SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

On this last of March, which escaped being an April fool by one day only, we of California are rejoicing over the sufficiently western country. At one time this promise to be a very much dried up state, but a continuous rain for every day since Easter afternoon has blessed us in many ways; assured our crops and changed long faces into smiling ones. So I can find no better beginning for my usual letter and trust California may accept your congratulations.

Rain is not such a necessity with you in beautiful Honolulu as to make it a subject for serious conjecture whether there shall be enough, for your heavens "drop their garnered fullness" on all occasions, whether in season or out of season. With us, however, many feel a sympathy for the man who said lately "hang a country where the prosperity of its people depends upon the rainfall." But then he was a dealer in wheat and had gone short on the market. The same individual said yesterday that he had concluded that this was "not so bad a country after all." Which goes to prove that we are apt to see things through the spectacles of our own circumstances.

Easter Sunday was celebrated here with more circumstance than usual. While Episcopal and Catholic churches always do their best in floral decorations and music, this year all the churches had extra music and profusion of flowers. Grace Cathedral, Episcopal, which always leads in the elaboration of its trimmings, was the finest ever seen in this city; ferns in most ingenious arrangement all around the immense building, camellias, magnolias, azaleas, tuberose, orange blossoms, white roses and choicest flowers of all kinds, were found in every conceivable design which ingenuity, taste and plenty of money could procure. While many of these named flowers are not rare with you, they are very expensive here but our wealthiest contributed from their hot-houses until the display was well worthy the occasion, and deserved all the enthusiastic admiration bestowed by those privileged to witness it.

Lent has held in check many entertainments which now will have additional interest from being temporarily withheld, and while people will "marry and be given in marriage," holy days or holidays, still it is considered rather the thing to marry early in Easter; so that, what with projected weddings, parties and dinners, all are busy, one-half of the world furnishing belonging for the other half. San Francisco has now nothing to complain of. Rain enough has fallen to assure crops through the country, which means plenty of orders from interior merchants, real estate changing hands at prices to suit buyers and sellers, homes going up everywhere and none to rent, and hotels full. The business outlook is altogether satisfactory. It is true that money continues to command high interest, though with a disposition to weaken. But, if New York merchants have to pay 14 per cent year annum, we must not expect to get any here for less than 8 or 10. In fact, some considerable shipments have been made East on account of high interest here.

Our "boss" corporation, the Central Pacific Railroad Company, is about to have a bank for its own use, probably inasmuch as Charles Crocker, William Crocker and R. W. Woodworth, now President of the First National Gold Bank, are to open a bank on Pine street, opposite the Stock Exchange, with a capital variously stated at from one to ten million dollars. Henry Villard, the coming railroad man, is said to have in view the purchase of the narrow gauge railroad now in operation from Alameda to Santa Cruz, extending the same north to connect with the Northern Pacific, south to the Atlantic & Pacific and thence east. It looks as though the center of railroad conflict was to be through the South and there is some foundation for the rumor that the Central Pacific was selling out stock in the Northern route via Ogden, placing earnings in Southern Pacific and letting the United States take the upper route by default. At least that's the talk now on the street.

Talking of corporations, a new enterprise is now on paper, nothing less than sweetening rancid butter by a process which is but little more than placing the article in hot water and charging the whole with electricity, when instantly the before useless stuff becomes as sweet and palatable as when first manufactured, and as fit for the table. So confident are the projectors of grand success that the stock has been immediately taken; so there may be "millions in it" or "to get."

The new cable road on Market street is being pushed with great vigor; gangs of men as thick as blackberries work not only all day and night but Sundays as well. As the land from Battery street down is "made" ground, the whole length to the ferry has to be piled. For this purpose a pile-driver is arranged on a set of car wheels, and to the enlivening strains of the emphatic bang the car horses dance and the crowds gaze as though the sight were no an everyday occurrence. Market street property still advances. W. W. Montague & Co., pioneers in the stove, ironware and plumbing line, and whose art rooms of tiles, mantels and brass-work are well worth a visit, will soon take their stand on Market street, opposite Front. J. C. Flood and others of the bonanza firm have invested nearly a million, and intend putting as much more, into improvements on the corner of Fourth and Market. If opposition is the life of trade, your people should be satel, for if the P. M. S. S. Co. give you two steamers a month, the Oceanic furnish the Mariposa and Alameda, and the Chinese direct line by agency of Goodall, Perkins & Co., take regular trips your way, you ought to be satisfied that you are not entirely neglected. The Oceanic steamship line evidently new business, if the Mariposa's model is any indication, as the best points of both American and English steamers now running to your port have been adopted. The re-arrangement of the company office on Market street is in keeping with the "Spreckels energy" and will be of great convenience to those having business with the firm. A word about the Saturday Press: If I expressed my own personal opinion solely, I should not expect it to carry much weight; but then it is the unanimous opinion, among those with whom I have talked concerning island topics, that your course is the only proper one and that you deserve to succeed for your manly and outspoken way of dealing with the Hawaiian Government's follies, frivolities and lapses of duty. I admire the sentiment of your editorial of March 17th; and trust you will have all needed moral and financial support to "fight it out on that line as Grant did," and if possible "out Grant old Grant."

Kinley to play off against the letter of Rev. Mr. Bishop.

Island people come and go, and meeting as many keeps one posted as to all your matters. The family of Hon. S. G. Wilder, as learned from private correspondence, are to return in May; and it is sincerely to be hoped they will find the energetic head of the family in his accustomed health, though a rumor traced to a Suez passenger reports him attacked with serious illness just before the steamer's departure. Young Hackfeld promenades California street as though "native and to the manner born;" while Lowrey and Robinson are frequently within hailing distance of the writer.

Your volcano has again a rival; Etna has commenced "erupting." As it costs more to visit Sicily than Hawaii, of course the average traveler will take the more expensive trip. Perhaps the eruption of the Old World volcano has induced the shocks of earthquake which did not cease this morning at 8 o'clock, much to the chagrin of nervous people and invalids. No bones seem to be broken though; and "it was really no great shakes of a quake, anyway."

Have you seen Gray, John S. Gray, who has just descended from Frisco with fifty to a hundred thousand dollars? Expert accountants are daily turning up differences in this retiring secretary's accounts. What first appeared a clerical error of perhaps five thousand dollars now foots up fifty one thousand, and the end is not yet. As the gentleman stands six foot four, he will have difficulty in keeping out of sight. Many think he has taken the route towards Honolulu—others believe his hills here.

Our city finances do not improve, our streets are dark as Erebus, nights, and the merry song of the harlot is heard after he has embraced one affectionately and taken all the tangible belongings! But what will the innocent footpad do for a living if the electric light illumines all the city as it now does some places? Certainly as a street light the gas "cannot hold a candle to it." This deprivation of lighted streets has forced more than one man to forego his club or his "business appointment" down town. ADOLPHUS. San Francisco, March 31, 1895.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

Secretary of the Treasury Folger is seriously ill. The "Star Route" trial still drags it weary length along. The new tariff regulations in the United States increase the duty on steel wire. The Arizona Apaches are on the warpath again, and have killed several settlers. There has been a small pox epidemic in Minnesota, now happily under complete control. There has been an increase of salaries of postmasters in the United States, all along the line. Work is to be prosecuted on the Portage, Washburne and Northwestern Railway, in Canada. The New York Times says the new tariff law in the United States is only a step towards free trade. Genial John McCullough, the actor of whom San Francisco is proud, has been ill, but is recovering. A recent telephone test in the United States resulted in distinct conversation, heard a distance of 750 miles. The Texas cowboys are on a strike and trouble is feared. The Trenton, N. J., iron-works are also on a strike. A "Federal Marriage Law" has been proposed, in order to equalize the marriage and divorce laws of the several United States. Money has been offered to O'Donovan Rossa, the Irish Socialist of New York, for "blowing up the Parliament buildings in London." The money was declined. A number of German capitalists have purchased a million acre land grant in Mexico. A report that Prince Bismark is connected with the scheme is denied. Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt announced a fancy dress ball. Some of the New York Socialists threatened to throw bombs through the windows; but did not do so. The "Anti Monopoly Party" in many states, including California, has issued calls for strict conventions to formulate some plan for action. The Republicans and Democrats are also active. A two-months old Jersey heifer calf was recently sold at Ramsey, N. J., for $12,000, and the trotting stallion Jerome Eddy, with a record of 2:16, recently sold at Buffalo, N. Y., for $25,000. The national banking system of the United States will receive an impetus if the new rule prevail that none of them shall in the future be required to pay any tax except a "tax on circulation." Reports continue to arrive from all sections of Nova Scotia regarding the damage to property by the freshets. While the losses will not reach a very large amount, the aggregate of the damage will be most serious. In nearly every county the bridges have been swept away. Washburns are reported and great damage has been done to fences, small bridges, etc. The New York Times, noticing the appointment by Secretary Teller of Mrs. Helen Hunt Jackson, special agent to investigate California Indian land titles, says: "It is an unprecedented thing, but there is propriety in it. In the philanthropic work of ascertaining the equitable rights of these poor people, dispossessed of their ancient holdings, Mrs. Jackson will have the good-will of all honest people."

It is reported that the new road from St. Louis to San Francisco via the St. Louis and San Francisco to Halstead, Kan., the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe to Albuquerque, New Mexico, the Atlantic and Pacific to the Needles, on the Colorado river, and the Arizona and Southern Pacific to San Francisco, is expected to be in complete operation by May 1st. The line will be three hundred miles shorter than the present one via Denning, and promises to become very popular in all seasons of the year. Commissioners, from the several United States of Central America have under consideration the terms of a projected federation of their Governments. The New York Age says: "The scheme of a Central American union is old. In fact, should the present movement succeed, it may properly be described as a revival of the former confederation. There ought to be no great difficulty in bringing about a necessary agreement upon all the questions at issue. It ought to be easy for the States to establish a union upon terms that are honest, fair and directed to common interest. Let Central America be united. The Coast and Geologic Survey steamer Albat has returned to New York with the distinction of having made the deepest sounding ever before made in the Atlantic Ocean. On the 19th of January in latitude 19° 41' north, 60° 24' west, about 102 miles north of St. Thomas, the lead did not touch bottom until 4,501 fathoms of the line had been paid out. The greatest depth heretofore found in the Atlantic has been 3,600 fathoms. The location of this sounding was close to that of the present one, and was made by the Challenger, which, sent out by the Royal Society of England, made soundings in the Atlantic between the years 1872 and 1876. There was recently a report in Washington that the British minister had received instructions from the London Foreign Office directing inquiry into the incendiary utterances of Irish Nationalists in America. A group of Irish Assistant Secretary of State Davis said if there had been any communication received from the British government, it would not be proper matter to discuss with the public. It was, no doubt, very annoying to the English government and people to feel that men are directed to another country, and to some extent encouraged in their sympathies with and indirect aid to assassins and dynamite plotters, who are giving them so much trouble; but this government has dealt only with facts, and not under the laws as they stand upon one statute book. Much more importance is attached to other countries to sensational reports and rumors related in our papers than they give to them here. They do not understand beyond the liberty of the press as it exists here.
