

CANCEROUS ULCERS

Are in many respects like other ulcers or sores, and this resemblance often proves fatal. Valuable time is lost in fruitless efforts to heal the sore with washes and salves, because the germs of Cancer that are multiplying in the blood and the new Cancer cells which are constantly developing keep up the irritation and discharge, and at last sharp shooting pains announce the approach of the eating and sloughing stage, and a hideous, sickening, cancerous sore begins its destructive work.

No ulcerous sore can exist without some predisposing internal cause that has poisoned the blood, and the open discharging ulcer, or the festering sore on the lip, cheek or other part of the body will continue to spread and eat deeper into the flesh unless the blood is purified and the Cancer germs or morbid matter eliminated from the circulation.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all decaying effete matter. It has great antiodal and purifying properties that soon destroy the germs and poisons and restore the blood to its natural condition. And when pure blood is carried to the ulcer or sore the healing process begins, the discharge ceases and the place heals over and new skin forms. S. S. S. is a strictly vegetable blood purifier containing no mercury or minerals of any description.

If you have an ulcer or chronic sore of any kind, write us about it, medical advice will cost you nothing. Books on Cancer and other diseases of the blood will be sent free.

JUDGE HAINER SUSTAINED IN HIS DECISION

Brummett and Barclay to Suffer for Murder

IN THE OSAGE NATION

Other Important Opinions From Supreme Court.

Guthrie, O. T., July 16.—Nine opinions in important cases before the territorial supreme court were handed down today. One of the most important decisions is the one in the Barclay and Brummett case, in which these two men sentenced to hang for the murder of J. I. Poye in the Osage Nation, appealed from Judge Hainer's court to the supreme court. After having been convicted, the men were placed in the Federal jail. A writ was made to have Lawrence Jenkins commit the sentence to one of imprisonment for a reasonable term of years. Before action was taken, the case was appealed and the hanging deferred until the result of the case was known.

Barclay and Brummett are now in the Federal jail having been confined there since their conviction. It is alleged that in the Osage nation they broke into a house and stole a number of articles and that in the pursuit of the men, Poye lost his life.

The decision was affirmed by all of the Justices, with the exception of Hainer, the trial judge. The opinion was written by Chief Justice Burford.

The case of Paul Simmons vs. the Territory, convicted and sentenced for riot in Payne county, was affirmed by Chief Justice Burford. Simmons with two others was arrested, charged with riot. He acted for a moment that this was granted and after the trial of the three offenders were held, it was ascertained that Simmons was the only one convicted. He appealed his case to the supreme court, claiming that he could not be convicted under a law which defined the term "riot."

The case of David Fitzgerald et al., vs. John Foster et al., was affirmed by Associate Justice Burford. This was a case in which a portion of the city of Guthrie is in controversy, having been laid upon as a homestead. The case was begun by Xenophon Fitzgerald, now dead, against John Foster, Wm. B. Robertson and Andrew C. Schmidt. The land in question was 100 acres, or practically one-half of the townsite of Guthrie, when the contest was filed.

Joseph Whaley, the attorney for the plaintiff in the above case, has advised that the case would be carried to the supreme court of the United States.

The case of Simon P. Myers vs. the First Presbyterian church of Perry, was in part affirmed and in part reversed in the lower court for trial. Myers, who is a minister, was suing the church for

DIVISION OF WOODS COUNTY IS UP AGAIN

Agitation Is Revived in Connection With Redistricting It.

DIVIDED AS TO LINES

Impression That There Will Be North and South Districts.

Guthrie, O. T., July 16.—The question of dividing Woods county, which comes to the front every little while, is again being talked of, having been brought up in connection with the work of the commission appointed to re-district the territory for legislative purposes. Immediately after the appointment of the commission, Woods county people began to ask that the county be made into one council district and two representative districts, claiming that the county has enough population to warrant making the districts. After these demands were made the question came up as to dividing the county for the representative districts. A portion of Woods county residents want the county divided east and west, making a representative district out of the north part of the county and another district in the south part of the county. Another crowd of persons have asked that the county be divided north and south, making a representative district west and another east. Parting of the talks with the commission the question of the legislature dividing the county comes up, and it is feared that if the county is divided for representative districts, the legislature will make it permanent for two counties out of the one big county.

What the commission will do is problematical, but the impression prevails that the county will be divided east and west for these representative districts. The commission was at work early today and secured many statistics for use in re-apportioning the territory. The population of the various counties has been turned in as follows:

|                     |        |
|---------------------|--------|
| Kay county          | 22,706 |
| Noble county        | 15,994 |
| Payne county        | 21,884 |
| Grant county        | 15,084 |
| Garfield county     | 23,712 |
| Kingsfisher county  | 19,592 |
| Logan county        | 27,570 |
| Canadian county     | 23,320 |
| Blaine county       | 15,149 |
| Woods county        | 45,312 |
| Woodward county     | 17,744 |
| Beaver county       | 3,189  |
| Day county          | 4,906  |
| Caddo county        | 25,529 |
| Comanche county     | 25,509 |
| Pottawatomie county | 29,064 |
| Cleveland county    | 17,250 |

There are yet other counties to hear from, but requests have been made to the county clerk asking that the reports be sent in immediately, so that the commission can have them for use in its work.

RESTORING A FOREST

One that Disappeared Being Reclaimed by London.

Few people have ever heard of Hainault Forest, except the people who live about there and the gypsies, who come and go. Nor will any one be much wiser for being told that it is on the east side of the river Hoding, Epping Forest, being on the west for few have heard of the Hainault either. It is a stream which there are none to praise and very few to love. But Hainault and Hainault Creek are better known. The creek is the tidal mouth of the Roding when it enters the Thames, a few miles below Woolwich on the opposite or East shore. The little river rises near Dunmow, flows more or less from east to west as far as Laughton, and then turns gear, due south towards Hainault. Thus it forms an angle opposite Laughton, and it runs between the forests of Epping and Hainault, the former lying to the north and east, the latter within the angle to the south and east. This will give some idea of the situation of the proposed new playground.

As for the forest, only two patches of it remain; but formerly it was an extensive affair. The word "forest" does not mean a wooded area, but a royal park, wild, unincultivated land. Under the Saxons and Normans kings nearly the whole of the county of Essex was still kept in this state, chiefly for the purpose of royal sport; but the oppressive character of the forest laws led to complaints on the part of the people, and from time to time portions were alienated. This movement began in the reign of Stephen with the forest of Waltham; then John was forced to disenclose all of the northern portion of the great forest of Essex and further cartmelms were made by Edward I under the Carta de Foresta. Fortunately the only portions left were Epping and Hainault. How the latter came by name which is also split Hainault, does not appear to be known. In 1666 the "moss and boglands" were alienated by an act of parliament and parliament in pursuance of an act passed by the Long Parliament, and were estimated to contain 12,000 acres, of which however, only one-fifth was enclosed land. The Hainault portion then and for a long time after extended as far as Berkley and Dagenham. In 1810 there was still 1,410 acres in the Chiswell and Hford wards of Berkley parish, and in 1854 the whole of Hainault was reckoned at 4,000 acres. The destruction of this virgin forest, which stood as it stood in the days of Domesday, was the deliberate act of the Legislature in the middle of the glorious nineteenth century. Here in the history of it in day words are recorded the act of 1811 (14 and 15 Vict.) Hainault forest was dissolved, and of the 4,000 acres 1,937 were allotted to the crown in lieu of forestal and other rights, and what then remained was apportioned as commonable land among the several parishes to rights of common. Certain of the lands so apportioned to the parishes of Barkin, Chigwell, Dagenham, Stapford, Abbots, and Lambourne were subsequently enclosed under the provisions of the Enclosure Acts and allotted in severalty among the persons entitled. Thus it happened that Hainault, which rivalled Epping in extent and beauty, was reduced to some 300 acres, of which less than 20 are enclosed. All the rest, with the exception of some parts of parish common, is under cultivation.

The present scheme is to reverse the former process and restore the substantial portion of this lost forest. The author of it and the conductor of the negotiations with the moral support of the Commons Preservation Society is Mr. Burton, who has long been a vigilant and generous champion of the preservation of nature for the benefit of the people. The extent of his success and the amount of land reclaimed will depend on the public response which he has been so encouragingly topographical details without a map would be merely confusing, but some idea of the plan can be given. The negotiations already entered into cover two separate areas. The nucleus of the first is Lambourne Common, which consists of 158 acres of virgin forest land. It is here that the gypsies camp. Their number varies, but as a rule, runs into several hundreds. On Saturday they have between sixty and seventy vans on the green, besides tents. They help themselves to the trees for firewood, and their depredations, which are painfully visible, have long exercised the mind of the Commons Preservation Society. In fact, the necessity of getting rid of the gypsies has considerably stimulated the scheme. It is proposed to acquire the timber and the marginal strip of the common, and to add to these adjoining plots in a forestal state, the others are cultivated. The most important is an area of 65 acres belonging to the Crown. The ground is high and hilly and commands a view right across the Thames. The remaining and separate portion is known as Grange Hill Forest. It lies near Woodford Bridge and is a beautiful piece of pure forest. It all there will be 300 acres of forestal and 25 acres of cultivated land. Mr. Burton's idea is not to plant the litter with trees but to lay it down in grass, and so trees or let them grow themselves, which they do in a very interesting manner. Thorns and briars soon spring up and afford protection to the young saplings. In nearly every patch may be found a young oak or hornbeam.

The trees, it is to be noted, run considerably larger, where they still exist, of the Hainault side than in the rest of the Hainault forest. There is a stream that the whole area will be very fertile and will afford good ground for the new Great Eastern road construction, which is now leaving Hford round by Berkley and Chigwell to Woodford Bridge.—London Times.

MAN'S SILENT FRIEND

When Sleepy Joe's Love Died He Took to Whiskey and Flowers.

Evansville, Ind., July 16.—When Herman Luckett died a few days ago in the parlorhouse of Spencer county, near Rockport, a noble life ended, a life that might have been turned into more useful channels had it not been for unrequited love.

Luckett was born in Germany 65 years ago, and was educated in high grade, especially in the use of the German language, he being acknowledged as a brilliant German scholar. He was well connected, he being claimed that he was a second cousin of Adolph Fatt, and at the age of 40 was wealthy.

When he met the former of his life, which he did 25 years ago in the person of a highly accomplished young lady at port, his greatest love went out to her. He secured the promise of her hand. All preparations for the wedding were made, and he waited for the coming of the bride, but she waited in vain. The bride-to-be was wedded another and the heart of the ambitious man against the world, woman especially, Luckett withdrew from society and took to hard drink. His money and possessions soon went from him, and he began to beg. Then it was that he became known by the people of Rockport as "Sleepy Joe" because of the fact that he slept most of the time in shanties and barns about the town.

For the past 15 years he has been known as the "Spencer County Gravel King" on account of his habit of remaining in the parlorhouse all winter and at the earliest appearance of spring he would see that the gravel was laid down and sleep anywhere. He never gave anybody any trouble and was looked upon as harmless "Sleepy Joe." The poor man was often heard to remark that "flowers are man's silent friends" and his love for them was shown by the presence of a flower company in his possession.

"Sleepy Joe" was laid to rest in the cemetery field at Rockport, and his grave will remain unmarked, but by the thousands who know him and tried him in life he will not be forgotten.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them desire the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.
