

COLUMBIA PARK BOYS REACH PORT TOMORROW

Columbia Park Boys of San Francisco, leaving that city on April 10, 1913, on the first leg of their year's world's tour.

Bright and early tomorrow morning the Columbia Park Boys, under command of Major Sidney S. Peizotto, will arrive in Honolulu. It had been hoped that they would have an opportunity to meet the All-Service nine on the diamond and to give an entertainment at the Royal Hawaiian Opera House in the evening. However, it now is believed that the Shinyo Maru will sail earlier than was anticipated; consequently the plans for the San Francisco aggregation may have to be abandoned. The Columbia Park Boys have spent almost a year in circling the globe and that they have had a fine trip is attested by the following:

(By One of the Members.)
The 47 American boys from the famous Columbia Park Boys' Club of San Francisco left that city April 10, 1913, for an extended tour of the world. Their first stop was Chicago, where they were re-enforced with representatives from the state of Illinois picked from the thousands of school children to represent that state on the world tour. The journey included the principal cities of the United States. At Washington they were received by President Wilson in the East room of the White house, who reviewed them and presented them with a handsome silk American flag, the gift of the California delegation in Congress. A day spent with Thomas A. Edison, the world's greatest inventive genius, was highly instructive as well as enjoyable, for Mr. Edison gave the boys a banquet and manifested a keen interest in their tour.

On to New York and Boston where the large party set sail for England May 9 for a three weeks' journey through the "mother country." In England the highest honors were bestowed upon them, and they have the distinction of being the only party of non-Britishers ever allowed in a king's birthday parade. They were to be presented to the king at court in Buckingham but unfortunately the king was in Berlin attending the royal marriage and sent his regrets by wire. They had a civic reception at Guild hall and the highest dignitaries paid homage to their enterprise and lauded the spirit of the undertaking which has helped the boys of the various countries to meet on a common field and their worth against this most versatile party of boys.

Another enjoyable day was spent with Sir Thomas Lipton, on his palatial yacht, the Erin, cruising about Portsmouth where they visited Lord Nelson's historic flagship, "The Victory," the flagship of the victory of Trafalgar. Sir Thomas had Harry Lauder, Sir John Dewar, "the wit of England," Miss Shirley Kellogg, the well-known American actress, and many other notables on board to make the day as pleasant as possible. After much feasting and at a final banquet at Southampton Sir Thomas Lipton announced that he would have one of the boys of the present party as the only American on board his yacht, the Shamrock, when he races America for the international cup in 1915. Banquets by Mr. August Selfridge, owner of the large department store of that name, Mr. Richard Burbidge, general manager of the Harrods Stores, and many others gave the boys a royal time.

The party was reviewed in the presence of the royal family by Lord Roberts, England's greatest living soldier, who also applauded the idea of "education by travel" and gave the boys some excellent advice. All the sights of London and the suburbs were taken in, and as the reception was handled by the royal colonial troops entertainment committee nothing was left undone to make their stay in England most pleasant and profitable. Two weeks were spent in Paris and a committee of the 10 foremost Americans in Paris was formed and had complete charge of their reception while in "Gav Paree." There was the usual receptions and banquets and a welcome by United States Ambassador Myron T. Herrick at the embassy, where the foremost citizens of Paris and American visitors met the boys from home. They were reviewed and addressed by Admiral Peary, America's illustrious discoverer of the north pole who happened to be in Paris at the time. Athletic meets with the French boys caused a great deal of excitement and drew forth large crowds and Le Figaro, the leading daily of Paris, presented the winners with gold medals, and the hero of the meet was one of the American boys who won the javelin throw, throwing it for the first time in his life.

All the principal sights of Paris were taken in also and a few of the evenings at the leading opera gave the boys a chance to see the best there is in the operatic world. The party was quartered at the University of Paris as guests and made a decided hit with the Parisians. At the invitation of the United States ambassador the boys gave a concert at his home and seats sold for 8 pesos per ticket by special invitation. Some seats sold for 15 and 20 dollars gold while the gross receipts for the afternoon were $22,000 gold and Mrs. John Mackey, wife of the president of the telegraph trust, was so pleased with the performance that she sent the boys a check for a thousand dollars gold, and smaller amounts came in from enthusiastic admirers so that they did not have to worry how to get to Australia and they took a leisurely trip through France, to Genoa and Naples and embarked for Australia. June 18, and made stops at Port Said, Suez, Aden and arrived at Colombo, Ceylon, on the 4th of July and celebrated their Independence day with two rousing shows at a local picture house and hundreds of people were turned away. Flattering inducements were offered the party to stop over in Ceylon but the boys had to be in Australia at scheduled time and true to that time arrived at Fremantle, Western Australia, July 18, and were greeted by thousands of people. Bands, cadets, scouts, militia and thousands of school children greeted this party of American boys to Australian shores, a most spectacular welcome and as cordial as that given to the American fleet.

For one whole week, banquets, receptions, reviews by the vice royal representative of the king, and the highest honors that could be bestowed gave the boys a sample of what was coming for the next six months for their extended tour of the whole of the commonwealth of Australia. The party visited every city and town of any importance in the states of Western Australia, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland and the Northern Territory, being granted free transportation on the government owned railroads, given the use of municipal owned utilities, presented with silk flags as remembrances, and in every city and town the homes of the citizens were thrown wide open to them and when January 7 came for them to leave Australia shores the citizens were loathe to leave them.

Pages and pages could but tell just a little of this wonderful journey, their club and something about the boys. The boys picked up the Australian game of football and were able to beat teams at their own game, they contested in scores of athletic meets and other competitions. They are the only party of boys that have carried the American flag around the world, earning their way by their splendid variety show which has met with the greatest approval of the public and press wherever they have appeared, their excellent band and crack athletic teams. This is the dawn of new ideas and the public of Honolulu will have a chance to see this talented party in various endeavors but the two performances at the opera house show without a doubt the most versatile character of the party for the entertainment varies from operatic singing to comic gymnastic tumbling. This party has commanded more space in the newspapers and the public in the countries visited and miles of newspaper clippings are only a few testimonials to what Jane Addams called "the foremost boys' club in the world."

The boys making up the Columbia Park Boys' Club are: Robert Alvarado, Willis Bauman, Elmer Bauman, Ernest Bell, Elmer Brown, Milton Brown, San Francisco; Ralph Brown, Lansing, Mich.; Robb Brown, San Francisco; William Brooks, Oakland, Cal.; Blaine Brainerd, Leo Cooley, Nell Comstock, Andrew Costello, San Francisco; Wallace Crismore, Chicago, Ill.; George Douglass, Julius De Bara, Edward Firestone, San Francisco; Allyn Freeman, Trenton N. The whaling season of 1913 has eclipsed all previous records, the total yield of oil for the world in that year being estimated at 800,000 casks.

PACHECO OPPOSED TO CITY MACHINE FOR 'JOY RIDING'

"I object to the passage of this resolution on third reading because the tool-box has not been put on the machine, as ordered," declared Supervisor Pacheco last night, when the resolution appropriating the money for the machine of the city and county electrician, William L. Frazee, was up for final passage. "It looks like it is to be used for joy-riding and not business."

And with this observation, a little verbal swordplay began at the meeting of the supervisors between Mr. Frazee and Supervisor Pacheco, the former arising to resent the insinuation that he planned to use the machine "mooning around with a wahine."

It seems that when the resolution was introduced to give the electrician a machine it was understood that a box should be fastened on the rear to carry tools, wires, etc., needed by him in repair work. The automobile has been in use for several days, but the box is not yet on it. Mr. Frazee explained that it was being made and would be fitted on in a day or two. And with explanations from both sides, the piffle ended, piffing out with smiles.

Keep one eye on your enemies and two on your friends.

Fortunes In Food Products

The fortunes that have been made, the dividends paid and now being paid to the owners of food products and food product specialties would surprise the average mortal because of the lack of knowledge on his part regarding the very profitable nature of the business.

A few packages of a product sold monthly through only half of the grocery stores in America yields a profit to the owners little understood by the layman. Such a sale spells large and permanent profits to the shareholders.

"Grant's Hygienic Crackers" have been introduced on the Pacific Coast only and a profit-showing, dividend-paying business developed. Although no effort has been made to sell goods in Honolulu several grocers already carry the crackers in stock and have been selling them for two years or more.

The nature of the business is such that tariff changes, currency disturbance, labor troubles, hard times, etc., have no effect on the sale of the product.

The Gold Notes are sold in denominations of $100, upward, and a bonus of 25 shares of stock is given with each $100 worth sold. The company has been on a profit-showing basis for 50 months and with $50,000 additional money the profits for 1914 will be large.

The company is a going, growing enterprise having the emphatic endorsement of its home commercial bodies. It owns its real estate, plant and equipment free of debt. No floating indebtedness. No money due any bank. No borrowed capital. No large salaries to pay. No preferred stock. The Gold Notes yield 6 per cent, interest payable semi-annually, dating from day of issue. The bonus stock is the common stock and should, within five years, pay from $1. to $3. per share annually.

So safe and carefully managed is the enterprise that applications for the Gold Notes will be accepted by the
