WOLTER TO FIGHT FOR LESS DUST

Supervisor to Introduce Resolution Asking Appropriation for More Sprinkling Carts

DIRT NUISANCE BLAMED FOR TUBERCULAR VICTIMS

Provided Efforts Prove Futile He Will Continue Fight Until His Cause Is Won

Convinced that the large death roll of victims of tuberculosis is largely due to the dust and dirt of the streets, and that if the city had properly sprinkled the streets to lay the dust there would be no need now for an extra appropriation to be made to the Leahi Home, a resolution will be proposed at a meeting of the supervisors this evening by Supervisor Wolter, asking that the roads committee of that body secure sufficient sprinkling carts to rid the city of its dust nuisance.

Supervisor Wolter declares that it would cost the city and county only a trifling sum to buy additional sprinkling carts—and to use them. As to the question of water shortage, he points to the offer of the Hawaiian Electric Company, made a few months ago, to give the government all of its waste water, amounting to thousands of gallons a day.

"There is no reason why the city cannot properly sprinkle its streets. It is done in other cities. Other cities have been made aware that the dust and dirt of the streets breeds tuberculosis, and they have taken steps to guard the public health by seeing that the dust is kept down," he said.

"We have done practically nothing. We have a few carts nonchalantly sprinkling a few chosen spots. As a result of our negligence, we find tuberculosis growing with awful speed, and the supervisors are called upon, at a time when it can be ill afforded, to make an additional appropriation to Leahi Home, that the tuberculosis charges of the city may be cared for."

Supervisor Wolter quoted from an editorial appearing in the Star-Bulletin in Saturday, where it says:

"Honolulu has paid out a good deal of money for a hot asphalt mixer that, according to report, is not likely to be used. The supervisors order automobiles for official use with a royal disregard of bills; they hold a salary increasing bill in the middle of a year of financial uncertainty; they propose to buy steam-rollers, auto-garbage trucks, and other costly pieces of equipment."

"We need paved streets badly enough, but we are not keeping clean the streets already paved. The dust nuisance is increasing. Instead of pushing the streets and getting the dust off, once in a while a sprinkler oozles along and pours water on top of the dust. In half an hour the resulting mud is dust again."

"We should like to see the supervisors attack this problem intelligently. Other cities have solved it, and it is simple. Special attention should be paid to the waterfront streets when steamers are coming or going."

Supervisor Wolter acknowledges that his efforts at this time to have more sprinkling carts purchased may fail, but he adds that he will not stop, but will fight along that line until he wins.

SAFEGUARDS FOR ARMORY JOB IGNORED

Expert Shows Recklessness. Law Holds Supt. of Public Works Responsible While Building Is Under Construction

John W. Caldwell

That work on the erection of steel in the new national guard armory has been carried on in a flagrantly reckless manner is the declaration of Prof. John M. Young, the steel expert whose preferred method of handling the structural features was ignored when the H-columns and trusses were put up.

Mr. Young, in response to inquiry by the Star-Bulletin today, made a statement pointing out the lack of precautions taken by the sub-contractors, Anderson & Woods, and bearing on the death of Gus Anderson in the fall of the big roof truss last week. Mr. Young was called before the coroner's inquest yesterday to testify in the inquest, but some of the most important facts were not brought out at the inquest.

Another development since yesterday in the Star-Bulletin's independent investigation of the armory accident and the question of safety that has arisen, is that under the law the superintendent of public works is held responsible for the progress and conduct of the work.

Superintendent Caldwell, while not endeavoring to shift blame for the accident or for any features of the armory work, has taken the emphatic position that under the territory's contract with the supervising architect, he is not responsible for the armory or work on it until it is completed. He holds that he has nothing to do with the actual construction work, that being delegated expressly to the supervising architect, who receives a fee for the supervision in addition to the fee for designing the building.

"This position is made untenable by an opinion on file in the attorney-general's office and presumably also in the department of public works. This opinion was given by Charles R. Hemenway, when he was attorney-general, to Marston Campbell when Mr. Campbell was superintendent of public

ENGINEER SAYS GRAVING DOCK IS IMPOSSIBLE

That "it will be impossible for the United States ever to build a drydock on the bottom of Pearl Harbor," is the startling statement of an engineer named Hemenway, whose opinions are quoted at length in the Washington Post.

Neither Admiral Moore, the naval commandant, nor Walter F. Dillingham, manager of the Hawaiian Dredging Co., representing the contractors, had ever heard of Joseph A. Hemenway, when shown the story in the Washington paper.

"I have received no information to indicate that it is impracticable to build a drydock on the present site, and according to the original, or slightly modified specifications," said Admiral Moore. "I have never heard of this Mr. Hemenway, and do not know when he visited Pearl Harbor, or how extensive his researches there were."

The interview referred to, which appeared in the Washington Post of July 15, is as follows:

"It will be impossible for the United States government ever to build a dry dock on the bottom of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, in my judgment," remarked Joseph A. Hemenway, an engineer, of New York, who recently made an extended visit to the Ha-

PINKHAM WILL BE CONFIRMED AVERS KENT

California Congressman Says Harmony, Not Discord, Is Needed for Welfare of Territory

Washington, July 29. — FARRINGTON, Honolulu. — Pinkham will be confirmed. There is no political sense in the attack on him. The welfare of the territory requires harmony — not discord. KENT.

The foregoing cablegram, received this morning, is self-explanatory, and while it points out that any attack upon the confirmation of Mr. Pinkham would be political folly, it does not state that any attack has been made, and, so far as can be learned locally, there has been no particular opposition launched against the confirmation.

A very small minority of disgruntled members of the Democratic party—also a like amount of Republicans—have "beefed" in a half-hearted manner, but the majority of these persons, it is stated by others of the respective parties, would have been dissatisfied with anyone whom President Wilson might have named, barring, of course, themselves.

The few dissident ones, apparently, have come to the conclusion that the president's choice will be confirmed, as is stated by Mr. Kent, and consequently, have decided that opposition would prove useless.

No one could be found around town this morning who would admit that any protests against Mr. Pinkham had been forwarded to Washington, with the exception of letters from the above-mentioned "few disgruntled ones" calling attention to their contention that Mr. Pinkham is neither a resident of Hawaii, or a member of the political party in power.

BOURBONS OF HAWAII FROM MISSOURI

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)
HILO, July 28.—Most of the leading local Democrats do not credit the news that the name of L. E. Pinkham for the Hawaii governorship appointment has been sent to the senate by President Wilson. O. T. Shipman says:

"I do not believe the report." He admits though that his wishes may be the father of his thoughts.

Senator Metzger had not heard the news when he was asked over the telephone what he thought of Pinkham's nomination. "It is a great surprise to me. I was confident, when I left Washington, that Watson would be the man named," he says.

Archer Irwin declares that if Pinkham is confirmed as governor of Hawaii by the senate, it will serve the Hawaii Republican organization right. He says that much as he would like to have seen McCandless appointed governor, the Republicans in Honolulu will get what is coming to them, "for butting into a matter that should have been left to the Democrats." He is, however, doubtful if the news is true.

"Senator Williams will undoubtedly put up a hard fight against the confirmation of Pinkham," is the comment of R. T. Guard.

CABLE FROM CHINA ASKS WHEN TOM WILL LEAVE FOR ORIENT

In a cablegram received, last night, from Shanghai, the Liberty News is requested to advise the Chinese government when it is expected that Tom Gunn will sail for the Orient to take up his duties as a member of the Chinese army, in charge of aviation.

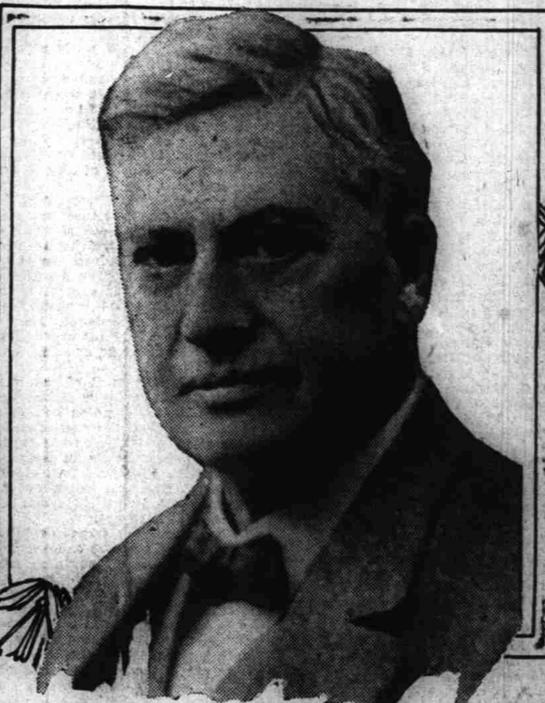

The receipt of this message places Tom in a peculiar position and necessitated an immediate cable to his fiancée in Oakland advising her to stay where she is until he receives further advices from the front.

A most peculiar angle to the situation is the fact that Tom is an American citizen and should be contemplating leaving to join fortunes either with the present government or the rebels the opposing party immediately would take steps to prevent his leaving this country on the grounds that he is an American citizen.

Just which side his sympathies are with Tom refuses to state, assuming the characteristic bland smile of his countrymen and maintaining a discreet silence.

There is a prospect of peace in the Balkans, Bulgaria having offered important territorial concessions to Roumania.

John F. Lamb, who is mentioned as the probable successor to Henry Lane Wilson as ambassador to Mexico. Should Mr. Lamb be appointed to the Mexico City embassy he will be called upon to show considerable diplomatic ability in straightening out relations between the United States and her sister republic.

CONGRESSMAN KENT SPONSOR FOR PINKHAM

By C. S. ALBERT
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18. — There was still another agitation of the Hawaiian governorship situation when L. E. Pinkham arrived in this city. He came as the latest avowed candidate for the position now held by Walter F. Frear. All arrangements had been made for Mr. Pinkham's reception and he was given an early audience by President Wilson.

Representative Kent, of California, acted as chief sponsor for the latest gubernatorial candidate. The fact that the member is a Progressive Republican, or rather an Independent, did not prove a detriment. It was at his suggestion that Mr. Pinkham made the journey.

The initiative was taken by Mr. Kent through Secretary Lane, of the interior department, who recently has manifested but little interest in the Hawaiian governorship. Mr. Kent impressed the secretary with the fact that Mr. Pinkham is in every way an available man for the place and would make an ideal governor. Mr. Lane eventually recommended that Mr. Pinkham come on and make an effort to secure the vacancy as a dark horse. Immediately upon his arrival here Mr. Pinkham became the guest of Representative Kent at his residence.

TERRITORY MAY TRADE LAND ON WATERFRONT

Governor Frear has called a joint meeting of the territorial harbor and immigration commissioners to be held at his office at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood the discussion will relate to the advisability of making a tentative offer to the federal government to exchange the property now occupied by the territorial immigration station for the lot lying between the Allen & Robinson wharf and the Oceanic wharf.

Although the latter waterfront property has long been regarded as property that of the territory, the war department has nominally maintained possession for several years. At present and for some time past, it has been under lease by the war department to Customs Collector E. R. Stackable, who has persistently denied the territory any right to make use of it.

Further than the fact that such transfer is to be discussed, nothing has been disclosed concerning the nature of the conference at the executive chambers. Whether any such offer will be forwarded to Washington by the local authorities depends on the outcome of the meeting today.

U. S. Grant Jr. has made over most of his $3,000,000 fortune to his new wife, thus depriving his children of a large inheritance.

J. WILLIAMS MAY PITCH AGAINST WALT. JOHNSON

This afternoon the Oahu League directors formally ratified the agreement between Manager Marcellino of the league, and John S. Barnes, for the appearance of an All-Star team here next November. Marcellino closed with Barnes Sunday afternoon, acting on verbal authorization from the league and Athletic Park management, and today the deal was made ship-shape by spreading it on the minutes. The contract is being prepared this afternoon, and will be signed tomorrow morning.

As printed in yesterday's Star-Bulletin, the basis of the agreement is a guarantee of $1,700 for six games, with the option of 60 per cent of the gross receipts for the visitors. Barnes guarantees that at least seven players who finished the season with the American or National leagues will be in the line-up. The Oahu league is to have entire control of the venture, and the All-Stars are not to play any outside games, without the consent of the league management. As a matter of fact, the six scheduled games will be about all that the traffic can stand.

With the Chinese and All-Hawaiian teams back from the mainland, and all the Oahu league players to draw from, it should be easy to frame some splendid baseball games. Practically every player that the islands numbers will be home, and ready to go up against the visitors.

It is practically certain, too, that Johnny Williams will be home for the winter, in which case he might be pressed into service to pitch against the big league stars. Williams is almost sure to be a major leaguer himself, by that time, and a game with "Honolulu John" in a pitchers' battle with Walter Johnson would stir things up in local baseball.

CABLEGRAM FROM WILSON IS BRANDED AS A HUGE JOKE

What is believed to be a gigantic hoax on the gullible opponents of Pinkham's candidacy for governor is being passed around town today in the form of a telegram purported to have come from National Committee-man John H. Wilson reading:

Washington, July 29.
Democratic Headquarters,
Honolulu.

The man who will get the governorship of Hawaii will be the man who will receive the indorsement of the Democratic Club of Hawaii, with the approval of Delegate Kubio.

JOHN WILSON.

Members of the Territorial Democratic Central Committee, when asked for an opinion as to the authenticity of the alleged cablegram stated that the originator of the report was possibly of the opinion that April 1 was approaching.

The federal army is said to be honeycombed with the revolutionaries, who are awaiting an opportunity to desert.

There are many conflicting rumors and even reports of serious outbreaks in the cities.

Underwood says that Mulhall is a liar, an impostor and a blackmailer, that he failed to make good his declarations and has contradicted his own testimony. He says he is utterly untrustworthy.
