SHERIFF JARRETT AND CAPTAIN M'DUFFIE TO CARE FOR CROWDS ON HONOLULU'S STREETS TONIGHT

The vast throng of people who will gather on pleasure bent along the downtown streets this Christmas eve will be amply guarded against acts from the hoodlum or other offenders who may be incited during the festive holiday season to take advantage of liberty and license and commit deeds that would cause suffering or inconvenience to pedestrians.

Sheriff William Jarrett, this morning issued the police detail for the business district, which will bring into action a large force of mounted officers, foot patrol and plain clothes men.

The officers have received explicit instruction to enforce the traffic regulations to the letter in the section of the city bounded by King, Beretania, Nuuanu and Bishop streets.

Pedestrians are warned to keep to the right-hand sidewalk on all downtown streets. In attempting to cross they will be required to proceed to the nearest intersection and reach their destination by following along the other side of the thoroughfare.

The foot patrol and plain clothes men will assume charge of this feature of the police arrangement.

Mounted men will be stationed at all the principal street intersections and will take charge of the stream of automobiles and other vehicles.

CHINESE WILL HOLD MAMMOTH MASS MEETING

News that the Tung Ming Wai faction of the United Chinese Society was taking steps to have a temporary injunction issued to prevent the majority party from holding a separate election to put its candidates in office led to a request being made to Mayor J. J. Fern this morning for the use of Ala. Park tomorrow evening.

The majority party made the request for a mass meeting to which all Chinese in the city and county will be invited to attend to determine at that time and in that way if it is their pleasure to have the majority party proceed with its attempt to put its candidates in office and amend the by-laws in such ways as to give the right of franchise for elections of this kind to all members of the society in place of leaving it, as it now is, with the board of managers of the society.

The petition for the temporary injunction was granted this morning and High Sheriff Henry was put in charge of the society quarters. In this way begins the new fight between the two factions of the society for the control of it.

The efforts toward a compromise between the two factions have failed. Meetings with the new consul, Woo Huan, have been held but with no success. With each party determined to control the society, neither is willing to give enough to permit of a compromise. What may result from the mass meeting is doubtful, but the party calling it is confident of success.

The election recently held behind locked doors, with the members of the majority party barred from entrance, resulted in the vacancies on the board of directors being filled and the officers elected; but as against this the majority party also elected its representatives to fill the vacancies. Which of the two elections is to be held valid is open to doubt, and is as yet unsettled.

Members of the majority party declared this morning that despite the temporary injunction order, they will gain control of the society and that in a legal way. They declare that they have the cause of right on their side and also the largest number of members of the society. The mass meeting is looked forward to as a means of settling any doubt as to the will of the majority and their opinion of the manner in which the Tung Ming Wais have gotten control of the society.
