PITTSBURG BOSS EXPECTED TO RUN ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN

(By ALBERT.)
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—The simmering of the political pot became less pronounced as the immediate effect of the two big conventions passed away. President Taft selected his secretary, Charles D. Hilles, to manage his campaign. Governor Wilson intimated that McCombs, who aided him in securing the nomination would be given the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee. It is now suggested that William Finn, the Progressive boss of Pittsburg, will be given the same position by Col. Roosevelt when his "Bull Moose" convention formally places him in the running.
There have been some conferences and consultations at the White House, but nothing of practical value was accomplished. The most important conclusion was that President Taft will not do any extensive swinging around the country during his campaign. He will leave the fireworks and oratory to others.
The President has definitely decided that he will not go over the country seeking the support of voters. That he will make some speeches, is probable. But they will be delivered either to visiting delegations calling at Beverly or Washington or in points in the east that will be convenient and the occasions appropriate. Even the number of speeches is to be limited. The President feels that his views on public questions are already thoroughly well known and that it will not be necessary to amplify his former utterances to an extensive degree.
The significance of a no-campaign trip for Mr. Taft, is that he will permit all that sort of thing to be done by Roosevelt and Wilson. The President has never ceased to regret the circumstances that compelled him to take the stump against the attacks of Roosevelt, and no influence can induce him to repeat that sort of thing. Fighting against bitter and unfair attacks when he was a candidate for the nomination does not make it necessary, in his opinion, that he should reply on a campaign tour, to similar attacks now that he is a regular candidate. He thinks that the country very fully understands the issues and the time-honored custom that a President shall not go on the stump in behalf of his own re-election.
The "Silent Vote."
Republican managers feel that there is a big element of strong men in the country who deplore the departure already made from dignified precedents as to what Presidents and ex-Presidents shall do, in or out of politics, and who will be gratified that Mr. Taft even now upholds their view. It is believed in some quarters that an immense number of votes will be cast this fall after consideration of the personal conduct and attitude of the three candidates.
At his summer home at Beverly and when he returns to Washington this fall the President will receive visitors and talk to them in response to requests. Just as effective speeches would be letters answering correspondents and friends, a method adopted

SAYS AMERICA IS ON THE DECLINE

BERLIN, July 13.—The United States has reached its period of decline, is announced by Baron von Barnekow, a widely traveled German, who contributes to the Reichsbote, a Berlin newspaper, an article summarizing impressions he gained on the latest of his many visits to America. Articles of this nature are not infrequently in the German press, but ordinarily they are written with such a manifest animus that they deserve no notice. Baron von Barnekow, on the contrary, writes in a matter of fact way, without a trace of anti-American feeling, and appears to be genuinely glad to be able to see some hope that the decline may be arrested.
That this decline has begun, writes the Baron, must be observed by any person who visits America after an absence of a few years. The change for the worse has been very rapid. The scenes that have attended the Presidential campaign for the Presidential nomination are but one indication of the change, which is marked by a hitherto unknown indifference, a tendency to let things take their course; by an unhealthy and excessive self-appreciation and a general coarsening of moral views.
All these, says Baron von Barnekow, are products of the last few years. The moral coarsening has worked down from the top, from the newly rich. Another indication of decay is the alleged fact that the American intolerance of the drone, of the gentleman of leisure, is beginning to disappear. Suggested as a possible contributing cause of the decline is the fact that the birth rate among the old American families is falling off, while it remains high among the South European immigrants. The old families of the New England States and of the South have as yet been less affected by the demoralizing tendency of present American affairs than the people of any other section.
It is, however, in the farmers of the United States that Baron von Barnekow sees a possibility of arresting the downward movement. As yet, he says, they have not been touched by the moral decline.

PIRGIMAGES TO SEA GIRL

Pilgrimages to Sea Girl continue and many of the faithful Democrats have flocked there and paid their respects to Governor Widson. Among the number was Speaker Clark, who has not recovered from the soreness caused by his defeat at Baltimore. He refused to indicate his impressions of Governor Wilson and would say nothing regarding their meeting.
Senator La Follette is engaged in preparing a statement setting forth his views of the third party movement. He will also not fail to express his precise opinions of Col. Roosevelt. The Senator will always believe the Colonel betrayed him and destroyed his chances of securing the nomination by becoming a candidate on his own hook. Mr. La Follette feels extremely bitter toward the former President.

HATCHET THROWN AT THE PREMIER

DUBLIN, July 18.—The arrival of Prime Minister Asquith in Dublin tonight was characterized by much popular enthusiasm and also by disturbances on the part of the suffragettes. An attempt made by the suffragettes to hold a demonstration on the arrival of the Prime Minister's boat was frustrated by the authorities, but during the progress of the party to the Hotel Gresham a hatchet was thrown at his carriage.
It was at first reported that the weapon struck John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, on the head, but this proved to be erroneous.
Redmond was slightly injured while entering the hotel, where the crush was so great that his head was jammed against the door.
When he appeared on the balcony with the Prime Minister it was seen that his head was bleeding and it was supposed that it was due to a blow from the hatchet.
Two women who occupied a box at the Dublin Theater, where Asquith will speak tomorrow, threw a blazing chair into the orchestra and set fire to the box curtains, causing a panic. One of the women escaped, but the other, who gave the name of Gladys Evans and said she came from England, was arrested. After this incident two English suffragettes handed in a statement at the offices of the Irish Times in which they declared they had come to Ireland with a full sense of the responsibility of having accepted the challenge of the Right Honourable Lancaster, by burning, not an English castle, but a Dublin theater.

DRYING THE HAIR

Marie.—The hair should always be thoroughly dried after shampooing. Very serious trouble is often caused by going to bed with damp hair, or dressing it before it is thoroughly dry. It is always better to dry the hair by rubbing with warm towels. It can also be dried with cold air if the patient is not afraid of taking cold. The tangles should be combed out before the hair is perfectly dry. Then rub in a tonic, massage the scalp thoroughly and brush for five or ten minutes, or until dry.
