

IN WORLD'S MARKETS

Kansas Millers Resolve to Place Their Flour.

OBJECT TO REVENUE TAX

Action Taken to Import Crimean Seed Wheat.

Fifty members of the Kansas Millers' association held sessions at the Carey yesterday afternoon and last night. The sessions were all secret and were important. As a result of the afternoon session, an organization was formed to be known as the Kansas Hard Wheat Millers' Information Bureau, and the object is to further the sale of Kansas flour and to look after the interests of the Kansas millers. The entire session of the afternoon was along this line and Kansas flour from this time on is to be pushed in the markets of the world. The flour is being shipped from this state into the European countries and the millers are determined to compete with any state or country in the matter of producing good flour. By the regulations of the new organization, an agent is to be placed in Kansas City and his entire time is to be taken up with the interests of the Kansas millers. He is to look after freight rates and any change, or even a contemplated change, is to be for the information of the millers in the association, where it is to be notified immediately. Another duty which he will have is to notify them of the current price of flour wherever Kansas products are being sold. The millers will receive daily quotations and in return for these each miller is to notify him of each shipment, where it is to be consigned in the price which is to be paid, and the grade of the flour. By this method the millers will have an opportunity of knowing whether or not they are receiving a fair price for their output. For the maintenance of the Kansas City concern and the new organization, from Crimea and to have it here by next fall for the farmers so that they can use it in their seedling. Mr. B. Warkentin of Newton is one of the most enthusiastic of the millers behind the plan and has for the past few years been importing the Crimean wheat into this country in a few bushel lots and has tried it and kept a careful watch of the result. Mr. Warkentin was called upon yesterday and last night for his opinion in regard to the matter. He stated that wheat he had been doing and the result secured by the use of the new wheat. The cost of the importation will be large, but for all of that the millers decided that they would advocate the measure. The Crimean wheat is a hard wheat and has a large berry. Mr. Warkentin had a small amount with him and it was examined by the association members very closely. The wheat which is used in this country after a time does not give the satisfaction that new wheat does. It is sound and hard, but the color of the bread is not what the bakers desire. The new wheat gives a splendid color to the bread and is more satisfactory in every respect. After the discussion of the wheat subject a committee was appointed by the millers and they were to confer with the committee from the grain men's association to determine some method whereby the wheat could be introduced for the coming fall. After the conference the report of the committee was heard. The plan is to have Mr. Warkentin arrange for the importation of the wheat from the other country and for the joint committee to secure orders for the wheat between this and the last of March, so that it could be sown here in time. After the wheat arrives the plan is to have one car placed in every county in the state in the wheat belt for the farmers to secure seed. By

JURY REMAINS OUT

Marshall Damage Submitted Early Yesterday Afternoon.

SPECIAL CHARGES MANY

Arements of Attorneys Cover Entire Ground.

Up to an early hour this morning the jury in the case of John Marshall, administrator for Maggie Marshall, deceased, against the Rock Island railroad had not reached a verdict. The case went to the jury at 2:30 yesterday afternoon and it was thought by the attorneys of both sides that some conclusion would be reached within four or five hours. It was learned last night that up to 10 o'clock twelve ballots had been taken and that a majority of the jurors stood in favor of the plaintiff. At 3 o'clock yesterday morning the case was resumed, when Judge Dale charged the jury. The special charges covered fifteen pages of typewritten matter and was a masterly document covering every point of the law in the case. More than half an hour was consumed in reading it. Attorney J. D. Houston, for the plaintiff, began his argument of the case at 10 o'clock. He spoke on the law pertaining to it and insisted that the railroad company had been negligent in two important points, namely, by neglecting to operate the gates until the last train had passed that night and in not reducing the rate of speed of the engine as it approached the station. He contended that the train was behind time and that the engineer was trying hard to make up and that he consequently came in like a whirlwind. He dwelt for some length upon the fact that the engineer must have known that something of a special nature was happening, since the crowd at the depot was by far greater than on ordinary occasions and that this crowd could have easily been seen by him in time to avert the accident. Mr. Houston was followed by Attorney Egan of Topeka, for the Rock Island. In his argument the latter contended that there was no law compelling the railroad company to operate the danger gates at night and that the time for operating the same was for the defendant to determine. He also stated that the company's employees had done all within their power to avert the accident and that it was not at all to be blamed in the matter, as the negligence rested with the driver of the wagon, who should have obeyed the signals given him by the people at the station. Attorney Vermilion closed for the defense and C. H. Bryan made the closing arguments for the plaintiff. The latter insisted that his client was entitled to the full amount sued for, namely, $10,000, as the children for whom the suit was brought had sustained both a moral and material loss in the death of their parents. The attorneys occupied nearly an hour each in making their arguments and the case did not go to the jury until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. A peculiar fact in the Kansas law relative to the amount of damages that can be recovered in an accident suit is that in case of death of a person injured in an accident the heirs cannot recover more than $10,000, whereas the statute does not limit the amount if death does not result. The Marshall suit against the Rock Island is attracting more than ordinary attention, in as much as the filing of other suits against the company may result. $50,000 in suits of the nature filed have been lost by the plaintiffs in the district court, though some of them are pending in the state supreme court awaiting final disposition by the justices of that bench. The attorneys for both sides have almost closed their mouths and have permitted a single favorable opportunity to win a point to pass without notice. The jury in the present case is also above the ordinary and as faster one to try the case could not have been secured anywhere. If a verdict is found for the plaintiff the case will at once be taken up to the state supreme court on an appeal for reversal. The two cases now pending in the United States circuit court will not be tried until that court convenes in this city next March.

There's a Bit of Vanity

In the best of us, and it is sure to "crop out" when we go to dress our little chaps—we want 'em as well or better dressed than "that boy" of our neighbor's, with garments that are warm and durable, as well as pretty—but we don't want to pay too much for them—only the worth of the cloth and making, plus a modest profit.

This good clothing store has just such garments for little chaps, in plenty. It has them that are cutely mannish and boyishly pretty, yet warm and durable, at little bits of prices.

Here's a hint of one sort for boys of 3 to 8 years: It's an electric blue, all wool, unfinished worsted, of finest quality. The coat is a regular three-button cutaway, made just like a man's, buttons, collar, pockets and all. The lapels are silk faced and the sleeves are finished with the new, swell, reverse cuffs. The vest is of the same material and double-breasted, and, for boyishness, it has a silk embroidered detachable shield and a white pique shirt protector. The little trousers are almost "skin tight" and are trimmed with buttons at the bottom. The price is only $5, and our absolute guarantee of satisfaction and a good time-keeping watch goes with it free.

Orient Matter in a Nutshell.

The Orient Road means shops, something Wichita has never had. It means a tin-bucket brigade, who will spend $240,000 a year in Wichita. It means better rates. It means an increase of 10,000 in population, benefitting city and country alike. The taxes the Road will pay to the city and county will be a third more than the interest on the bonds. The bonds will not be delivered to the Road, until the road is built, the shops running and the contract fulfilled. The Road contracts to maintain the shops. Next Tuesday is the day to vote.

some two thousand or more of dollars were raised yesterday, and that is to go toward the information bureau. Yearly assessments from each member will keep the project in running order, and it is estimated that the sum paid in will be returned double each year. This is probably the first time that the millers have taken action regarding the placing of their flour in outside markets and especially in Europe. One of the things for which the meeting was called was that of the furtherance of the Fulton bill which is now in progress. This bill is to amend the interstate commerce law and gave the commission the powers they had formerly under another law or practically the same, as far as the millers are concerned. A resolution was passed by the millers asking that the senators and congressmen do all in their power to have the bill passed. The war revenue law came to its share of discussion and the matter was brought up of having the revenue raised out of the telegraph, alcohol, pills and tobacco, etc. After the discussion and resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote that the senators and congressmen support a measure to have the articles mentioned above released from the list. Chester I. Long was invited to the meeting and when he appeared he was critically pointed. He was called upon to address the members and stated to them that the ways and means committee within the next few weeks would take up the matter of the revenue law and mentioned in the resolution the method by which they would proceed to have their action brought before the committee. He talked also about the law and the committee that it was now in. When called upon for his views in regard to the Fulton bill, he stated that the bill would be introduced in the next session in all probability, and that one thing should be done by the millers and that was to request the united support of the senators and congressmen on this question. As for himself, Mr. Long stated that he would be glad to do all in his power to further any plan whereby the millers of the state could be benefited. Freight rates came up for a share of the meeting and as a result a committee was appointed to look after the freight for the millers. The idea is to have a more uniform rate. The action taken by the roads in regard to the recent rate was discussed and the matter was left to the committee appointed. The millers claimed that the division of the roads regarding the situation, they have been and some of the roads are rather bitter against that part of the rate question. Some of the members favored the taking of the matter to the legislature, but nothing definite was done about that, however. Mr. J. E. Howard, of the Topeka Mills, was elected as a delegate to the national association meeting at St. Louis on the 24th of this month. Mr. Howard was instructed to do all in his power to further the Fulton bill and assist in the passage of the gathering regarding the revenue law as far as it concerned the millers' stamp on checks, bills of lading, telegrams, etc. The matter of new seed wheat for this country was brought up and also discussed. The idea is to import wheat
