SUPERVISORS IN SESSION DISCHARGE STABLE MAN

Retrenchment Meeting a Farce in Opinion of Pacheco—Not So, Declares McClellan

POLICE AND FIRE HEADS CANNOT CUT DOWN FORCE

W. T. Monsarrat a Trifle Belat- ed in Reports, According to Information Gleaned

Either in farce or in seriousness the board of supervisors met in special session for four hours yesterday morning with financial retrenchment as the cause and subject of the meeting. Heads of the different departments met with the supervisors, and were given an opportunity to state their position in the economy movement, an opportunity to say where cuts should and should not be made in their departments.

On one hand it is declared that the entire meeting was a farce, that the majority of the members had no idea of intention of using the axe that the whole thing was a sham, a play to the gallery. Such is the statement of Supervisor M. C. Pacheco, leader of the minority faction of the board.

But against his statement comes one from Supervisor W. H. McClellan, chairman of the ways and means committee, and leader with Supervisor Lester Petrie in the retrenchment movement. He declared emphatically this morning that the meeting was held in grave earnestness and that the axe will be used and used freely, without fear of favor, before long.

"We met with the heads of the departments yesterday morning," he said, "to get expressions from them on how they can assist us in the retrenchment. As was to be expected, they were all of the opinion that no changes could be made in their departments, that they were running on the best expense possible.

"After we had heard them out we took up the budget and went over all the appropriation items, checking here and there ones which possibly may be done without. The only definite action we took was to let out a stable

Outlined in Brilliant Glow, Capitol Sheds Light of Gaiety Over Great Crowd of Carnival Merrymakers in Open-Air Dance

Supervisors with brightly beaming out the illumination of the capitol building for the Mid-Pacific Carnival. Thousands of electric lights are arranged over the front of the building, outlining its towers, lanais and other architectural features. Beneath this glowing palace countless merry-makers joined in jollity last Saturday night and will dance again tonight. The illumination is the achievement of the Hawaiian Electric Company. The Carnival management found itself without the funds necessary to carry out the illuminating scheme on the scale proposed. The Hawaiian Electric Company offered to do the work for nothing and not only has put up the wiring, lights, etc. but is supplying the power free of charge. The result is a splendid contribution to the 1914 Carnival.

The decoration of the building was done by R. R. Craik, chief inspector of the department of public works, and is much admired by spectators. The photograph above was taken last Saturday night by the Kodagraph shop for the Star-Bulletin. A peculiar feature will be noticed in the curving lines of light on the left of the picture. An auto had moved into the range of the camera and the glare from the headlights is thus revealed. Amateur photographers may be interested in knowing that the photo above was taken with ten minutes' exposure.

WHITEHOUSE MAY BE OUSTED FROM COUNTY POSITION

Resignation of Engineer May Be Forced Following Meeting of Yesterday Afternoon

Another mix-up and fight over the road and engineering department of the city and county threatens. Another effort to oust L. M. Whitehouse, city and county engineer, from office is declared to be under way.

A movement was started yesterday afternoon following the special caucus of the supervisors. It is declared on good authority, to force the resignation of Whitehouse. Involved in this movement, according to report, are Supervisors Pacheco, Wolter and Hardesty, who lack one vote, as their rumber stands today, of having enough to control the situation. Supervisor Cox, the only Republican member on the board, is credited with holding the balance of power; and it is for his vote that overtures are now being made by the trio, it is said.

The movement is a revival of one started some time ago by Supervisor Pacheco. It has been renewed now as a direct result of the disclosures made when the supervisors conducted their brief investigation into the affairs of the road department. Hardesty was reticent about it, Wolter did not wish to discuss it, but did in a way; Pacheco openly declares his position and desire to see Whitehouse out of office.

Hardesty, close friend of Thomas F. Kennedy, road supervisor, whose resignation has just been asked for and given, is said to have developed a strong hostility towards Whitehouse early because of the position the latter took against Kennedy. Wolter asserted he would act in the movement as Pacheco acts. The latter says he does not wish to take the initiative again, saying that he was "thrown down" once before in a similar effort.

An agreement was made when Pacheco some time ago moved that Whitehouse's resignation be called for that Hardesty was to second it. But somehow or other Hardesty did not second it; Wolter did, but the motion was lost.

"The entire department is in a rotten mess," Pacheco declared this morning. "Whitehouse should get out, and the department should be reorganized. I will say this to the credit of Whitehouse, however, he has not been given a free hand. He has had to let the roads committee dictate to him; it has made him do as it pleased.

"Such a condition should not exist. But it does exist and that is one reason why I am opposed to Whitehouse. Let him get out and a man put in of office who will not be run over—one who will manage the department on a business basis, and things will be different—streets will be in better order."

The final accounts of S. A. Walker, administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of Hugh E. McIntyre, were approved by Judge Whitney today and the administrator discharged.

The great success of the opening features of the 1914 Mid-Pacific Carnival has pleased everybody. The enthusiasm and vivacity with which everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion at the big open-air Ball of Nations in front of the capitol on Saturday night demonstrated beyond a doubt that Honolulu people are as fully capable of carrying off a great carnival event as are any people in the world. It spells not only the success of this week of Carnival, but also of all future years, and in reality insures that the Mid-Pacific Carnival is destined to become one of the world-famous annual events, second to no other similar affair in Europe or America. The Carnival spirit is pre-eminent.

Director-general Dougherty and all of the members of the committees who have been working for weeks past on the big undertaking, are immensely gratified by the way the Carnival has taken, and the manner in which the populace is cooperating. "It is an immense relief," declared Mr. Dougherty towards the close of Saturday night's event. "I had hoped for something like this, but scarcely dared to expect such a tremendous response. I know the Carnival is just beginning, and now we have it. Of course we have made mistakes—I personally am open to criticism, but remember no one is perfect, and the mistakes we make this year may be avoided next year. We are working—all Honolulu is working—together for Hawaii. That's the big thing. It is a big lesson of what can be done by working together."

The big feature of today's program is, of course, the Grand Massed Band Concert in front of the capitol this evening. It is certain that the program is one such as has never before been heard in Honolulu. Six good bands turned into one. One hundred and sixty-five musicians in one great organization of harmony. That is what this concert means, and that is what makes it one of the very biggest things of the Carnival week.

It is quite certain that facilities for handling the crowd tonight will be greatly perfected as a result of the experience gained on Saturday night. Also inasmuch as the music can be advantageously heard from almost any part of the grounds, there will not be the incentive to pack into small compass as was the case where eyes instead of ears were the most important sense-organs to full enjoyment. There is no charge for admission, but a charge of 50 cents for seats on the bleachers is to be made.

It is expected that the band program will be concluded about 10 o'clock and following this conclusion, the lights will be cut off from the grounds and building in order that they may not interfere with the effect of the Punchbowl crater eruption which is scheduled to take place at 10:15 o'clock. This big pyrotechnic effort is being staged by the Willson Fireworks Company of Los Angeles under the personal supervision of the head of the company, William H. Willson. It is expected that the effects produced will be very striking, though owing to the magnitude of the undertaking, Mr. Willson is not so enthusiastic regarding it as he is of the Moiliili park exhibition for tomorrow night, and of the Water Carnival display for next Friday night.

If the crowd does not disperse during the interval of the crater eruption feature, Director-general Dougherty has issued instructions for a band to play dance music immediately the lights are again turned on in the capitol grounds, and the populace is again invited to avail itself of the dancing facilities of the broad drives. The dancing will be continued until midnight.

COERPER WORKS IN WASHINGTON FOR FRANCHISE

Hawaii Man Enlists Aid of Sen- ator Shafroth in Pushing Railway Bill

That Jacob Coerper of the island of Hawaii is now actively at work in Washington to secure a 60-year railway franchise for the Big Island is the news that came today. As exclusively published by the Star-Bulletin last week, Mr. Coerper has had introduced a franchise bill in which extensive and valuable rights are asked. The Washington correspondent of this paper sends the following on Coerper's work:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5.—Senator Shafroth, of Colorado, and Mr. Jacob Coerper, of Hawaii, called to see Secretary Lane with regard to the construction of a railroad line in the westerly portion of the island of Hawaii which Mr. Coerper is seeking the right to construct. Mr. Coerper stated that such a line would reach and develop an area of country adapted to the production of coffee, sugar, and other crops, and would also afford a rapid and easy way for tourists to visit the crater of the volcano of Kilauea and other natural wonders of the island.

The secretary, after looking into the matter, wrote to Senator Shafroth as chairman of the Senate committee on territories, and stated that if legislation authorizing railroad construction is enacted it should provide that the association or corporation should be prohibited from issuing stock or incurring indebtedness to an amount in excess of the estimated actual cost and ten per cent in addition thereto.

It was also suggested by the Secretary that any stocks or bonds issued should be under the supervision of the public utilities commission of the territory of Hawaii, and that provision should be made for the territory at any time after ten years from the completion of the road to take over and operate the same upon payment of the value of the tangible property, unaffected by the value of the franchise or good will, and that at the end of sixty years the road should revert to the territory on payment of one-half the value of the tangible property, unaffected by any intangible element.
