COMMITTEES OF CARNIVAL MEET AT 7.30 TONIGHT

CARNIVAL MEETINGS TODAY.

Floral Parade committee at 7:30 o'clock this evening, Merchants' Association rooms, Young hotel building. Committee on fireworks at Mollie Hill park, 5 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Elks' Club, King street.

James D. Dougherty, director-general of the 1914 carnival, yesterday afternoon appointed a new committee which will take charge of additional features during the week of celebration next month. In addition to the waterfront display, there is to be a special pyrotechnic spectacle at Mollie Hill park, probably on the evening of February 17, and the new committee is making the arrangements for this.

This is a feature regarding which advice have just been received from a Los Angeles fireworks company preparing the display. The company in a letter just received by Mr. Dougherty, says that it is preparing a very elaborate show, and the director-general immediately took steps to appoint a committee to talk it over. The committee consists of J. A. M. Johnson, chairman; George McEldowney, H. B. Giffard, Bert Clark, J. L. Friel, Irwin Spalding, O. C. Scott, Robert McCortison and J. M. Levy.

Striking miners attacked guards on a bridge near Trinidad, Colo., killing one and fatally injuring a second.

A Wabash railroad engine blew up on the Erie railroad near Buffalo, N. Y., killing two men and injuring six. Trachoma and tuberculosis are threatening the existence of the remaining Indian tribes in the United States. The government may establish camp hospitals on the reservations.

Russia has purchased 24 Curtiss biplanes. The Black sea fleet will soon number 150 hydroplanes.

The Gigantic Slaughter Sale

SALE OF CARNIVAL STOCK REACHES A VERY HIGH MARK AD CLUB WORKERS PLEASSED WITH RESULT OF EFFORTS to grow and it is the same this afternoon. The selling teams started out at 8 o'clock, and by 9 o'clock $2427 had been subscribed and reported in. The Star-Bulletin began at that time to issue its bulletins, posting them in a number of prominent stores. The next bulletin, issued a half hour later, was $3900; the next at 10 o'clock was $10,332, and so on at rapid steps, on and past the $20,000 mark.

The figures were taken from the reports received at the Ad Club's headquarters, being phoned in there by the team captains or chairmen.

The spirit of the Ad Club was contagious. It seemed to permeate the entire city. The little fellows who made up the boy scout company, on duty at headquarters, felt it and yelled it and spread it. The pirates did the same—and the selling squads took in the money. The entire scheme was planned and carried out so perfectly, and the idea itself was so novel, and its effect was so striking, that the giving was as free as the asking.

There were 26 selling squads in the field, scattered over the entire city, each with its certain district. There was a ladies' team and a Chinese team, and the Japanese, though not on the official list of teams, were actively selling.

S. S. Paxson, member Ad Club committee for Oahu.

By a little before 8 o'clock A. L. C. Atkinson, chairman of the Ad Club committee in charge of the sale, was at the tent erected as headquarters near the makai end of Bishop square, with his committeemen. With him were also H. L. Strange, secretary of the committee who has had a greater part of the plans in hand, and S. S. Paxson and E. O. White. Thomas Sharp, chairman of the publicity committee with John F. Haley and Will Wayne and E. W. P. St. George were also among the first to arrive.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the chairman of the district sales committees got their men and women together and started out, backed by the enthusiastic cry of the pirates. The first sale reports began to come in remarkably early, and by a few minutes after 9 o'clock the Star-Bulletin was able to issue its first of many bulletins showing the amount of sales for the hour. The first bulletin showed that $2427 of stock had been sold by 9 o'clock. The figures for the bulletins were taken from the Ad Club records. A telephone had been installed in the tent, and reports were made continuously over it to Mr. Strange by the sales committee.

The cannon roared when the $3000 mark was reached, and every time thereafter when $2000 was added to the total the cannon, loaded and fired by the company of pirates, roared out its enthusiasm. And it roared with delightful frequency—sometimes at not more than 30 minute intervals. Shortly after 9 o'clock it was fired to indicate that the first $3000 had been taken in. By 10 o'clock the sum had reached $4760, by 10:30 it had gone up to $7830, and 15 minutes later to $9563, and at 11 o'clock to $11,472.

There was no stopping it. The subscriptions rolled generously in with unexpected rapidity. The total was indicated in two ways, the first on the chart, and the second on a large bull's-eye target, with each circle marked with a figure, beginning with $3000 and enlarging at the rate of $2000 a circle to $15,000. The bull's-eye is to be the mark aimed at—$20,000.

So rapidly did the subscriptions come in that it is now believed that at least $35,000 of stock will be sold. The other Islands, Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, have not been heard from, and probably will not be for several days.

BY W. R. FARRINGTON, PRESIDENT HONOLULU AD CLUB.

It shows that the people of this city and territory have faith in their own town and their own people. It is a popular company floated to carry on a popular celebration that is fast becoming popular the world over. As for the Ad Club, the Ad Club spirit is contagious and every stockholder is happy. And the splendid team work for which the organization has gained a reputation has again been exemplified. Enthusiasm and efficiency make a combination that is a community winner under all conditions.

LEADING SUBSCRIPTIONS.

- A few of the large subscriptions which are known now are:
- Merchants' Association $600
- Rapid Transit & Land Co. 500
- Inter-Island Steam Nav. Co. 500
- Castle & Cooke 250
- Matson Navigation Co. 250
- First National Bank 150
- Union Grill 100
- von Hamm-Young Co. 100
- H. P. Wood 100

Of the above, the Inter-Island and the Rapid Transit Company paid their full subscriptions in cash.

They expect to sell a large amount. On Hawaii, where G. H. Vicars is delegated to sell the stock, the final results will not be heard until Wednesday of Thursday of next week. He has sent word that as the island is large, with many persons on it to get to them all. He has also said that a luncheon is to be given by the Hilo Board of Trade Tuesday at which time the stock is to be sold.

And in Honolulu itself the final sales will not be in for a day or two. Several large companies seen this morning signified their willingness to buy heavily in the stock with the sanction of the board of directors. Special meetings of such bodies have been called for tomorrow and the next day. One of the largest subscriptions noted this morning came from the Merchants' Association, which bought $600 of the stock. Castle & Cooke gave $250 and the Matson Navigation Company $250. Other subscriptions, of perhaps equal size, were spoken of, and will probably come to light officially later.

When the memoirs of the 1914 annual carnival are written, the bright colors of the pirates of the Ad Club will figure prominently and pleasantly in them. They were there this morning in all their colors and with the same impedimenta of battle as graced their advent on Regatta Day, the cutlass, the pistol—and the cask of rum! The little drummer-boy, John Perry, was back to his piratical calling, and E. W. P. St. George, all-around gun man, was again to be seen, loading the cannon, or leading the dangerous crew to the bank to deposit the gold of the stock sales.

And incidentally it was at the bank that they had occasion to hold up F. B. Damon, cashier of the Bank of Hawaii, and demand that he "deliver." He looked, for a time, that they would hold up the entire personnel of the bank, and their decision to quit with the purse of Mr. Damon was more in the nature of a compromise than anything else. He took it well. Of course, there was nothing else to do: the pirates are men of blood.

In their company were Jack D. Cleary, J. Grube, C. H. W. Norton, John W. Perry, G. S. Pereira, H. D. Perry, W. F. Trenck, C. F. Jewell, D. D. Johnston, E. W. P. St. George, Lester Fishel, and—last but not least—Miss Fenella Miles, the captive pirate maid, who is making a record of her own in selling.

Harry Hayward's boy scouts were on the scene of activity, keeping order and the like, and also keeping a sharp eye on the pirates. The scouts were Victor Boyd, Henry Thompson, Charles Copp, Robert Boyd, Hen Kong, Herbert Kaima, Phillip Zane, Nelson Robinson, Vasco Franca, Charles Akana, Joseph Akana, Tai Kong, Will Kahanamoku, James Holstein and Rudolph Duncan.

Members of the selling teams were given two pages of typewritten directions before starting out this morning, and also similar copies were sent to G. H. Vicars, acting for the club on Hawaii; E. E. Mahlum on Kauai and W. O. Aiken on Maui. These instructions begin with outlining the object of the Carnival, its value to the islands in bringing tourists here, and ends with giving the basis upon which stock is sold—the ten per cent to be paid down in case of assessable stock, and the full value of one dollar a share to be paid on the paid-up stock.

"The Hilo news is very encouraging," said Chairman Atkinson of the Ad Club committee. "There was not much time to cover the big island of Hawaii with printed matter, after our campaign got well started, and it is certainly very good news that the Hawaii campaign is to wind up at the annual dinner of the Hilo board of trade. We are anxious to have all the islands in the corporation on a big scale, for the Carnival is for all Hawaii and the corporation will be a big manifestation of the 'get-together' spirit which is going to help us all. The prediction is made that Hilo will have big news on the 13th."

SAYS CHURCH NEEDS RELIGION.

Less theology and more religion is the need of the church, according to Dr. Charles M. Stewart, president of Garrett Biblical Institute, who addressed the 4th district African Methodist Episcopal church Evanston.

"We are passing too much time quibbling over such questions as 'Who wrote the third gospel?' The people don't care who wrote it. I read a recent criticism of the church, which stated the trouble with the church is that it has no pronounced idea of the manner of the birth of Christ. What if it hasn't? It may be interesting to the pastors, because it is of no interest to the people.

"We are passing too much time in such quibbling when the people are dying for the want of the bread of life. I'm not criticizing theology, for it is not the duty of the preacher to carry theology to the people. While they want less theology and more religion.

A wireless system between Britain and Canada will be in operation next September.

BY A. L. C. ATKINSON, CHAIRMAN AD CLUB COMMITTEE.

"Honolulu has done a splendid thing today in supporting the mid-Pacific Carnival in this significant manner. The result of stock-selling up to the present time is so much beyond what most people expected as to be probably a general surprise, but it is no surprise to those who realize what this city can do when its people get together as occasion calls upon them to do. That the value of our annual carnival to Hawaii is recognized has been shown in a striking way today. I want to thank the press for its co-operation, because very much of today's success is due to the publicity previously given our plans. Now, all together, to make our Land of Sunshine and Golden Hours better known than ever before through the 1914 carnival!"
