Pilkenton and Devore Each Sue the Santa Fe

PILKENTON WANTS $8,000

For Being Struck by Train-- Devore Lost Cattle.

Two large damage suits were filed against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company yesterday within an hour of each other. The first is that of Wm. Pilkenton in which he sues for nearly $8,000 damages for alleged injuries received on the evening of May 16 last by being struck by a train at the Kellogg street crossing. A full account of the accident was given in the Eagle at the time. Mr. Pilkenton is a huckster who makes this city from Augusta, and on the evening of May 16, while crossing the railroad at Kellogg street, about 2:30 in the evening, his team and wagon were struck by an incoming Santa Fe train, injuring one of his horses and breaking his wagon to pieces. It was said to have been a very narrow escape for Mr. Pilkenton. The second damage suit was filed against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company yesterday within an hour of each other. Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saved Mrs. Hayes From an Operation.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM--Words cannot express my thanks to you for your kind advice to me in regard to my health, I had been running down in health for about seven years. I had doctored with good doctors and taken a great many patent medicines. My trouble began when my first child was born. I had a very hard time and after its birth would have severe flooding spells. "After my second child I had very good health until last winter when I again became pregnant and suffered very much and miscarried. I came very near dying, and the doctor said I must have an operation, which frightens me very much, and concluded to write to you for your advice, and take your medicine. Was troubled with the whites, great pain in back and hips, sometimes when lying down or sitting was unable to get up. Would have such pain in groins could hardly walk. "I can say I have never seen anything so wonderful as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. Your remedies have done wonders for me. Hoping that many of my suffering sisters may be led to take your medicine from reading this letter, I remain, sincerely yours, MRS. MARY HAYES, HARRISBURG, KY.

Letters like the foregoing should convince everyone that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is certain help.

two cared for during twelve months. Of these, seventeen have been placed in homes, sixty have been returned to parents or guardians, one has died and fourteen are now at the home. This is certainly a very good showing and compares favorably with the work of other years. The institution has been unfortunate in having to undergo several changes in management during the year. The position as head of such an institution is an important one indeed, and great care is required in filling this office, which was finally taken in January by Mrs. Jackson, the present incumbent. Her work so far has been very satisfactory indeed. She seems a thoroughly consecrated Christian, and that is what is needed to discharge the arduous duties and fill the responsible position of manager in such an institution. Conscientious, painstaking, neat and orderly, Mrs. Jackson has worked a marked improvement in the appearance of the children, the house, and of the entire premises. At the same time she has proved herself an economical housekeeper, an efficient nurse and a wise and careful manager of the little ones entrusted to her care.

Our president, who took the office under protest, a year ago, has stood loyally at her post, faithfully discharging her duties, which were all new to her, and, as we well know, by no means light.

The board has worked together very harmoniously, but from various causes, our actual work has been somewhat less than usual through much of the year. Several of the members have been laid aside from active service by illness, and one, Mrs. Laycock, removed from the city, so that the burden of the work has fallen largely upon the shoulders of the faithful few. Thank God for those "faithful few" who are always to be found in every organization; ever ready to put their shoulders to the wheel and help over the hard places.

The finances of the institution have been a source of anxiety to the board through the year. With all possible care and the most economy, it has been very hard to always meet our obligations. A large deficit means correspondingly larger expense and in a public institution there is more wear and tear than in a private home. So that with the regular running expenses, it has been a serious problem to find means for needed repairs and purchases of necessary new things. In August an entire room was given, from which the home received a certain per cent, which netted us quite a nice little sum, and the generous donations of the schools at Thanksgiving helped materially in reducing grocery bills. At Christmas time the efforts of the visiting committee made it possible for the inmates of the home to enjoy a right merry Christmas. Indeed, two handsome trees, well loaded with gifts from kind friends, gladdened the eyes and the hearts of the boys and girls. Last month, through the kindness of Mrs. L. S. Carter, the helpers of the home, together with all of the older children, were privileged to hear the illustrated lecture on the "Passion Play," which was certainly a great treat. These little thoughtful kindnesses are green spots along life's highway, and leave behind them fragrant memories.

It would not be appropriate to close the report without a word in regard to our former president, Mrs. J. M. Townsend, who during the past week, removed from our city to her new home in Joplin, Mo. For four successive years Mrs. Townsend served as president, and such devotion and consecration as she displayed are rare indeed in this selfish world. She took the position in 1894, with great reluctance, the work being entirely new to her; but once in the harness, her whole heart was given to her duties, and by to-day we are glad to say that she has not only acquitted herself admirably, but has also been able to withdraw from the work as president. Her resignation was accepted with a faithful worker on the board, and she continued to give the cause her warmest sympathy and strong support up to the time of her removal from the city. As she goes to her new home she carries with her the best wishes of a large circle of friends and the extended affection of many to whom she has been a helping hand. While we must deplore the loss of such devoted workers, let us take courage from the fact that their places are always filled by others, and so from the past, with its blessed memories of good accomplished, let us turn with hope to the future, rich in promise of still better things in store. Very respectfully submitted,

MRS. J. L. DYER, Secretary.

Paine's Celery Compound

Builds Up the Nerves

"I use and prescribe Paine's celery compound with best results for nervous exhaustion or debility. Through its invigorating effect the liver and stomach are toned up and the eliminative system cured without resorting to laxatives and cathartics."--Mary R. Melende, M. D., 321 41st St., Chicago, Ill.

Several times when I completely worn out and unable to secure proper rest, Paine's celery compound has been a great relief in building up my nervous system, restoring my appetite, and securing peaceful sleep."--Elizabeth Vetter, Chicago, Ill.

erva Johnstone-Bishop is acknowledged to be the finest oratorio and lyric singer since Parepa Rosa's time. Charles W. Clarke is the high priced and high class favorite of Chicago. Miss Mary White, contralto, is also of Chicago, and is an assistant instructor with the well known Frederick Root, J. Stanley Davis, tenor, is pronounced by enthusiastic critics to be the finest orator in his world. Miss Marie Cobb, concert pianist, is spoken of by the Musical Courier as "an artist by the grace of God." Tuesday evening, May 26, the celebrated musicians will appear in Hand-supported by the well trained chorus and orchestra of forty pieces. Wednesday, May 27, they give a grand concert. Thursday evening they present Hayden's masterpiece, "The Creation."

During Miss Geneva Johnstone-Bishop's sojourn in Cragsy-Nova, Wales, at the great of Mme. Patti, the late lamented Alexander Salvini was a guest there--Musical Times, London, England.

Mrs. Bishop has now risen into a very satisfying artist. Her voice is pure, her intonation correct, her method good, and above all she has gained a depth of feeling and in dramatic effectiveness she sang "Elizah" beautifully last night. Her work continued in that noble aria "Hear Ye, Israel," which she delivered nobly, in a way that might have won the applause of Mendelssohn himself.--Milwaukee Journal.

Mr. Charles W. Clark, the young baritone of the Boston last week to sing in "The Messiah" performance of the Handel and Haydn society and made a distinct success. He was at once engaged for another of the Handel and Haydn concerts.--New York Courier.

ONLY FOUR ROUNDS

Fought at the Athletic Club Last Night.

The big glove contest, about which so much has been said, and which has been talked among the sporting element for several weeks, ended rather disastrously last night, in more ways than one. For the management of the athletic club and the reputation of both contestants--one more so than the other.

The club's arena was packed to the ceiling long before the time for the calling of the preliminary bout, and a crowd of late comers continued to arrive long after the principal event of the tournament had begun.

The first event was called a few minutes before 9 o'clock. Manager Murphy stepped into the ring and announced that the opening event would be a four-round bout between Kid Kelly and Black Diamond (both colored). The two were heavyweights and were evenly matched, the Kid taking the whole four rounds in an easy matter of fact, walk-around-the-Diamond style, occasionally giving the Diamond a back hander that sounded like a big wet swipe from an old dish rag. The Kid was too long in the reach for his antagonist and the four rounds were very tame and ended in a decision by the referee as a draw.

The second event was a very much more satisfactory three-round contest for points and an occasional solar plexus from McCoy in the first two rounds added to the interest. This bout was won by the champion of the spectators and considerable cheering and hand clapping was indulged in. McCoy was a little cracker-jack in two rounds, being very scientific and clever. He is cut out for a good lightweight and seems to have the science and pluck to take plenty of bitter medicine.

The third round, which was the most interesting of the evening, was a four-round bout between Eddie Clark and when the name of Chick Hawkins was announced as the man who would meet Clark, the crowd suspected that everything was not according to the program and did not relish the substitution, but when the first round was over and Clark was again in the ring, they cheered and yelled and came to the full realization that Hawkins was in every way the best man up to that time. The second round was fast and furious, and ended in Clark's favor. The third round was tame and both men seemed to be over the top in sparring for time and wind. Just before the gong sounded the men mixed things up a little and clinched. Some of the spectators claim that they saw Chick whispering in Clark's left ear, but as the previous rounds seemed to have had some merit and genuine science in them nothing was just beginning to get settled back in their seats and talking fresh cigars when the gong sounded time and the two men came to the center of the ring, full of renewed vigor, and began a lively spook-fight, see-saw kind of punching maneuver, when Clark seemed to get the best of it, and a very different apparatus that landed as light as a feather in the palm of Hawkins' gloved hand. Hawkins made a dramatic fall, covering his face with his hands, until the crowd began to yell with disgust, and instead of Referee Murphy counting the man out, he took the time to make a rally speech, and then counted Clark out, and he was immediately declared the victor. This was through no fault of Manager Murphy, who was as much surprised as any one of the several hundred spectators, who piled out into the street yelling: "Some day you'll get your money back."

PROVIDENCE OR MAN

Peculiar Turn of a Big Law Suit in District Court.

FROM SKY OR WIRE

Is Question as to How Lightning Got to Colwich Depot.

Whether Providence or man is responsible for the burning of the Missouri Pacific depot at Colwich a few years ago, is to be determined by the jury sitting in the case of the Johnson-Fife Hat company of St. Joseph against the Missouri Pacific Railroad company, which case was on trial in the district court yesterday and the day before. The suit has been tried twice before. The Johnson-Fife Hat company is suing the railroad company for the burning of some sample trunks which were in the depot at Colwich at the time the depot burned. The depot was struck by lightning, and the intricate question which the jury is to decide is as to whether the lightning came direct from God or found its way to the depot by other means. Judge Dale has instructed the jury to find for the railroad company if the thunderbolt struck the depot, but for the plaintiff if the lightning went in over the telegraph wire and set the depot on fire by means of misplaced wires or defective insulation. Some of the other juries who tried the case were church members and they did not like to hold God responsible for the burning of the trunks, so the juries disagreed. It is said to be one of the hardest cases to decide that has ever been before a jury. The depot having been burned, there could be no evidence to show that the wiring of the telegraph wires was defective, while the railroad company tried to impress the jury with the fact that this was one of the acts of Providence for which the company should not be held responsible. The jury will return its verdict this morning at 9 o'clock provided they do not agree to disagree, as the other juries have done.
