H. K. BISHOP TO HOLD ON FOR AWHILE

Instead of stepping out of the office he has occupied for just three months and a half Hubert K. Bishop, superintendent of public works has consented to continue temporarily in the capacity.

This announcement today by Governor Frazier solves a problem that threatened to prove very unpleasant to the territory and to the chief executive, who was not prepared to immediately select a new man for the office.

Under the law, the chief executive states, no one would have authority to sign contracts for the board of harbor commissioners or the public works department if Bishop's resignation had taken effect today and all new business would be absolutely stopped until another superintendent was appointed.

The governor's acceptance of Bishop's resignation therefore has been extended indefinitely, or until he has found time to choose a successor to the position. Meantime A. C. Wheeler, the assistant superintendent, will assume active charge of the department, while Bishop's only duties will be to sign contracts and serve as chairman of the harbor board.

The latter has offered to continue his official connection with the territorial government in this manner and serve without pay from this time forward. The latter feature is his own suggestion.

PUBLICITY BRINGS TOURISTS GALORE TO HONOLULU NEI

"I believe that it is the mainland publicity which has been given to the Floral Parade and the Mid-Pacific Carnival that has attracted an unusually large number of tourists to the Hawaiian Islands this year," said Secretary H. P. Wood, of the promotion committee, this morning. "The attractions which are being offered here this month have aroused the interest of the traveling public in all parts of the United States, and as the tourists have headed toward other points of interest in past years, in the same manner are they going to head toward Hawaii in future years."

In the offices of the promotion committee is a list of all tourists arriving in Honolulu since the first of the year. The number of arrivals was small for the first two weeks, and then it began to advance by leaps and bounds until now it has reached a total of 1217, many of this number having expressed intentions of remaining in the city for the festivities which take place next week.

In figuring up the number of arrivals during this month, it has been estimated that there will be fifty per cent more tourists arrive in Honolulu the month of February than arrived during January, and seventy per cent more arrived last month than in January, 1912. According to reports received by the local steamship agencies, the Sonoma, which is due to arrive here next Monday morning, is bringing one hundred and forty cabin passengers for Honolulu, and the Wilhelmina, scheduled to arrive next Tuesday, is bringing one hundred and twenty-seven. Summing up these figures, and including the large number of passengers which will arrive on the Mongolia next Friday, it is estimated that more than four hundred tourists will arrive in Honolulu during next week.

After an investigation, Secretary Wood said this morning that tourist accommodations in Honolulu this year would be sufficient. Many tourists wired ahead months ago for reservations in the different hotels. The hotels, it is believed, will be well used, but the numerous boarding and rooming houses throughout the city, as well as many private families offering rooms for rent, will be able to handle the rest of the crowd, and the promotion committee has prepared a list of these places which it is believed will meet all requirements.

The Floral Parade and the Carnival has been extensively advertised for months past throughout the States and in other countries, both by the promotion committee and by local people who have the interest of Hawaii at heart. An attraction like that which Hawaii is offering this year can be seen only one place in the world, and that place is Honolulu. The word Hawaii in itself is an attraction, for these islands have happily come to the front as being a great center of trade and commerce. Even though the tourist arrival this year has fulfilled all expectations, this number, it is expected, will be doubled next year.

Use of the automobile must be curbed, he said. Chauffeurs must be identified by finger prints and subjected to a rigid character test and a "finger print" law of wide application to every person found guilty of any offense must be enacted. In addition Judge McAdoo said detectives and the uniformed police should be so far apart that they do not even know each other by sight.

"The automobile has been eagerly seized by criminals as the most effective weapon ever devised for their purposes," said Judge McAdoo. "Chauffeurs have exceptional responsibilities, therefore, and every man driving a car should be compelled to prove that he is a man of moral standing."

Use of finger prints in identifying women residents of disorderly districts also was recommended by Judge McAdoo. Chicago is likely soon to have a court for women only. Judge Olson told Judge McAdoo.
