POLICE SIGHTS

A Japanese woman named Ontshi who was shot by her husband while in a fit of jealousy, is reported as recovering from the injury at a hospital at Waiialua. The man who committed the crime is dead.

Officer M. L. Needham succeeded in breaking up a large gambling game alleged to have been conducted near the 'harves' at the upper end of the harbor last night. Needham secured three steamship companies, he is counsel for the Northern Pacific Railroad.

While waiting for an opportunity to board a King street car last evening, Manuel Ozevos fell in a faint, striking his head on the curbing. To receive treatment for injuries to his scalp, the man was removed to the hospital.

With more than $100 in gold in his possession, a stowaway was taken off the Oceanic liner Sonoma upon arrival from Australia this morning and was removed to the central police station pending a further investigation. Until the close of the Carnival, at least, the man will remain in custody.

Harold Lewis claims to have met with injuries to a leg through a collision with a passing automobile. Lewis claims that he was returning from the Carnival festivities at the beach and while on Rapid Transit car No. 48, the machine passed alongside of the car upon which Lewis was standing on the running board. He was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Harbor Officer Carter paid a call at the Oceanic liner Sonoma this morning and took charge of H. Morgan, declared to have been found stowed away in the coal bunkers soon after the departure from Sydney. If it is established to the satisfaction of the immigration authorities that the man is a British subject, he may be returned by the next vessel sailing for the south sea.

Sulzer the First Impeached

William Sulzer is the first Governor to be impeached in the State of New York. Eight states have impeached their chief executives, and of this number three were removed from office, one resigned, one was acquitted, and the charges against three were dropped. The record follows: Seth Sothell, Colony of North Carolina, 1689; removed. Charles Robinson, Kansas, 1862; acquitted. Harrison Reed, Florida, 1868; charges dropped. William W. Holden, North Carolina, 1870; removed. Powell Clayton, Arkansas, 1871; charges dropped. David Butler, Nebraska, 1871; removed. Henry C. Warmouth, Louisiana, 1872 term expired and proceedings dropped. Adelbert Ames, Mississippi, 1876; resigned.—Evening Post, New York.

ARMY OFFICERS AND WOMEN IN ACCIDENT

[By Latest Mail] HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y.—Five officers of the United States military academy and three women in their party were injured in a coasting accident at West Point recently. Their tobssled ran into a sled drawn by two horses. Mrs. George Vidmer, wife of the cavalry captain, was the most seriously hurt. Lieut. James O. Steese had a leg broken. The others injured were Captain Vidmer, adjutant of the post; Lieutenants and Mrs. Geo. H. Baird, Captain Frederick B. Downing, Lieutenant Daniel Isuttan and a Mrs. Johnston.

Two Chinese fishermen, Lo Bock Sing and Chin Toy, have been held at Angel Island under the custody of U. S. Commissioner of Immigration Krull, who charges them with conspiracy in ferrying 18 Orientals to shore from Mexico.

Samuel Green, 21 years old, of St. Louis, died after dancing the tango until the early hours of the morning. Robbers dynamited the vaults of the Merchants and Planters' bank of Humphrey, Ark., and escaped with $3300.

PIRATE SHIP TO BE PART OF BIG WATER CARNIVAL

Ad Club's Entry a Duplicate of the 'Isabella,' Famous Old 'Black-Flagger'

The Honolulu Ad Club's entry in the water carnival parade on the harbor this evening will be an exact reproduction of Sir Henry Morgan's famous pirate ship, the Isabella, with which he bombarded and captured the city of Panama in 1628. The Ad Club, assisted by Tom Sharp, has constructed a historical representation of the old ship and armed it with duplications of the original cannons. Great care has been taken to make the boat historically correct and perfect.

The vessel will be manned by 50 of the Ad Club pirates, working in the same manner as the pirates of old. If Hackfeld and Company has insured the boat against loss by fire, after much shaking of heads over the problems of insuring a boat built after the fashion of 300 years ago. Fifty fire extinguishers have been supplied to quench the cannons' roar, if necessary, by the Acetylene Light Company.

The cruise of the Isabella starts at 6:30 o'clock this evening, and for an hour before the parade, which starts at 7:30 o'clock, the blood-thirsty (?) crew will cautiously look around for likely vessels or wealthy parties for kidnaping or taking by force of arms. After the parade, the pirates will proceed to carry out these depredations.

BOY'S BLAZING GARMENTS CAUSE THE DEATH OF FIVE

[By Latest Mail] QUEBEC — Thirteen-year-old Wilfred Robin, with his clothes afire after an explosion of coal oil, with which he was attempting to light a stove, rushed among his relatives at the Robin home at Notre Dame de Rossire and communicated the flames to nine other persons. Five, including the boy, were burned to death and another is dying.

The dead are: Wilfred Robin, Mrs. Joseph Robin and her three-week-old baby, Alma Labrecque, 5, and Joseph Labrecque, 6 years old. Joseph Robin probably will not live. Two Robin children and Edmond Labrecque survived the tragedy.

FAMOUS ACTRESS SETS FASHION

Georgia Caine in 'Adele'

In Paris, fashion's decree is always made on the stage. Every famous Parisienne creator of gowns is represented at the Comedie Francaise or in one of the other famous theatrical organizations by a beautiful actress who wears exclusive designs of her patron. Hence it is a saying of the French that the "stage sets the fashion."

In New York, this is almost true. Season before last, "The Quaker Girl" set the vogue, but this year, it remained for Georgia Caine, who plays Myriamne in "Adele," the biggest sensation. So great has been the interest aroused in Miss Caine's dress that the fashionable modistes of New York have been swamped with orders for "copies." The gown as featured above, is a hand-painted effect with a bouffant tunic about the hips of white tulle. The effect is not unlike a swirling cloud of mist, so gossamer looking in the drapery.

AUTOS, UNDER THE HAMMER, SNAPPED UP AT BARGAINS

For an hour and a half this afternoon bargains in automobiles were offered and snapped up by active bidders. Two dozen second-hand machines of different makes were put up at auction sale in Bishop park, beginning at noon. The sale was conducted by E. L. Schwarzberg of James F. Morgan Co.

Before the sale ended, a large number of the machines had been sold. The lowest price paid for one was $250, which was for a Ford, and the highest price realized on a machine was $1450, which was for a 1919 Pierce-Arrow. A Stevens was sold for $500, a Hudson 20 for $350, a Hupmobile for $300, a Stoddard-Dayton for $500.

Jivovichi Kuroda, Honolulu, $1 Kinjo Sakamoto, Honolulu, $29 Emilio Aronda, Honolulu, $42 Asuncion Ogaya, Honolulu, $39 George Marion Bibebe, Honolulu, $24 Hester M. N. Homma, Honolulu, $24 A large crowd was present and followed the sale with interest. The cars put on sale were the property of the von Hamm-Young Company and most of them had been taken in on the purchase of new machines. A few of them appeared almost new.

RUBBING IT IN

Not even an undertaker possessed more dignity than did Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana when the distinguished progressive graced the United States Senate. But once, according to a story related by James Wickersham, delegate from Alaska, that dignity suffered a severe jolt.

Volney Hoggatt, a famous Alaskan character, had been a witness before Senator Beveridge's committee on territories. He felt that the senator had not treated him with all courtesy, and the thought rankled.

Some days after, in the hotel lobby, he saw Senator Beveridge surrounded by a stately array of gentlemen, discoursing with customary gravity, "Watch me," said Hoggatt to some Alaskans with him.

Marching up to the senator, he snatched Beveridge on the back, grabbed his hand and fairly howled: "Hullo, Pete, you old scoundrel; when did you get in? Lord, I'm mighty glad to see you! How are all the boys? Well, well, it is good to see you again, Pete!"

"Sir," said Senator Beveridge, "you have made a mistake." "Go on, Pete," said Hoggatt, snatching his back again, "don't pull any of that stuff on me. You're just the same old Pete; always kidding. Come on and have a drink. Bring your friends. Come on, boys!" "Who do you think I am sir?" demanded Beveridge, trying to throw off the detaining arm about his shoulder. "Who do I know you are, you mean," laughed Hoggatt. "Why, you old rascal, you are Pete White, the Wichita barber, of course!"

Many an orator with a grip on a subject can't hold his audience. A small boy with made-over trousers naturally takes after his father.
