MEN FROM HAWAII CALLED IN "LOBBY" PROBE

Weather Expert "Calls" Man Who Trust Memory

W. R. Castle Qualifies in 'Oldest Inhabitant' Class and Produces the Figures Too

Don't make rash statements on the weather without consulting W. R. Castle, for he can go way back with records and "call" you if you're wrong. All the oldest inhabitants who say that yesterday's rainfall broke a record should read the following from the unofficial weather "observer":

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin,
Sir:—I am afraid that "oldest inhabitant" who told the advertiser that yesterday's rain was the record for thirty-four years, must have been absent on the rainiest days. Here they are for thirty years. I have nothing earlier:

1885—May 11.....	8.99 inches
1890—Feb. 14.....	5.43 inches
1890—Mar. 8.....	3.73 inches
1892—May 4.....	4.61 inches
1893—Feb. 3.....	4.68 inches
1893—Nov. 19.....	5.09 inches
1894—Feb. 15.....	3.69 inches
1895—Dec. 13.....	6.03 inches
1895—Dec. 31.....	3.75 inches
1896—Dec. 31.....	4.30 inches
1900—Nov. 26.....	5.69 inches
1904—Feb. 11.....	7.57 inches
1906—Nov. 29.....	3.45 inches
1906—Dec. 14.....	3.67 inches
1907—June 2.....	3.51 inches
1908—Mar. 16.....	4.88 inches

Which shows that it isn't always safe to go by your memory.

OBSERVER.

The ghost of Noah smiled yesterday. Something like a real rain fell. To say that the storm caused 3.26 inches of rain to fall here is startling in itself, but when compared with the precipitation on parts of Kauai Monday it fades away as a thing insignificant. For according to the news which has reached here 9.18 inches fell in 24 hours at Maikawai, a place where the total rainfall for 1912 only amounted to 7.66.

At other places on Kauai heavy storms were felt. Two and one-half inches fell at Lihue, at Koloa it was twice that much. Two inches fell at Kealia and on the McBride plantation 5 inches were measured. From the meager reports received from other islands it is shown that heavy storms have been felt there during the week. Last year only .34 of an inch was registered during June. It is 3.26 now.

YOKOHAMA PAPER BOLDLY DECLARES JAPAN HAS REMEDY IN OWN HANDS

Japanese papers received by the latest mail discuss interestingly but rather inconclusively the California alien land-ownership controversy. An exception is the Japan Gazette of Yokohama, which puts the responsibility for permanent settlement of the subject squarely up to Japan herself. The Japanese press—speaking now of papers published in the Japanese language—attack California's attitude freely and with more or less sharpness, according to their radical or conservative stand. The papers published in English criticize California's attitude but offer little in the way of solution, generally straddling the naturalization question.

The Japan Gazette expresses itself forcibly as follows:

"Our vernacular contemporaries continue to show considerable feeling in regard to California's proposed legislation to exclude foreigners from owning land henceforth in the Golden State, but it appears that they, one and all, miss the leading point in the issue, viz., that the remedy of any grievance lies in the hands of the Japanese government. The latter has two special courses open to it in order to adjust the situation on a more or less permanent footing: (1) to conclude a naturalization treaty with the United States, and (2) to place the Japan's alien land-ownership on a basis of reciprocity with the alien land-ownership of Great Britain. We have heretofore referred passively to these means of adjustment, but their importance justifies more complete treatment. In regard to a naturalization treaty, there seems no existing legal bar in America to its conclusion. The present conditions for citizenship could be applied to a Japanese. He must, before his final admission to citizenship, declare on oath in open court that he will support the Constitution of the United States and entirely renounce all foreign allegiance. He must have resided continuously within the United States five years at least, have behaved as a man of good moral character, be attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and be well-disposed to the good order and happiness of the same. He must be able to speak the English language. These are about all the conditions now required, and granting that a Japanese could be relied upon sincerely to renounce his allegiance to His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, there is nothing in the conditions which he could not conceivably meet. It is true that the naturalization of persons of Mongolian blood is expressly prohibited by a law of 1882, but anthropologists are by no means agreed that the Japanese are 'of Mongolian blood,' and it is to be noted that this exception does not appear as an amendment to the Constitution, so that its constitutional validity is open to doubt. As a matter of fact, Japanese have been naturalized in America. It should also be noted that this exception should be analyzed in the light of the intent of its makers, and the date of its enactment 1882, when there was absolutely no Japanese question in America, clearly attests that it was not intended to apply to the Japanese. On the other hand, every summary of this exception describes the law as 'expressly prohibiting the naturalization of Chinamen,' and the paragraph is sub-headed 'Chinese.' On these lines a strong argument for an American-Japanese naturalization treaty might be set up, supported by the fact that American citizens can now become naturalized in Japan. Once naturalized, Japanese constitutionally become actual citizens of the United States, and enjoy all the protection and privileges of citizens.

KALANIANA'OLE HOLDS UP NEW POSTMASTERS

Delegate Maintains That These Offices Have Never Been Political Spoils

By C. S. ALBERT

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—The three Hawaiian postmasters, appointed early in the present administration, are being held up until Delegate Kalaniana'ole is given a hearing by the senate committee on postoffices and postroads. He requested that no action be taken in the direction of confirming these selections until his views had been expressed. In naming postmasters it is the invariable rule for the senate committee to submit the nominations to whoever represents the localities concerned. In this instance the names were sent to the delegate, there being no senator or representative for Hawaii. Approval was withheld until a hearing could be arranged. Meantime, the three nominations remain before the committee and have not been favorably reported to the senate. The selections were made at the suggestion of John H. Wilson, national committeeman from Hawaii for the Democrats. It is expected confirmation will be eventually accomplished, but the usual rules of courtesy will be followed and nothing done until the delegate can be heard. "My request for a hearing is based solely on the ground that postmasters have not been and should not be regarded as political appointments. They should not be classified as spoils of war. They are more in the nature of civil service officials than purely political selections. "It has never before happened in Hawaii that postmasters have been regarded as political prizes. For ten years to my personal knowledge this condition has not arisen. It is an entirely new departure and one which is a step backwards, in my opinion. "Capability and fitness have heretofore ruled in the selection of postmasters in Hawaii. These officials have been chosen without reference to whether they were Republicans or Democrats. The person best adapted for the place has always been given the office.

President Woodrow Wilson. He says unfair lobbying will be exposed, and claims to have some evidence.

WIRELESS KRUMM WILL VISIT THE LOCAL STATIONS

Will Make Inspection Prior to the Granting of Licenses on the Islands

L. R. Krumm, United States radio inspector, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., arrived here today on the Korea, for the purpose of examining all the wireless stations on the islands precedent to recommending the issuance of licenses to them by U. S. Radio inspector R. B. Woolverton, in charge of the Pacific Coast division, which includes Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

Inspector Woolverton was prevented from making the trip by reason of the press of business in his office owing to the strike, and his office being busy with seeing that the laws concerning the wireless service are obeyed by ship masters. Six of these stations belong to the wireless department of the Mutual Telephone Limited and one to the Federal Telephone Company. At the conclusion of his business here, Chief Krumm will go to the Los Angeles district to inspect stations there, and may visit Seattle before returning to Washington.

Inspector Woolverton says that vessels in San Francisco have no difficulty in procuring licensed operators from the Marconi Company. He has sent a report to Washington concerning a violation of the law by the steamers Speedwell and the Nan Smith, which left a small northern port with only one operator on each. This was explained by the fact that in such a small port it was impossible to obtain more than the two operators employed.

Inspector Woolverton denied the published report that he was about to be suspended, and says it originated from some unknown persons of malevolent disposition.

MISS SARAH HEATH, prominent in society circles in San Francisco, is making arrangements to depart about the middle of June for Honolulu, and will spend the summer in the islands as the guest of friends.

PATRIARCH WILL BE MARRIED AT AGE OF 73 YEARS

Seventy-three years of age and a patriarch among his people, David Kalaokalani, Sr., will be married next Saturday night to Mrs. Elmira Johnson, a widow of fifty-two. Elder Abraham Fernandez of the Mormon church will perform the ceremony. Kalaokalani is an old-timer politician, former senator and for years a leader of the Home Rule party. More recently he affiliated with George Carter, A. L. C. Atkinson, George Thielens and other prominent Bull Moosers. His rejuvenation in politics, it is said, has kept pace with a rejuvenation of the affections. The groom-to-be has been married once before, his wife dying two years ago. Mrs. Johnson has been married twice.

Must Give Details of Fight Against Free Sugar

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Representatives of the Hawaiian sugar interests have been called upon to tell what they know of the "insidious lobby" against the Wilson-Underwood bill, and the charges made by President Wilson in connection with alleged unfair influences brought to bear on congressmen.

Judge S. M. Ballou, attorney for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, ex-Governor George R. Carter, Attorney Harry Irwin, representing the Hilo Board of Trade; Arthur Baldwin, the Cleveland attorney and member of the Baldwin family, and Elmer E. Paxton, of Alexander & Baldwin, will all be called on. All of these men have been here fighting the proposed cut in the sugar tariff and have now been summoned before the special senate investigating committee. They must furnish details as to the opposition to the free-sugar provision in the tariff bill. They are called upon to appear before the committee when the examination of a number of senators is concluded.

GLOBE-TROTTERS VISIT HONOLULU FOR FIRST TIME

Mr. and Mrs. Adams Will Secure Data Here for Lectures on Mainland

With a view to securing data and material for a lecture on Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Adams, the noted travelers and lecturers, arrived in Honolulu on the Korea from Washington, D. C., and will spend two weeks touring the islands. Mrs. Adams is one of the world's most famous women explorers.

Although they have traversed the globe a number of times, this is their first trip to Honolulu, and they stated this morning that in Hawaii they believe will be found material which will form a valuable addition to their now large series of lectures upon foreign countries. Mr. Adams is affiliated with the Pan-American Union, which is an association composed of the United States and the twenty-one Latin republics, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. The object of this organization is to promote peace between the United States and these republics, as well as among the republics themselves, and a handsome building, recently erected in the national capital, was given the organization by Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Franklin is editor of the Bulletin, the mouthpiece of the organization, printed once a month in four different languages.

For the past fifteen years Mr. and Mrs. Franklin have been delivering lectures upon "Latin America," which lectures have included the twenty-one republics. During an interview this morning, Mrs. Adams said that during the many years she had been lecturing she had found that it pays to speak only upon subjects which are of national interest. For instance, she chooses such subjects as the Panama Canal, the great growth of Argentina, and the development of other South American countries. Mrs. Adams has just finished a lecture tour in eastern states, and last year she made a tour of all America. During next year she intends lecturing upon Spain and Portugal, and in the meantime will study the data collected here with regard to a lecture on Hawaii. When told that there are many good books in circu-

M'BRIDE MAKES CHARGE AGAINST JOE LIGHTFOOT

Attorneys Central Figures in Kailua Case That May Mean Contempt Proceedings

(Special Star-Bulletin Wireless)

HILO, Hawaii, June 4.—Attorney Joseph Lightfoot of Honolulu is facing contempt proceedings at Kailua, charged with using unprintable expressions, out of court, but containing sensational charges, about Circuit Judge Matthewsman. Attorney Claudius McBride has made an affidavit quoting Lightfoot's alleged remarks. Attorney Lightfoot has been on Hawaii attending court for a month. It was stated at his office this morning that Lightfoot and McBride have not been friendly for several years and McBride's attack is ascribed to personal enmity by Lightfoot's friends here.

HILO, June 4.—The board of supervisors has accepted the belated resignation of County Auditor C. K. Maguire, self-confessed fund jigger, and a successor will be elected Thursday or Friday.

CLARENCE STONEWALL BRINGS HOME BACON AND HE ADMITS IT

"Tha' is right, boss. I sure is guilty. Yes, sah, I sure did steal tha' bacon."
"Tha' confessed Clarence Stonewall Robertson, a negro who has had considerable experience in the police court and the local jail, when he was brought before the district magistrate this morning, and confronted with the "real evidence," which happened to be a half-slab of bacon purloined from the government.
"I sure is guilty," he repeated as he sadly shook his head and tenderly eyed the bacon.
"It seems to me you have been here before. What was the charge the last time?" asked Judge Monsarrat.
"Stealin' eggs, sah—just stealin' eggs," came the rueful answer.
"And what was that other charge?" persisted his honor.
"Stealin' chickens, sah—just a few chickens to eat."
"It seems to me," mused the judge, "that you deserve a good punishment, which I now inflict by sentencing you to three months."
"Sah," replied the negro tearfully, as all eyes in the police court were on him, "Sah, it's not my fault that I steal—it's my stomach that is to blame."

SUFFRAGETTE RIOT AT ENGLISH DERBY; WOMAN STOPS KING'S ENTRY AND IS FATALLY HURT

Historic Sporting Event Marred by Activities of Militants—Hundred-to-One Shot Wins Great Race, Favorite Being Disqualified—Thrills Vie with Thrills

(Associated Press Cable)

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 4.—Militant suffragettes and their activities today created a remarkable scene at the historic Epsom race-course, where many thousands were gathered to watch the running of the blue-ribbon event of the turf. In a riot caused by the militants, one of their number was fatally hurt, attention drawn to King George and the day's events given unusual thrills because of the peculiar outcome of the race, tinged with sensation.

Abouyer, a hundred-to-one shot technically wins the race, although the Derby favorite, Cragenour, finished first in the mile-and-a-half course. Cragenour, however, was disqualified for bumping.

In the home stretch an unidentified suffragette leaped from the crowd, dashed upon the track and seized the bridle of the king's entry, Amner. The jockey was thrown and seriously hurt and in the disorder that ensued, the woman was trampled upon and fatally injured. The race-course was a scene of riot for some time before the police could clear it.

Senate Sub-Committee Is Enlarging The Free List

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The senate finance sub-committee now considering the tariff bill is enlarging the free-list, and lowering the duties of many schedules. It expects to submit its work to the full committee next week and it is thought the Democratic caucus will be held before June 14.

The senate has subpoenaed 60 representatives of the sugar industry, including Henry Oxnard and Truman Palmer, to appear before the special committee investigating Wilson's charges against the lobbyists. It is understood that President Wilson furnished the names to the senate.

Tobacco Trust Dissolution Subterfuge, Says McReynolds

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Attorney-General James McReynolds declares that the plan under which the American Tobacco Company was allowed to dissolve by President Taft and former Attorney-General Wickersham, was an obvious subterfuge and a miscarriage of justice.

Japan Renews Protest On California Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Japanese Ambassador Chinda has informed Secretary of State Bryan that Japan continues to regard the California law as discriminatory against her subjects and in violation of the treaty. He invites further peaceful discussion of the subject.

Stock Slump In New York

(Associated Press Cable)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 4.—The severest slump since 1907 is frightening financiers today. It is due partly to unexplained causes and partly to increasing pessimism over the European situation, where war is ominous, and to the hostile attitude of the Wilson administration on the Standard Oil and American Tobacco company dissolution plans.

GEORGE THIELEN SAYS REPORT OF MARRIAGE IS MOST AUTHENTIC

George Thielen, whose engagement to Sadie K. Stewart was published yesterday, announced this morning that they will be married within a few days, though the definite time has not yet been set. Thielen could not be found yesterday when it became known that he was to marry the pretty young woman who sought damages from Bruce Potter for breach of promise, but this morning when he was seen he stated that the report was absolutely true and that within a few days he will be a married man.

IS IT THE SENATOR?

Mr. D. F. Metzger is a name appearing on the advance list of passengers to arrive on the Sonoma, due in Honolulu next Monday, which caused the friends of the senator to wonder whether it is he. The last heard of him, within the last couple of days he was either in Washington or Philadelphia, which would make it impossible for him to arrive the 9th.

CLOTHING THAT DEFIES FIRE

Wouldn't you feel delightfully comfortable and secure if you were dressed in a fireproof suit, which was guaranteed not even to scorch if you held it in the flames?
Dr. William Perkin, the English chemist, who has done so much remarkable work along practical scientific lines, claims to have recently discovered a method of making a cotton cloth absolutely fireproof. Of course there have been other fireproof materials invented ere this, but they have all been impossible for practical use, as they have been extremely expensive, and unable to retain the fireproofing material after one washing.
But Mr. Perkin has solved all these difficulties. After he has finished with the cloth it is much softer and finer and prettier than the cotton from which it is made. Indeed, he insists that women can use it for party gowns as well as fireproof for the service. And you can imagine the comfort of the older members of the family on Fourth of July, if the children were all dressed in the goods! It is not going to be expensive, either. It will cost about 2 cents a yard more than the untreated cloth, but it will also wear one-fifth longer, it is said.
The process is simple enough, consisting in soaking ordinary cloth in a solution of sodim stannate, and then afterwards in sulphate of ammonium which is heated to a high temperature.
