

DO YOU STILL DOUBT?

The Condition of the State Institutions Under Leedy Is a Disgrace and a Crime.

DR. VAN NUYS KNOWS

And "In the Name of Those Unfortunates in Our Asylums," He Appeals to Voters For the Dethroning of the Leedy Gang.

Yesterday a citizen of Wichita telegraphed Dr. J. D. Van Nuyss at Butler, Missouri, this question: "Do you believe a vote for Governor Leedy is for the best interests of the state institutions of Kansas?"

Yesterday the answer was received as follows: "In the name of those unfortunates in our asylums, I answer 'No'; and I appeal to the friends of the same in their behalf."

"J. D. VAN NUYS, M. D."

Dr. J. D. Van Nuyss was a citizen of Wichita some years ago. He was an intelligent, kind-hearted gentleman. His friends were as many as his acquaintances. He practiced medicine here, when Leewelling was elected governor he gave Dr. Van Nuyss a place in a state institution. Dr. Van Nuyss was not then a politician and is not now. Leewelling never made a better appointment. In fact Dr. Van Nuyss was so satisfactory that when the Republicans won the state because of his thorough competency, Dr. Van Nuyss was retained. He served a time under Leedy. He knows what the horrors of the present administration are.

If any conscientious Populist thinks he will wrong Leedy by voting against him because of the condition of the state institutions, let him ask Dr. Van Nuyss the simple question: "Do you believe a vote for Governor Leedy is for the best interests of the state institutions of Kansas?"

Some time ago Dr. Wetmore exposed the Topeka insane asylum. Governor Leedy will not mention the matter. A great many honest Populists think that Dr. Wetmore lied and that the state institutions are all right.

Those people, before they vote for Leedy with this honest belief, should telegraph Dr. J. D. Van Nuyss, formerly of Wichita, now at Butler, Missouri.

The Populist leaders here claim that Wetmore lied; that he wanted to know that he should have exposed the condition before.

But if anybody doubts the condition of Leedy's state institutions, let him communicate with Dr. Van Nuyss, Butler, Missouri.

The leading Populists forget that from one of the state institutions the boy Miller returned raw and bleeding from the effects of fardish cruelty.

But if anybody still doubts, let him communicate with Dr. J. D. Van Nuyss, Butler, Missouri.

QUAKERS WON WHILE WINFIELD HAS WOE

Wichita Team Score 15 to the Visitors' 0.

There was a succession of "Zip! Boom! Bah!" at the close of the football game at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, and the yelling was all done by the Quakers and their friends. The cause of it all was the fact that the Friends University team defeated the Winfield team by a score of 15 to 0 after a hotly contested game.

Both teams were in good form, with a slight advantage of weight in favor of the Quakers. However, they made little use of the weight in advancing their ball, but it was useful in stopping the repeated assaults on their line made by their opponents. The Winfield team were best of foot, quick in action, well drilled in signals and good at tackling. They played a good game. The Quakers were in much better shape than they were during the High school game two weeks ago, having been strengthened by the addition of the two Alexanders and Williams, lately of the State university. To Halfback Alexander is due much of the credit of winning the game. He made all three of the touchdowns, and the third was one of the most phenomenal runs ever seen on the local grounds. He carried the ball around the left end through a crowd of tacklers and made a sixty-yard run to the goal posts. The other two downs were good runs also.

The game opened with the Quakers defending the north goal, and Winfield kicked off. The ball was carried back to the 35-yard line before downed. They lost the ball to Winfield, who returned it on account of not being able to make the necessary yards. Through a bad fumble the Quakers lost the ball and for fifteen minutes it was first one side and then the other who had possession of it. During the exchanges the plunk was gradually forced to within five yards of Winfield's goal, and it looked as though they would surely score. The Winfields were playing fast ball and were feeling good. But they never got nearer their goal and lost the ball on downs. Boyie made a twenty-yard run around the right end, and was followed by a similar gain by Williams. Williams then punted the ball another twenty yards, and the ball was in Winfield's hands. From that time on it was the Quakers' game. They showed and ran up to the 55-yard line, when Alexander took the ball around the left for a touchdown. They failed to kick goal, and after a few minutes play the half ended with the ball in the center. The score was 15 to 0.

The second half opened with the Quakers kicking the ball to the 35-yard line, where it was downed. Both sides made slight gains and losses for five minutes, when Alexander made a good run and again placed the opponents' goal in danger. They lost the ball on downs, and Winfield took a brace. French was sent around the end and carried the ball to the center of the field. They tried a place kick, but it struck a player and rebounded into their territory, where it was downed by one of the Quakers. They in turn punted and gained ten yards. Then the ball was taken through the double cross play, which so completely fooled Winfield that Alexander had little trouble in going across the line for the second touchdown. Again they failed to get goal. Score, 15 to 0.

Only a few minutes remained to play, and when Winfield kicked off the Quakers woke up and played for all they were worth. They forced the plunk nearly to the center line. Seeing that their double cross had worked successfully before, they tried it again, with the same result. Alexander got the ball and went around the left end for goal. It was sixty yards down the field and there were many tacklers in the way. Like an engine plowing through the storm he went through them, and as they were slowly picking themselves up, he crossed the line and scored another five points. He tried to kick goal, but, as before, failed. Only a minute play was left, and as the ball was kicked off and downed without any gain time was called. The score stood 15 to 0, and the Quakers and all their friends yelled.

The teams lined up as follows: Winfield. University. Molesige.....Center.....H. Pyle Dyke.....Right Guard.....Wright Kellar.....Left Guard.....Cox Wood.....Right Tackle.....Baldwin Fortune.....Left Tackle.....Scott Greer.....Right End.....E. Pyle French.....Left End.....Parker Howe.....Quarterback.....L. Alexander Frank.....Right Halfback.....E. Alexander McGregor.....Left Halfback.....Boyle Craigh.....Fullback.....Williams

Another interesting bee story has come to light, this time in the resident portion of the city. A few days ago, during the cold snap, a chimney in the house at 438 North Topeka avenue would not draw.

Upon making an examination, it was found to be occupied by a family of bobo bees, or honey bees known as tramps. A fire was started in the chimney from the top to drive the bees out. After they had departed an inspection was made and over fifty pounds of smoked honey was taken therefrom.

Trump bees have been very numerous throughout the city and surrounding outskirts. This makes over 200 pounds of honey taken from rendezvous of tramp bees in the past week.

SO SAYS THE CROWD

Col. Toler to Be Railroad Commissioner.

The wager in the hands of J. O. Davidson still stands. The Leedy crowd now feel that everybody knows the falsity of their assertion that Stanley would appoint a police commissioner.

The campaign closed last night with an entire change of front by the crowd. From one end of the street to the other you could hear no word about police commissions. The crowd finding that they had been proved false in their campaign assertions against Stanley, passed the word for everybody to shut up and not talk about Stanley and the wager at all.

As one of their number expressed it last night: "Mind you, I do not say we are beaten, but if we are beaten next Tuesday night you will hear a different campaign cry."

He was a man who knew what he was talking about. Yesterday afternoon the campaign changed suddenly. From mouth to mouth the word passed: "A vote for Leedy is a vote for Toler for railroad commissioner."

At first the crowd went very fast, but a very curious thing took place. The Toler crowd has never known exactly what Colonel Toler wanted in case of Leedy's re-election—whether he was after railroad commissioner or mayor of Wichita next spring. So at first they didn't put much credence in the "Vote for Leedy for governor and Toler for railroad commissioner."

But, as stated above, a curious thing occurred. Some one, the name is not divulged, returned from Topeka yesterday and told Joe Furnish that he had seen Taylor Riddle, and Riddle had said that "there is this much in Leedy's re-election for Wichita, a new railroad commissioner from Wichita."

The nite campaign cry went on in earnest. Here was proof that Colonel Toler was in it at last.

The hardest working faction in Wichita is the political group who follow Toler, and so the cry went up, now strong and penetrating: "A vote for Leedy is a vote for Colonel Toler for railroad commissioner."

Obstructions of every kind were switched out of the road.

"Lewelling's dead," was the answer. "A vote for Leedy is a vote for Toler." Some one else interposed: "But Taylor Riddle didn't say Toler."

The answer came back quickly: "What Wichita man is next to Governor Leedy? A vote for Leedy is a vote for Toler." So the people the next two days will hear the slogan again and again: "Vote for Leedy and a railroad commissioner who will do something."

The wager is forgotten. It still stands. It is no bluff. It is bona fide. Any man who played the game will support a police commissioner; who is so dead sure of it that he will vote for Leedy for that reason, can form a pool among his friends and take it.

But he will lose money if he does. And the Leedy crowd knows it, and that is why it hasn't been taken, and why they have shut up.

BIG SHIPMENT FROM DOLD'S Car of Lard Goes to San Francisco Under Federal Guarantee.

A significant and very important shipment was sent out early yesterday from the ware rooms of the Jacob Dold Packing company. Not only does it become of interest to the management themselves but as a matter of pride to the city that Wichita products are being greatly in demand at far distant points. The deal yesterday was a large consignment to the Pacific coast of this firm's celebrated brand known to the trade everywhere as "White Clover Leaf" lard. It was a solid car of the largest dimensions and in all represented 20,000 pounds of this specialty, put up in three and five pound pails, which in turn were packed in about 10,000 separate cases and packages.

The record breaking consignment of this one article of shabtier products last summer when a solid train of 22 cars was shipped direct from the Wichita house to Europe has given this specialty an almost world-wide fame, and brokers and jobbers in both America and on the continent are widely applying for trade privileges. One of the interesting and suggestive features of the big sale yesterday was that on every package was the government's official inspection stamp. As a matter of fact every live animal, hogs, sheep and cattle, which pass through the chute for the privilege of the Dold company must first pass the most rigid and thorough inspection under the searching eye of two of Uncle Sam's specially assigned veterinary examiners. The slightest taint of disease or even possible prospects of later ailment settles the case and the animal is summarily consigned to the grease tanks or else to meet an inglorious end at the soap and fertilizing works. Not only this but all the cured meats and special products are likewise carefully looked over both by heads of departments, the superintendent, and the Federal inspector. So it is impossible to find the least taint of disease goods ever to get out from a cow affected with tuberculosis, or a hog suffering from cholera. The White Clover Leaf brand of lard is always thus inspected, but the government does not require a stamp to be placed on rendered goods.

However, the Dold broker in San Francisco wired that throughout that section the trade universally expected such a stamp on all cases of lard as a guarantee of its purity. Simply to gratify the trade at that district the Dold company promptly complied with the request and for the first time stamped all 22 cars of Dold's lard with the examining surgeon's official warrant. Not only Wichita citizens enjoy the benefits of an absolutely pure article of lard but the fame of the article is spreading to all points, and no doubt some of this car load of lard sent westward yesterday will eventually find its way into the islands of the Philippines to feed the troops now guarding our national honor at that far away point.

DISPUTED BALL GAME High School and Lincoln School Play in November.

The High school and the Lincoln street ball teams played an exciting game at the ball park Saturday afternoon. At the end of the seventh inning the score stood 18 to 16 in favor of the High school, and the Lincoln street boys thought the game was to be for nine innings, and the High school understanding it to be for seven innings, they quit.

Blades, on the side of the High school, made some very good plays, while everybody else did very well.
