

City Regulator

Come Further Suggestions are Made.

To the Editor of the Eagle: I would plow up the different school grounds and sow them with blue grass and white clover...

Wanted—A good girl to do general housework; no washing or ironing, cooking or scrubbing...

I noticed in attending the memorial services last week, that the ones to respond the quickest to the patriotic utterances of the speakers were the ladies...

I would, if I was the mayor, council, city attorney, marshal and fire marshal, send my administration down in the history of coming ages as being one of deeds in the way of improvements and protection of property...

I would not organize new parties or associations for the purpose of fighting anarchy, but would educate and inspire and raise the degree of patriotism...

Went some one add to the interest of the zoo in the park by presenting a mate to that lonely deer that wanders around in the grounds.

I would put my grounds in the best of shape possible. Clean up. Don't take your stuff into the ditch or throw it into the street...

How delightful it is to attend a piano and violin recital and sit just in front of two or three couples of singing, listening young people all wound up for the evening with the richest of white hair run down.

I would turn the entire street force to work on South Main to William and South Water streets and give them a thorough cleaning. It will take a lot of work to make them presentable.

The encroachment of some things in this city is getting beyond forbearance which will seem to be a virtue. The establishment of one on South Main should not be allowed.

This is the time of year, when I was a boy, on Saturday mornings I was not with the lark and after filling my pockets with Conchona, take my little home-made wooden wheel, wooden wagon and a sack and early forth, giving a formal phrasing, assemble a crowd of my schoolmates and chums equipped with fire transportation as my own, and away for the woods to gather nuts. Running, jumping, wrestling, climbing trees, interspersed to make spice and variety...

I would call a meeting of the school board tomorrow morning and recommend that proposition of having the schools on school days, at all possible, that school board consider the interests of public schools where 500 children and eight or nine teachers are employed, that they will order schools closed for a circuit of the outside of this city could get a chance at that school board this morning they would solve them a crisis that would fall into the laps of the school and the parents, public and school board that sport in the air. They far better issue an order that any school morning the doors would be suspended for one month.

I would use an ordinance stopping the plowing and tacking up in the alleys and back yards of various kinds, some of which are filthy, so much so that the parties taking them perform their work in the night.

HOW TO GET BLUE GRASS. Expert observers say that this is the time of the year to sow blue grass, and a great many property holders are taking their advice. If it is sown in the care of the moon, so much the better, but unfortunately the moon will shine during the balance of the month. The ground should be well plowed, the grass seed sown in and when it takes root, the lawn should be rolled to pack the soil firmly about the roots. This is what a man who has to water on his place says he has been doing for years, and he claims to have the most prosperous blue grass in town.

Editor, O. T. Post, M. H. W. Palmer, secretary of the Oklahoma Indians Association, is sending out letters to all of the landowners of Oklahoma, urging them to attend the hundredth annual convention, which will be held in this city in November.
