Suffering Brings Discouragement—Mrs. Pinkham Shows Women How to Recover Health—Read These Letters.

Falling of Uterus, Painful Menstrues

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I want to tell you how much good your medicine has done me. I suffered for two years with different female troubles. I had falling of the womb, whites, irregular and painful menstruation, such terrible headaches and bearing down pains. I was nearly crazy. I paid out many dollars for doctor's medicine, but obtained no relief, and the doctor told me I could not be cured. My husband insisted on my taking your medicine and I must say I never had anything help me so much and in so short a time. I have now taken eight bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am well. My cough is gone and I can work all day without feeling tired. My health is better than it has been for ten years. I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life and I advise all women to take it."—Mrs. C. F. TUSKILIFF, Wegeland, Minn.

Uterine and Ovarian Trouble

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have followed your kind and free advice and am to-day a new woman. My last doctor told me I would have to go through an operation before I could be well. I had womb and ovarian trouble. I would suffer something terrible, such pain in my left side and it seemed as though I was all falling to pieces. Was nervous all the time, and could not sleep nights. I cannot thank you enough for being so kind to me. I shall always recommend your medicine and hope that my letter may benefit some other poor suffering woman."—Mrs. W. STROSE, North Dana, Mass.

A Beautiful Baby Boy

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—It was my ardent desire to have a child. I had been married three years and was childless, so wrote to you to find out the reason. After following your kind advice and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I became the mother of a beautiful baby boy, the joy of our home. He is a fat, healthy baby, thanks to your medicine."—Mrs. HELEN FINKLE, Roscoe, N. Y.

WROTE HER MOTHER

J. Wood Tells Mrs. Rainey Where Her Daughter Is.

GIVES HER GOOD ADVICE

Thinks Girl's Experience With Him Will Do Her Good.

J. Wood, alias Sweeney, who abducted Gertrude Rainey, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Rainey of this city, is probably one of the nerviest scoundrels the police have had to deal with. Mrs. Rainey has received a letter from him giving her a lot of good advice about the care of her daughter, who is now in the "Memorial Home" at New Orleans.

Wood's letter is unique. The monumental nerve of the man is evidenced in the first paragraph. In his letter he takes the liberty to tell Mrs. Rainey that he thinks the experience of her daughter will be a beneficial one and holds out the hope that she will become a good girl. It follows:

"Mrs. Rainey: New Orleans, Feb. 12, 1900. "Dear Madam—I wrote you on the 9th inst., but failed to mail the letter owing to a clue in regard to the location of your daughter. I found I was right, for she is at present in the Memorial Home, 59 Washington avenue, New Orleans. I understand from her conversation that she always regretted leaving home and spoke affectionately of her mother. She regretted that she had not shown her appreciation of your kindness in the past by assisting you in many little ways. I think she has received a beneficial lesson this trip, and my advice to you is to receive her with open arms, to forget and forgive the past, and I think that you will not regret it.

"Show your little girl that you are her mother and I believe firmly there is the making of a good girl in the little one. I shipped her things and souvenirs to your address at Wichita and enclose the receipt for them in a letter I will give to her. Tell her I leave for South America, or Havana, thence to Europe. Give her P's regards. Show her this letter and she will know. Yours respectfully, J. WOOD.

"P. S.—Take my advice and don't leave her in this city, as this place is next door to hell. Be sure and set her home. "P. S. When I am located I will write you and see." It is evident from this letter that Wood did not know that Mrs. Rainey had been informed of the whereabouts of her daughter or that the police were after him. It would seem that he did not look for or fear prosecution. It is thought probable that he is already on his way to South America, and if he is not the police will probably locate him. Mrs. Rainey is determined that the law shall be strictly enforced against him.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED
Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected soon to die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at G. G. Ganting's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

DRINK RUINS A HOME

Mrs. McCullough Says Her Husband Throttled to Cut Her Throat
Sarah P. McCullough claims in a petition for divorce which was filed yesterday that her husband, Alexander McCullough, helped her to drink. She says that he would drink, threatened to cut her throat. She charges that he is an habitual drunkard, and she does not feel safe in longer living with him. He lives at 235 South Baltimore street, Kansas City, Kan., and has lived there ever since they were married in 1884. They have three children, of whom she asks the custody, and asks the court for alimony and costs of suit. David Crewson is her attorney.

It is the family remedy for us, and all we need," writes Frank Mitchell, Marion City, Iowa. Purifies the system—makes new, rich blood. J. P. Allen, Dockum & Higginson, Geo. Van Werden.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Cyrano De Bergerac was presented at the Crawford theatre for the first time in this city. The play is a very interesting play well presented by Ferris Comedians. To give a synopsis of the play is unnecessary, as the story is, or should be, familiar to all. It takes five acts of moderate length to tell the story on the stage, and from start to finish the interest of the audience is well sustained. The heroic and romantic character of Cyrano was ably handled by Mr. Ferdinand Graham, who gave an intelligent and artistic interpretation of the character. Mr. Ed Brackett did very excellent work as Christian. Mr. Brackett usually plays "heavy" parts, in which he excels, and his talented work all through the week has been very satisfactory. The story of the play centers in Cyrano, Christian and Roxane. Miss Hayward played the part charmingly and costumed it most tastefully. The balance of the cast was also good. As the previous night, the play was well staged and costumed. The specialties pleased as usual. Sam Mylle and Ernie Verone are evidently the favorites. Tonight, by special request, Mr. Mylle will repeat the Uncle Tom Cabin specialties.
This afternoon this company will play "Cinderella," and tonight will close in "The Brand of Cain."

Readler's grand spectacular production of the "Black Crook, Jr.," opened to the seating and standing capacity of the opera house last night. Well may it be called a spectacular, as the play brings out over forty of the most beautiful sets of scenery ever shown in this city. There is over thirty people in the cast, and not a poor one in the lot. The specialties were exceptionally fine. The dramatic parts were handled by artists of ability who could do justice to any drama. The comedians were clever and all their jokes and songs were new and up to date. The ladies are young and pretty—the costumes elegant and the music entirely new. Everybody went home well pleased and got their money's worth for their money.—Denver News.

Stuart Robson, who is one of the most studious of American actors, conceived the idea some ten years ago after reading Boswell's "Life of Johnson," and Foster's "Life of Goldsmith," that there were big possibilities in a comedy on the life of Goldsmith. It was not, however, until a year ago that he suggested this theme to Augustus Thomas, who had already written two successful plays for Mr. Robson. Mr. Thomas, who is undoubtedly the foremost of American dramatists, was delighted with the idea and immediately began to work on the play. Mr. Robson will appear as Oliver Goldsmith, and as one might expect, he will bring to the part not only all the efficiency of his art, but the love, the character that led him to think of the play. "Goldsmith," says Mr. Robson, "was a man much maligned both by

FREDERICK WARD
Theatre-goers are always interested in new plays. They are also interested in successful ones. Of the hundreds of attempts this season to find a vehicle to meet the public favor, no greater success has been made than the production of a new romantic comedy by Frederick Ward, together with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Bruce and their superb organization of leading men. This comedy was first brought out in the west and met with immediate recognition. The great interest manifested by the public in "The Duke's Jester," is accounted for through the natural liking of things new and the public's curiosity to see Frederick Ward and Mrs. Bruce, both of whom stand first as the leading legitimate artists of the stage, in thorough comedy roles. "The Duke's Jester," through an almost and really quite hilarious comedy, deprives neither these great geniuses of their standing as classic readers, abounds with those charming smiles and meadows, bordering on the classic, expressed in the rich and smooth language, which shows the master hand. The story is laid in Italy, at the close of the sixteenth century and is based on love, intrigue and adventure. The dominant feature, of course, is fun, the play being replete with humorous and unusual situations. As a scenic production "The Duke's Jester" is said to be superb. Mr. Ward carries a special 60-foot car to accommodate the equipment of this play alone, while the production of "The Lion's Mouth," which will be remembered here as the most beautiful play on the stage, is carried in another car, together with the sixty trucks of the company.

"It has been intimated in some of the newspapers that a fund should be raised for assisting the defense of my son. I should not allow pride to prevent me from accepting such assistance if it were needed, in the reason that I should not myself hesitate to offer it to any person who needed it, and I should never be ashamed to receive what I should not be ashamed to offer. But I owe no man a dollar and neither need nor desire any assistance of such a character. I feel, and am, amply able in health, strength and in the courage and ability to sustain all the burdens that God has placed upon me until he will otherwise. I am rich in the firm belief in the justice of Almighty God, in the devoted love and comfort of a noble wife, my sons and their wives, all united, all certain in the innocence of Roland Burnham Molineux and certain that it will be found in time. I need for myself no other assistance and no other comfort or support. But for my household I do not need and I do not appeal for the support of the prayers of all those of every denomination and of every faith, who, like myself, feel that my son is innocent and the victim of an unjust persecution. I am a man, moreover, to every man who is a man, to respect the sanctity of the grief

ANTI-TRUST JOURNAL STARTED
It Will Publish No Advertisements of Trust Concerns
Chicago, Feb. 15.—A new weekly paper to be known as the "American Anti-Trust Journal," the launching of which was mentioned at the recent anti-trust conference, will appear Saturday. The plans were perfected at a meeting of the following committee today: Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, Lafayette, Ind.; R. V. Dowell, Artesian, S. D.; W. D. P. Riles, Chicago; W. T. Briggs, Chicago; and Daniel R. Cruick, Chicago. At the recent conference an act in a set of resolutions adopted and the committee was appointed to prepare plans for the publication. Although but an experiment, 25,000 copies will be printed and sent broadcast over the country and the publishing facilities are such that the number can easily be increased to 75,000 copies. The committee selected W. T. Briggs as editor and Daniel R. Cruick as business manager. The Journal will collect not less than sixteen pages and the first issue will contain the full proceedings of the recent conference. The paper, it is believed, will be self-supporting and any funds over and above the expenses will be turned into the propaganda fund of the league. The paper is devoted entirely to anti-trust matters and only those who are not members of trusts will be permitted to use the advertising columns. The office will be at 1208 Unity building.

Several cases of this kind have arisen here and it has been difficult to locate the thieves.

Runaways Often Result From Such Carelessness.
A number of runaways have been caused of late by people leaving horses untied. If they are frightened at anything they are free to dash down the street. There is an ordinance requiring horses to be tied, and it will be enforced.
