

CLASH OF LEADERS

Flynn and Jenkins Disagree as to Indorsement

OF RICK MESSAL OF ENID

For the Vacant Land Office Receivership.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—Delegate Dennis Flynn rounded up Secretary Jenkins this morning over the latter's alleged bad faith in going back on his promise to endorse Rick Messal's candidacy for receiver of the Enid land office. The story goes that as early as last Monday Flynn called on the secretary and that after some little urging the latter agreed to support Messal. Relying upon this alleged agreement, Flynn called again at the secretary's office this morning in company with Messal and to his great astonishment Secretary Jenkins, in the presence of Messal, refused to carry out the alleged agreement, giving no reason for his refusal other than that he had changed his mind. Flynn grew rather warm over this sudden and unexpected change of attitude on the secretary's part, and his feelings were not at all mollified when the secretary coolly suggested that Flynn would be doing a good thing in the interest of harmony by endorsing Conkling for county supervisor and retracting some of the leading charges in the Jefferson speech. Flynn with vehemence declared that he would never, never, endorse Conkling, that he was already on record, to which the secretary sweetly responded by saying that people sometimes changed their minds. "Yes," sarcastically returned Flynn, "I've not only done so, but I've refused to do so," referring to Jenkins' refusal to carry out his alleged agreement to endorse Messal. Jenkins, however, stood pat on his declaration, but it is understood that he and Flynn will be arranged for another conference Monday.

In view of the generally accepted story that Secretary Jenkins and Marshal Harry Thompson have formed a political alliance to control the politics of the territory, especially the selection of delegates to the national Republican convention, Jenkins' refusal to follow Thompson's lead in endorsing Messal is inexplicable. Besides Thompson's endorsement, Messal also has the outspoken support of Dennis Flynn, and while Governor Barnes is not yet known to express himself, it is significant that many of the governor's closest friends are favorable to Messal's cause. With Governor Barnes' endorsement, Messal accordingly would have the backing of three out of the four would-be leaders of the Republican party in the territory. Secretary Jenkins is reported to say that he has concluded to endorse no one and this is all the satisfaction that Ler Sargent could get from him when he called yesterday. Sargent is the old soldier candidate for receiver and is said to have the endorsement of every grand army post in the territory, in spite of which he has so far failed to land the endorsement of any of the political big game, which makes him very irascible and disposed to indulge in caustic remarks.

COMPLETE AND SATISFACTORY

Barnes Says His Answer at the Enid Hearing is Satisfactory

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—Governor Barnes left St. Louis tonight and is now on his way home to the territory. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat notes the presence of the governor in that city and quotes him in regard to the disposition of the charges filed against him. The story is as follows: Governor Barnes, with his wife and daughter, registered at the "Platters" hotel last evening. They are on their way home from a visit of six weeks in the east, which was spent in the Berkshire hills, on Black Island and at other resorts. The governor said last night that they had enjoyed the trip immensely, and all felt greatly benefited by the surf bathing and outdoor recreation they had taken.

Governor Barnes, it will be remembered, is the territorial executive against whom charges were filed with the interior department in an effort to secure his removal. The charges were published in full in a Washington dispatch, in the Globe-Democrat last Monday. They were filed months ago, but had not been published until this week. Seven distinct charges were made against the governor by L. Overholzer, court commissioner; Captain D. F. Sikes, a prominent real estate agent; Selwyn Douglas, a prominent attorney, and ex-Congressman Sidney Clarke, a member of the Oklahoma legislative council.

In brief, they allege arbitrary usurpation of authority by the governor in the appointment of Harper S. Cunningham as attorney general, after his reelection by the legislative council; the approval of a contract for $60,000 for the erection of a normal school at Alva, when only $3,000 had been appropriated for its maintenance; and nothing for the erection of a building; the delivery to the attorney general of $80,000 of school land notes for collection on a 50 per cent basis and the payment in accordance with this contract of $2,500, all unauthorized by law; the detailing of a second lieutenant of militia as acting adjutant general on full pay, such as an officer of like rank in active service would receive, when only $20 had been appropriated for the adjutant general; the approval of vouchers for this expense in the amount of $200 more than the appropriation; the collection of 2 1/2 per cent interest on school funds deposited in his own name, for which he failed to account; a verbal contract with Charles A. Cunningham, son of the attorney general, for the education and care of the blind at $25 each per annum, for five years, without any formal authority, and the increasing of the assessment of the several counties. In his capacity as a member of the board of equalization, from $10 to $2 per cent.

When asked about the charges, Governor Barnes said: "Why, that is an old story—all of them. In fact, I have answered all of the charges to the interior department long ago, and will only say now that my answer was complete and satisfactory."

LEAF FROM A DIME NOVEL

Topo Out and Enacted in Real Life in Oklahoma.

El Reno, O. T., Sept. 30.—A dime-novel episode in which Will Brown, near Yukon, is first victim and then hero, is related by the El Reno News, thus: "A few days ago some thieves stole some harness from the barn of Jerry Brown, north of Yukon. Will Brown, son of Jerry's, about 21 years of age, discovered the loss of the harness soon after the theft, and jumping on a horse started in pursuit of the thieves. He soon overtook some fellows in a wagon whom he believed to be the thieves, and rode along near by, looking to see if the harness was in sight. The fellows in the wagon were suspicious and asked him what he wanted. He gave a unsatisfactory answer, when one of them pulled a gun on him, and the crowd proceeded to tie him hand and foot with a rope, at the same time tying the rope in his mouth in such a way as to gag him. Then they proceeded on their way. Young Brown was soon discovered and released and, accompanied by Tom Munson and old man Stetson, started again in pursuit and soon overtook the gang in a grove. There were four of the outfit. Upon being discovered two of them ran, and thus escaped. One of the others was captured then and the other the following day. They were then brought to El Reno and lodged in jail. Young Brown identified one of those captured as the man who had tied and gagged him. The outfit evidently consisted of outlaws bound for the Indian country. In their wagon were two Winchester, a shot gun and other arms, together with first-class quart bottles of whiskey, which it was evidently intended to post-ter in the Indian territory. Only one of the men arrested was held, there being no evidence to identify the other with the affair. The man who was held is Goldie Wilson. He gave a different name but a party in Yukon identified him by that name."

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Enid Eagle reproduces a bit of history which places upon the late Captain Hassler of that city a unique military distinction. The Eagle says: "We submit an interesting account of Captain Hassler's military record which we take from the official reports of the Fifth congress: "The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 1182) to place John J. S. Hassler on the retired list of the U. S. Army, has considered the same and submits the following report: "The reports of the Historical Society of New York show that a small band of citizens of that state organized the first movement to raise volunteers for the protection of the Union against threats of hostilities which had followed the election of Mr. Lincoln to the presidency. Among the three citizens was John J. S. Hassler, then a law student in the city of New York, who, in the month of December, 1860, met with a few associates and in the belief that a conflict was impending proceeded to form the nucleus of a military organization whose services were to be rendered, in case of need, to the government of the United States. The organization was actually formed in the months of January and February following, and was several months prior to any steps taken by any other citizens. To the city of New York and to the little band of patriotic youths, of whom Captain Hassler was one of the most active and earnest, must be given the credit for the pioneer effort in organizing the grand army of the volunteers who came to the defense of the Union in the time of the greatest need."

HOW MAUPIN KILLED CHISAM

Full Details of Friday's Shooting Affray at Perry.

Perry, O. T., Sept. 30.—Following is a more particular account of the killing of W. B. Chisam by W. L. Maupin, which occurred here last night. W. L. Maupin is one of the leading dentists of this city. He came from Oklahoma City to this place about a year ago. His father lives north of the city on a claim, and Dr. Maupin's family, consisting of a wife and child, live with him in the northern part of the city. Chisam is a farmer residing several miles northwest and has a wife and four children. Some three weeks ago in a saloon on the west side of the square in this city, Maupin and Chisam became involved in a quarrel which resulted in a fight between the two men. Chisam seemed to feel that he had been imposed upon and frequently made threats about Maupin. These threats were conveyed to Maupin by mutual friends of the parties. Maupin evidently feared an encounter with Chisam, and had avoided him until last evening, when he drove down town in company with his wife to make some purchases at Hunt & Smith's grocery store. Just as Maupin was coming out of the store with some bundles in his arms Chisam advanced upon him and grappled with him. They struggled together for a time, moving along the sidewalk until finally Maupin drew his revolver and, placing it against the breast of Chisam, fired twice. One bullet pierced Chisam's breast and ranged upward, coming out above the shoulder blade; the other, entering near the left nipple, ranged diagonally across the body and came out under the right shoulder blade. Death was practically instantaneous. Maupin was arrested and his preliminary examination was set for hearing on Tuesday next before Justice Jones. The coroner's jury adjourned this afternoon until next Monday at 2 p. m. for a further hearing of the inquest. The evidence was substantially as above set out. Chisam's body was taken possession of by the members of his family this afternoon.

HIGH LICENSE BILL KILLED

Threatened Chickasaw Embargo on St. Louis

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Duncan Times says: Over at Tishomingo the Chickasaw senate took up the bill raising the Chickasaw license fee from $300 to $1000, as passed by the legislature, and after some discussion they substituted $500 for $1,000 and passed the bill. It was then sent back to the house, and the legislators who were willing to have the marriage license fee raised to $1000 were unwilling that it should be made a complete farce by raising it to $500, and the house quickly killed the bill. The reason given for raising the fee in the senate to $500 is stated to be that the senators regarded the $1000 too high and raised the figure to $500 to kill the bill, which it did effectually. The legislature murdered it outright, and it is thought the measure is buried forever. Information has been received at Tishomingo by the Chickasaw legislature and officials from Washington which states that President McKinley has disapproved the bill appropriating $200,000 of funds in the national treasury at Washington to be paid out per capita. This is what is known as the "incompetent fund." The result of the decision of the president that the bill appropriating the money to be paid out per capita to all Chickasaw citizens, leaves it still in the hands of the federal government and the question as to what portion of the Chickasaw citizenship it rightly belongs will have to be decided by the courts. The favorable decision of President McKinley was anticipated and it was expected that the money would be paid out to the Chickasaws per capita soon, but this turning down of the bill will stop the payment of the money to the Chickasaws in any shape till the ownership of the funds is settled.

GRANT COUNTY IS FOR KEIGER

Or Some Other Grant County Man for the Enid Receivership.

Jefferson, O. T., Sept. 30.—The contest for the receivership of the Enid land office is causing considerable stir among the politicians of the West. S. M. Keiger of Jefferson is a candidate for the place and everybody in the county is for him or some other good Grant county man. Mr. Keiger has not been in Guthrie on this matter and neither has he sent anybody or authorized anybody to do in his behalf, but when the petitions are all in Grant county will be heard from.

WATSON'S GREAT RAILWAY PROSPECT

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The people of Washington are much interested over the prospect of the Choctaw road building there at an early date. Since it was understood that the Choctaw road would build in that direction the people have determined that "first come first served," and that the road first opening up the way would be the road that would enter the entire co-operation and hearty support of all the people.

THIS BOY HAS A FUTURE IN STORE

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Enid Sun says that John Hooker, a boy about 14 years old, was digging some potatoes on his father's place the other day, when he fell from his seat alighting directly in front of the machine, which passed completely over him. He was not injured.

FLIGHT OF DEPUTY ROBERTSON

Additional Particulars Gleaned From the Press at the Locality.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Shawnee Star-Democrat contains additional particulars of the flight of Deputy Sheriff Robertson, charged with rape, as follows: "John P. Robertson, who was arrested some days ago charged with raping Georgia Moore, and placed under arrest, has slipped the country. He left yesterday morning for parts unknown. Telegrams were sent in every direction trying to head him off, but so far no trace of him can be found. The article in Sunday morning's Star-Democrat reminded him of the great effort he had committed and rather than face the courts of justice and probably a mob, he has gone. His bond was fixed at $500, which he gave with Waldler & Bains of Tecumseh, as principal sureties. As soon as he left, the officers notified the bondsmen that it had been forfeited, and they, in connection with the sheriff, offered a reward for his capture, which now amounts to $200. Robertson has a wife, whom it is supposed, he has been divorced from, in Texas, who has two children. His present wife resides in Tecumseh, but left when the case first came to light and is now with her father, who lives near Tecumseh. Considerable excitement has been created by the disappearance of Robertson and if he is captured a rope may be used to give him justice."

PROPOSED 'NEW OIL COMPANY'

To Compete With the Standard Oil in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—Amos A. Ewing, territorial oil inspector, was in Guthrie today, and in the course of a conversation remarked upon the likelihood of a competitor to the Standard Oil company entering the territory in the near future. A new company has been organized, composed of Kansas City capitalists principally, and it is the intention to commence the erection of storage tanks in Oklahoma at once. Just how many tanks will be provided has not yet been determined, but a start will be made by the erection of tanks at Oklahoma City and Kingfisher.

It says: "The conference between Enid's railroad committee and the Missouri Pacific representatives last Saturday came to naught. The Missouri Pacific wants the earth. It is thought that if Enid was to give the road all its assessor building through, there would be nothing left here to haul out, and no money left to pay for hauling anything in."

LITTLE BABE AT THE ROADSIDE

Abandoned in Its Crib, and Found by Some Boys

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Durant Democrat says that beyond Elmo, on the Caddo and Durant roads, some movers found a young baby not more than five or six days old, that had been deserted by its mother. The baby was nicely dressed and wrapped up in a new wadded blanket and placed in a box by the side of the public road, where there is a card of travel. Tracks leading to the box and from the direction of Caddo were found, and they showed where the party who placed it there had circled his vehicle to return the same direction it came from. The baby was taken to Caddo by the movers.

George Kepner's Cow Swallowed the Embargo, Just Look at the Road

Oklahoma City, O. T., Sept. 30.—The Oklahoma City Oklahomaian is to be credited with this: "F. A. Moran reports a strange accident to George Kepner's cow. It appears that, in some mysterious way, Mrs. Cow swallowed a portion of an embargo frame. She became sick and tried the Biblical method of regurgitating the food which was three feet long, but the stool rod which was three and one-half feet long, did. Passing through the wall of the stomach, it emerged from the udder. The cow is still alive and doing well. This is no yarn. If you don't believe it, call upon Mr. Moran and he will show you the rod."

BLACKWELL'S NEW WATERWORKS WELL

It is 14 feet in diameter, it has 100 feet of casing, it has a pump, it has a tank, and the water runs in at the rate of 200 gallons every ten minutes. Opportunity makes, and it is a pity that a well of this kind and make is not in every town.

Of course it is hard to convince any one who never saw good corn raised that 72 bushels of corn can be done in Oklahoma. Cass Terrell did it in this county, and we can prove it by every newspaper man in the territory."

The thirty-eight inmates escaped only in their night clothes and two were rescued from a fourth-story window by firemen. Nothing was saved and all personal effects of the officers and the teachers were lost. The loss to the state is estimated at $100,000 and to private parties at $150,000. There was no insurance on the property, the legislature having refused to make an appropriation for that purpose.
