INTERCHANGE WILL BENEFIT HONOLULU

An interchange of first-class passenger transportation between the Pacific coast of the United States and Japan, China and the Philippines, in connection with the Canadian Pacific, Toyo Kisen Kaisha and Pacific Mail companies, is with the arrival of the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru today declared soon to go into effect.

The prediction also is made that through the new arrangement Honolulu would be benefited in the handling of a largely increased passenger business.

The details of the proposition are not entirely worked out, though steamship officials at Hongkong as well as at San Francisco and Vancouver have about perfected arrangements whereby a passenger purchasing a round-trip ticket from Victoria or Vancouver to Hongkong by the way of the Canadian Pacific, will have the option of returning to the coast by a T. K. K. or Pacific Mail vessel, with an opportunity of calling or remaining over at Honolulu, as fancy permits.

The plan as now under consideration will call for an interchange of tickets going as well as returning from the Far East.

The Pacific Mail and Toyo Kisen Kaisha, it is understood, will have abundant opportunity to play up the "Semi-Tropical Route" in their campaign for new business at the several ports along the coasts of China and Japan. It is pointed out that the prospect of proceeding over a northern route in the winter season possesses few allurements to anyone but a seasoned traveler and a person in a hurry to reach destination.

When an opportunity is offered to take a more southerly course, the innovation, it is declared, will be hailed with delight by hundreds of tourists.

BISHOP ESTATE ARCHITECT IS NOW IN CITY

O. G. Traphagen Reaches Honolulu to Erect Large Building on Bishop Street

O. G. Traphagen, the architect engaged by the Bishop Estate to draw plans for a proposed building for the property opposite the Alexander Young Hotel, on Bishop street, arrived in Honolulu this morning.

"I have the plans prepared, but until I have discussed them with the trustees of the estate I do not wish to make any statement concerning them," said Traphagen this morning.

Albert Judd, attorney for the estate, said this morning that he had not been able to see Traphagen since the latter's return.

Some time ago the proposition of erecting a large class A building on the property was discussed by the trustees, and it is said an agreement was reached at that time for Traphagen to draw up plans for such a structure before the directors took further action.

Now that he is here with the plans in shape, it is likely that a meeting of the trustees will be called soon to go over them and consider anew the proposition of putting up a large building on the property.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED
 Mother! Don't hesitate! If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs!"

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little ones stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels, without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

SAM HARDESTY QUIETLY WEDS MISS KEATING

Stealing a march on their many friends in Honolulu and bringing to a climax a romance which began at Prescott, Ariz., several years ago, E. J. "Sam" Hardesty, local manager for Wells Fargo & Company, and Miss Millicent M. Keating, formerly of Prescott, were married last Wednesday morning by the Rev. Robert E. Smith, of the Methodist Episcopal church, at the parsonage.

The wedding was so quietly arranged that few of their friends heard of it until last Saturday. The only guests present at the ceremony were the bride's sister, Miss Ethel E. Keatings, and W. P. Naquin. After the wedding breakfast at the Alexander Young Hotel the bridal couple went to the beach home of Captain John R. Foster, at Kahala beach, where they are spending the honeymoon.

The romance began when Hardesty was sent to Prescott, Ariz., a number of years ago as Wells Fargo & Company's representative. Both are well known among Honolulu's younger set, the bride having resided here about two years and a half, and the groom having been a member of the champion junior rowing crew of the Healan, Naught & Boat Club for the last two years. They will make their home in Honolulu.

JAPANESE TRIES MURDER AND ENDS LIFE

After making a futile effort to end the life of Mrs. K. Kushinoki, only succeeding in inflicting a flesh wound in the woman's leg, M. Hayashi, a Japanese, killed himself this morning with a bullet from the same revolver he had turned on the woman.

The man, hunted by the friends of the wounded woman, called this morning at a cottage on Kauluwela lane, and while the Japanese occupant of the cottage was in another room, Hayashi ended his life.

The police were notified and an inquest over his body was held this morning. As the police have been unable to learn Kushinoki and the man had quarreled over money matters. At the time he shot her, she was in a small store at Hotel street, opposite the switch near River street. He entered there in the evening and is said to have shot her down without a word of warning. He fled from the place and since then Japanese have been doing their best to locate him.

This morning he called at the Kauluwela lane cottage and asked the woman if she wished to give a grocery order. Answered in the negative, he left; but she called to him. When he returned he was shown to the house, and while the woman was in another room deciding what to order, he fired the fatal shot. Police are puzzled on the point of why Hayashi represented himself as a grocery solicitor. According to their information, he has not worked for some time.

L COMPANY OF 25TH A WINNER

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 13.
 "L" company, 25th Infantry 14, "C" Company, 2nd Infantry 4.

"Rosin" Kelly, the speed and curve artist of the Second Infantry, and reputed to be that regiment's one best bet in the baseball line, has no reason to be ashamed of his work in the game yesterday between his company team and the champion company team of the Twenty-fifth Infantry. The fielding of the visitors, particularly in the outer garden, was decidedly of the corner lot variety. He was up against something of a team when it came to batting, a team composed of about equal parts regimental team sluggers and new recruits with marked hitting tendencies. He held the local company team to one hit in each of the first three innings, and recovered from a little slip in the fourth when he was found for three smashing hits, and after that until he was retired at the beginning of the seventh had stopped the stick work completely. In the opening innings four of the rankest kind of errors gave the home team the lead, and such support would take the heart out of any pitcher. The visitors were playing under many disadvantages, with borrowed uniforms and shoes and on a strange diamond, but they showed no knowledge of team work, although their individuals in the lineup who displayed much class. Cody, who played third and who is well remembered by many of the First Infantry from Vancouver Barracks days was easily the best man on the team. He tapped the ball each time at bat ending his batting with a clean home run, and with the exception of letting one hit go through him, played a star game. Zawadzki, the first sacker, was the best man at bat, getting a single, a triple and a homer in four tries, and scoring two of the four runs. Smith played a fine game at second handling Barr's savage drive in the seventh with much class.

Members of the local newspaper fraternity and others were the guests of Madame Carusi, the noted harpist of California, and her husband, Arthur I. Street, at their home on Vineyard street last evening, the occasion being an informal musical recital by the hostess. Several selections on the harp were rendered by Madame Carusi in a masterful manner, the music being of a quality seldom heard locally. Other numbers were rendered in which Madame Carusi was assisted by Mrs. F. M. Bechtel at the Piano, Carl Miltner the violin and Bechtel the flautolet. It is probable that Madame Carusi will appear in public prior to her departure for the Orient.

most promising seems to be Hayes, a little difficulty in finding the place who is a coming first sacker, and occasionally, Smith pitched a fine Smiley, who has a batting eye for game, and pulled himself out of three fair. Of the old men, Cross was at deep holes in as many innings. The his beat. At no time since he came crowd was much taken with a spec- tacular double play unassisted by top form and he is easily the catch- er of the garrison. Williamson was switched to third and there is no doubt that this is the one infield po- sition where he can do good work. He beat out an infield hit and stole home team made twelve hits, but in the eighth like a flash. Barring these netted few earned runs.
