New Minister to China is Visitor Dr. Reinsch Here on Way to Post

His Coming Is Surprise Locally
Reported but Entertainment
Hastily Arranged

"The United States is deeply interested in China and in the development of constitutional government there. It goes without saying that our relations are of the most cordial. Both President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan take a great personal interest in China and, with the cooperation of the consular corps and the diplomatic service, it is our intention to develop the commercial relations between our country and the new republic."—Minister Reinsch.

Dr. Paul Samuel Reinsch, noted educator of the University of Wisconsin and recently appointed by President Wilson as minister to China, is an entirely unexpected visitor in Honolulu today.

He arrived on the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru this morning, accompanied by his wife, their daughter, Miss Claire Reinsch, and his wife's mother, Mrs. P. Moser. They are on their way to Peking, where Dr. Reinsch will at once assume the post now in charge of Mr. Williams since the latter's departure for the mainland.

Informed by cable advices several weeks ago that Dr. Reinsch was going out to his post by way of Europe, a number of Honoluluans who were planning his reception and entertainment during his expected visit here abandoned the plans. No notice whatever was received from the mainland that he was a passenger on the Tenyo, and it was by chance that his presence in the city was learned as the vessel docked. Immediately then ensued the hurried making of arrangements for sightseeing tours and luncheons for himself and party during his brief stay.

When the Tenyo Maru docked this morning, Riley H. Allen, editor of the Star-Bulletin, happened to meet Dr. Reinsch just before the party went ashore and it was learned at once that, in ignorance of his coming, no plans for entertainment had been arranged. Dr. Reinsch and his party any local engagements for the day. Within a short time a sightseeing tour of the city for the morning and one for the afternoon were arranged, and the board of governors of the Commercial Club, upon hearing that Dr. Reinsch was in the city, planned a luncheon in his honor. A luncheon for the ladies in the party at the Moana Hotel was planned simultaneously.

A number of prominent local Democrats were informed that one of the administration's notable appointees was in the city and several Democrats joined in the plans for the day.

Minister Reinsch first called upon Acting Governor Mott-Smith at the executive building and had nearly an hour's talk with him. Then the party was taken for a sightseeing tour, with the Pail as the objective point. In the party were Minister and Mrs. Reinsch, Miss Reinsch, Mrs. Moser, Mrs. W. H. Farrington, Senator James L. Coke, Prof. W. A. Bryan of the College of Hawaii and Riley H. Allen. Guest of Commercial Club.

Goes Direct to Peking.

"I shall go to Peking as directly and quickly as possible," he said. "My predecessor, Minister Calhoun, has been about half a year away from the post now, and his business has been in the hands of Mr. Williams there. There are a number of transfers awaiting the completion of the Peking assignment and a number of reasons for reaching my post at as early a date as is possible.

U. S. District Attorney Says He Is Pleased That He Is To Be Relieved from Duty

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—The nomination of Jefferson D. McCarn, of Nashville, Tenn., for United States district attorney for Hawaii was sent to the senate today by President Wilson.

C. S. ALBERT.

As a result of the nomination by the president of Jefferson McCarn for United States district attorney for Hawaii, the investigation of the alleged meat trust by the federal grand jury probably will not be taken up for the next four or five weeks, or until McCarn's appointment is confirmed and he has taken office. This announcement was made this morning by Robert W. Breckons when notified by the Star-Bulletin that McCarn had been named to succeed him. "I will cable to Washington today," said Breckons, "in an effort to ascertain how soon my predecessor may be expected to arrive, though the senate probably will act quickly on that mat-

PROTECTION OF GAMBLERS IS ALLEGED

Attorney-general's Office May Investigate Charges of Hui Protectorate

M'DUFFIE IN LIMELIGHT IN PERSISTENT RUMORS

Scheme Hatching to Remove Captain of Detectives for Young Informer Report

Affidavits and rumors of affidavits which it is said will be the basis of charges to be lodged against Captain of Detectives McDuffie and others, in connection with the alleged protection of gamblers and their games, are becoming known. Some of these affidavits, together with statements and information not yet reduced to writing, are in the hands of Arthur G. Smith, deputy attorney general. That they will be the foundation for an investigation into the relations of the detective department with the gambling fraternity of Honolulu was not denied by the deputy attorney general this morning, though he stated that his office has not definitely decided upon a course of action.

Concomitant with the coming to light of the affidavits, a scheme is said to be taking shape which has as its purpose the summary removal of McDuffie when he returns from his trip to Shanghai. According to the rumor which carries the story of the affidavits, the captain of detectives is to be discarded, and a young man, active in procuring the evidence alleged to prove that McDuffie has violated the trust of his office, given his place.

How true these rumors are may be shown by later developments. At this time what are definitely known to be facts are that affidavits and statements have been given Smith and that he is considering them with a view of conducting an investigation which may be productive of interesting and sensational disclosures.

Jarrett himself has informed the city and county prosecuting officials that he has no affidavits in his possession relating to McDuffie and the latter's alleged protection of gamblers. While this is not denied, it is said that other persons have affidavits to be later turned over to Smith. Names of several persons, some with official connections and others without, are mentioned as forming a protective huf for gamblers. Smith did not wish to discuss the matter this morning. He said that he had conferred with City and County Attorney Cathcart, and that the latter had consented that the attorney general's office follow up the allegations made in the affidavits and statements with any appropriate action.

HEARTY ALOHA TENDERED TO BALL-PLAYERS

Enthusiastic Fans Shower Honors on All-Hawaiian and All-Chinese Diamond Stars

Connie Mack may brag about his $100,000 infield, and use the quartette to win a world's championship, but you couldn't buy the aggregation of baseball talent that arrived on the Sierra this morning for $10,000,000 if Honolulu fans were to pass on the sale.

The famous All-Chinese team, fresh from more than a hundred victories as many diamonds, and the All-Hawaiian team, that played rings around everything in the Middle West, and spotted Hawaii on the map of that section, came home together today. It was a great welcome that the boys of both teams received from friends and well-wishers, the Chinese especially, having been away the longest and having something of an international reputation, being made much of by their fellow countrymen. They were met at the dock by the Chinese consul and members of the Chung Wah Merchants' Association, whisked into motor cars before they realized that they were again on dry land, and taken for a drive around the city, just to show what a difference six months can make in the home town. A reception at the Chinese consulate followed, where the travelers had their first chance to take a long breath, and tell of their doings.

There was no organized reception for the six All-Hawaiian players who returned, but there were many friends on hand to give them a hearty welcome, and they had some difficulty in breaking away to join their respective families and slip home.

Sam Hop, manager of the All-Chinese aggregation, who has got more sticks of type into the papers in praise of Honolulu than many a professional publicity expert, still has his famous smile in working order.

"Fine, fine. Everything's fine and we're glad to get back you bet," said Sam as soon as he touched the dock.

PROBES NOW PALLING ON LEGISLATORS

By C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The senate and house are tired of congressional investigations. The lobby probe committees have about completed their investigations, and the recent efforts to start an investigation of the attorney general met with a cold reception in the house. The Steel Trust, the Sugar Trust, the Money Trust, the insolvent lobby, and other things have been looked into within the last two or three years, but at this particular time there is no desire to start anything that looks like a probe. The Democrats are crying "Enough, give us a rest." The Republicans were tired of it long ago.

Wife of Captain Mather Is Taken Off Distressed Vessel by Making Spectacular Jump to Deck of Waterwitch

(Special Star-Bulletin Wireless)

KUKUI, Oct. 13 (3 p. m.).—Mrs. Mather, wife of the master of the S. C. Allen, has just been taken off the bark, having made a spectacular jump, to the deck of the Waterwitch, which is among the fleet of vessels standing by to render aid. Mrs. Mather, until a year ago was a resident of Honolulu, having been a Mrs. Coulson, a stenographer in the employ of the Associated Oil Company. She is a sister of Captain Frederick Miller.

But slight hope is held out, at present, for saving the Allen. She is still bow on the rocks and is being buffeted by a heavy sea. So heavy, in fact, is the sea that it is impossible to do anything except hold to the lines that have been thrown out. The launch Helene has just reached the scene, as has the Wailele, the latter being equipped with gear with which it may be possible to drop a five-ton anchor to the Allen.

Seamen are recalling the ill luck that has followed the S. C. Allen. About a year ago she was the victim of a fire that rendered her almost a total wreck. More than $10,000 was expended in making her seaworthy, following the blaze which destroyed the after part of the vessel.

With a heavy sea rolling, the bark S. C. Allen, bound to Honolulu from Puget Sound, went ashore, bow on, off Diamond Head at a late hour this morning and at 2 o'clock this afternoon but a slim hope was held out of a possibility of floating the little vessel to safety.

Shortly after the noon hour the Diamond Head look-out reported the bark ashore in front of the old George Beckley estate and put in an urgent call for help. The Matson Navigation tug Intrepid had put out earlier in the day upon learning that the S. C. Allen was nearing port and came alongside the unfortunate vessel a short time after the distress signal had been sent in. The Intrepid succeeded in getting a line aboard the Allen but was unable to lend any further assistance owing to the high seas that rock the little bark around at their will. The same is true of Young Brothers' "Brothers."

The Allen is flying a distress signal, which is the American flag upside down, and the Inter-Island Navigation Company's Claudine is standing by ready to lend a hand in rescuing the vessel or her crew just as soon as the elements will permit; has a line out, making three in all.

For a distance of at least a mile the beach is lined by spectators, anxiously awaiting the time when help will be rendered the bark, while a number of outrigger canoes have put off from shore and are in the neighborhood of the bark waiting to do anything they may be called upon to do provided she should commence to go to pieces upon the rocks.

Several parties made an unsuccessful attempt to swim out to the scene but were repulsed by the heavy seas and compelled to return to shore.

The S. C. Allen was 18 days out of Puget Sound carrying 850,000 feet of lumber to Allen & Robinson of this city, the local concern being part owners of the bark.

Captain Mather of the S. C. Allen has been a visitor to this port for a number of years and is well known and thought of here and is high in repute as a navigator. None of his friends would express an opinion as to the probable cause of Captain Mather's charge going ashore. Captain Mather, also, is a part owner of his command.
