STORM'S DAMAGE IS ESTIMATED AT $100,000

covered with bright bougainvillea, was broken almost in half.

Manoa Home Damaged.

One of the first houses to be damaged by the wind which yesterday swept down the Manoa valley was that belonging to George R. Carter. The place was occupied by an invalid Japanese woman and her three children who, sensing the danger, left the building but a few moments before it was partially demolished by the wind.

William T. Brigham, director of the Bishop Museum, has informed the Bishop estate that the wind tore away a section of the roof covering the photographic department of the museum. The owner of a house at Alenuwaha Heights yesterday made frequent trips to the Commercial Club from where he could see his property, in order to ascertain whether or not the wind was damaging the structure. Reports from other parts of the city are to the effect that some billboards and countless numbers of trees are down at Moiliili. The fence at the Berkeley tennis courts was blown down, and every angle blown from the roof of a house at Moiliili. Two old barns in Pali valley were completely demolished and the timbers and shingles scattered over the ground.

After a thorough examination lasting the greater part of this morning, Harbor-master W. R. Foster reported at noon that the Honolulu waterfront had to a great extent been spared by the storm. Throughout last night the sea was exceedingly rough, but little local damage is reported. The Hawaiian Dredging Company this morning received a wireless message from the tug Navajo, which was yesterday sent to aid the tug Helen, saying that the Navajo had put in at Kihel. Facts concerning the condition of the Helen and her tow were not mentioned in the communication. N. H. Slaughter, resident engineer for the Marconi Wireless Company, returned from Kihel this morning and reports no damage done to the company's plant there.

Mullet Spawns Destroyed.

As a result of violent windstorm of the last 24 hours, mullet spawn in various fishponds over the territory have been destroyed. Consequently, mullet will be probably abnormally high by the time the spawn would have grown to fish of market size. Reports reached Honolulu this morning from several of the companies owning fishponds on Oahu carrying the news of the wind's destruction to the spawn. This is now the middle of the closed season for mullet, the season being from December to February. From the egg or spawn to the time the mullet has grown large enough to market stretches a period of 18 months, and so the damage done by the windstorm to the fishponds will not make itself felt in the market until about that time.

AUDITOR FIELD TO FINISH THE ACCOUNTING JOB

dreeds—in order to get back to the Crescent City and start Auditor Field on the final work of accounting. The commission was authorized last spring to straighten out Hawaii county affairs, and that is the reason why the commissioners feel obligated to clean the tangle up to March 31, 1913.

Though Hawaii supervisors have finally appropriated $3000 to finish the audit, the commission will pay no attention to the county's attitude until its own audit is completed. Then and not till then will the books and other data be turned back to the county.

The commissioners will serve practically without pay from now on, because all of the remainder of the $20,000 fund will be used up in paying the auditor and his assistant. The commission is determined to complete the financial audit and is willing to forego the members' salaries.

As a result of their conference with the governor yesterday, as briefly told in the second edition of the Star-Bulletin, the commissioners will see the completion of their allotted task through without calling upon Hawaii county for additional funds and discharging the belated move of the supervisors in passing the $3000 appropriation.

And there is no secret made of the fact that the commission's attitude toward the Hawaii supervisors is independent, not to say cool.

"A pair of PARAGON PANTS certainly make a fellow look—and feel—fine, don't they!"

The CLARION

Among the governor's callers today Lowe, E. C. Peters, E. R. Bann, were the following: P. P. Woods, E. Wight, J. J. Sullivan, J. A. Sibley, G. Duisenberg, R. W. Cathcart, G. K. Campbell and A. T. Gear.

BOURBONS LIKE SUGGESTIONS OF GOV. PINKHAM

Democrats of Hawaii are naturally pleased at the recognition of ability within the party ranks. There is no question of the Democracy of either of the two men mentioned.

John Effinger, chairman of the Hawaii National Democratic League, thinks that the selections of Wilder and Watson will be popular throughout the territory.

"Both men are brainy and will reflect credit on themselves and the party," he commented.

Attorney J. Lightfoot says that he and all good Democrats concur in the choice. "The selections are admirable," he observed yesterday afternoon.

Palmer Woods strongly favors the governor's recommendations.

Republicans are equally pleased with Governor Pinkham's recommendations. Many expressions of praise were heard yesterday and today.

Police Notes

Taken to the Ala hospital, a Japanese whose name was not learned is said to have received injuries yesterday through having been run down by auto No. 390. The Honolulu Electric Co. is registered as the owner of car No. 390.

A Japanese rider of a wheel is reported to have been thrown from the machine through coming in contact with automobile No. 500, the accident having taken place late yesterday afternoon. The bicycle was much damaged by the collision.

Frank J. Cook, a soldier enroute to the Philippines as a passenger in the transport Logan has been detained in this city for the next 30 days, owing to his having been found guilty of assault upon a Chinese last night. It is alleged that Cook shied a rock at the rider of a motorcycle resulting in a badly lacerated hand. The Chinese also declared that Cook offered insults to his wife.

Ben Souza, rider of a bicycle, alleged to the police this morning that he had been run down by automobile No. 1154 and wanted satisfaction. Souza claims that the accident took place near the intersection of Alapai and King streets. The auto is said to have attempted to pass the cyclist with the result that Souza was thrown to the ground and suffered minor bruises while the wheel was considerably damaged.

Eight Japanese brought before District Magistrate Monsarrat this morning added $40 to the city and county finances as their contribution through fines. The Japanese were placed under arrest by Captain of Detectives McDuffie and his men while engaged in a seven-come-eleven game. No costs were assessed to the defendants.

Captain of Detectives McDuffie and several officers paid a flying visit to Chinatown last night with the result that several offenders against the existing ordinances pertaining to the illegal possession of opium were gathered in. The defendants pleaded for more time when brought before District Magistrate Monsarrat this morning.

STORM NOTES

Passengers returning in the Mauna Loa from Kona yesterday say that the weather was the worst they ever saw.

R. J. Buchly had nine fine trees in his yard at Waikiki up to the time the storm came along. Every one of the nine was uprooted.

The trees in most of the beach hotel yards suffered severely. At Cassidy's and at Cressaty's, on Kalaia road, many algaroba trees were blown down.

One large algaroba tree in the public library grounds was lashed to a telegraph post with block and tackle to prevent its destruction. The post managed to stand the strain.

The ground around Alahau suffered severely from the storm. Many trees were uprooted while only the thickness of the foliage kept others from a like fate. So close do the trees grow that they held each other up.

"I have never seen such a wind as this," said McCandless this morning. "At the lowest estimate it was 85 miles an hour at the Pali yesterday and at times must have risen to 100. We have had stiff winds in Hawaii before, but never for this length of time in my recollection."

Sir Edward Shackleton, the British explorer, would welcome American competition in his coming Antarctic expedition on the ground that a race between the two nations would arouse much interest.

The toy-makers of Sonneberg and Saxe-Meiningen have organized to exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Caleb H. Canby has been elected president of the Chicago board of trade.

'LINK' M'CANDLESS HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM FURY OF GALE

L. I. Candless had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday while coming over the Pali from windward Oahu. He was riding in his automobile and just after passing the crest of the cliff ran into a hailstorm of stones, torn from the left-hand hill-sides by the high wind and flung along the road. He was struck on the forehead and cheek, but luckily none of the stones that hit him were large. His driver was also hit by the flying stones but was only slightly bruised.
