

MANAGER BROWN'S WORK FOR SUGAR HITS MAINLAND MARK

Effective Campaigning Reaches Not Only Congressmen but Pres. Wilson as Well

Unusually effective work in the campaign for sugar protection is being done by George A. Brown, manager of the Hawaii Shoe Company. As a result of his activity in bringing the sugar situation to the attention of business associates and interests on the mainland, the mainlanders have taken the matter up not only with a number of influential senators and representatives, but with President Wilson directly as well.

Among the many letters Mr. Brown has received showing how his letters have hit the mark is the following from Henry C. Eames of the H. B. Claffin Company, a big shoe concern of New York. Mr. Eames writes:

New York, April 10, 1913.
Mr. Geo. A. Brown, Manager Hawaii Shoe Company, Ltd., Honolulu, T. H.
Dear Mr. Brown:—Replying to your favor of March 24, addressed to the firm in regard to the sugar tariff, would say I enclose clipping from the Journal of Commerce of yesterday, April 9. This article was written by my brother, the first vice-president and manager, to our President Woodrow Wilson, and shows how we stand and what steps we have taken to obviate the cutting down of the tariff on sugar. I am also enclosing under separate cover full newspaper of this same date with the article marked. This is not the only tariff revision article that my brother or the firm has entered into extensively. The new session of congress met last Monday and they are now working along the tariff revision line, but at this date have not got down to debate the tariff, being the caucus session now. I trust very much that they will not change the tariff on sugar and on several other articles that are before the house at the present time. They were elected under a tariff revision and President Wilson will endeavor to do all he can to lower the tariff, and of course put on an income tax to raise revenue where loss is made by the reduction of other articles.

Trusting you will be pleased with this letter of my brother's to the president, and with kind regards and hoping to hear from you soon again, I remain, very truly yours,

H. C. EAMES.

The article referred to by Mr. Eames is a column and a half long and goes into the sugar situation fully. The commercial destruction of the Hawaiian Islands under a free sugar program is emphatically prophesied. The article is taken up largely with the publication of letters from Hawaii, among them being one from C. C. von Hamm, of the von Hamm-Young Co.

Another effective piece of campaigning was done by Mr. Brown with the Utz & Dunn Co., shoe manufacturers of Rochester, N. Y. In reply Mr. W. H. Dunn writes that he has taken up the question with Senators Root and O'Gorman, and also with New York representatives, and hopes to have put the matter favorably before them.

Several other letters are also cited showing that Mr. Brown's letters have gone directly to congressmen as arguments against tariff-slashing.

HAWAII WOMAN DOES GOOD WORK IN SUGAR FIGHT

William J. Kline will be remembered by many friends in Honolulu and other islands as the proprietor of the Amsterdam (N. Y.) Recorder who has twice visited the islands and is to be reckoned as a constant friend of all that is best for Hawaii.

The Star-Bulletin has received a copy of the Evening Recorder of April 16, in which the following appears as the leading editorial:

MRS. JUDD'S APPEAL.
"Mrs. A. Francis Judd, of Honolulu, widow of Chief Justice Judd, of Hawaii, who is one of the most highly esteemed women of the territory, says in a personal letter to the editor of the Recorder:

"All the people out here who are the most interested in the best welfare of these islands, deplore the prospect of the free sugar bill passing in Washington, under the new administration, and are doing all they can to defeat it. I beg that you will use your influence and help us in our hour of need.

"If the tariff is taken off Hawaiian sugar, it means disaster to all the best interests of the islands. Only think how the finest and noblest men of this country have worked and slaved and risked everything to make Hawaii what it should be, and sugar is the main industry.

"Sugar is not high priced now, even with the tariff on it. If the free sugar bill passes the only people benefited will be the trustees, which turn up like vultures to get all they can in whatever way possible. The poor people will not be benefited, and those who have risked so much for the islands' sake will be the sufferers. Business interests here will go back and down.

"It seems such a pity when affairs are so prosperous now. Everyone here is doing all that is possible to save the life of the territory, and to protect the interests of all Americans in Hawaii.

"There are large gatherings held here to voice the sentiment of the public on the sugar tariff question, and we hope they will be productive of great good. We have to act at once."

"Mrs. Judd has a comprehensive grasp of the situation and her appeal should receive careful attention. To an unprejudiced mind it would certainly seem that the proposed action

SUFFRAGE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

"While the adoption of this resolution means that Paxon's seat in this house will be forever vacant, nevertheless I move its adoption." Thus spoke Representative Paxon in the house yesterday afternoon. He smiled broadly, and all the members smiled with him, though Paxon was sincere, believing his statement to be true.

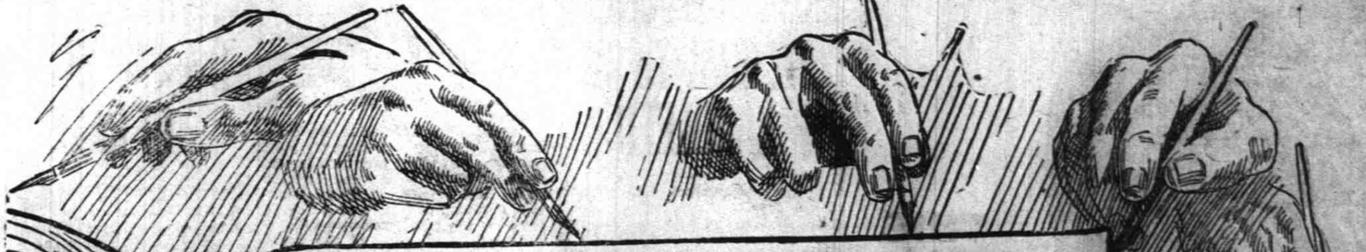

It was the equal suffrage resolution, introduced last week by Speaker Holstein, asking congress to grant a plebiscite in Hawaii, to let the voters say whether the women shall be enfranchised. The resolution was reported favorably by the Oahu delegation, of which Paxon is chairman, and was adopted by the house. Thus the representatives have done their duty in the matter, and have provided artillery for the next political campaign.

All except Paxon, however. His action in the school department investigation apparently has incurred the enmity of the female school teachers, some of whom, two days ago, openly boasted of what they would do to him after they were given the ballot.

No rollcall was taken on the resolution, as such action is unnecessary, so it is not known just who would have appeared in active opposition. The measure must yet be passed by the senate before it can go to congress.

At a massmeeting in Tokyo 20,000 people cheered the demand that the Japanese government resort to war in protest against the alien land bill now being considered in California. The newspapers in the city denounce the hysterical element.

of congress with regard to the sugar tariff menaces the interests of Hawaii. No other conclusion is possible from the point of view of any one who believes in even moderate protection. Delegate Kalaniana'ole says: "The Hawaiian Islands form an extreme example of a one-industry country. Ninety-nine per cent of the commerce of these islands is based either directly or indirectly upon sugar production; necessarily, therefore, the wiping out of four-fifths of our plantations by free sugar legislation will mean industrial disaster for the Hawaiian Islands. The economic effect upon our islands will be to change Hawaii from a one-industry to a no-industry country."

The Book of Experience tells the wonderful help of SANATOGEN to Nervous and Run-Down People

Professor Thomas D. Stillman, M.S., Ph.D.
The well-known research chemist of Stevens Institute, writes:
"The chemical union of the constituents of Sanatogen is a true one, representative of the highest skill in the formation of a product containing phosphorus in the organic phosphate condition, and so reaching that distinctive and essential of Sanatogen—a residue of impurities with the greatest care."

Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P.
The eminent novelist, writes from London:
"Sanatogen is to my mind a true food-tonic, feeding the nerve, increasing the energy and giving fresh vigour to the overworked body and mind."

David Belasco
The eminent dramatic author, writes:
"It gives me pleasure to let you know the wonderfully beneficial results I have experienced from the use of your Sanatogen. It has a most invigorating effect upon the nerves, and I heartily recommend it to all who, like myself, are obliged to overwork. After my personal experience I can readily vouch for its recuperative qualities."

John Burroughs
The distinguished naturalist and author, writes:
"I am sure I have been greatly benefited by Sanatogen. My sleep is fifty per cent better than it was one year ago, and my mind and strength are much improved."

George Ade
The humorist, writes:
"I have given Sanatogen a trial, and I am convinced of its merits."

Lady Henry Somerset
The prominent social reform advocate, writes:
"Sanatogen undoubtedly restores strength, invigorates the nerves and braces the patient to health. I have watched its effect on people whose nervous systems have been entirely unimpaired, and I have proved Sanatogen to be most valuable."

Hon. Wm. T. Chandler
Former Secretary of the Navy, ex-Senator from New Hampshire, writes:
"Sanatogen is a pleasant nutrient for cases of impaired digestion. It strengthens without irritating and is recommended by a leading doctor."

Hon. John W. Kern
U. S. Senator from Indiana, writes:
"As a restorative and tonic, Sanatogen has been of real benefit to me. I feel sure that its recuperation is deserving all the praise that has been bestowed upon it."

Charles D. Sigbee
Rear Admiral U. S. Navy, writes:
"After a thorough trial of Sanatogen, I am convinced of its merits as a food and tonic. Its beneficial effects are beyond doubt."

Lionel Lincoln
Member House of Representatives, writes:
"I have taken Sanatogen at the suggestion of a friend and am very pleased with the result. The preparation exerts a very agreeable and beneficial action upon one's digestion and imparts a feeling of strength and vigor."

Prof. C. A. Ewald
of Berlin University, Doctor honoris causa Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, writes:
"I can say that I have used Sanatogen in a great number of cases that is, in those disturbances of metabolism which were mainly of a nervous or neurotic origin, and have obtained excellent results."

Hon. Geo. C. Perkins
U. S. Senator, former Governor of California, writes:
"I have found Sanatogen to be a very pleasant nutrient and tonic and extremely helpful in conditions of nervousness and poor digestion."

Hall Caine
The dramatist, writes:
"My experience of Sanatogen has been that it is a tonic and food. It has on more than one occasion benefited me."

Mrs. Sarah Crand
Author of the "Heavenly Twins," writes:
"I began to take Sanatogen after nearly four years' enforced idleness from extreme debility, and felt the benefit almost immediately. And now, after taking it steadily three times a day for twelve weeks, I find myself able to enjoy both work and play again, and also am able to do as much of each as I ever did."

Prof. C. von Noorden of Vienna University, writes:
"Sanatogen is of especial value in various forms of anaemia and general debility. It is an excellent albuminous preparation."

David Warfield
The beloved actor, says:
"I'm pleased to say that Sanatogen has done all you claimed for it. It not only restores the appetite but is a real blood-builder and is a remarkable revitalizer for an overworked nervous system."

Hon. Wm. L. Chamberlain
Former Chief Justice International Court, writes:
"Sanatogen has been used in my family with the most excellent results, and I do not hesitate to recommend this valuable remedy to those whose systems need building up. It is a most invigorating tonic."

The King of Saxony's Private Physician
Surgeon General Professor Dr. Tillmann writes:
"I am and shall always be, a great admirer of Sanatogen."

Mrs. Amelia E. Barr
The well-known authoress, writes:
"I send my sincere gratitude for the marvelous help I have derived from the use of Sanatogen. When I commenced it seven weeks ago, I was in an extremity of nervous weakness brought on by long continued mental work, accentuated by the shock of a bad fall backward. Slowly at first, but surely, it steadied and strengthened me, so that now I have almost my usual good health."

Hon. Miles Poindexter
U. S. Senator from Washington, writes:
"I am sure Sanatogen has benefited me greatly. A few weeks' use of it has produced better digestion, better sleep and a feeling of greater strength."

Late King Edward's Physician
Dr. Ernest Ott, writes:
"I have been using Sanatogen for a number of years in my practice with excellent results. These results have been notably good in the case of elderly people when it was desirable to build up the strength, to stimulate the bodily functions, and to improve the circulation of the blood."

Hon. Shelby M. Cullom
U. S. Senator from Illinois, writes:
"I can state that I have been decidedly benefited by the use of your Sanatogen. I consider this preparation very valuable as a reconstructive of the nervous system."

The Rt. Rev. the Bishop of Bath and Wells
"The Palace, Wells, Somerset:
"You may like to hear that I am informed by my private secretary that a member of his family has derived very remarkable benefit from using Sanatogen."

When frazzled men and women, the leaders in thought and action, acknowledge the splendid help of Sanatogen, when 15,000 practising physicians record in writing their experience of its wonderful, revitalizing effect, when leading medical journals and text books publish the beneficent results of its use—can there be any room for doubt that Sanatogen will help you?

At one time or other, we all need "something to strengthen and tone up." We feel run-down and listless. I can't get on, poor appetite and digestion. These danger signals the wise will heed. They must replenish the sources of our strength and vitality and bring back to us the stability of Sanatogen. Composed of the two life-giving substances, purest albumin and organic phosphorus in scientific combination (produced by U. S. Letters Patent) Sanatogen is essential to the nourishment of the starved tissues and cells, renews a depleted and assimilation and fortifies the very foundations of physical health and energy. This is borne out by the recorded experience of more than 15,000 physicians and of thousands of men and women in every walk of life. If you are wise you will be guided by this experience so overwhelmingly convincing.

A Remarkable Book FREE upon request

We ask you earnestly to get acquainted with Sanatogen. Investigate our claims first if you like and we are only too glad to have you do so. Ask your doctor about it, and in any case write at once for our book, "Our Nerves of Tomorrow," the work of a physician-author, written in an absorbingly interesting style, beautifully illustrated and containing facts and information of vital interest to you. This book also contains evidence of the value of Sanatogen which is so remarkable as it is conclusive.

PROTECT SUGAR FOR SAKE OF CONSUMER

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal: Beyond the amount a reasonable rate of income tax would bring, the government needs some thirty million dollars of revenue, which can be assessed upon sugar at a reduced duty and give consumers cheaper sugar, and at the same time permit the domestic sugar producers and manufacturers to live and compete in trade.

If this revenue is not assessed on sugar it will be assessed in the form of increased income tax, as the government must collect it from the people in some form.

No tax can be more equitable than the tax on sugar, which every person in the country will pay in proportion to their consumption of sugar, and amounting annually to so small a figure as 25 cents per capita, that it will not be felt. This is based on a duty of 80 cents per 100 pounds Cuba sugar, against present duty of $1.34, or 40 per cent reduction.

This reduction would decrease the profits of the beet sugar manufacturers some $7,000,000 and would be so large a cut that only those factories could stand it as are suitably located and properly managed.

Inasmuch as the people must pay the tax in any event, it will be better to assess it on sugar and save and continue a legitimate industry, which is a good thing for the country in protecting the general consumer by producing at home a sufficient quantity of a necessity of life to prevent advantages being taken by foreigners. If all duty is taken off sugar, the closing of domestic factories will give the trade to foreigners, who will eventually advance prices, and our people will receive no benefit by the removal of duty but must still pay the increased income tax while the benefits go to foreigners.

The consumer gets cheaper sugar under the protection of duty to the home industry than he will without such protection against the European speculative sugar exchanges. Today sugar is 74 cents per 100 pounds below world's prices. This is equivalent to a duty of 61 cents per 100 pounds on Cuba raws instead of $1.34 because our free and privileged supplies of sugar have so increased under protection that we are independent of European prices and now under the influence of competition among the sugar producers at home.

It might be said that if the domestic sugar industry is no longer an infant industry requiring protection on its own account, it has reached a point where it requires protection on account of the domestic consumer. Let us reduce the duty, but leave sufficient to insure a domestic production large enough to successfully compete with foreign countries, in the interest of the general consumers of America.
