NO REST, NO SLEEP.
How Energy and Ambition
Are Killed.
Vitality and Health Destroyed by Wakeful Nights.
Strong and Steady Nerves a Necessity.

To Neglect Them Means Certain Ruin.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Gives Strength and Vigor.

How many thousands today suffer from sleeplessness caused by nervous weakness. It is one of the incidents of American life, and you who read these lines are no doubt one of the great throngs.

There is no burden so painful, and no loss so wasteful. It wrecks the body and impairs the mind. It is the fearful harbinger of insanity. It has filled our asylums with its victims. You know this and gloomily dread the future. Weak, nervous and discouraged, the least excitement prostrates you, and you are always worrying over anticipated trouble. Nothing goes right, and you often feel like despairing. You do not feel equal to the burden you once bore so easily.

Take heed while it is time. You are in a whirlwind of destruction. You are in the very Niagara of our nervous modern life. Do not delay. Safety is right at hand, if you will but accept it. That loss of appetite, gas in the stomach, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, headache, etc., are but the first symptoms of the danger to come. It can be avoided, but only by acting at once.

Thousands have stood where you now stand confronted by the same frightful consequences, and have been cured and restored to health and happiness by that wonderful restorer of sleep, that physical restorer of nerve energy and physical strength, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is purely vegetable and entirely harmless.

Henry S. Wetzel, 25 Warren St., Revere, Mass., says:
"Early in the spring of 1900 I was taken with an attack of nervous prostration. I became so weak and nervous that I was not able to leave the bed. I could not sleep without taking a sleeping powder.
I got so thin and weak I thought I would never recover. I tried three different doctors but did not get any better. In fact, I was getting worse. One day my sister brought me a bottle of Nervura and I began taking it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I began to sleep well and that terrible nervousness disappeared, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was entirely cured and about my business again, which is that of collector. I still take Nervura occasionally when I feel a little out of sorts, and take great pleasure in recommending it to my friends. You are welcome to print this testimonial, and I thank you heartily for the good that Nervura has done for me."

This grand restorative for the nerves, Dr. Greene's Nervura, does not contain a particle of anything injurious, and can be given to restless and sleepless infants, nervous children or the most delicate invalid with absolute assurance of beneficial results. Dr. Greene of 101 Fifth Ave., New York City, the most successful physician in curing nervous and chronic diseases, discovered it, and he can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

INFERNAL MACHINE
Explodes Near Residence of Police Commissioner

FATALLY INJURES ONE

Seriously Wounded Half a Dozen Other Persons

Liege, Belgium, March 18.—On infernal machine exploded today outside the residence of Commissioner of Police Laurent, wrecking the house, fatally injuring an artillery officer, Major Papin, and seriously wounding half a dozen other persons. When the machine "was discovered Major Papin was summoned and was examining the package in which the machine was concealed when the explosion occurred. His legs were blown off and he shortly afterward succumbed.
A policeman who also lost his legs by the explosion is in a precarious condition. Thousands of windows were shattered. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage, but it is believed to have been the work of an anarchist.

A MORMON WIFE'S VIEWS.

Mrs. Morilla Young Ricker, a Mormon wife, writes of Mormon affairs in the New York World as follows:
"scold-marm." I studied law and have been an attorney for twenty-five years.
My home is in Chicago, and I've traveled all over the world.

I am a free thinker. I don't belong to any of the churches. They all look alike to me. There is a lot of good in all of them. My old friend, Bob Ingersoll, didn't belong to any of them, and he was as good a man as ever lived.

I have a great many friends in Utah, and I've come here to give them my moral support. I have frequently visited my relatives in Salt Lake. I used to stay there at the home of my cousin, Brigham Young. I knew all his wives well. I was entertained especially by his favorite wife, Amelia. The Mormons are as a rule, good, honest, simple, thrifty, industrious people. There are good Mormons and bad Mormons, just as there are good Gentiles and bad Gentiles, and good Jews and bad Jews. When you're as old as I am and have traveled about the world as much as I have, you'll understand that the Irishman was right when he said that "one man is as good as another, and sometimes a blamed sight better."

The Book of Mormon teaches polygamy.
So does the Bible? Was it nine hundred or a thousand?
In the old days Mormonism had its redeeming features. The women believed in it. Yes, it was to them a religion sent of God. Their souls were in it. Women are the heart of every church; and they're the heart of the Mormon church. Male Mormons are like male members of most churches. They married their wives before the manifesto, and they've clung to them in spite of the law.

You know what Tennyson writes of Laurel:
"His honor rooted in dishonor stood,
And faith unfaithful kept him falsely true."
Well, that's the way with these old follows.

The younger men are obeying the law.
Here's Mr. Richards. He's a good man.
He has only one wife. He has lovely children. Polygamy's dying out. I always said that the railway and the telegraph would kill it, and they have. It takes a rich man to keep more than one wife. A good many wives nowadays leave their husbands because they are unable to support one wife. Civilization will correct the evil. Mormons are ceasing to be clanish. Mr. Richards has two daughters and two married Gentiles. Don't you see how the thing is working itself out?

There's Mr. Smoot. He's a good man—a nice man—a true man. He has only one wife; and he's rich, too. Don't you know a lot of rich men would like to have more than one wife; and a lot of poor men, who, if they were rich, would like to have more than one wife?
Now, about the church being a political hierarchy. That's all bosh. It's no more a political autocracy than the Catholic church, or the Methodist church, or the Episcopal church, or the Presbyterian church, or the Baptist church, or any other church. When men unite they gain strength; and there are some men who are always eager to abuse the power.
Mormons are no exception. They want a finger in the pie, and they get it. All this talk about the Mormon church being a menace to our institutions is mere as-silation.

Suppose you bought the dignitaries of other churches here and made them answer these questions. Don't you suppose you'd find that these Christian churches would be put in a pretty bad light? Don't their bishops and others in authority advise the people what to do? Don't they meddle in politics? If so, go after the Mormons, where are we going to stop?

You see, I'm unprejudiced. I don't ask any bones of any church. There's need in all of them. None of them is perfect.
Let us judge not, that we be not judged!

RUSSIA'S WHITE CZAR.

An interesting picture of Nicholas of Russia has been drawn by a writer in the current Fortnightly Review. The principal points are as follows:
"The amusements of the czar are few.
He is fond of photography, sometimes indulging in a mood for the making of melancholy verse, and is an adept with the cylinder. When at Gatchina he is in the habit of cycling by himself for a portion of every day, but at Peterhof the work brought down from St. Petersburg and the constant interviews with ministers and officials consume the whole of his time, and a light in his majesty's writing room may be seen far into the night as he labors with the mountains of papers that are despatched to him by cunning ministers, who are resolved to surround the young czar with a parapet of detail in order to prevent his mastery of the larger questions affecting Russian policy.

"The czar is a kindly, softened, overworked and somewhat nervous man. His desire to do his duty compels him to engage in an unceasing struggle with details which are never overtaken. In this struggle he is helped by one of the best and noblest of women, whose virtues are derived through her mother from our own Queen Victoria. When the czar was a boy he had an English nurse, who taught him to speak English without accent, and planted in his mind a love of English methods of life and habits which he has never lost.

When the czar is in private costume he has recourse to an English tailor, English family life is his delight, and the English constitutional system he regards with a favorable eye. In character he is more like his grandfather than his father, but, notwithstanding his undoubted ability and fine disposition, he is too completely in the hands of his ministers and of his mother to exercise serious control over Russian policy.

"The atmosphere of suspicion and gloom produced by the constant sense of impending danger overshadows the spirit of every one at the Russian court. The czar never knows who are his friends and who his enemies. An abiding sense of distrust is the result, and hence the passionate affection that his majesty feels for his wife, whose faithful counsel and patient sympathy are the bright spots in one of the saddest lives in Europe."

COFFEE AHEAD

On the List of Rheumatism Producers, Dr. E. Chancellor of St. Louis has recently made public his investigations on the dangerous properties of Uric Acid in food and drink. Coffee heads the list with 70 grains of Acid to the pound.

Uric Acid is the chief cause of rheumatism and a dangerous element to go into the human stomach.
Dr. Chancellor is one of the many physicians who have in the past few years forbidden the use of coffee and told the people why, so often almost everyone knows for instance that coffee has the power of placing in the blood quantities of the little crystals of Uric Acid (these make rheumatism). The sharp particles drive in and out of the heart, but the debris of a day tend to injure the delicate valves and bring on valvular heart disease, a common result of rheumatism.

Another element in coffee is caffeine, a dangerous alkaloid that stimulates for a few moments or hours, and then attacks nerves, stomach, heart, head, kidneys and other organs.
It generally prevents sleep, and headaches frequently follow when the usual time for taking the drug is past.

Every sane person knows the result of any drug habit; first a cup now and then, next a cup every morning, and the drinking has become a slave and can't quit without a little fuss. So great is the demand for coffee that these managers have yielded to the temptation, and will put on the road this season, their phenomenal success. "Hoity Toity," which ran for a solid year at the New York theatre to capacity business, and could have run another, had Weber & Field's managed to originate from their established policy of an entirely new production every season.

It is fortunate for our lovers of light amusement, that this combination of tuneful melody, bright, snappy comedy without a suggestion of vulgarity, magnificent scenery, and a chorus noted for its stunning beauty and ability, is coming our way.

FAIR ELLEN.

The following dramatic event in English war history is responsible for the character known in literature as "Fair Ellen" and for the old song known by the title, "The Campbells are Coming." A serious mutiny occurs among the British troops of the garrison at Lucknow, India, and those who remain loyal are penned up and besieged in their great. Present arrangements are made to release them, but for months the mutineers prevented it. Meantime, the small party of gallant defenders were dwindling away from privation and sickness. Finally when they no longer had bread to eat, or shot to defend, and when they were preparing to die, the little daughter of the officer in command saw, in the far distance, the long expected relief approaching. But none of the soldiers could see what she saw and it was with great difficulty that she overcame their doubts.
Finally the relieving party came near enough so that their banners could be seen and their fires be heard. They were Scotch highland troops under command of Sir Colin Campbell, Little Ellen (afterwards called "Fair Ellen") kept insisting that what she saw in the distance was "The Campbells a Coming."

"THE CRISIS" WITH A NEW STAR To thoroughly enjoy "The Crisis," see Isabel Irving play Virginia Crisp. Had the part been written for her, the impersonation she gave it last night could not have been more appropriate. She brought all her ingenious quaint art to the role, and this, together with her girlish beauty, made the character particularly faithful to the ideal one forms of the ante-bellum heroine. After all, Virginia Crisp is the center of interest.
James K. Hackett's personality counted for much when he appeared as Stephen Eric, but it is well for Hackett—that Miss Irving did not first come to town in the drama.

It was in the nature of a surprise that she should step so adroitly into the picture. Under the Frohman banner she was often cast for parts that did not call for any particular originality. As Virginia she gave her ideas full rein. She took every advantage of the opportunities to introduce feeling, comedy, and she was never inactive. She ran the gamut of emotions from fine scorn in the first act to intense love as Stephen Eric's mettle became the more apparent.

Miss Irving had the added advantage of a rather well-balanced group of associates. Wilfred North played Stephen Eric. He was constantly in earnest and although a bit school-of-acting in the first act, he warmed to the applause and became a great favorite.

Charles Lamb proved a picturesque Judge Whipple. T. A. Hall appeared as Colonel Carvel.

Evangeline Irving, charming girl and promising actress, was Puss Russell. The piece had been carefully staged. In fact, the production was more worthy while than Hackett's own—St. Louis Republic, February 15.

Miss Irving will be seen for the first time in Wichita at the Crawford, matinee at 2:30 this afternoon and tonight at 8:15.

That Manager Martling of the Crawford is keenly alive to the situation, is strikingly demonstrated by the announcement that he has secured for an engagement of one night, Tuesday, March 22, Weber & Field's famous $3,000 production of "Hoity Toity," which is said to have been a success without a parallel in this style of amusement. At the close of their New York season in the late spring, Weber & Field's made a short tour of from four to six weeks, covering a few of the principal cities only. So great is the demand for Weber & Field's production that these managers have yielded to the im-portunities, and will put on the road this season, their phenomenal success. "Hoity Toity," which ran for a solid year at the

"Paine's Celery Compound is the best and most effective medicine I have ever taken. I was sick, dizzy, worn out for a long time and unable to attend to business. My blood was in troublesome condition. I was advised to try Paine's Celery

"Bad Blood--Neuralgia.
I testify in regard to Paine's Celery Compound, that I had had blood and was subject to neuralgia, was much bothered, having tried various specifics, but to no purpose; thought I would try
