MONEY TENSION LESSENS, SAYS HENRY CLEWS

The Henry Clews financial letter under date of July 19 declares that the effects of the new tariff bill have already been largely discounted, and that the passage of the currency bill at this session is doubtful. Clews says: "The financial horizon is visibly clearing, although not yet entirely free of mist and clouds. We have had an average decline within the past eleven months of eighteen to twenty points in the railroad and industrial shares. This is not only equivalent to but is really in itself a slow panic, and the only thing approaching the enormous aggregate shrinkage in values was the panic of 1907, when the losses were estimated at over three thousand millions of dollars. Considering the large increase in the volume of securities during the interval, it is probable that the recent shrinkage has been even greater than this sum. The key to whatever improvement there may have been in the situation is a relaxation of the monetary tension. Money is still very firm, and likely to so continue for some time to come, although the situation is less tense than formerly, and the chance of a crisis during the autumn when the crop and trade requirements are at a maximum is becoming more and more remote. The situation abroad is also visibly improving, owing to a better Balkan outlook. There now appears to be no fear of any complications between the great powers, and the disturbances in the Balkans have simmered down to a mere squabble among the contestants over petty differences and a division of the spoils. Europe, however, is still struggling under the load of militarism. Germany has built up a big war chest, and France seems bent on doing likewise. Much of the recent $60,000,000 of gold exported to Paris has gone abroad, not as a legitimate exchange transaction, but as a special movement. We have been shipping gold to Paris chiefly as a commodity, and France has paid the premium. Unfortunately our supply of bar gold is about exhausted, and American eagles which are used in our bank reserves have been shipped instead. This is not desirable. The Bank of England made a strong showing this week, and nearly all foreign financial advices are of a favorable nature, although London exhibits some uneasiness over the Canadian situation. The business situation at home is sound and promising. Much now depends upon the crops. Each week renders the prospect of a good harvest more certain, and the period is not far distant when the grain crops will be entirely beyond danger. Since the July Government report the condition of wheat and corn has further improved, and the outlook is for a better corn crop and a liberal wheat crop in spite of the decrease reported in spring wheat. It is now believed that the tariff bill will be passed about September and its effect have already been largely discounted. The outlook for the currency bill is still very indefinite.

The week began this morning with sales between the boards of Hawaiian Commercial, which held at 26. One hundred shares were sold of it. That was the only stock during the morning. During the session no sales were made, and the offers to buy remained unchanged from Saturday as a rule, the exceptions being Hawaiian Commercial, Hawaiian Sugar, Honokaa Sugar and Honolulu Brewing & Malting Co., where fractional gains were made and the Pioneer Mill Co., where a fractional decline was noted.

Morning on CHANGE

"I can't understand how some things get their names," declared the grumpy boarder. "For instance?" "Take this strawberry shortcake. If they had called it shortberry strawcake I could have seen the point."—Washington Herald.

DIABETES YIELDS IN HOSPITAL

Place—Good Samaritan's Hospital in Dawson City, Yukon Territory, Alaska.
Patient—G. A. Hatch, a business man of Dawson.
Case—Diabetes, believed to be incurable the world over.
Prognosis—Hopeless, not only because physicians consider it so, but the condition of the patient was so extreme that death was believed to be not far away.
A friend of Hatch's, by the name of E. S. Strait, auctioneer of Dawson, heard about his plight, and called upon him. Strait told Hatch that five years ago he was in the same fix and sent to California for Fulton's Diabetic Compound, and it restored him to business. He stated that he kept some of it on hand and would loan Hatch some till more could be had from San Francisco.
To the surprise of the doctor, nurses and Hatch's friends he was soon able to leave the hospital. Instead of being in his grave, as was fully expected, four months later found him on a visit to his old home in Portland, Maine.
Passing through San Francisco he called at our office and gave us this item in person.
If you have diabetes and are over fifty years of age you owe it to yourself and your family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up.

New Fables In Slang

A Tired Business Man who spends most of his day with his feet cocked up on the Office Desk and with the Electric Fan batting Home Runs on to the back of his neck complained bitterly to his Molly Lou.
"Business is like a Mango that a Fruit Fly has Stung. The Heat Indicator has Sky Rocketted to the top of the Pole and I think I shall go to the Coast."
But Molly Lou was a wise Little Person with an Idea. She Batted a stray Anopholes for a Three-Bagger as she cooled the Fevered Brow of the Tired Business Man with a Wind Producer.
"Why," she sired, "should we go to the Coast. Let us Hover around the Home Plate. I was reading about the Hostelry at the Promotion Committee's Wonder of the World. Let us go there!"
When they got back there was a Live Business Man and a Molly Lou with Roses in her Cheeks. The Genus Homo now boasts for the Local Product and Molly Lou hatched her idea for she has a new summer Dress.
