

MAUI NEWS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

WAILUKU, Maui, July 17.—Herbert C. Field, son of the proprietor of the Maui Hotel, celebrated his eleventh birthday last Wednesday in proper style at Kapanui. Some forty children were taken up the valley in machines and all had the time of their lives. Picnic lunch was served at noon, after which a large program was rendered by the boys and girls.

The last meeting of the Maui Chamber of Commerce was not largely attended, and called forth comments which may result in having the meetings less often than once a month. The meetings up to the last two have all been fine ones, as President Baldwin pointed out, but the last two have been very slimly attended. There was no special business brought before the Chamber at the July meeting. The August meeting will be held as usual, and then the question of the possibility of having meetings less often than once a month will be discussed.

The "Brewer Camp" has been a great success this year. For a little more than two weeks Rev. A. C. Eowdish had the following boys out with him on a roughing experience: Bobbie Murdoch, John Ross McConkey, James Nicholl, Teddy Hair, Scott Nicholl and S. Boyam. They broke camp yesterday and returned to their homes last night. The girls have been camping at the Alexander place with Mrs. Bowdish and Mrs. Dr. McConkey. Among them were Luth Murdoch, Dorothy, Bessie and Lois Lindsay, Virginia McConkey, Winifred Weddick, Martha Aiken.

The picnic of the Church of the Good Shepherd last Wednesday at Kahului was a big success. Though postponed four times because of unavoidable circumstances, the postponement did not dampen the spirits of the young people. The morning was spent in the jolliest kind of a time bathing and in water sports. The lunch was served in the grounds of the club house. The afternoon was enjoyed in games of various sorts.

Harry Logan, 5-year-old son of J. Logan, employed by the Kahului Railroad Company, was badly kicked in the face on Tuesday while playing in front of his father's house in Kahului. Dr. Sawyer was immediately summoned and the little fellow taken to the Puuene Hospital, where he was worked over for some time. The nose is badly crushed.

Rev. R. B. Dodge and family leave on Monday, July 21st, for Mr. J. P. Cooke's beautiful summer place in Kula-Kulamann. Mr. Dodge will be back in Wailuku for Sunday service and parish duties.

Principal and Mrs. C. A. MacDonald are spending two weeks on Hawaii visiting the volcano. Miss Ida M. MacDonald is at the Lahainaluna school while they are away.

J. S. Ralston, the popular wireless operator at Lahaina, is spending a two weeks' vacation with his family in Makawao.

Manager L. Weinzheimer has been appointed on the Maui license board in place of J. N. S. Williams, who resigned.

H. A. Wade left last week for Canada, where he will spend two months of his vacation.

Miss Lucy Adams is visiting friends and relatives in Honolulu.

FABIAN WOMEN LEADERS WIN PARTIAL SUFFRAGE IN ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE

Votes for Women Gained in First State East of the Mississippi and United States Senate Committee Reports Favoring an Amendment to the Constitution Granting the Ballot to All Without Regard to Sex

Illinois' legislature gave women the ballot in all elections over which the legislature has authority. The constitution prescribes the qualifications for voters in elections of state officers; but as it does not prohibit women voting for county and municipal officers and presidential electors the legislature is assumed to have power to grant this privilege.

The press of the country comments as follows: Limited Woman Suffrage

Boston Globe: American suffragists won a notable victory east of the Mississippi when the house of representatives in Illinois, following the example of the senate, passed a limited woman suffrage bill by a vote of 83 to 58. Mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts will have the right to cast ballots for all statutory officers, including mayors and aldermen, also presidential electors. They cannot vote for governor without a constitutional amendment.

The Illinois fight was a hard fight to finish, and it is therefore pardonable, as well as human, for the suffragists to be elated over the result.

Los Angeles Express: The winning of Illinois to the principle of equal suffrage, through the very recent passage of a bill granting as complete enfranchisement as was possible without amending the state constitution, is welcomed as the beginning of a general collapse of the opposition.

It even appears possible that the full triumph of the cause may be very greatly hastened as the result of a general constitutional amendment passed by congress in the form of a resolution ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states.

Cleveland Leader: Of all the victories which woman suffrage has won the most astonishing is the passage of a law in Illinois which grants equal suffrage in all municipal elections and gives women the right to vote for presidential electors.

In view of the recent suffrage defeats in the adjacent states of Michigan and Wisconsin, where the adverse majorities were very large, it is an astonishing thing that the state dominated, in great degree, by Chicago, should give women full municipal suffrage without submitting that question to the direct vote of the people.

In this respect the victory won for equal rights at the polls is the most remarkable ever gained by the advocates of woman suffrage. No one could have guessed that Illinois would be the first state situated east of the Mississippi to let women vote for presidential electors.

In view of this record made by the Illinois legislature it is manifestly unsafe to assert that any triumph of equal suffrage is impossible. Tammany hall may yet espouse and champion this cause. It may sweep Milwaukee.

The Votes for Women Amendment. New York Tribune: Nobody in Washington could have been surprised that the senate committee on woman suffrage reported an amendment to the constitution, giving women the suffrage. The committee was purposely composed of senators friendly to the suffragist cause, since four of its nine members come from states in which women now vote and one other member, Mr. Clapp of Minnesota, was affiliated in the last national campaign with the progressive party, which has made votes for women one of its leading issues. Yet for all that, the report is a signal encouragement to the suffragists.

It may or may not be significant that the committee's plan for altering the constitution takes the form of an entirely new article, instead of an amendment to article 15. It would have been just as effective to insert the word "sex" in the present fifteenth amendment, which already provides that the right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. This guarantee has been made a dead letter in many of the states, and it was perhaps thought prudent not to attach a further extension of the franchise by federal authority to extensions made 43 years ago, but never carried honestly into effect in a large part of the Union.

Washington Times: What is once gained for the cause of woman suffrage is never thereafter lost to it. Give half the population the ballot, and the chance of taking it away with the consent of that half is decidedly unimportant.

What they once gain, therefore, the women hold. Their latest victory is in Illinois, where the legislature has passed the law to grant women the vote on all statutory offices. That is, they may vote for all places provided for under the laws rather than the constitution. Illinois cities are organized under charters granted by law; so the women may vote in municipal elections, though they may not vote for governor. Likewise, the selection of presidential electors is provided for by law of the state; therefore the women will have the vote for president.

A Fabian Victory. Detroit News: The Illinois women, in getting the right to vote for president and other specific offices through the act of the legislature, are congratulating themselves that they "do not have to appeal to 50,000 voters who do not speak English in order to win the suffrage at the polls." Which is one way of extending the ballot. And our old and trusted scamp, Representative Lee 'Nell Browne of Lorimer scandal fame, was the spokesman of the anti's. Well, well, how the world moves!

Repeat improbable. Cleveland Plain Dealer: The fight for woman's suffrage in Ohio last year was fought on constitutional grounds and the suffragists lost. Illinois becomes a semi-suffrage State and the State constitution has not been touched. That is, in Illinois women become eligible to vote for all statutory offices—offices not recognized specifically by organic law.

Their victory is important from every standpoint. The suffragists, in the face of so much gained, will not repine because they have missed getting full and complete rights at the polls.

Illinois has no referendum law, the present session of the Assembly having consistently refused to enact one. The only attack possible against the suffrage law, therefore, is either in the courts or in the legislature itself. It is wholly improbable that the act will be repealed; what some court may do is, of course, beyond conjecture.

Whether anyone will take the trouble to contest the constitutionality of the law is an undecided question. But if the suffragists want to make their status beyond dispute, the first use of their new votes should be to put in their new constitutional amendment through the legislature and get it ratified by the people.

The Illinois Mix-up. Boston Herald: It will be interesting to see how Illinois' experiment in woman suffrage works. Women may there vote for president, but not for members of congress or of the state legislature. They may vote for mayors and other municipal officers, but not for governors and others on the state ticket. All this is very topsy-turvy, illogical and even fantastic.

Perhaps participation in the ballot will be so small that these privileges will gradually suffer atrophy. But if really exercised and the presidential ballot would seemingly suffice to enlist interest, the state is not likely to continue so one-sided a system. It cannot remain half suffrage and half anti-suffrage.

Suffrage Crosses the Mississippi. Washington Times: What is once gained for the cause of woman suffrage is never thereafter lost to it. Give half the population the ballot, and the chance of taking it away with the consent of that half is decidedly unimportant.

MAUI MAN WILL MAKE HOME ON COAST

WAILUKU, Maui, July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Copeland, for many years connected with the school work on Maui leave for the coast on the Honolulu, Tuesday. Mr. Copeland began his work in Wailuku some eight years ago, and he has been known as a very successful educator on this island. He has trained personally several of the young men and women who have gone to Honolulu and mainland schools, having brought to themselves and their principal high credit. Under his able direction the first high school department on Maui was started in the Wailuku school. For two years he has been supervising principal of the Wailuku district. Under his efficient and watchful care the educational work of this district has greatly improved. It is certainly true that the Maui schools will miss him in his departure to the mainland.

Mr. Copeland has been prominent in the Order of Masons, having held positions of honor. He has also been one of the trustees of the Wailuku Union Church. During his term of office the handsome new structure was erected. He has also been a member of the Maui Chamber of Commerce, and has taken a prominent and helpful part in all movements of a popular or social nature dealing with the welfare of the community.

Mr. Copeland is expecting to make arrangements to settle in Southern California, where for some time past he has been looking over prospects of various kinds. Just what he will do or in what locality he is not sure at his future home, he is not sure at present. He and Mrs. Copeland will spend some time touring the country and in a few months will make a decision.

a construction at all strict will be very questionable.

Whether anyone will take the trouble to contest the constitutionality of the law is an undecided question. But if the suffragists want to make their status beyond dispute, the first use of their new votes should be to put in their new constitutional amendment through the legislature and get it ratified by the people.

CARMEN PROVES SPECTACULAR FILM

Carmen, the daughter of an aged bandit, becoming the leader of a band of desperadoes, prominently figures throughout the greater portion of three acts of stirring melodrama in the great three reel feature film to be presented before patrons of the Bijou theater by the Newman Company with the beginning of the week. In Carmen, the bandit's daughter, a production rich in scenic effects, beautiful costumes, extraordinary in its conception and plot, is offered.

In "The Vengeance of Vera," the Newman Company will tonight present one of their masterpieces, secured on the mainland at great expense. This film of two reels abounds in realistic situations, while for a suitable background for the play, the photographers have drawn upon both Europe and the United States for a setting.

Announcement is made that in the three reeled playlet, "Love Among the Lions," the acme of spectacular photography has been reached. To secure material for this production, the larger zoological gardens of Europe and America were drawn upon for living subjects.

Some chronic sufferers from rheumatism are human barometers. They can recognize by the growing pains in their tender joints and muscles the slightest increase of moisture in the air, even a change in the direction of the wind.

Such a condition of supersensitiveness is always attended with thin blood. The watery, poison-laden fluid that fills the arteries must be built up and purified before there can be any progress toward permanent recovery. The problem of medicine is not to cure a single attack of rheumatism but to eradicate it from the system and strengthen the body to resist another attack. This can be done by building up the blood.

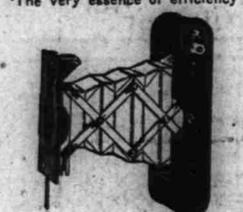

Mr. Israel Dearborn, of Corinna, Maine, says: "I had always had more or less rheumatism in my back and in my legs from the knees down, but it was not until a few years ago that I began to suffer severely from the disease. Then I had such a severe attack that I was confined to the house for two weeks and was unable to use my legs. I also had pains in my arms. The pains became so intense that I could hardly move and I had to lie down most of the time. I had been sick for six months when some one recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me. They quickly relieved me and drove the disease entirely out of my system."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an excellent tonic for the blood and are absolutely safe. Our booklet, "Building Up the Blood," is free on request and should be read by every rheumatic sufferer.
