PROMOTERS TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR CARNIVAL

Pageant Board of Directors Will Meet with the Promotion Committee

Immediate action with a view to launching plans for the 1914 floral parade and carnival will be taken this afternoon when the board of directors of former pageants, including Walter Dillingham, Harold Dillingham, Charles Chillingworth, Arthur Wall and A. Gartley, will meet the members of the promotion committee at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Upon a suggestion made some time ago by Secretary Wood, the former director-generals were asked to meet with the members of the promotion committee and offer plans and suggestions for the carrying-out of next year's fete. At the last meeting of the committee the matter was again taken up and today set for the gathering. Chairman Waldron of the promotion committee said this morning that it was the plan of the committee to start all plans for the parade at an early date, and that he believed that within a week a complete program will have been drawn and a director-general elected.

"It is going to mean a great saving to the people of Honolulu if we can complete our plans seven months before the pageant takes place," Chairman Waldron continued, "and we intend to get all finances for carrying the pageant through pledged within 60 days. Last year the finance committee was appointed at a late date and consequently was unable to start work until January 10, leaving only five weeks to get the entire undertaking established upon a systematic basis. It is in order to rid ourselves of a recurrence of such a condition that we are starting our work at this early date."

It is probably that the matter of an amusement pier and a new automobile club for Honolulu will be taken up at the meeting, although it is not known whether the committee appointed at the last meeting to look into this matter had completed its investigation. One thing which the promotion committee intends to advocate is the removal of the coral from the Waikiki beach, which is a menace to the bathers and which detracts from the interest of the beach. The committee believes that the removal of this coral is up to the government, and believes that it should consider the matter.

STANFORD GAME MAY BREAK UP OAHU LEAGUE

The Oahu Baseball League is traveling a rocky road this year. After adopting the phrase "make it snappy" as its watchword, and inaugurating a businesslike policy in regard to playing out its schedule, it has been first railed by an outside promoter, Guy W. Green, and is now threatened with internal disruption on account of the coming visit of the Stanford University team. Nine players, representing four league teams, have signed up to play two Sunday games against Stanford, July 13 and 20. The Coast Defense team is the only one that has kept faith with the league as a whole in the matter of contract jumping.

The men who are looking after the interests of the Stanford team during its visit here, S. F. Chillingworth, Jr. and T. P. W. Gray, first went to the Oahu league management with a view to securing Athletic Park for Sunday games. The terms offered in consideration of postponement of the regular league games, and the use of the grounds, didn't meet with the approval of Gray and Chillingworth. According to the former, Manager A. Q. Marcellino of the league made two alternate propositions, one being for the league to pay the expenses of the Stanford team, run the entire series at Athletic Park, and give the promoters 10 per cent of the net profits. The second offer was for the league to give the promoters 45 per cent of the gross receipts, the team's expenses to come out of this cut.

Gray and Chillingworth wouldn't listen to these terms for a moment and Marcellino wouldn't listen to postponement of the league games unless the league had a finger in the financial pie. Negotiations were suspended.

Gray and Chillingworth then proceeded to secure the Mollili grounds and to schedule six games. An All-Service team and the Punahou Athletic Club aggregation were ready to

FREAR NAMES NEW PUBLIC SCHOOLS HEAD

E. WHITE SUTTON. Young attorney named yesterday as one of the new commissioners of public instruction.

GIBSON SUCCEEDS POPE AND SUTTON APPOINTED COMMISSIONER

As forecasted in the Star-Bulletin yesterday, Governor Frear this morning appointed School Inspector T. H. Gibson to succeed W. T. Pope, resigned superintendent of public instruction, and E. W. Sutton, a member of the school commission, to represent Oahu.

Gibson was named for this office following a careful study of school conditions, made by the governor, details of which are contained in his report as printed in full in yesterday's Star-Bulletin. Gibson accepted the position and will immediately assume charge of the department.

Commenting on his choice for the position of superintendent, Governor Frear said:

"Mr. Gibson has been with the department for a long time, and has been particularly in close touch with the work as inspector of schools. He has the details of the department well in hand."

"A meeting of the school commissioners will be held soon to attend to the matter of appointment of teachers for the new school year. The appointment of Mr. Gibson at this time, as superintendent of public instruction, with his knowledge of the requirements of the department, will be of great value to the commissioners in arranging for the new school year."

"He has long been connected with the cause of education in Hawaii as teacher and executive officer under the board of education, and was for some years superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School."

"Mr. Pope has presented his written resignation to me, which leaves me free to accept it now or as late as June 30. I offered the superintendency of public instruction to Mr. Gibson and he accepted."

This leaves three vacancies on the commission and these very likely will be filled by new appointments within the next twenty-four hours, as Governor Frear announced today he contemplates leaving for the Big Island tomorrow afternoon on a combined business and pleasure trip that may hold him on Hawaii until the latter part of next week. He stated that he hoped to dispose of the school matter before his departure.

He would give no intimation this

FOURTH TO BE CELEBRATED ON SMALLER SCALE

"On account of the heavy demand for funds made on the community during the past year, it has been found necessary to celebrate the Fourth of July on a smaller scale this year than has been the custom in the past," said Ed Towse, recently appointed by the merchants' association as chairman of the committee in charge of the celebration, this morning.

"More than two thousand dollars were expended last year in this respect, and this year we find that only about $1200 will be available."

In spite of the lack of funds, the committee in charge of the 1913 Fourth of July celebration is already making a number of unique plans for the occasion. The merchants' association will have complete charge of the affair, the Hawaiian Band has been secured for the day, and the police and fire departments have expressed a willingness to take part in the parade. It is also the plan of the committee to get a number of automobile owners interested, in order that they may appropriately decorate

STACKABLE IS ENDORSED BY BUSINESSMEN

One hundred and fifty of the leading business firms and business men of Honolulu have signed a petition addressed to the president of the United States indorsing the work of Collector of Customs Stackable and urging his retention in office. The communication with its list of signers was sent to Washington on the last mail.

This is the result of a rumor that the new Democratic administration was about to make a change in the collectorship. No definite information was available, but a voluntary committee of businessmen circulated the petition and has forwarded it in order, if possible, to forestall any movement to relieve Collector Stackable.

Heading the list are signatures for the "Big Five"—Castle & Cooke, Hackfeld & Co., Davies & Co., Brewer & Co., and Alexander & Baldwin. The businessmen who circulated the petition say that they did not meet with a single refusal to sign it and that in volume of signatures it is by far the bulkiest document of its kind ever sent from Hawaii.

M'GREER QUILTS CONSOLIDATED FOR FAR EAST

An entire change of management of three Honolulu theaters has taken place today with the acceptance of the resignation of Robert McGreer as general manager of the Consolidated Amusement Company, which controls the Bijou, Ye Liberty and Empire theaters.

McGreer has had this stop under consideration for some weeks. He received a cable today which will call him to the Far East about July 1st.

Taking the active management of a theatrical booking agency which will have to do with the bringing out of large musical comedy, dramatic and vaudeville companies from the mainland to the Orient, McGreer has perfected arrangements to hold a conference with the financial backers of the Manila Theatrical Company who are to gather at Yokohama, Japan, in the near future.

Following a business tour to the Far East, McGreer will return to the mainland and for some months open headquarters at San Francisco.

Under the direct management of McGreer, the trio of local theaters have offered many new and original attractions.

With the retirement of McGreer, John Henry Magoon will assume the active management of the three playhouses.

Magoon takes up the duties well qualified to carry out many ambitious plans for the future. He is well equipped to guide the destinies of the Consolidated Amusement Company through the sometimes troublous theatrical seas as he served as head of the former Honolulu Amusement Company in the capacity of manager for many months, preceding the later combine with the Consolidated.

WIRELESS TALK OF INTEREST TO LAYMEN

Wireless of the past, present and future, the history of this rapidly-developing mode of communication, and an interesting statement of the situation in the Pacific, furnished the theme for an address given last night by N. H. Slaughter that proved of absorbing interest to seventy members of the Men's Club of the Episcopal diocese and their guests.

Mr. Slaughter, the resident engineer of the Marconi system, touched on the history of wireless and gave a non-technical explanation of its workings ly appointed commissioner, this morning.

None of the troubles of the past in getting the laborers distributed among the plantations, as expected by the authorities of the territorial board, Secretary Kearns says that as this is the last shipload of immigrants for some time, employment will be fairly easy to secure for them, though the plantations have in many instances during the past year shown some reluctance to take Europeans.

The scene at the territorial station is a picturesque one. Most of the new arrivals are still wearing the quaint peasant dress of Spanish agricultural districts.

The last of 1319 Spanish immigrants were landed from the Ascot this morning, the entire number having been transferred to the federal immigration station where, under the direction of Inspector in Charge Halsey and his staff, 700 persons to date have been passed and permitted to set foot on American soil.

One death occurred on board the vessel just before the removal of the last immigrants this morning. Death visited a Spanish family, taking a 3-year-old child.

The stork hovered over the immigration station this morning, two births being recorded.

The Ascot is expected to be ready to sail for Makatea island tomorrow, provided Captain Dudley, master of the vessel, finds a purchaser for several hundred tons Cardiff coal.

The last of the Ascot immigrants are predicted will pass from the federal station by Saturday afternoon.

TERRITORY TO ASK FOR A REHEARING

Renewing his former arguments and laying particular stress on several points not so prominently mentioned before, Attorney General Thayer today is preparing a petition which he will file in the supreme court this afternoon, asking for a rehearing in the test suit brought by the Apokas Sugar Company. The supreme court a few days ago handed down a decision in this case, awarding judgment to the plantation and against Tax Assessor C. T. Wilder.

This is the suit brought to obtain an interpretation of the new special income tax law. The supreme court, in its recent majority opinion, held that the statute affects the 1912 assessment. The territory contends that it should not affect the levy of the previous year.

WILSON LOBBYIST, TOO HE'LL BE PROBED NOW

Senate Investigating Committee, After Statement from Senator Townsend, Decides to Recall Witnesses and Find Out What Influence President Has Been Using

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—A new and unexpected phase was injected into the controversy over Wilson's allegations of an "insidious lobby" today when Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan testified before the special investigating committee that he believed Wilson's personal persuasion with the senators has been more potent than the work of the lobbyists.

Stirred by Senator Townsend's statements, the committee, headed by Senator Overman, unanimously agreed to recall the senators who have already testified and inquire of them what influence had been exerted upon them by the president. This promise to prolong the investigation considerably.

Attorney-General Intends To Bust Trusts Over Again

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—Developments in the department of justice, taken with the attack made by Attorney-General James McReynolds yesterday on the Standard Oil and American Tobacco dissolution plans, indicate that McReynolds is preparing to open criminal prosecution against the big corporations. The suit will be filed, it is understood, alleging that the trusts are still undissolved, in spite of the formal assent of their officers to the plans sanctioned by Taft and former Attorney-General Wickersham.

U. S. Wins Tennis Round

[Associated Press Cable]

NEW YORK, June 5.—America won two tennis matches from Australasia today, in the preliminary for the Davis International Cup. Maurice McLaughlin, national champion, defeated Norman Rice in straight sets, while E. Norris Williams defeated S. N. Doust in a four-set match. It is now only necessary for America to win one more match to earn the right to play Germany in the second round. The survivor of the elimination matches plays England for the international tennis title, and possession of the cup. Three more matches between America and Australasia are still to be played.

Today's scores: McLaughlin beat Rice, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3; Williams beat Doust, 6-4, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT OFF; MANY CHALLENGES

[Associated Press Cable]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 5.—The much-heralded championship lightweight match between Willie Ritchie, holder of the title, and Joe Rivera, the Mexican, has been declared off. The men could not agree on the weight question, Champion Ritchie refusing to make the weight demanded by the challenger.

Ad Wolfgram, former champion, Bud Anderson, of Vancouver, Wash., and Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight, have challenged Ritchie to a fight on any terms.

MANOLO MAY TELL OF MURDER NEXT MONDAY

Celestino Manolo probably will narrate to the jury in Circuit Judge Robinson's court next Monday morning his story of the murder, by himself and three Filipino comrades, of the young Chinese grocer, Loh Ah Ken, and his wife, Lum Lin, in their little grocery at Kahauiki. Manolo is the only member of the quartet to plead guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree. He will receive his sentence Monday.

Though City and County Attorney Cathcart has made no statement that Manolo is to appear as state's witness, or that he will be summoned to tell his tale on Monday, the prosecutor's remark to the court at the conclusion of today's hearing that "the next witness called probably would require lengthy examination," is considered significant.

Virtually all the prosecution's known evidence, save the confession of Celestino Manolo, has been placed before the jury now. Other than Manolo, the most important witnesses are thought to be Chief of Detectives McDuffie and Deputy City and County Attorney A. M. Brown, both of whom claim to have heard the confessions of each of the accused men.

The testimony of McDuffie and Brown was completed this morning, the former occupying the witness stand two hours and a half on direct and cross examination, and half an hour more on later re-direct and re-cross examination. He told of the statements made to him by each of the three prisoners, Elio Baubista, Domingo Rodriguez and Miguel Manigbas. These were in substance as

INTER-ISLAND COMPANY IS SUED FOR $10,000

Suit against the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company for $10,000 damages was filed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon by John Stockwell, a former employe of that company. Stockwell alleges that while working on a roof on the waterfront he was struck by another workman and fell to the ground below, receiving injuries to his head and shoulders that confined him in the hospital several weeks and have permanently impaired his usefulness as a skilled workman.

already published in the newspapers some time ago. Each member of the trio admitted participating in the butchery, but laid the blame for the actual stabbing on one of the others, no two stories being alike on this point. Brown's testimony concerned the same confession and was similar to the statements of McDuffie.

The case may go to the jury early next week. No intimation has yet been given by the counsel for the defense that any evidence will be offered in rebuttal.
