The Tubbses purchased one of the finest vineyards in the county. Since the Tubbses took possession of this property little Emma Davis, it is charged, has been practically enslaved. She has scarcely been allowed to go off the premises and has been compelled to work in the vineyard by the side of men hired off the public highways, and has received no education.

The British consul has interested himself in the matter, at the request of the Marquis of Salisbury, and the sheriff of the county, being appealed to, went to the Tubbs place for the girl, but found that she had been spirited away. She is supposed to be in Fresno, and the sheriff will try to find her and send her back to England.

FULL TIME AT FAIR WAGES

Is What the Farmer's Good Times Means to the Laborer.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Assistant Secretary Brigham of the agricultural department today expressed the opinion that the American farmer this year would receive in the aggregate from four to five hundred million dollars in excess of the amount received last year for their wheat.

"This," he said, "means much to the farmer. They have learned in the season of hard times through which they have passed to economize where they could and be careful in buying. They use this money they receive for their crops to pay off their debts, cancel mortgages and in making improvements on the farm and their farm buildings. This seems like a vast sum, but statistics sustain the claim."

Colonel Brigham also predicts that the increase in the price of farm products will benefit the laboring element. "The price of labor," he continued, "did not decline with the price of farm products and for some time the farmer was forced to pay as much for the services of those who did this work as ever before, while his receipts were cut in two. Inasmuch as wages did not decline, I see no reason why their advance should be expected to correspond with the advance of farm products which are now being increased. The farmer will discharge his indebtedness and make improvement which will require labor. He will purchase more of the products of labor, putting a vast amount of money into cir-

TORPEDO BOATS NOT NEEDED "Mirex" is the Name of the Explosive Which Supplants Them.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—"Mirex," a new explosive which its inventors claim, will revolutionize modern naval warfare, was tested in Lake Michigan last night with satisfactory results. A brass cylinder measuring four by one and one-quarter inches and loaded with the new explosive was thrown into the water. At the depth of five feet it exploded, sending a column of water twenty feet into the air. Another one exploded at the depth of fifteen feet with similar results. The depth at which the explosion would occur being announced in advance by the inventors. The inventors claim that mirex can be thrown from a cannon to any distance and will explode in the water at the depth desired. The ingredients are a secret. John H. Edelman, a wealthy former Philadelphian, is said to be backing the inventors.

IT IS NOT BANKRUPT

Bank of Minneapolis Closed, and May Go Into Liquidation.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 27.—Pending a decision as to whether it will go into liquidation, the Bank of Minneapolis closed its doors today. Its capital is $100,000 and its deposits $150,000. The bank has not failed, in the sense of being bankrupt, but has simply gone out of business. The Phil Scheig embezzlement some three years ago, followed by the suicide of Cashier Duffering, was a blow from which its credit never recovered.

LAST YEAR'S BIRD'S NESTS

Late Comers are Working Abandoned Claims at Circle City.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 27.—The United States steamer Concord is lying in port, having conveyed Governor Brady to various parts in southeastern Alaska on territorial business. At Dyea a schooner was recently captured and 300 gallons of Canadian whiskey captured by customs officers. Many prospectors whose original destination was Dawson are now proceeding to Circle City and locating abandoned claims relinquished for other diggings. The country about Dawson having been taken up by miners to great distances in every direction. They will have a tendency to populate the American side. Claims for royalty and customs duties by the Canadians continue to be vexed questions. The Ruby Sand diggings on the beach at Lituya Bay have given better results than ever before and next year greater attention will be given to these sands. Good reports also come from those who have passed the season at Cook Inlet. These miners, while not developing to so wonderful a degree as at Klondike, still give indications of great richness, although ignored by newcomers. Most favorable reports come from Huga and several prospectors have recently been reported from other places to the westward.
