

APPOINT POLICE JUDGE

One of the Measures to be Asked of Legislature.

GUTHRIE ROASTS BOARD

Of Commissioners of Sedgewick County.

Mayor Ross and the Wichita delegation arrived from Fort Scott yesterday, where they had waded through an enthusiastic meeting of the Kansas Municipal Association.

Principal among the actions was the unanimous adoption of a resolution recommending the passage of a state law providing for the appointment of police judges by the mayor rather than choosing them by election as which the women reason for such a law, Acting Mayor Klezard of Leavenworth stated that some cities depended upon certain revenue other than direct taxation, and the election of police judges might interfere with this source of revenue.

Mayor Marshall of Kansas City stated that experience had proven that a certain element which was liable to control the election of police judges would prevent the collection of this revenue.

A resolution asking that the law authorizing commissioners of elections and the police commissioner be repealed was presented with cheers and unanimously adopted.

A law authorizing the setting aside of part of the general fund for park purposes was approved.

R. E. Guthrie, third ward councilman, favored a law to allow city clerks to collect taxes on account of the arbitrary methods of the county commissioners of Sedgewick county, who, he said, held several thousand dollars belonging to Wichita.

S. S. McFadden of Topeka and W. A. S. Bird opposed the measure on account of the increase of expenses, when the taxpayers want a reduction, and the measure was lost.

W. A. S. Bird's suggestion for a law enabling cities to condemn water, gas and electric light franchises excited spirited argument. Representative J. W. Adams disapproved it for fear that it would keep foreign capital out of the state, but the officials thought otherwise, and voted for such a law.

A resolution asking the state legislature to amend the statutes so that cities may purchase their own bonds at the market price out of either the sinking or general revenue fund was adopted, as was the bill for the establishment of a state board of embalming.

Kansas City, Kan., was selected to be the place for the next meeting, and the following officers were elected: President, Mayor Marshall, Kansas City; secretary, C. E. Yeager, Kansas City; treasurer, S. S. McFadden, Topeka.

A legislative committee consisting of one from each city of the first class in the state will be selected later. Last evening a banquet was given for the officials at the Hotel Goodland. The meeting was the most successful ever held.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DOLD

Banks of Flowers, Love Memory Unsurpassed.

The last sad scenes in the untimely demise of Mrs. George P. Dold were enacted yesterday afternoon at the residence on North Market street. Long before the hour set for the formal and public services the many intimate friends and close acquaintances commenced to arrive. Carriages lined both sides of the street from Ninth to Tenth, and inside all four rooms and the hall court were soon crowded, with others on the winding stairway and standing. There was a hush and a quiet, and it was not until the service was over, but rather became more solemn, that the weight of an irreparable loss, each a personal friend gone, and the loss too great for expression in tears.

There were two ceremonies, the first for those who wished to testify by their presence their enduring regard for their one intimate friend, and to give a last opportunity to gaze in farewell on the face which only a short time ago was all beaming with cheerful smiles of warm affection and considerate regard for those whom she loved and with whom she daily mingled. After this first and formal ceremony, the friends present passed around the bier and then followed the second service and was entirely private and exclusive, only the members of the family being present.

A POPULAR MISTAKE

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The national disease of Americans is indigestion or its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many intractable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption, many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded-out women owe their condition to imperfect digestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when, in fact, as Dr. Werther says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe, reliable, and money saving. This is not a patent medicine, but it is a well-entire combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bicarb. It is sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extravagant claims are made for them, nor for indigestion or any stomach trouble Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. They act on the food eaten, no dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want, and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

Druggists sell these tablets at 50 cents per package. Circulars and testimonials sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF ASTHMA.

The statement published below confirms the claim of Dr. Schiffmann that he has now discovered an absolute remedy for asthma, a disease which has heretofore baffled the skill of the most noted physicians.

Mrs. Mary Zachery, Pleasant Hill, La., says: "I have found your Asthma Cure a permanent cure for asthma, for which I used it seven years ago. I have never had the slightest return of the trouble since. I have also found your remedy excellent for bronchial affections. I shall ever have a feeling of gratitude for the benefits derived from your Cure."

Packages of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure may be obtained of all druggists at 50c and $1.00 per package, or by writing to Dr. R. Schiffmann, Box 894, St. Paul, Minn.

arranged by the ritual of his church. Then followed an anthem, "There is a Calm for All Who Weep," by the Consistory male quartet. Then followed a prayer service by the officiating pastor, immediately succeeded by the always impressive and melodious hymn, "Come Ye Disconsolate."

Then the address of the presiding minister, Mr. Griffith took his text from Cor. 13:5-7. "But thanks be to God who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." The lesson reading just before had been the 50th Psalm and Paul's famous exegesis on the resurrection, found in the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians. The address was listened to with an intense interest, being a glowing tribute to womanhood, he paired in simple language the holy worth and elevating influence of woman. He recited, from the inscription of life in the Garden, man had been useless and mediocre without the sustaining and encouraging spirit of the better sex. From this touching and highly eulogistic sentiment to woman, he applied the whole general thought to the personality of Mrs. Dold, whose cold form was then so dear to the words of the speaker, but the ears of many heart-felt friends present knew full well were peculiarly fitting and applicable.

He mentioned her generous charity, her loving character, her self-sacrificing and her influence as mother and wife was not dead with her, but would live on and on and be good in that household and that home. All present knew he had spoken well, since no more devoted wife or gentler mother ever lived as queen over the domestic affairs of her home. To choir then sang "Consolation," which was followed by prayer.

The Mr. Gill announced that all would be given the opportunity to view the form of their lamented friend, and then pass out. Immediately following this last feature of the public services, the family entered the room of the dead and a brief but impressive silent prayer service was held. Then the private services went directly to Maple Grove cemetery, where, at the receiving vault, a short prayer service was held according to the ritual of the church, and with the benediction the ceremonies were all over, but at the expense of most heartrending emotion on the part of all.

Miss Bertha Braun was born at Buffalo, N. Y., November 7, 1862. She was married to Mr. George P. Dold at Buffalo on August 12, 1882. She died on December 11, 1898, at 31 Paso, Tex., where she had gone in the hopes of benefiting her failing health. She leaves a husband, Mr. George P. Dold, second vice president of the Jacob Dold Packing company and manager of the Wichita branch; three little sons, aged 7, 5 and 2. Also one sister, Mrs. Edward Conroy, who was with her to the last; two brothers, residing in Buffalo, and both parents. It is said she might have lived were it not for her steadfast filial devotion to her parents, and because of the delicate health of her father would not consent to go south and leave him when advised to do so by her attending physician.

Since her girlhood she had been a member of the Evangelical Lutheran church. In all her relations with the world, social amenities, neighbors, club duties and church, she ever exhibited an exalted ideal of right and duty. To the poor she was unselfish in her assistance and practical charity, administered always with tact and discretion. To her friends she was hospitable and prodigal. To her home and loved ones the ideal of womanly grace, loving attention and studied regard. She seemed to lack nothing which goes to make up a complete and well-rounded, gentle character, and her loss is one which will not decrease with the passing years, but ever and always will come the oft recurring thought that she is gone, and in her place comes no one so kind, so lovable, so gentle, and so good. She is all over her own pain, but the pain still lingers in the hearts of those who were privileged to know her in life. She was passed over into that Morning Land where is all sunshine and sweet relief from torturing pain, and where only the good are, the great, the noble, and the benign. Let us hope that her dear eyes read a mystic meaning which only the rapt and paring soul may know. Let us hope and believe that amidst the silence of a receding world she heard the great voices breaking on a further shore, and felt already on her wasted brow the breath of the eternal morning.

Mr. J. C. Dold, the remaining brother of Mr. Dold, arrived yesterday morning, and though suffering with an attack of pneumonia remained at the funeral, leaving last evening for Kansas City.

The final offerings were magnificent. There were many very elaborate offerings from individuals, all of which were in the best taste and lovely forenoon. The organizations and societies extending floral offerings were as follows: Hypatia, Wichita Consistory, No. 2; Royal Arch Chapter, No. 2; Neighborhood Social club (this is a broken circle); "Stock Yards Boys" (the Union Stock Yards company); the Packing House Accounting department (a symbol of "Gates Ajar."); the Commercial club and the commission firms at the yards. In addition were almost numberless individual floral presentations, all of which showed rare taste and artistic skill. Ladies of the valley, roses, carnations and similar were in preponderance.

REBER WASN'T GUILTY Arrested for Murder But Quickly Acquitted.

Oscar Reber, who was arrested on Saturday night and taken to Newton, charged with shooting a man at that place, had his preliminary hearing and was discharged yesterday. The man who was shot admits that Reber was not the man. The evidence of the witnesses at the old Union hotel where Reber lives, corner of Oak and Fifth, proves that he could not possibly have been in Newton at the time of the shooting.

C. Yost, he took too much liquor ten days ago and tried to whip a brace of country boys, and who got a pair of his well blacked eyes as one sees in a six months, and who in addition was taxed a fine of $10 in the police court, was yesterday, after six days' confinement on a fare of bread and water, released from custody.

W. H. Nelson, of the Smith County Pioneer, was in the city yesterday.

LEWELLING TO VOTE

With the Republicans if the Pops Place

MEMBERS OF STATE BOARD

Under Civil Service—Extra Session Talk.

Last evening Governor Lewelling conveyed to Governor-Elect Stanley that on any act or proposition in the extra session of the legislature looking to an unfair retention in office of Populist appointees, he (Lewelling) would vote with the Republicans to prevent it.

This is an important declaration, as Lewelling, as senator, is chairman of the senate committee on ways and means, and would himself, as railroad commissioner, be a beneficiary of any legislation which would seek to put the present Populist appointees beyond the reach of the new governor.

The extra session has proved a damper on the rush for appointive offices. What will the Populist extra session do? A number of things, probably, but does the catalogue of probabilities include the placing under civil service of all the present Populist appointees? If it does, the Republican office-seekers are considerably at sea.

So probable is such a movement that Governor-Elect Stanley is reported to have said that the consideration of all applications is off until he knows what he can do, or words to that effect.

The extra session talk overshadowed all other matters yesterday. However there were several other minor matters which will interest. One of these was the withdrawal of Syl Dixon of Argonia from the race for grain inspector. Mr. Dixon was one of the most untiring workers in the campaign. Yesterday he was the following letter to Governor-Elect Stanley: "Owing to the salary and the responsibility pertaining to the office for which I am an applicant, and being in one of your border counties, which might tend to embarrass you, I take great pleasure in withdrawing my application for the chief grain inspector of Kansas. Thanking my friends who have honored me, I am, etc."

Last night Chester L. Long and Morton Although had a conference at the Carey hotel, the purpose of which is not known. One of the strange stories out in the town yesterday was this: That Kansas was to be divided into two judicial districts; that Senator Baker was to be judge of the northern district; that W. E. Stanley would be judge of the southern district; that Morton Although would be clerk of Stanley's court; that Chester Long would be the nominee for governor two years hence and that Joe Bristow would be sent to the senate. This arranges the thing apparently satisfactorily to the political dreamers, who know that something is afoot and are unable to take up with any old explanation.

But the principal feature of the day was the extra session. Governor Leedy's proclamation is as follows: A PROCLAMATION: Executive Department, Topeka, Kan., Dec. 15, 1898.

Whereas, Assurances have reached me to the effect that if the legislature shall be convened and legislation for the regulation of railroad charges can be enacted, and, deeming such matters of sufficient importance to justify the convening of the legislature in special session; now, Therefore, I, John W. Leedy, governor of the state of Kansas, by virtue of authority vested in me by the constitution of the state, do hereby convene the legislature of the state of Kansas to meet at the capital of the state at the hour of 4 o'clock p. m., on the 21st day of December, 1898.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state of Kansas. Done at the city of Topeka on the day and year first above written.

(Signed) JOHN W. LEEDY.

Governor Stanley is not in love with the extra session idea. He can announce no appointments, and he cannot prepare his message, as he does not know what to advise until the Populist legislature is done. It may not be done until a day before the other legislature meets, in which case Stanley's message is liable to be somewhat limited in size.

Before leaving Topeka the other evening, when he heard of the extra session, Governor Stanley said: "When I go out of the governor's office I won't embarrass my successor by calling an extra session of the legislature the last month of my administration."

Following are some of the laws the extra session may get through: To reduce freight rates 25 per cent. To reduce passenger rates from 3 cents to 2 cents a mile. To reduce sleeping-car rates 50 per cent. To make it a misdemeanor for a sleeping-car porter to accept a "tip". To reduce telegraph, telephone and express charges 40 per cent. To create a new board of railroad commissioners with power to adjust differences between the people and the railroads, members to be appointed by the present Populist governor for four years and confirmed by the senate.

To establish a state stock yards at a cost of a million dollars, the charges to be 20 per cent lower than those of the stock yards company at Kansas City. To establish a state insurance department, the duty of which would be to insure against fire, lightning and tornado, at 50 per cent less than the rates charged by the companies.

To provide for the appointment of a superintendent of the insurance department—Webb McNeil, likely by Governor Leedy for four years, to be confirmed by the senate.

To reduce the legal rate of interest to 7 per cent. To create a board of arbitration with power to adjust all differences between employer and employe. To prohibit convict labor except on the public roads.

SHOOT AT GRISWOLD

Series to Follow on Thursdays of Each Week.

A series of shooting contests for a medal offered by L. S. Peacock began at Griswold park yesterday. The attendance was good, but smaller than was expected. The following are the regulations governing the shoot:

The shooters are to be governed by what is called a sliding handicap, which will be in the hands of a committee of three of the shooters. The idea of a handicap is to give the poorer

HE WANTED TROOPS

Dave Sheplar in Western Kansas.

WANTS FEDERAL HELP

His Appeal to Deputy Marshall Trigg.

David Sheplar of Haskell county, has written to Deputy Marshall Trigg under registered cover, demanding federal help.

Mr. Sheplar's letter recites that the authorities out in Haskell county, aided and abetted by a loan company which is in pursuit of him and his happiness, are making life miserable for him, but that he has so far successfully defied them.

Mr. Sheplar's controversy has lasted to a great length, and his communications with the federal government have been frequent, but to what purpose, it did not appear, until his registered letter arrived. He says that in the quarrel he had quoted United States law at his opponent, and he wanted to back it up, saying: "Send the soldiers out here and punch them with bayonets."

While a detachment of regulars or even volunteers sent to Haskell county might be very exciting and cause great uproar, the United States government and its soldiers and bayonets will not take part in the controversy and Mr. Sheplar will have to go it alone.

He has been so notified and by this time has probably dropped down to the state statutes.

TOM MILLER SHOT

out and get some little place where he could raise hogs and chickens and do better for himself. Being an industrious, hard-working fellow, he was encouraged in his project. He was out a little over a year and did pretty well. Several months ago he came back to work for Mr. Haggy. A part of his duties was to come to the house, as we often did. A few weeks ago our girl left us and Tom volunteered to do the kitchen work till we could get another girl. He did it well. He could cook as well and as neatly as any woman in this city. I have often loaned money to Tom; sometimes a good big sum, and he would give it back to me at the exact time he promised to do so. I would not have been afraid to trust him with $500.

"Told had told me about his troubles. He told me that Simmons had been making insulting remarks about his wife. He told me that his wife had told him about it several times. He seemed to be greatly worried as to what to do about it. When he came home last night he told me that he had been thinking about it and had decided to prevent him from pursuing his insults to Mrs. Miller. This evening Mrs. Haggy sent him to the butcher shop for something to make mince pies, telling him that he could go home after that. He said he would stay a little longer tonight and would help the girl to chop the meat. The first thing I knew someone came to our house and said that Tom had been killed."

The coroner's jury is as follows, and will meet at the court house at 10 o'clock for an inquest: F. M. Watts, George Green, W. R. Hardy, R. M. Turner, Dr. H. E. Darrin, B. C. Lockwood.

Miller's body was taken to Dunbar's undertaking establishment last night and prepared for burial.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN SAMOA. British and German Blue Jackets Tip the Canibals a Hint. Apia, Samoa, Nov. 25.—(Via San Francisco, Dec. 14)—Considerable excitement was created here November 19 by the landing of a party of blue jackets from the British and German warships. While no serious trouble is anticipated, at present the representatives of the powers thought wise to make a demonstration owing to the number of natives who have congregated at Matutu so as to show that the powers had determined to protect the white residents. The party landed at Matutu and marched through the town, headed by the German band from the Buzzard, with the drum and life corps from H. M. S. Porpoise. After making the display to the natives both parties returned to their respective ships.

The chiefs supporting Mataafa have notified the chief justice that they have elected Mataafa as King of Samoa and that a protest has been lodged by certain other chiefs who dispute his election. High Chief Tanamasa has been nominated for the vacant throne by the opposition faction and the whole matter has been referred to the chief justice for decision. Upon that decision will depend the selection of the new King of Samoa.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFLETS. Berlin, Dec. 14.—There seems to be a prospect of the removal in the near future of the restrictions placed upon American insurance companies in Prussia. Upon the request of one of the largest companies, the minister of the interior has decided to send two representatives to New York to investigate whether the Americans are able to comply with the conditions of the Prussian authorities.

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 14.—The steamer Empress of India arrived this morning from Hong Kong and Yokohama. She brings news that the crew of the American barkentine John Bailey arrived at Singapore safely on the Italian steamer Bernida. The Bernida struck a typhoon, which carried the vessel on the Pratas reef, midway between Hong Kong and Manila. The crew abandoned the barkentine so heroically that they took nothing with them. They had no food nor water for four days until picked up by the Italian steamer. Captain Wall commanded the barkentine.

MUSIC AND DRAMA. "THE HOOSIER DOCTOR." One of the best attractions that will be seen in Wichita this season will be at the Crawford Grand on Saturday night. The company who in Kansas City last week and the Times of December 6th, says: "There are several surprises in store for those who go to the Coates opera house this week, and it is a cause for congratulation that all of the surprises are pleasant ones. To those who view 'The Hoosier Doctor' for the first time is a revelation to discover that in this simple comedy drama Augustus Thomas has done some of his very best work as a playwright. To those who have never seen them in any but the gaudy surroundings of comic opera there is the disclosure that Dignity Bell and Laura Joyce Bell are worthy of high rank among the actors of Irish and English work."

"Even if one remembers 'Alabama' and 'In Mizouree' and is in a measure prepared to find excellent matter in Mr. Thomas' play it is extremely difficult to be prepared to find what Mr. Bell from Pittsburg, the factious of 'The Hoosier Doctor,' in Dr. Wilson, the lovable and kind, by man of the Irish-Irishman town. It is unquestionably true that long after Pittsburg has been forgotten Dr. Wilson will be remembered, and the art of Dignity Bell will be praised."

The scene of this play is laid midway between the sea and the west, and Dr. Wilson has about him something of that great New England character, Nat Berry of 'Shore Acres' and yet because of that other friend, David Wilson, of 'Paddy's Luck'—He has the genuine, self-sufficing quality of the Irishman, for in his condition of barely escaping the grasp of poverty he is like unto David Wilson. As Mr. Bell shows him to be a man whose one great failing is that, in thinking and working for others he has left himself entirely out of the category.

Although Dr. Wilson, who lives in Vincennes, has three grown daughters, he is just graduating with the diploma of a doctor when the play opens. His wife, having been dead for fifteen years, left him the heritage of the title of children, and a new-made law who seems to afford ample justification for all that has been said against the species. One of the girls has married a man who has afterward become a wreck from drink, but the now-dogged doctor does not give him up.
